"No, it's not scientific," admitted Banes. "But that's the way it's always been done."

"The Infinite Intangibles." You might guess that some sort of enduring qualities must be at work to hold this band of oarsmen and their followers together. And you might be right.

Steve Sagarin, a Princeton student, has been writing about and photographing the crew for almost as long as the crew has been rowing. Why do they row? Here is his answer, from an essay he wrote in the Daily Princetonian:

"It's partly the challenge, partly the camaraderie, partly the good feeling of working out. There's the drowsy feeling in the muscles and the endorphins in the brain. It is addictive. And there's an infinity of intangibles. The lake on a perfectly calm evening. The unimaginable rush of conquering your own pain and your opponents simultaneously.

"It doesn't seem sane. They train eight hours for each minute they race. They are a little crazy. Dedication like that is hard to find, and harder to maintain. They miss a lot of the college experience. Things like drinking beer until they fall down, dancing until four, or working for the campus newspaper. But never tell a crewie there's something he can't do."

PHS STICKMEN SPLIT

Peddie, Pingry Next. Two prep schools will provide the opposition for the Princeton High School lacrosse team this week which split two games last week for a 2-5 record.

The Little Tigers will be at Peddie this Wednesday afternoon and at Pingry on Saturday at 2.

Against favored Summit Saturday, PHS held the visitors scoreless until 21 seconds were left in the first period. At the half, PHS trailed, 4-1. Said PHS coach Pete Larsen, "We played well for two quarters but we kind of let down in the third and that's the wind out of our sails. The final score was 12-4, Summit."

Chris Carrington had two goals for PHS, while Troy Norris and Keith Green added one each.

Earlier in the week, PHS gained its second win of the season by routing George School, 21-0.

George School did not have a strong team, Larsen reported but he was pleased with his team's effort nonetheless. "We moved the ball well; we're clearing it much better than we did in our first games." A lack of consistency is still a problem for his team, Larsen acknowledged.

The scoring parade by PHS was led by Scott Gabrielsen with five goals, Willie Whitaker with four and Carrington and Green with three each. Tony Alexander added two and Matt Kinnam, Mark Chamberlain, Chris Galiardo and Norris one each.

MONTVILLE TAGS PHS

With First Loss in Girls Lacrosse. Undeclared Montville and Princeton High, both owning 6-0 records, squared off against each other at the PHS field Saturday and when the final whistle had sounded, Montville had beaten PHS for the third consecutive time. The visitors overcame a 5-4 Princeton High halftime lead to win, 10-8.

In two games last year, Montville had defeated PHS twice by a total of three goals.

The game see-sawed back and forth with PHS holding a slight edge in the first half, Montville having the better game in the second half. Montville had 24 shots on goal, PHS 22.

Harper Hoff, Alison Fraker and Rita Sweeney each scored twice for PHS, while Pam Jennings and Erica Gabrielsen scored single goals. The visitors' attack wing Amanda Veal led all scorers with five goals.

This week, PHS will play two town rivals, traveling to Stuart this Wednesday afternoon and to Princeton Day School Tuesday for a return match with the Panthers. In between, the Little Tigers will entertain Summit on Friday at 4.

Earlier in the week, PHS rolled over Morristown, 12-2, and defeated Princeton Day School, 10-4.

Fraker was the big gun against Morristown with five goals. Jennings contributed two goals and three assists. Gabrielsen a pair of goals. Sylvia Greenspan, Sweeney and Hoff all added single goals. Hoff also being credited with two assists.

with rival PDS had always been close, hard-fought decisions, the 10-4 victory registered by Princeton High was unexpected. "We thought it was going to be a lot harder than it was; it always has been in the past," commented PHS co-captain Sylvia Greenspan.

Sweeney, the team's other co-captain, outscored the entire Panther team with five goals, while Hoff and Gabrielsen had two each and Pam Jennings one. The Little Tigers led from the start.

Annie Dreznar paced the losers with two goals. Rena Whitehouse and Lynn Saden each scored one goal.

TWO IN A ROW

For PHS Nine. The Princeton High School baseball team won two games in a row for the first time this season when it defeated West Windsor, 8-7, Monday, as Matt Tamasi, the first of three PHS hurlers, got the win.

Saturday, PHS stopped South Hunterdon, 7-4, and earlier it lost, 8-3, to McCortistin on a three-hitter by Ed Holmes.

In six days this week, the Little Tigers will play five games—and how well they perform in that streak will determine if they qualify for the state tournament. The cutoff date is May 14 and a team must have a .500 record or better to qualify.

PHS will entertain Princeton Day School this Wednesday at 3:30, Hopewell Thursday at 3:45 and travel to Nottingham on Friday. Saturday it will host Lawrence in a makeup game and will be at Notre Dame on Monday.

The game with West Windsor was not as close as the score indicated. PHS scored four in the first, the big blow a bases-loaded triple by Ralph Carnevale, and added another run in the second to take a 5-0 lead. West Windsor scored three in the final inning off reliever Terry Phox.

Jason Petrone, who drove in three runs with two hits in the win over South Hunterdon, had a single and a double against West Windsor to drive in two runs.

John Sherin got the win, his first of the year, against South Hunterdon, scattering seven hits. PHS had only five, including hits by Mickey Carnevale, Mark Shapiro and Sherin, but made them count as the Little Tigers scored two in the second and plated three in the third to take a 5-1 lead.

Unearned Runs. A 2-1 game with McCortistin turned into an 8-3 loss when the visiting Iron Mikes scored six unearned runs in the third inning. With two outs, PHS let a ball drop in the outfield for an error, allowing three runs to score on the miscue. McCortistin added three more before PHS got the final out.

Dino D'Angelo was charged with the loss. Princeton's Chris Hoover, Doug Thompson and Petrone got the only hits off Holmes.

LOSING SKID ENDS

For Hun Lacrosse Team. A three-game losing streak for the Hun lacrosse team ended last week with a pair of back-to-back victories. Hun defeated Perkiomen, 7-3, Saturday and nipped Newark Academy, 5-4, the previous day. The wins left the Raiders with a 2-3 record.

Hun plays three games this week and coach Dave Faus reported that he is hoping his team can take all three. "We're looking for a winning season," he said. "We've got the time to do it."

"It's really like night and day from the first couple of games we played," continued Faus. "We're not forcing our shots, we're setting up...I've really been impressed. I hope we can keep the momentum going."

Against Perkiomen, Dave Zimmer scored his second hat trick in two days and Chris Goodyear, the sophomore transfer from Princeton High School, added a pair of goals. Wes Lofgren and Chris Black added single tallies.

"We looked good moving the ball," commented Faus. "We dominated the ground balls and the team that controls the ball is the team that is going to win."

Opposite Newark Academy, Hun played a good first half to take a 4-0 lead at halftime. "We let down a little bit in the second half but we were in control of the game," observed Faus. Newark scored with a minute and a half left to make the final score appear closer than the game was.

Zimmer led the Raiders again with three goals. Goodyear and Scott Horrihan scored one each.

HUN NINE ALL EVEN

Busy Week Ahead. The next two weeks for the Hun School baseball team, which evened its record at 5-5 last week with a win and two losses, is going to be very interesting, predicted coach Bill McQuade.

Hun will play three regular season games next week and will compete in the opening round of the New Jersey Independent School state tournament where it will, McQuade guessed, be seeded third. The top two seeds will probably be Lawrenceville School, the defending champion, and Peddie.

What is going to make it interesting is that Hun must face this onslaught with a pitching staff that is thin and overworked.

Pete Stam, the workhorse on the mound for the Raiders this season, has a 5-2 record and had been involved in eight of Hun's ten decisions. "The question is, how long can it go on?" posed McQuade. And there were signs last week that even Stam's rubber arm might have finally been stretched too far.

Rich Stout, the team's veteran hurler at the start of the season, has been besieged with assorted injuries and is still not back. Said a concerned McQuade, "He may not come back at all; I don't know what the story is." As a consequence, some of the pitching is going to fall on two juniors, Brad Mumme and Mark Okamoto. Both have seen limited action so far.

As McQuade predicted, it is going to be interesting. "I hope our defense comes along (Hun was guilty of seven in a 15-2 loss to Lawrenceville last week) because I know the teams we are going to face are going to hit the ball," said McQuade.

Hanson Handles Hun. In opposing Peddie Saturday, Hun had to face senior Erik Hanson, who owns all four Peddie victories this year and has major league scouts coming to watch his blazing fast ball.

Hanson struck out nine of the first 10 Hun batters he faced. "I was thinking at the time I may be seeing history in the making," recalled McQuade. Hanson went on to strike out 15 and limited Hun to five hits.

Still Peddie needed a four-hit, five-run sixth inning to pull it out for Hanson. Hun had taken a 2-0 lead in the fourth when Martin Sumner singled, went to second on an attempted pickoff, stole third and trotted home on Dean Forman's triple. When Barry Landis singled home Forman, McQuade commented, "I was feeling pretty confident then."

After Peddie had broken through Stam for one run in the same inning on two hits, Hun added another run in the fifth on singles by Owen Cane and Paul Pintella sandwiched around a sacrifice for a 3-1 lead.

The Falcons caught up to Stam's overworked arm in the sixth, bunching four of its 10 hits off Stam in the inning for five runs and a 6-3 victory. "Pete ran out of gas; it was the worst game he's had so far," offered McQuade. "His control was off and he wasn't getting the ball down. He was getting arm weary."

"A disaster" was McQuade's one-word summary of the 15-2 loss to Lawrenceville.

Mamme pitched six innings and did a respectable job, said McQuade, but he received virtually no support from his teammates who were guilty of seven errors. "Ten hits, seven errors, five walks—all added up to a lot of runs for Lawrenceville," agreed McQuade. The 3-2 Larries liked the odd inning, scoring four runs in the first, third and fifth frames.

Hun pounded out nine hits—only one less than Lawrenceville—but it produced only two runs. "We couldn't get men on base," explained McQuade. It was the bottom of the Hun batting order that came through for Hun for the first time, McQuade pointed out, as Steve Silver and Cane each had two hits, while Matty Wheaton had three hits in three appearances.

Hun began the week with a lopsided win of its own, rapping 15 hits in a 12-3 victory over Pennington School. In the field, the Raiders played errorless ball—the first time this season. Stam got the easy win.

"It was nice to see the kids play well," said McQuade. He had hoped, he said, that the win would have built some incentive for the Lawrenceville and Peddie games, but, such, it turned out, was not the case.

FLETCHER TOP HURDLER

In Mercer County Meet. In the annual Mercer County track meet held Saturday, Princeton High School Stephan Fletcher won both the 110 and 400 hurdle events, edging out Lawrence High's top hurdler, Rich Loveless, both times.

Fletcher was clocked in 14.5 in the 110 and 57.5 in the 400. Loveless's times were 15.6 and 57.8. Princeton's only other winner was P.J. Young who captured the shot put with a toss of 54.5 to beat out former teammate Tom Murray of Lawrenceville. Murray was second with 52.9.

The meet's only other double winner in addition to Fletcher was West Windsor's Tim Robinson who won both the 100 and 220 dashes.

In the Mercer County girls track meet, PHS failed to win a single event.

PHS Shades Ewing, 68-63. In a dual meet last week, PHS ran its record to 3-0 by shading a longtime nemesis, Ewing, 68-63.

PHS won eight firsts including doubles by Fletcher in both hurdles and Bill Bushnell in the 1600 and 3200 meter distance races. Young bested Ewing's Pat Davis in the shot, 53-6 to 51-10; but Davis came back to win the discus and javelin.

Mike Schwab captured the 800 for PHS in 2:03.3, after Ewing had won the 100, 200 and 400 races. Eddie Rice won the long jump (19-8) and Ken McKeller leaped 6-0 to win the high jump. PHS clinched it when Fletcher, Steve Schwab, Rice and Mike Schwab combined to win the 1600 relay in 3:33. Ewing was clocked in 3:38.1.

The PHS girls track team kept its dual meet record unblemished with a 3-0 mark when it also defeated Ewing by an even closer margin than the boys—62-60.

Some winners for PHS included Michelle Cumberland in the 100, Gail Woolston in the 400, Marjorie Toussaint in the shot put and Nadia White in the high jump.

Ewing's Ratona Stokes set a new school record of 67.4 in winning the 400 hurdles.

BIKE RACE WON

By Carol Tate. Carol Tate of the Princeton-based Century Riding Club won the fifth Ladies Cycling League event held Sunday at Skillman. Tate was clocked in the five-mile event in 15 minutes, five seconds. Leslie Bienen finished second in 15-31 and Marie Bologna, despite a spill, was third in 16-6—bettering her last effort for the distance by 43 seconds.

Tate is the current point leader with seven, followed by Marty Martin with 6. Bologna heads the handicap division.

Century's regular "easy riders" started their summer season with a trip Sunday to Colonial Park. This "loiterers section" welcomes any cyclist to join them on any Sunday when they leave the Public Library at 10 a.m.

MONDAY SPORTS

Lacrosse Teams Split. In contests Monday involving Princeton High School teams, the boys lacrosse team lost, the girls lacrosse team won, the boys tennis team won its seventh match and the girls softball team lost again.

The boys lacrosse team lost a hotly-contested battle to Lawrenceville, 11-10. The Little Tigers surprised the favored Larries (7-1) by leading the entire game until the final period. PHS led 10-8 on four goals each by Willie Whittaker and Scott Gabrielsen and a pair by Chris Carrington, but the Larries managed to tie the score with two minutes to go and went ahead with 1:06 left to play.

In the closing seconds, with a man up, Princeton's Troy Norris got off a shot on goal and the PHS players claimed it went in. "The ball hit a couple of posts and we claimed it hit an inside post," said PHS coach Pete Larsen. The referee said no, however, and disallowed the goal.

Five Goals For Hoff. Second home Harper Hoff scored five goals in the first half and then rested the second as the girls lacrosse team pounded Chatham, 12-4, for its seventh win in eight games. Anna Navarro added two goals.

The whole PHS attack of Jenny Pickens, Kim Perna, Sylvia Greenspan, Rita Sweeney and Pam Jennings contributed one goal each.

Goalie Ann Sutphin had 15 saves for the Little Tigers and sophomore Nadia Gluckberg played an outstanding game on defense for the victors.

Princeton's struggling softball team could not contain West Windsor's Wendy Lockhart and lost, 17-1, in a game called after five innings.

Walker cracked a pair of triples in battling 4-for-4, driving in five runs and scoring four. Elena Lucullo, who was charged with the loss, scored Princeton's lone run in the third when she walked with the bases full. PHS collected three hits and was guilty of six errors. The Pirates rapped out 12 hits.

Netmen Win 5-0. The boys tennis team breezed to its seventh win in eight matches when it blanked West Windsor, 5-0. The Little Tigers did not drop a single set.

In singles play Jacob Leschly won, 6-1, 6-1. Mark Leschly won, 6-1, 6-2, and Safi Bahall won, 6-2, 6-4. In doubles play, the number one pairing of Keith Goldfeld and Rob Dunham triumphed, 6-1, 6-1, while Andy Phillips and Tim Kingston were 6-4, 6-2 winners.

WINNERS NAMED

In Soccer League. In the Princeton Soccer Association's Cub League for third graders last week, P.J. Pancake House blanked Thomas Sweet, 2-0, as Chris Sheldon scored a goal with an assist from Terry Leddy. Greenline Diner defeated Nassau Seafood, 3-1, on goals by Jason Battle, Michael Anderson and Cyrus Beer.

The six teams in the Cub League are directed by Charlie Scozzaro, assisted by Shelly Saidman and Craig Battle.

In the Junior League for fourth and fifth graders, FMC Corp. lost to Lahiere's, 3-0, on two goals by Jeff Taber and one by Jordan Crane.

Competitive Sport defeated Kepner Tregoe on goals by Damon Ross, David Ragsdale and David Saidman; STS Firestone downed Kopp's Cycle on scores by Greg Kessler and Scott Anderson, and Firestone Really stopped Princeton Nautilus on two goals by Anthony White and one each by Grenville Gooder and Mike Pecheur.

active Mercer County Democrat for many years. Yes, he would like to run some day. But as a partner in the Newark law firm of McCarter and English, he is constrained by New Jersey's conflict-of-interest laws.

"Those laws eliminate many lawyers — pool of real talent," he says. "It's too bad."

"John set the pattern," according to Ann. "I worked five years as an administrative assistant at Educational Testing Service, then I had very young children — Scott is now 12 and Jennifer is nine, so John became involved first."

"Save the Dinky" was the first McGoldrick project, in the late '60s and early '70s. Five years ago, John was named by Governor Brendan Byrne to the board of NJ Transit — "I'd fought the railroads, suing them occasionally, about fare increases and so on, and my interest in transportation — and some political things — led to my appointment."

But meanwhile, a parking garage had been proposed for the lot next to the Princeton Public Library. Ann, a resident of Vandewater then as now, successfully led the neighbors who opposed that garage. As a reward, Mayor Robert W. Cawley appointed her to the citizens Steering Committee whose members, after many public sessions, shaped the Borough's present plans for the Central Business District.

John finds the Borough Zoning Board "fun." A trial lawyer, he relishes a seat on the other side of the bench. A commuting Princeton resident away from home 12 to 15 hours a day, he finds the board fascinating: "You pick up a lot of incidental information about the town."

The other John, John McGee, has also run for Princeton office.

"My mother had been very active in local things. I was active in my fraternity on the campus of North Alabama University — and a fraternity league is VERY political! When we lived in Florida, I worked for a man who ran successfully on a reform ticket."

"When I took a New York job and we decided to stay in Princeton, I wanted to get involved locally in the Republican organization."

And he, too, remembers the elections of 1974.

"Republicans were the outs in the Township then. Nixon had just resigned. There was such strife on the national scene, and I felt 'If you don't participate, who will?' Dick Baker was working to re-activate the Republicans, I said I'd like to participate, and found myself running for Township Committee."

About the school board...

The preparatory school was Cherry Hill Nursery School, where two of the three couples took their toddlers. It is a cooperative school, and parents — fathers, as well — are required to put in time, painting, helping the teachers, serving in various ways.

Dick, the Borough's Fire Commissioner, remembers putting on a fireman's outfit to the squealing delight of the children. When he was Police Commissioner, he invited police officers to visit the school. Karen was treasurer for two years, and a member of the board. All three Woodbridge children went to Cherry Hill.

"When our oldest started at elementary school," Karen remembers, "I found I missed that input into the educational process. The school didn't seem to need me, but I was keenly interested."

"I decided if I'm going to be interested, I want to be active — the two are synonymous." So she joined the PTO. And during those same years, helped write the League of Women Voters "Know Your Town," and worked on the Hospital Pete.

"Well!" laughs Ann. "After Cherry Hill, I found I wasn't ready to turn my children over to somebody else. That's basically what got me going." She, too, had been on the board at Cherry Hill. Like Karen, she joined the PTO, later becoming president of the Community Park organization.

Rosemary had been in the Trenton Junior League, where "they give you good training, and show you how to be active in your town. I'd been Provisional Chairman — working with first-year League people just starting out — and also Planning Vice-President. I was on the board for three years."

The four McGee children start with Beth, 18, now in college, and move to 15-year-old Kathy, in Princeton High School; Martha, 12, in the Middle School, and kindergarten of five-year-old Richard Woodbridge — who will be going to Riverside, after a career at Littlebrook.

Cherry Hill was probably the only nursery school in town the McGees did not happen to attend. Rosemary smiles. During the careers of her four, she has been president of the Littlebrook PTO, vice-president and then president of the district-wide PTO Council.

None of this includes, of course, Rosemary's service on the Corner House and Young Audiences boards; John McGoldrick's role in the NJ Transit strike, his service on Newark YMCA boards and with the NAACP, his management of Ann Martindell's

State Senate campaign; Dick Woodbridge's position on a state Task Force for Capital for New Technology or work with the Explorers' Club; Karen's work with the League of Women Voters... and more.

The baby-sitter is almost the most important person in the family. McGoldrick sitters often spend the night — it's easier, when school board or zoning meetings run late. The Woodbridges have "a network," including three teenage sitters nearby — Dick is very proud of this — the grand-daughter of Mrs. Burnett Griggs, a former first-grade teacher in the Princeton schools. McGee daughters are live-in sitters for brother Tom. "Both of us have to be flexible, and 'cover' for the other," Rosemary has found. "The children learn to accept 'Daddy has to eat and leave' without being upset."

"It's good for a child to be alone with only one parent," John McGoldrick says, of the evenings when Ann is presiding over the school board. Couples talk over their community works. Although school board and sewer authority seem remote, John McGee remarks that both he and Rosemary "have a strong interest in the entire community. When we discuss things, we discuss those that do affect the entire community."

"We both enjoy discourse, and like to argue about public issues," says John McGoldrick. "The spouse is an institutionalized critic: it's important to have someone tell you your argument was wrong."

"I rely on John enormously," Ann remarks. "If a person in political life doesn't have domestic support, it's very difficult," Dick Woodbridge believes, "and if Karen weren't supportive, it would be. It takes mutual tolerance and patience."

Dick feels he is lucky because his practice as a patent attorney gives him flexible hours. His office is on Nassau Street, he doesn't travel, he has "a degree of control" over his job.

Both John McGoldrick and John McGee are commuters, away 12 to 15 hours a day, home at 7, a quick bite, out to a meeting.

For all, time with the children is important. The Woodbridge and McGee interviews were built around Saturday's soccer practice schedule, with one parent or another dropping off the children. The McGoldrick interview was squeezed in just before Sunday's Trinity Church Spring Concert, when 12-year-old Scott was to sing in the choir.

Karen takes her children fishing. Ann has returned to piano study and has the same teacher as her two children. Rosemary keeps in constant communication with the two teen-agers, "who have their own lives!"

The Woodbridges spend time on the family boat, the McGoldricks at a remote cottage on Cape Cod.

"Our kids are more aware of the community because of our own involvement," John McGee has discovered. "We feel strongly that they should have a feeling of responsibility toward their community."

"Somehow," as John McGoldrick says, "It all works — I don't know how..." Katharine H. Bretnall

91 TO GRADUATE

From Choir College. The 53rd Annual Commencement Service of Westminster Choir College will be held on Monday at the Princeton University Chapel.

Dr. Ray E. Robinson, president of the College, will award 54 bachelor of music degrees and 37 master of music degrees in a ceremony that will include the College's entire student body in a program of choral music with brass accompaniment conducted by Dr. Joseph Flummerfelt, principal conductor of the Choir College. The event will begin with pre-service music at 9:45 a.m.

Gilbert Kaplan, president and editor-in-chief of Institutional Investor, is scheduled to give the commencement address. Mr. Kaplan made music headlines at the 15th anniversary celebration of his magazine in September, 1983, when he brought the American Symphony Orchestra and the Westminster Symphonic Choir to Lincoln Center and conducted Mahler's Symphony II before an invited audience.

General Manager of Quakerbridge Mall Has Some Ideas for Downtown Princeton

The first time Ruth Baur ever shopped in Princeton she took home with her something she never would have gotten in a million years at the place where she works, the Quaker Bridge Mall. It was something so unique — so alien, actually — from the point of view of her world, that she still talks about it years later.

It was a parking ticket. For Ms. Baur, general manager of the Quaker Bridge Mall, slapping a parking ticket on the car of someone who has been good enough to patronize your shopping district is one of the cardinal sins of retailing. It is as bad as making a customer trudge through six inches of sludge to get to your door. It is bad form.

At the mall where Ms. Baur works, no one gets parking tickets, no one feeds nickels, dimes, or quarters into unsmiling meters. And no one ever turns down a chance to do some more shopping, or hang around for lunch, or continue to spend money for whatever purpose, simply because time is running out on the meter.

While the central business district of Princeton has metered parking for 1,234 cars, the Quaker Bridge Mall has free parking for 5,500 cars.

Ms. Baur believes that may be one reason why, in its eighth year of operation, the 136-store mall hums along at 100-percent occupancy, luring more than 8.5 million visitors a year into its always warm, always dry promenades. "You cannot have the air of excitement in shopping," says Ms. Baur, "if you have to worry about parking meters."

Most proper Princetonians, of course, would never shop at the mall. The mall is ear piercing pagodas, plastic and polyester, and impersonal. You wouldn't shop there, unless you needed something suddenly at night or on Sunday, or unless you were looking for a major appliance at Sears, or unless, unless...

$103 Million Is Allocated To Build Route 92 Here

An allocation of $103 million to build a Route 92 freeway — the "Princeton by-pass" — is included in a $553 million list of projects designed to use the money that won't be used to build I-95.

The list, announced Monday by Governor Thomas H. Kean, also includes $75 million to expand Route One from Lawrenceville to North Brunswick.

"I'm pleased that 92 is on the list," said Princeton Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley. "For us, 92 is a priority ahead of Route One. I'm not unsupportive of Route One, but 92 has got to be the top priority."

Route 92 extends from Route 206 (State Road) to Route 33, covering Mercer, Middlesex and Somerset Counties. Last week, Township Committee endorsed a Planning Board resolution suggesting a compromise on the by-pass alignment. Originally, the route would have affected "Carlton Homes," a 200-

Collins Granted Air Rights to Build Bridge Across Palmer Square East

Borough Council voted 4-2 Tuesday night to grant air rights to Collins Development Corporation for construction of a bridge across Palmer Square East. It will link the present Nassau Inn with a projected addition to the Inn on the strip parking lot that extends along Palmer Square East.

Robert McChesney and Joseph Blanc cast the "no" votes. The motion, introduced by Barbara Hill, grants "non-precedent-setting" air rights, subject to negotiations with Collins about possible expansion of open space, additional money, the bulk of the bridge or whatever else the Borough can negotiate.

"I'd like to get the sun, moon and stars," Ms. Hill said.

The vote came after Mr. McChesney moved that Council defer action on air rights until after this Thursday's Planning Board meeting. At that meeting — 7:30 p.m., Valley Road Building — the Planning Board will complete action on Collins' final plans for the Inn addition.

The McChesney motion resulted in a 3-3 tie. Mayor Robert W. Cawley broke the tie by voting against deferment.

Council members worried about the precedent involved in granting these air rights. Ms. Hill said Council could vote "yes" in principle, then "use our clout to negotiate these things that concern us all."

Richard Woodbridge said precedent did not worry him. Both Mr. McChesney and Mr. Blanc didn't feel the bridge met any "overwhelming public interest," and Mr. McChesney pointed out that Council hadn't even discussed the question of air rights until last Thursday's agenda session.

Council must "strike a hard bargain" with Collins, warned Mr. Bearse, and granting air rights in advance, might dilute the Borough's position. He also warned that development of the Square might eventually destroy the John Witherspoon neighborhood, where the majority of Princeton's black residents live.

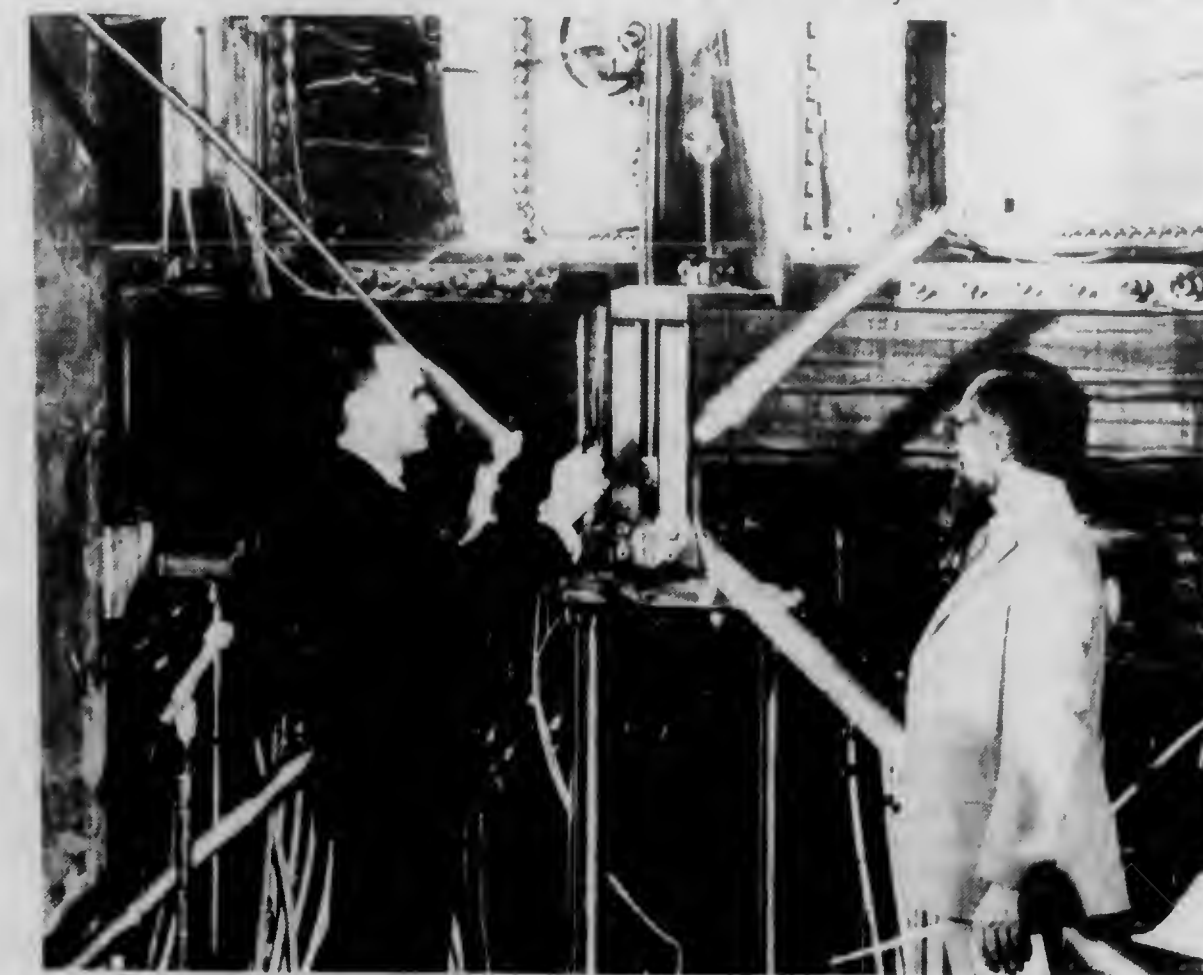

Mayor Cawley, in the exchange before the vote, told Council and audience that the Planning Board had held "a dozen meetings" on Collins' plans over the last two years, and that designs for the bridge and other elements, represented a compromise. Under the Borough's ordinance, he pointed out, "some buildings are going to be bulky — otherwise, they'd over all the land and you wouldn't have any open space."

The current plan is "fantastic — far superior to the old Venturi and Rauch scheme." That architecture team had prepared suggestions for expanding the Square.

The audience that filled Borough Hall was concerned about the bulk of the four-story bridge, the question of open space in the Square as a whole and the precedent involved in granting air-rights.

The Committee to Save Palmer Square presented 1,300 signatures opposing the bridge as a building and a tunnel, and asking height limitations on the Chambers Street garage.

Arthur Collins, spokesman for his firm, acknowledged some uneasiness about scale and density, but defended the bridge as a

Mall vs. Princeton

Still, since Princeton is caught in the midst of a prolonged debate on the future of its own shopping district, the time seems right to talk to the neighbors down the road on Route 1, and to see if any of their wonders can be worked in town.

At the outset you should know that, while Princeton residents may sneer at the mall, folks at the mall do not sneer back. Ms. Baur points out that the economic health of Princeton is crucial to the health of the entire county. "I hope that Princeton will go on forever," she says. "It can if it keeps that setting and those qualities that have made shopping there special for 100 years."

Big ifs, she acknowledges. First, she says, "you can't out-price the little guy. The little guy tends to run a specialty business and he wants to go where he doesn't have to be open seven days a week." That is not the mall, where all stores are required to be open from 10 a.m. until 9:30 p.m. six days a week and noon to 5 p.m. on Sundays, 362 days a year.

strong shopping center needs a few nationally established shops. They don't have to be as large as the Quaker Bridge "anchors," Bambergers, Sears, etc., but they should be familiar names to shoppers. "You can depend on national tenants," she explains. "They won't come and go on a whim, and they're well financed."

Large or small, Ms. Baur adds, all the shopowners plus the management and the town have to keep after each other to keep the place clean. Litter, cracked sidewalks, dirty streets — they're all as bad as parking tickets. "The times I've been to Princeton it's been dirty. That shouldn't be," says the mall manager. "If I have a crack in a sidewalk here it won't be around long."

Ladybug, the women's clothing store, used to do business on Nassau Street. Several years ago it consolidated with a shop at the mall. Although rents were lower in Princeton than at Quaker Bridge Mall, the Nassau Street location was never as profitable as that at the mall.

"As more and more women work," says Ruth Fitz-Randolph, who directs the Ladybug division of Apparel Affiliates, "the classic 10 to 5 hours are no longer convenient. The in-town locations do the same business they did 50 years ago, except now they're open on Wednesday afternoons. In most towns, if you do have extended hours, then you have a security problem."

Downtown a Drag. "The age of our customers in Princeton was older than at the mall," adds Ms. Fitz-Randolph. "We had some students, but the non-students were older. We had very little of the 25 to 40 group in Princeton. Those may be the people shopping during the day."

The Ladybug lady suggests another problem for a retailer in a downtown shopping area — "one I'm sure you would never think of," she says. "A downtown store is a long range kind of place. The best person to manage it is a local person. But a shining star in a retail chain doesn't want to be in the same situation for five years. They want to be at the mall."

Ms. Fitz-Randolph noted that "the tendency of major chains is also to go where the action is. People think that a chain would love to be the only store of its kind in a shopping area. That's not necessarily true. We feel that if we're in an area where competitors are, then we'll be attractive too."

In other words, once a shopping district starts losing shops, the process can snowball. "I'd hate to see office space replace retail" in Princeton, says Ms. Baur.

Challenging the Malls. Like Ms. Baur, the Ladybug executive emphasizes that she has "nothing against downtowns." Ms. Fitz-Randolph points out that Ladybug has an outlet in Alexandria, Virginia, where a municipal parking garage provides free parking for customers.

In the heart of Philadelphia, where Ladybug has another store, the Chestnut Street Association ranks as "the most exciting merchants' association I've ever seen," says Ms. Fitz-Randolph. "They have made a special effort to include new merchants and to promote change. They have had working women's sales in which all stores opened at 7:30 in the morning on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. They served coffee and danish and it was wildly successful. Our store there has done very well."

What does Princeton have that the mall doesn't? Restaurants for one thing, concedes Ms. Baur. Because of its 9:30 p.m. closing time, Quaker Bridge Mall has no full service restaurant — the closest to it is La Crepe. The mall once had a bar and restaurant lounge called Duke's, which used a separate entrance to the parking lot that enabled it to stay open late. But the investors pulled out and opened a new place in Atlantic City. Ms. Baur hopes to attract an establishment called TGI Fridays, which is moving into many malls, to fill the space.

Princeton's other asset is entertainment and events. A critical part of the mall's formula for success is to host a steady procession of happenings under its skylit roof. The Quaker Bridge advertising slogan proclaims that "the excitement never stops growing." In coming weeks the mall will be the site of an antique auto show (this Saturday and Sunday), the Rhododendron Society show (May 21 and 22), and an assortment of puppet shows and robot demonstrations over the Memorial Day weekend.

Those events may all be very pleasant, but imagine for a moment the vitality of a mall that offered McCarter Theater at one end, linked by covered walkways to Palmer Square, Jadwin Gymnasium, Cox's Store, Thomas Sweet, and all the other commercial and cultural resources of town — with free parking surrounding it, of course. Ms. Baur and her counterparts at every mall in the nation would give their bottom dollar for that kind of excitement. What a mall that would be — and don't forget the kiosk.

The kiosk, yes, the kiosk. We foresee an ear piercing pagoda. Check it out.

needed link with the new addition. A tunnel, suggested by a member of the audience, would not be appropriate for a hotel, Mr. Collins said.

He would be willing to top off the top floor of the bridge, he said, replacing it with a glass corridor which might be "invisible" from the street. He also promised to consider raising the arch of the bridge.

It was a fine opportunity for politicians and they were there. Barbara Sigmund, running for mayor — as is Mr. Woodbridge, from his Council seat — Irv Urken, John Hunton and Hank Abernathy, all running for Council, made their views known.

Mrs. Sigmund, in a lengthy statement, charged that plans provided only seven and one-half percent open space, although the ordinance requires 25. Her remarks raised the question of sidewalks — do they count as "open space" or not? She said not. Collins

Ms. Marsh urged Council to work with Collins: "Unless we can bring retail business back to Princeton, we won't be here," she said.

Everett Garretson, co-owner of H.P. Clayton's, suggested that not granting the air-rights might destroy the economic viability of the Square, whereas granting them might be visually displeasing. "We must strike a delicate balance," he said.

Institute Told to Return with New Concept; Residents Still Hope to Buy Development Rights

Come back with a wholly new concept and we'll begin all over again. In effect, that's what the Planning Board asked the Institute for Advanced Study to do, after last week's final "concept review" presentation of proposals for 400 to 600 units of housing on the Institute's Quaker Road lands.

Meanwhile, the 15 or 20 members of the coalition of Princeton residents now called PROSPER (Preserve Open Space for Princeton) are looking for private and public money to buy the Institute's development rights so that development may not be necessary.

James Sayen, of PROSPER, said he will be in New York City this Wednesday conferring with the Trust for Public Lands, a foundation interested in preserving farms. PROSPER is also working out arrangements with the Farmland Trust whose staff will help prepare whatever fund applications are necessary.

PROSPER plans to reconstitute the Friends of the Princeton Environment and pass the straw hat for seed money. Mr. Sayen said he did not anticipate any problems raising the money.

The Institute has agreed to give PROSPER 90 days. This is approximately August 1, yet passed the ordinances, although Allen Rowe, the Institute's associate director, said that 90 days is a flexible period, "since we wouldn't want to close off anything in progress."

Because the Institute is "in the middle of negotiations" joyment on Saturday at 11. The park lies in Princeton Township where Alexander Road crosses over Stony Brook and the Delaware-Baritan Canal. It is in fact bounded by the two waterways and divided by Alexander Road into two sections.

The section to the west of the road, on your right as you leave Princeton, is largely complete. It offers picnic tables and cooking braziers, canoe-launching docks on both the canal and Stony Brook and parking spaces and toilet facilities. This 6.3 acres was acquired by Princeton Township with the aid of Green Acres funding, and this is the part of the park which will be opened to the public next Saturday.

The 3.6 acre section on the other side of Alexander Road with developer Jack Kessler, Mr. Rowe explained, it would not be politic to say how much money the Institute would accept for its development. He said $5 million would probably not be enough, although Mr. Sayen said that amount has been discussed.

Developer Kessler is marking time at the moment, Mr. Rowe added. He will work on preliminary aspects of a plan until there is something definite.

Last week, as Planning Board members commented on the Institute's concept, it seemed apparent that Institute concepts have no board allies. Township Mayor Winthrop Pike, who sits on the board, said he couldn't possibly vote in favor, if the Institute were to come back with its current concept molded into formal plans. Access roads were the most critical problem, the mayor said.

Alma Field, a Borough representative on the board, said sharply that the Planning Board should never have created a conditional density zoning on the property, and asked that a zoning amendment be passed to return the land to farmland. The audience cheered her.

"Conditional density" is still only a concept on the Master Plan. The Township has not yet passed the ordinances, Planning Board lawyer Allen Porter explained.

In reply to Mrs. Field, presiding vice-chair Elizabeth Hutter, who was on the Planning Board when conditional high density for this part of Princeton was incorporated was donated to the township by Princeton University. Here joggers and birders have long noted a pond choked with lily pads and blocked from the canal by the tow-path itself. In the heyday of canal traffic the pond was connected to the main waterway and its entrance spanned by a bridge. That was the "turning basin," where barges from Trenton or New Brunswick tied up to discharge their cargoes and turned to go back to home ports.

In the next stage of development the turning basin will be dredged and again connected to the canal. This operation will be deferred until the dredging of the canal itself, which the Canal Commission projects in the

into the Master Plan, as Mrs. Field was not, explained that board members wanted to provide affordable housing for people who work, live and rights. He said $5 million would probably not be enough, although Mr. Sayen said that amount has been discussed.

Developer Kessler is marking time at the moment, Mr. Rowe added. He will work on preliminary aspects of a plan until there is something definite.

William Potter, from the audience, had explained to the Planning Board that the New Jersey Supreme Court, in its Mt. Laurel II decision states that "the court will not tolerate use of Mr. Laurel to undermine the environment."

Mt. Laurel II states that New Jersey municipalities must provide housing for lower-income residents. Speakers from the audience brought to the microphone protests related to preservation of the historic areas around the Institute — Princeton Battlefield Park, the Friends Meeting House, Washington's routes to the battle — the frequent (and recent) flooding of Quaker Road, the difficulty of having farmhands near houses, traffic and preservation of wildlife.

"We began our planning four years ago," Institute attorney A.C. Reeves Hicks reminded the board. "You asked us to wait for the Master Plan, and we did. Transfer of development rights can be done. If anyone has a better plan than ours, bring it forward."

Such close co-ordination of plans demonstrates the relationship of Princeton's Turning Basin Park to the state Canal Park. Turning Basin Park is in truth a park within a park.

Many contribute. Many organizations have contributed to making this historic area a place for quiet public recreation. Among them are New Jersey Green Acres, Princeton University, Princeton Historical Society, Princeton Environmental Commission, New Jersey Water Supply Authority and of course the Delaware-Raritan Canal Commission.

It is anticipated that representatives of all of these organizations will take part in the ceremonies on Saturday. Speakers will be Constance Greiff, of the Historical Society and James C. Amon, executive director of the Canal Commission. The master of ceremonies will be the mayor of Princeton Township, Winthrop S. Pike.

The public is invited to attend. In case of rain the dedication will take place on Sunday at 3.

GARAGE AGREEMENT

Between Borough, Collins. The Borough owns slightly more than 40 percent of the land where Collins Development will build its Chambers-Hulshush garage, and Mayor Robert W. Cawley announced this week that the two parties have reached an agreement on the leasing of that land. The remaining 60 percent of the property is owned by Collins.

It is a 50-year lease, with provision for one 25-year extension, if the laws of that time allow.

In the first phase, the Borough and Collins will continue the present Park and Shop lot arrangement, under which the Borough gets all revenues, after expenses have been met.

The second phase will begin when the Park and Shop lot is shut down and construction starts. Collins will then pay rent amounting to six percent of the fair market value of the land, a figure set by Borough Assessor Stuart Robson Jr., at $366,000, making Collins' annual rent $33,960.

'Badly handled'?

"I'm afraid what we're hearing, is a vote against Collins' local management, not against an architectural plan," Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley told reporters Monday, in a series of observations about Palmer Square.

"Collins' tenants are obviously unhappy, and residents have picked that up," the mayor continued. "The kiosk and some other ideas, made people lack confidence in Collins' design ability, when it comes to matching Princeton's ambience."

"The idea of an awning around One Palmer Square is dead, dead, dead — I heard that from Arthur Collins himself. And I think Collins will abandon changes to Tiger Park and parking."

The mayor said that Mr. Collins has been "all over town" recently, much more in evidence than he has in the past.

"If the Collins people had handled it better," the mayor observed, "I honestly believe there would be no need for opposition."

Collins may, however, take advantage of a Deferred Rent Option. Under this plan, the firm would pay no rent the first year, $5,000 the second year, $10,000 the third year, and so on, increasing payments by $5,000 each year for five years. The sixth year, Collins would begin paying the full $33,960 yearly, adding $23,960 a year — the average amount deferred each year during the first five years.

The agreement will be examined ten years after the start of construction, and every five years after that. If Collins disagrees with what the assessor says the land is worth, three independent assessors will determine its value.

White Elephant? "In 50 years, at the end of the lease," Mayor Cawley explained, "the Borough has a proportionate ownership in the garage; that means we'll own a little over 40 percent of a garage. We just hope it's not a white elephant by then."

The lease requires Collins to build a garage within 18 months of signing the document. It has not yet been signed. Mayor Cawley and Borough Council member Richard Macgill represented the Borough in the negotiations.

"We've negotiated more than a year and a half," the mayor remarked, "and we've negotiated hard in these last months."

A master list of agreements has been reached with Collins, but the mayor said he would defer explanation until it has been signed. It includes fire and first-aid protection, van-pooling, the use of private lands for public open space, municipal traffic regulations, off-tract improvements, construction easements and the like.

SEMINARY, STOUTERS

At EDRS. Plans of The Stouters Corporation for its Cheese Cellar at One Palmer Square — north side, street level — will be explained to the Environmental Design Review Committee at its 7:30 p.m. meeting this Wednesday in the Valley Road building.

The EDRC will also hear Princeton Theological Seminary describe the two-story Research Institute it plans to build on Stockton Street, in the Borough's E-1 Education Zone.

Other applicants are Princeton Telephone Answering Service, Inc., which wants to convert the residential unit at 203-05 Nassau to six rooming-house rooms and one apartment. Anne F. Tocco will show how she plans to convert warehouse storage at 252 Nassau to office use.

MORE TIME

For Opponents. Princeton residents who oppose Princeton Community Housing's Elm Road apartments for the middle-income elderly, were granted another week to file an appeal from last month's Superior Court decisions.

Last Wednesday, New Jersey Supreme Court Justice Allen Handler said that William Barr, who lives across from the proposed project at 127 Westerly Road, may have until this Friday to file an appeal.

Originally, the Appellate Court had set last Friday as the deadline, but Mr. Barr took his case all the way to the top. The Appellate Court had granted PCH's request to shorten the usual 45-day deadline for appeals because PCH faces its own June 30

TWO ROOMS ENTERED

In University Dorms. Two rooms in student dormitories on the Princeton University campus were entered last week.

There were three victims in the entry of a Little Hall suite between 2:10 and 3:10 Friday afternoon. One lost jewelry pieces valued at $1170, including a $300 pearl necklace and a $250 silver bracelet. The second lost jewelry valued at $150 and the third a $250 camera. Police said that the suite was unlocked.

Two stereo speakers valued at $289 were taken between noon and 1 p.m. Friday from a locked room in Pyne Hall. Police have a suspect who was described as an Indian male in his mid 20s, about 5-9, slim, with long black hair.

The right front window of an Audi was shattered while it was parked between 10:30 Monday night and midnight in a Tulane W. lot.

Stolen from the car were jewelry valued at $1,615 and $970 in clothing. Police report the victims are Maryland residents.

STUDENT IS ARRESTED

For Passing Bogus Check. A 22-year-old Westminster Choir College student from South Carolina was arrested last week by Borough police and turned over to the Township police who had a warrant for her arrest.

The student, Anna Marie Arnold, had been charged with allegedly passing a worthless check in the amount of $27.22 at Claridge's Liquor Store in the Princeton Shopping

Center. When she failed to appear at her scheduled court hearing, police issue a warrant for her arrest.

Ferry Jo Rodriguez, 21, who has no known address, was arrested inside a Nassau Street church last week for contempt of court.

She was recognized by the arresting officer, Ptl. Randy Sutton as being wanted on a contempt of court charge stemming from trespassing on the Princeton University campus. Miss Rodriguez was taken to the Mercer County Detention Center.

Charged With Drunk Driving. A 57-year-old Pittsburgh, Pa., resident was charged last week with driving while intoxicated.

Donald B. Orr was found asleep at 1:30 in the morning behind the wheel of his car with the motor running by Ptl.

John Petrone Jr. on Route 206 near Mountain Avenue. Finding beer cans in the car and detecting an odor of alcohol on the driver's breath, Ptl. Petrone took Mr. Orr to police headquarters where he was given a breathalyzer test.

Mr. Orr was later released on $250 bail.

SIX TIRES SLASHED

On Three Patrol Cars. Six tires on three police patrol cars parked in the police parking lot on the side of Borough Hall were slashed between 11:50 Thursday night and 5:54 the next morning. Chief Michael Carnevale listed the replacement cost for each tire at $80. Police have no suspects, he said.

Considerable damage was done to the car of a Princeton resident while it was parked for three hours in a lot on lower University Place near the "Dinky" station.

When the victim returned to his car at 10:45, he noticed that the radio antenna had been cut and some knobs removed. The car's radio bracket had been taken apart but the radio had not been removed. Police found a pair of vise grip pliers on the front seat.

TWO ARE INJURED

In Lincoln Court Fight. Police are continuing their investigation into a fight early morning which left two of the combatants injured. No charges have been made.

The victims, 21 and 20, one a Princeton resident, one from Somerset, were treated at Princeton Medical Center. One required four sutures for a laceration over the right eye; the second sustained lacerations behind the left ear and left forearm requiring four sutures each. Police said the victims had been struck by bottles thrown during the fight.

According to police the two had been in a Nassau Street restaurant, had left and had encountered two others from the restaurant on Lincoln Court where the fight erupted. Police said that the four knew each other. Two others came out and attempted to stop the fighting, police added.

Ptl. William Nathan conducted the initial investigation which is being continued.

FAULTY FILM FLAM

Reported By Police. An apparent film flam attempt Monday afternoon that involved a Race Street resident was not pressed to a conclusion.

Police report that the resident was walking on Birch Avenue near John Street around 3 p.m. when a large, four-door, dark-colored car drove by. The two occupants, several for her to see with money visible through the envelope window. Attached to one envelope was a note indicating the contents were $100,000 in winnings at a race track.

The passenger in the car then told the woman that she had been picked up to witness the fact that they found the money and that they would be willing to share it with her. "They didn't ask her for any money," said Lt. Petrone.

At this point, Lt. Petrone continued, the woman who was picked up became suspicious and tells the two in the car that she wanted to get out. They left her off near the library on Witherspoon Street and drove off.

"We're treating it as an attempted film flam that never came off," said Lt. Petrone. The only description police have of the two suspects is that the driver is lighter skinned than the passenger who was dark skinned.

Lt. Petrone noted that two weeks earlier, the East Brunswick police department reported a pigeon-drop film-flam in a parking lot there. The two suspects were described as black females, driving a 4-door sedan, possibly a 1979 or '80 Chevrolet, possibly green.

It's possible, commented Lt. Petrone, that the two are the same two suspects who picked up the Race Street resident.

THEFT REPORT

Wallet, Beer and Bagels. A teacher's wallet, 16 empty beer kegs and three dozen bagels were among items reported stolen last week by Borough police.

The wallet was stolen between 11:30 and noon Friday from a pocketbook which had been left unattended in a classroom. The victim lost $24. Det. William Clark, the Borough juvenile officer, is investigating the theft.

The empty beer kegs—16 in all—were stolen on three successive Tuesdays from the his $30 watch on a shelf basement of the Campus Club on Prospect Avenue. They are valued at $10 each.

Last Tuesday a club member noticed a person in the basement, not a club member, moving some kegs in the basement. When asked what he was doing, the non-member replied that he was putting the kegs outside for a distributor to pickup. A check with the distributor, police said, revealed that was not the case.

The three dozen assorted bagels worth $6 had been stolen between 5 and 9 Sunday morning from outside a Witherspoon Street restaurant where they had been left.

A 12-year-old Princeton youth counted himself among the victims of theft. As he was locking his bicycle in front of the public library Friday afternoon, someone came up behind him and grabbed his knapsack which he had placed on the ground. The knapsack and items inside were valued at $45.

A 10-speed Ross red bicycle valued at $120 was stolen last week from the Princeton High School grounds, and a front license plate (291-UOY) was stolen from the car of a Princeton resident while it was parked between Friday morning and Saturday afternoon on John Street.

A Princeton resident placed his $30 watch on a shelf

Saturday morning, while he washed his hands in a rest room at the Y. When he returned five minutes later, it was gone.

Township police report that a $23 pink cotton sun dress was shoplifted last week from Bailey's in the Princeton Shopping Center. The clerk told police that a woman had taken four dresses to try on in a dressing room and after she had left the store a check revealed only three dresses in the room.

The clerk followed the suspect into the nearby Acme Market when she decided to call police. Police arrived but were unable to locate the suspect who was described only as a white female in her mid 20s.

FOUR ARE FINED

In Township Court. Four Princeton residents were fined last week in Township court by Judge Sydney Souter.

In criminal court, William Paul, 146 Snowden Lane, was fined $175 for passing a worthless check at the Somerset Tire Co. on Route 206. He was ordered to make restitution in 30 days for the amount of the check—$222.60—and to pay $25 to the Violent Crimes Compensation Board.

Jaroslav Fat, 107 Grover Avenue, was given a six months conditional discharge on a charge of possession of under 25 grams of marijuana. He also was fined on two motor vehicle charges: $115 for reckless driving and $15 for failure to change his address on his driver's license.

Angelo Frazetta, 13 Mulberry Row, was fined $125 for resisting arrest and an additional $25 for the VCCB. In traffic court, Alec Hoke, 31 Hawthorne Avenue, was fined $65 for careless driving which resulted in an accident.

Borough Court. In Borough Court Monday, Judge Russell W. Annich Jr. fined Marcie A. Friedman, and Kevin J. Kane, both of Sturwood Way, Lawrenceville, $60 each for careless driving. Also fined $60 each for stop sign violations were Concetta Mattered, 23 Revere Road, Belle Mead, and Charlotta M. Bishop, 274½ Nassau Street. Cheryl M. Grek, 421 S. Main Street, Pennington, paid $60 for careless driving, while improper exit from a parking lot cost Gary C. Fisher, 327 Forrester Village, and Kathleen E. Mancuso, 102 Bear Brook Road, Princeton Junction, $25 each.

the time of year for disreputable contractors who do shoddy and inferior work to go from door to door soliciting business.

Chief Carnevale reported that recently a Princeton resident had come to the police to complain about substandard work of a man who had driven up in a pickup truck and talked her into repairing her driveway. From their investigation so far, Chief Carnevale commented, the person who did the inferior work is believed to be one of several gypsy contractors operating out of the Toms River area.

Chief Carnevale cautioned all residents contracting jobs from those who knock on their doors first determine if they have obtained a solicitor's permit from the police and, second, check references. "Make sure that you receive the service you paid for," Chief Carnevale summed up.

RALLY, VOTE SET

On Campus. The student group Princeton Alliance to Reverse the Arms Race (PARAR) will hold a rally and referendum Friday at Princeton University.

Undergraduates, graduate students and faculty have been circulating a petition for the past six weeks among the University community. The petition calls for the University to endorse the bilateral Freeze and to request corporations in which it holds stock and which manufacture first strike nuclear weapons to convert their facilities to productive ends. The petition also requests more courses in arms control and disarmament.

The students have collected some 1,400 signatures thus far, the faculty 120. Undergraduates will vote on the petition on Friday. The rally will be held from noon to 3 on Cannon Green, or in McCosh 10 if it rains, and it will feature music, mime, art exhibits and speakers from the faculty and student body. Among the speakers will be Dean of the Chapel Frederick Borsch, the Rev. Robert Moore of the Coalition for

RUN TO BENEFIT PLAYGROUND: Princeton Community Village Youngsters watch cartoonist Michael Ramus create a poster calling attention to the Hilltop Run for the benefit of their new park and playground. From left are George Riddle, Jason Rotunno, Maxwell Guberman, Bill Reich, Julian Dennis, Harry Morton, and in the front are T.J. Carrado and Mr. Ramus. The five-mile run will begin Sunday at 1 from the Princeton Shopping Center.

Nuclear Disarmament, Prof. Kurt Mislow of the Chemistry Department, Prof. Arno Mayer of the History Department, and Richard Tainer, Australian sociologist. Friday evening at 8 p.m., Kosta Tsipis, co-director of the MIT Program in Science and Technology for International Security, will speak in McCormick 101. The title of his talk will be "A Star Wars Defense?"

PARK TO GAIN

From Five Mile Race. The first of two major fund-raising events to benefit the park across Bunn Drive will get under way on Sunday afternoon.

Runners from the Princeton area and beyond will gather at the Princeton Shopping Center at 1 to compete for prizes donated by area businesses. Two prizes to be donated by Hult's, for example, will be running shoes for the top male and female finishers.

The race will take place on five miles of road skirting the Herrontown woods. Water stations along the route will be maintained by Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts in Princeton's Pack 43 as well as other volunteers. The entry fee of $5 before the day of the race or $6 on the day of the race is considered a charitable donation — benefiting the park, now unofficially referred to as Hilltop Park — and is tax deductible. The first 150 entrants will be awarded T-shirts specially designed by Princeton Community Village residents.

Runners will be grouped into seven age categories ranging from 14 and under to 60 and over. Prizes will be awarded to the top three male and female winners in each age division.

Major sponsors of the event are Thomas Sweet and Merrill Lynch Pierce Fenner and Smith. The New Jersey National Bank has contributed funds to the race committee to be used for printing, and Le Coq Sportif has donated 500 numbers.

Anyone interested in running or in helping on the day of the race should contact race coordinator Jenny Guberman. The June event — a Hilltop Festival — will take place in the area of the future park. Activities currently planned for the Festival are a rummage sale, bake sale, book sale, children's games, car wash and possibly balloon rides. There will be music during the event.

OPEN HOUSE PLANNED
By Nursery School. The Princeton Junction Cooperative Nursery School has planned two events in the coming weeks.

There will be an Open House on Saturday, and parents of prospective three and four year olds are invited to visit the school with their children and meet the teachers. Parents and children interested in the three year old classes are welcome between 9:30 and 10:30. The teachers of the four year old class will be available from 11 to noon.

Refreshments will be served at each session. The school is located at 54 Princeton-Hightstown Road in Princeton Junction and shares a building with Fox and Lazo Realty. There are openings in both the three and four year old classes.

The school will also hold a general membership meeting on Wednesday, May 18, at 8 in Maurice Hawks School. Mr. Pat Mulvaney, sponsored by the New Jersey Education Society, will speak on "Preschoolers and TV: Prime Time for Parent Involvement." All interested parents are welcome.

FESTIVAL FLEA MARKET
At Shopping Center. The Princeton Shopping Center's open air mall will be transformed into an Old-Fashioned Spring Festival and Flea Market on Saturday.

In addition to the regular flea market offerings of attic treasures, crafts, and antiques, this year's event also includes special foods on sale by the shopping center food merchants, entertainment, and balloons. At noon and at 1 p.m. The Footnotes from Princeton University will perform. Now a long-standing Princeton University tradition, The Footnotes is a group of undergraduate music enthusiasts specializing in the sophisticated art of close harmony, a capella singing.

Adding a festive touch to the day's activities is Absolutely Balloonic of Kingston. According to owner Joe Petrozzini, his company is known for ads, greetings and promotions using helium-filled mylar and rubber balloons for all occasions. On view at the Festival will be the Princeton Hospital Fete car, this year a new Ford Thunderbird. In the windows of the shopping center merchants will be the travelling Art Show from the Princeton Regional Schools, grades K-12.

The raindate is Saturday, May 21.

POPPY DAYS PLANNED
By Legion Auxiliary. The American Legion Auxiliary will be offering red poppies to the public for the 10 days between May 20 and May 30. Poppy Days are an annual event undertaken by the members of Unit 76 in Princeton as a reminder of the sacrifice of thousands of veterans of four wars and as a fund raiser.

Funds collected on Poppy Days are used to assist needy veterans and their families. The familiar red poppies are handmade in Poppy Shops run by Auxiliary volunteers for disabled and hospitalized veterans as part of a physical and psychological therapy program by veterans for veterans. The poppies are purchased from the shop by the Auxiliary and offered to the public for a donation.

During Poppy Days, volunteers from Princeton Unit 76 will be offering their poppies in Princeton in front of Cox's Store and at the entrance to the new Super Fresh Market in the Princeton Shopping Center. In West Windsor, they can be obtained in front of the Acme Supermarket, Elsworth's Liquor Store, and at the Post Home on Washington Road.

ETHNIC DANCE FESTIVAL
At Rider College. Deshara's Ethnic Dance Festival, an evening of international music and dance, will be held Saturday at 7:30 at Rider College Student Center, Route 206, Lawrenceville.

Deshara, a Middle Eastern dancer who holds classes at the Art People's Place, at Hightstown High School and privately, is the director and choreographer of the festival and will be a featured soloist. The star of this year's festival is Nigwa Said and her El Raks Said Troupe, who will offer a selection of Middle Eastern dances, including the Sword Dance.

Other professionals from New York are Hassan Warkim

Food Coop Closes

Not enough customers — a classic merchandising complaint.

But for Princeton's Food Coop, a fatal one. Located in the basement of the Art People Place on Witherspoon, down a formidable flight of stairs, the Coop was apparently too much for the elderly residents it was designed to serve.

Parking and transportation were other problems, according to Borough-Township welfare director Dorothy Kruger. She likes to use the word "temporarily" to describe the closing.

"We're going to try and pull it together again," No financial loss was involved because the Coop bought at wholesale, sold at wholesale and received many donations.

Mrs. Kruger and Senior Resource Center director Jocelyn Helm are working with senior citizen volunteers — and the Coop had many — to find a solution.

Any suggestions? Call Mrs. Kruger, 924-5761, or Mrs. Helm, 924-7108.

and troupe, who will be accompanied by musicians. The troupe evokes the culture of the Berber tribes boarding the North Sahara mountains and deserts. Also from New York will be the Shemshi, doing a Middle Eastern dance of centuries ago. Two other ethnic groups are also expected.

Tickets are $7 for adults, $6 for students and senior citizens and $2 for children. Tickets will be available at the door; for advance tickets call 443-4531. Refreshments and a bazaar boutique offering items for sale will be available during intermission and after the show.

CALLERS SCHEDULED

By Contra Dancers. The Princeton Country Dancers will sponsor a special dance this Thursday from 8-11 p.m. at Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street.

The dance will feature Nick Hawes, experienced caller of New England Contra dances and piano players from the Amherst, Mass. area. Music will be provided by his friends Dave Kaynor, Van Kaynor and Doug Feeney. They play fiddle and piano and other instruments in various combinations.

Admission is $2.50. No experience is necessary, and anyone may attend with or without a partner.

SCIENCE FICTION

Topic of Seminar. Princeton Writers' Center will hold a Science Fiction program for its Sunday Seminar this Sunday from 1:30 to 4:30 at 10 Nassau Street.

The program will feature Melissa Singer, an associate science fiction editor with Berkeley Publishing. Ms. Singer's authors include David Bischoff, author of "Star Spring" and the upcoming "Mandala," and Jean Lorrain, of the "Savage Empire" series.

The program will also feature Patrick Delahunt, vice president of the Richard Curtis Associates literary agency. Mr. Delahunt represents authors who write in a broad range of fields: non-fiction, romance, art books and biography. He will address the issue of finding an appropriate literary agent for all genres of writing.

Reservations can be made by calling 924-3511. Enrollment is limited and the seminar fee is $30.

VOLUNTEERS HONORED

By Medical Center. More than 250 adult volunteers were honored by Princeton Medical Center at the Fourth Annual Volunteer Recognition Luncheon held at the Nassau Inn.

President Dennis W. Doody expressed the appreciation of the Medical Center for the dedicated service and strong community spirit of each volunteer. A specially prepared booklet, highlighting volunteer activities in 1982, was distributed as a remembrance of the day.

A total of 142 volunteers received awards for service contributions ranging from 100 hours to 11,000 hours. Mrs. Edna Wilson received the top award, recognizing the 11,000 hours she has contributed since 1950. In addition to numerous assignments including the Information Desk and Surgical Waiting Room, Mrs. Wilson served as chairman of all volunteers from 1955 to 1980.

The 4,500 hours award was presented to Mrs. Helen Clapp for her service to the Admissions Department, Mrs. Clapp also received special recognition as retiring admissions chairman.

Awards for 3,500 hours were presented to Marnie Brown and Sally Graham, while Linda Corlette and Nini Dielmann were recognized for 3,000 hours of service. Recipients of the 2,500 hours award included Sylvia Berlin, Pauline Huntington, and Joan Schiller. Doris Bird, Sara Hockings, Irma Mihan, Daphne Pontus, Jane Rohrer, Charlotte Watts, and Eva Mae Wilson each received a 2,000 hour award.

Five volunteers received the 1,500 hour award, the 13 volunteers were presented with an award for 1,000 hours. Recognition for 500 hours was given to 31 volunteers, while 77 received the 100 hour service pin.

In addition to hourly service awards, 10 volunteers received special recognition for more than 25 years of active service. Mr. Doody presented engraved picture frames to Marnie Brown, Grace Brocksbank, Jean Chase, Linda Corlette, Theresa Critchlow, Audrey Gates, Plum Minton, Florence Seder, Jean Smyth, and Edna Wilson.

BLOOD PRESSURE HIGH?
Find Out with Free Test. In recognition of national high blood pressure month and national physical fitness and sports month, the Princeton Nautilus Fitness Center in the Princeton Shopping Center will offer free blood pressure testing to all Princeton residents.

Bob Hartman and Terri Truitt, certified paramedics with the Princeton and Trenton First Aid and Rescue Squads, will do the testing on May 13, 16 and 20, starting at 4 p.m. at the Nautilus Center.
In addition, the Princeton Red Cross will conduct CPR (cardio-pulmonary resuscitation) classes on Sunday, May 22, from 10 to 1 and on Monday, the 23rd, from 7 to 10 in the evening at the Nautilus Fitness Center.

MORE TIME
For PCH Opponents. Princeton residents who oppose Princeton Community Housing's Elm Road apartments for the middle-income elderly were granted another week to file an appeal from last month's Superior Court decisions.

Wondering About All Those Holes? Here's the Lowdown on Street Diggers

What's going on here, anyway? Detours, pipes, bulldozers — Princeton has looked like an archaeological dig for the past two weeks.
• Hufish-Chambers-Robeson. The contractor is relocating the old water lines, in preparation for Collins construction.
• Walnut-Houghton. A new water line has been laid, going up Walnut, and an expanded storm drain line to serve the Houghton Road townhouses, now about to be built.
• Bank-Chambers-Nassau. Telephone conduits.
• Birch Avenue. Public Service gas lines.
• Route 206 North, shoulder. Public Service lines.
Those cryptic signs on the pavement? They have been stencilled there so that contractors won't damage whatever lines are below ground: blue means water lines; yellow is gas lines, orange or yellow, underground telephone and electric lines.

Last Wednesday, New Jersey Supreme Court Justice Allen Handler said that William Barr, who lives across from the proposed location, ject at 127 Westerly Road, may have until this Friday to file an appeal.

Originally, the Appellate Court had set last Friday as the deadline, but Mr. Barr took his case all the way to the top. The Appellate Court had granted PCH's request to shorten the usual 45-day deadline for appeals because PCH faces its own June 30 deadline from Federal Housing and Urban Development officials.

DISCUSSIONS PLANNED
On the "Nature of the Mind." The first two segments in a series of five videotaped discussions entitled the "Nature of the Mind" will be shown at the Mary Jacobs Library in Rocky Hill on Friday at 7.
Participants will include J. Krishnamurti, a religious philosopher who has written numerous books and given lectures throughout the world for the past 50 years; Dr. David Bohm, professor of theoretical physics at Birkbeck College, London University; Dr. Rupert Sheldrake, a biologist who is presently a consultant to the International Crops Research Institute in Hyderabad, India; and Dr. John Hixley and Dr. Thomas R. Krause, both of California.

The questions to be explored in the five discussions include: What is psychological disorder and what is required for fundamental psychological change? At present there are conflicting points of view about the proper approach to dealing with one's own or another's psychological problems, and the underlying principles from which these approaches are drawn are in even greater conflict. Can the mind, the nature of consciousness, its relationship to human suffering, and the potential for change be understood?

This program is being offered by the Krishnamurti Information Center and further inquiries can be made by calling Ronn Koeppele at 466-1345.

carpenters, as well as singers, actors and directors are being employed in "Celebration at PHIS," the school's spring musical to be given this Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 in the school auditorium. Overall direction of the project is under drama teacher Carol Wimborg.

School carpenters Bob Rostrum and Michael Bocanuso have built the set. Props, masks and costumes have been produced by students Erica Ruben and Elliot Deal, and their staff. Annecke Bower and her assistants have reproduced the "Celebration" logo on silkscreen, and there will be T-shirts, posters, banners and buttons.

Ms. Wimborg oversees three drama classes and a Drama Club, providing more than 200 students with opportunities to act, direct or work as crew for various productions throughout the school year.

In "Celebration," student leads will be Mary Marson, Todd Root, John Rine and Dan Via. The student vocal director is Shannon Daley. Student conductors are Marna Seltzer and Ruth Von Goeler.

Staff members Portia Sonnenfeld, Estelle Browne-Pallrand, David Mackey, Maureen Shea and Karen Bones are Ms. Wimborg's associates.

LOTS OF AUDITIONS

RETIREE ANNOUNCED

From Housing Authority. The Board of Commissioners of the Princeton Housing Authority announces the retirement of Frances W. Davis from her position with the Housing Authority.

An expression of gratitude was tendered to Mrs. Davis by the Commissioners and her co-workers, which stated:

"In recognition, and with great appreciation for 25 years of caring service, of dedication to the goals of the Housing Authority, and for her concern, warmth and humor, always."

Mrs. Davis, who is a participant in many of the activities of her church and the community, was born in Princeton and has lived here most of her life.

Move 92.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
This is a copy of a letter to Dept. of Transportation Commissioner John Sheridan.
In regard to proposed route 92, which is supposed to be a bypass for Princeton to help take truck traffic from route U.S. 1 to State route 206; not everyone in Princeton is eager for this road.

According to the last projection I know of, route 92 will run through the historic area of Kingston, where dedicated Higgins and his sons, the first settlers, built, and are buried in the old Higgins graveyard at the junction of Raymond Road and route 27.
This will be a sad loss for Kingston if route 92 is built.

Route 92 will have to cross the Delaware and Raritan Canal, a source of drinking water, which is likely to be polluted by route 92 runoff water containing lead, oil, asbestos, calcium chloride snow remnant, and other pollutants. This is a very serious matter.

Those at the east end of Princeton do not look forward to the exhaust fumes which are bound to blow this way with east and north winds. Nor do we like the thought of commercial building, which will be attracted by route 92.
Such building brings many problems with it.

If you must build a road,

why not take it from New Brunswick, where routes 18, U.S. 1, and the N.J. Turnpike converge, and from there take your road to route 287 in order to deal with the north-south traffic?

ELIZABETH G.C. MENZIES
926 Kingston Road
Paying the Price of Greed.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is the text of a letter I have written to members of The Princeton Regional Planning Board.
My husband, Amos Eno, acquired the so-called "Eno" property on Quaker Road in 1937. The Institute for Advanced Study was the obvious group for us to turn to when we were first approached by developers and realized we should try to protect the property.

Some of the land we gave to "Green Acres"; the most fertile farming land with top soil six feet deep we sold to the Institute with the utmost faith, trust and assurances of preservation. The selling price was extremely modest.

When we sold the house and the five surrounding acres in 1979 it was only after we knew that our children were grown, scattered, and that the house was too large and too much responsibility for us at our age. The Institute had "first refusal."

They were approached in October 1978 and the present management responded in May 1979 — only after pressure. The point of this history is that we have felt a sincere responsibility to the land, to the fact that this and the Uppide farm are the last workable farms in the Princeton area, and to the Institute for their honorable assurances to us.

This argument that is now before you, the Planning Board, is most regrettable for you, and for us, and must be for the Trustees of the Institute. Without giving any explanation about their other fund raising efforts the representatives of the Institute are gleefully grasping at a proposal by an opposing coalition to raise money from non-profit organizations to collect money to pay the Institute so that they will not develop this land.
Why haven't we had an explanation of how they have tried to raise money without alienating the community?
And why should the Institute for Advanced Study expect local residents to go to national farming preservation agencies so that they, the Institute, can be paid off three plus million dollars for development rights?

Have we lost our minds?
Everyone and every institution needs money, but should the greediness, or even necessity, of an endowed institution force the whole state to protect land that they admit has no waterpipes, no plumbing, no access road, and Quaker Road must, by their admission, be raised several feet to avoid floods, so that they can develop it at an astronomical price. Can it even pay off?

ALICE S. ENO

No Restrictions on Land.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I should like to improve the discussion of the Institute for Advanced Study's interests by stating a few facts connected with Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer's letter to Mr.
Sewell Uppide of 12 April 1960, which you cite in your recent article on the Institute. The letter said that the Institute's interest in acquiring the land was to protect itself "from any undesirable land in the neighborhood of the Institute's buildings and land." It obviously did not preclude any decent or attractive options which the Institute might wish to exercise once it acquired the land.

I should also like to call to the attention of your readers that the date of the letter precedes by nine years, and under another Director's jurisdiction (Dr. Carl Kaysen), the actual purchase and acquisition of Mr.
Uppide's land.

While we have an ongoing concern for sound land use, ecological balance, and historical circumstances, there are no restrictions that were agreed to when Mr.
Uppide's property was acquired.

Benefits of Farmland.
To the Editor of Town Topics: Following is the text of a letter sent to Hans Sander, Chairman, Princeton
Regional Planning Board.
As the Princeton Regional Planning Board considers land use changes, it is important to realize the social and economic benefits derived from farmland.

Agriculture has traditionally been a primary industry in New Jersey; the slogan "Garden State" is still a legitimate tribute to the importance of the agrarian sector of our economy. Although it is 47th in size, New Jersey ranks among the top five producer states for several major crops including peaches, spinach, summer potatoes, tomatoes, blueberries and cranberries.

The practical reasons for the need of the northeastern states to maintain a viable agriculture here as both a food source and open space have been well documented in recent years. The New Jersey Department of Agriculture has been working to address these problems for over twenty years.

The recently signed Agriculture Retention and Development Act and the Right to Farm Act address the issues and provide the framework for state, county and local involvement for the encouragement of agriculture.

I believe it is appropriate for local officials to work closely with the agricultural community to assess local needs as they relate to profitable and continued farming. Should you have any questions about the current legislation, please contact either me or members of my department staff.

WINNERS LISTED

First prize in the color category, which was $50 in merchandise of the winner's choice, went to Geraldine Burch of Orange, for her richly colored street scene. Second and third prizes ($25 and $15) went to Joanne Augustine of Rocky Hill and Manuel Guzman of Princeton. Honorable mentions in the color category were Janet Marie, Hopewell; Ward Vinson, Langhorne, Pa.; David Gilden, Princeton.

First place in the black and white category ($50 in merchandise of the winner's choice) went to Thomas Steinberg of Kendall Park. Second and third prizes in black and white were awarded to Patricia Dill of Princeton, and Rina Gill of Princeton. Honorable mentions were Ruth Anne Offenbauer, Pennington; Evan Lindner, Yardville, N.J.; Geraldine Burch, Orange, N.J., and Frank D'Ascendis, Trenton.

Judges for the contest, which was open to all amateur photographers, were James Alan Colman, Betsy Lewis, and Grant Peterson.

CHOIRS TO SING

At YWCA Membership Meeting, The YWCA's 62nd Annual Membership Meeting will be held Thursday, May 19, at the YWCA on Paul Robeson Place. Highlighting the meeting will be a performance by the combined choirs of the First Baptist Church of Princeton, under the direction of Roslyn Lawson.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. with a brief business session detailing the past year's activities at the YWCA. It will include a report from the YWCA nominating committee approving the results of the annual election, and in introducing the newly elected nominating committee, and the 1983-84 Board of Directors. The Combined Choirs will perform following the business session, and a wine and cheese reception will conclude the evening.

The Choirs were originally organized under the direction of the Rev. Silas Townsend, staff and volunteers. Those who are interested in learning more about becoming a Big Brother or Sister to a child from a one parent home are encouraged to attend, as well as parents with children who might benefit from the program.

While attendance does not imply a commitment, the agency requires all volunteers to go to one session. For more information on how to become someone special to one of more than 152 children on the waiting list for a Big Brother or Sister, call 695-2447.

ELDER HOSTELS TOPIC

Of Program in Rocky Hill. The Mary Jacobs Library in Rocky Hill will present a program on "Travel and Elder Hostels" for older adults on Monday at 2. Naomi Yantz, a retired professor from Rider College, will speak on the varied types of inexpensive vacations available to older adults. Registration is required.

This program is free and open to the public. For further information, call the library at 924-7073.

SPACE AVAILABLE

In Pennington School. The Pennington Presbyterian Nursery School located at the corner of Main Street and Delaware Avenue in Pennington has a limited number of openings in the two, three and four year old classes for the 1983-84 school year.

The school offers opportunities for the child to explore and pursue his or her own intellectual interests, incorporating a wide variety of materials and apparatus through art, collage, music, rhythm, and stories. At the same time the child is learning to interact socially in positive ways. The school holds a Cer-

Plasma Physics Laboratory Dedicates Tokamak; World's Largest, Most Advanced Fusion Reactor

There were rumors all week that President Reagan would attend, and even as a red-white-and-blue helicopter touched down on the air strip on the James Forrestal campus shortly before the ceremonies were to begin, there were those who thought it was he.

The occasion was the dedication of the Tokamak Fusion Test Reactor (TFTR) at the Plasma Physics Laboratory on the Forrestal campus. Final assembly of the $314 million TFTR was completed in December following seven years of design and fabrication efforts by government, University and industrial groups. The machine achieved its first plasma on Christmas Eve and is now ready for experiments in an attempt to achieve a scientific breakeven: the production of fusion energy output power equal to plasma heating input power.

Special guests on the blue-draped platform in a hangar-sized room adjoining the even larger main test cell housing the TFTR included the Honorable George A. Keyworth II, science advisor to the President and director of the Office of Science and Technology Policy, and the Honorable Donald P. Hodel, Secretary of Energy. Also on the platform were other officials of the United States Department of Energy (DOE) that has funded the TFTR and top management of the principal subcontractors that have helped build it.

Invited but unable, apparently, to attend, President Reagan sent "warm congratulations and best wishes" to all who had participated thus far in the development of the world's largest and most advanced magnetic fusion energy experiment. He called it a "notable achievement in reactor design" and added, "May it open the door for a new rate of progress for all mankind."

The Fusion Process. The TFTR project is part of a national effort to develop fusion as a safe, economical and environmentally acceptable means of generating electricity. The fusion process joins together light nuclei such as hydrogen at high temperature, thereby converting mass to energy. It differs from the fission process used in today's nuclear power plants, where heavy nuclei such as uranium are split to produce energy. The basic fuel for fusion reactors will be deuterium, an abundant, readily accessible isotope of hydrogen.

SPORTS CLINIC PLANNED

By YMCA. The YMCA is introducing a new co-ed Sports Clinic for ages 6-14 this summer.

The camp will feature instruction and games in basketball and soccer. A boy or girl can choose to specialize in either of the sports offerings or split the day, spending programmed time in each sport.

The sports clinic will be under the direction of Alan Tibbuck, former head coach of girls' soccer and boys' basketball at Princeton Day School. He will be assisted by Andy Sanford, a former All-State soccer player and co-captain of soccer and basketball at PDS. Andy, a Dartmouth graduate, has four years of experience directing the PDS Sports Camp.

Jessie Dreiner, former PDS soccer All-Stater, and presently performing on the University of Vermont women's soccer team, will be one of the soccer instructors.

The emphasis of the clinic will be placed on the teaching of a few basic skills that will be used to establish a foundation upon which to build. Team techniques will be introduced, and games will be played daily. A supportive environment will accommodate the very beginning or the more advanced youngster.

The clinic will begin June 27 and meet Monday through Friday from 8:30 to 12:30. Campers may attend from one to four weeks. For further information call the YMCA at 924-4497.

AT MUSEUM: SUMMER
Variety of Programs. The seashore and the solar system, photography and folk lore are on the bulletin board at the New Jersey State Museum, West State Street, Trenton.

"Seashore Ecology," for children eight to 12 years old, will be offered Saturdays by naturalist Barbara Hight. Sessions will begin at 10:30 a.m., and will cover plants, animals, tidepools, salt marshes. The fee is $9. Registration information at 292-6330.

"The Solar System: 1989," is a five-week astronomy course for 10 to 14-year-olds, to be given starting May 14 in the Museum's Planetarium, from 11 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Course fee is $6. Information from 292-6330.

"Tribal Tales," for ages eight and up, will cover African lore, Eskimo tales and stories of the Northwest Coast Indians. The fee is $6.

TELL ME A STORY

"How To..." Story-teller Susan Danoff and dancer Joy Vrooman will show you how to combine language and movement in the telling of stories during an eight-week summer workshop for adults to be given at the Art People Place, Witherspoon Street.

The story-telling classes will be held Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30, June 2 through July 21. The fee is $90. The story-teller and the dancer say that by the end of the series, each participant will know two stories — the beginning of a story-telling repertoire.

Details are available by calling 924-3807 or 924-8777. Enrollment is limited.

Route 92

Homes." A 200-unit project proposed for Montgomery Township. Because of this, the Department of Transportation shifted the alignment closer to Princeton Township.

This meant that instead of running along a valley, it would cross ravines and steep slopes, destroying two houses. The suggested compromise moves it closer to Carlton Homes. Committee members in their discussion, made it clear that they support construction of Route 92.

Plans for Route One have not been completed, emphasized DOT Commissioner John Sheridan. He added that the $75 million is not enough, and said he would like to see a plan that would widen Route One to six lanes.

"The part of Route One we're talking about is not substantially commercial," he said. "But we expect to see 20,000 new jobs coming to that area in less than a decade — by 1990 — and we want to be ready."

Task Force Two. A task force, known as Task Force Two, has been considering various options for Route One, including six lanes. John Moore, of the DOT, said discussions concerned several funding levels — $20, $50, $70 or $120 million.

"Seventy million won't buy all that much," he estimated. "Some widening, improving, grade-separation interchanges."

"We didn't say what would be best; we simply picked out a range of dollars. For one thing, we don't know how many lanes we'll need, and we won't know for some time."

Plans presented by Governor Kean and Commissioner Sheridan must be approved by the Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission and the Northeast New Jersey Transportation Co-ordinating Committee. Commissioner Sheridan says he does not expect either group to express much opposition, because the projects have already been discussed publicly.

After approval by these two bodies, New Jersey must submit final plans to the Federal Highway Administration by July 1. Federal officials must decide by September 30. Commissioner Sheridan says he thinks that, with state approval, there will be no problem.

Federal Money Freed. When I-95 was "de-designated," that is, wiped from maps and plans, $246.4 million in Federal money became available. De-designation of three other routes, outside this area, freed additional money.

The de-designation agreement calls for New Jersey to match Federal money by 15 percent; therefore, the state will pay $83 million and the Federal government, $470 million.

One of the items on Governor Kean's list is money for construction of an alternative to Route 206, sometimes called the "Somerset Expressway." Opponents of I-95 have protested construction of this road because some of it goes through the same area as the old I-95 route.

Governor Kean pointed out that the state is suggesting 25 percent more in the way of road work than money to pay for it. He said that some projects may "go by the wayside" because they may not be able to meet environmental impact requirements. Most of the projects will not be started until 1994 at the earliest. Commissioner Sheridan said he expects all funds allocated and work under way in six years.

PEOPLE In The News

Several Princeton authors have been named to the New Jersey Literary Hall of Fame located at New Jersey Institute of Technology.

They are Freeman Dyson, for "Disturbing the Universe"; Gloria Emerson, a Ferris Fellow at Princeton University and winner of a National Book Award for "Winners and Losers"; Vivian Gray of Loveladies and Princeton for "Antoine Lavoisier".

Also Ian H. Levy, translator, for "The Ten Thousand Leaves: The Translation of the Manyoshu, Vol. 1," nominated for a 1982 American Book Award; and Charles Robinson of Princeton for "I Hate Preppies Handbook."

Jenny Chiang of Princeton Junction, a student at West Windsor-Plainsboro High School, has received a medal for a water color in the 1983 National Scholastic Art Awards Program.

J. Richardson Dilworth of Hodge Road has been elected to the board of directors of Squibb Corporation. He will also serve on the executive committee.

Mr. Dilworth recently retired from Rockefeller Family & Associates where he was senior financial adviser for more than 23 years. In March he retired as chairman of the board of Rockefeller Center, Inc., where he remains a director.

Mr. Dilworth is also a director of Chrysler Corporation, R.H. Macy & Co., and two investment holding companies in Luxembourg. He is a vice chairman and a trustee of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, a trustee of Colonial Williamsburg Foundation, chairman of the Institute for Advanced Study, a trustee of Rockefeller University and senior fellow of the Yale Corporation.

Don Skeoch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Skeoch of 12 Manor Ridge, Princeton Junction, earned his second varsity letter for his performance with the Brown University Men's swimming team. He is a sophomore.

A butterfly-individual medley swimmer, he is a graduate of West Windsor High School and the Peddie School and also attended Glenbrook North High School in Northbrook, Ill. He was a letter winner in swimming at all three schools.

Grant A. Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Cooper of 84 Elm Road, has been named to the Ithaca College chapter of Omicron Delta Epsilon, the international honors society in economics. He is a 1980 graduate of the Lawrenceville

School and a junior economics-management major at Ithaca.

William Schreyer, 117 Mercer Street, president and chief operating officer of Merrill Lynch and Co., New York, has been honored by Pennsylvania State University as an Alumni Fellow, one of the highest honors the University can bestow.

Mr. Schreyer earned a bachelor's degree in business administration from the Penn State College of Business Administration in 1948. His entire business career has been spent at Merrill Lynch, starting in 1948, and has spanned many areas, including retail sales, government securities, and trading and investment banking. In addition to his duties as president and chief operating officer, a post he assumed in 1978, he also serves as chairman and president of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, Inc., its principal subsidiary.

William J. Brennan III will become president-elect of the New Jersey State Bar Association during the Association's annual meeting in Atlantic City.

Mr. Brennan is a partner in the law firm of Smith, Stratton, Wise, Heber & Brennan. The son of U.S. Supreme Court Associate Justice Brennan, he serves as a fellow of the American Bar Association, an associate editor of the New Jersey Law Journal and a member of the State Supreme Court's Board on Trial Attorney Certification.

Mr. Brennan served as a tank officer in the U.S. Marine Corps for three years before attending and graduating from Yale Law School. He practiced law in a Wall Street firm for five years before becoming New Jersey Assistant Attorney General in charge of litigation.

Patty Dinella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Dinella of Terhune Road, and Becky Popenoe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Popenoe of Moore Street, are members of the Haverford College women's tennis team.

Patty is a freshman who will serve as a co-captain this season and was first-team All New Jersey Group II at Princeton High School. Becky is a sophomore, also a Princeton High School graduate, and earned Most Improved Player last season.

Mary Ellen S. Capek, of Jefferson Road, was awarded honorable mention in the first Recognition Award from the New Jersey College and University Coalition on Women's Education.

Ms. Capek is executive director of the National Council for Research on Women and former director of Continuing Education at Princeton University where she developed a series of state-wide networks for women in education. As state coordinator for the American Council on Education's National Identification Program for the Advancement of Women in Higher Education Administration, she gathered leading women administrators together, and Richard A. Falk, Milbank Professor of International Law at Princeton University, will receive an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree at Monmouth College's 49th commencement on May 22.

Dr. Falk has an international reputation as a scholar and activist in the domain of world affairs. He was appointed at age 35 to the Milbank Professorship and has held the appointment since 1965. A prolific writer, he is the author of more than 33 books on global affairs, international law, and disarmament. He is widely regarded as a pioneer in world order studies.

Among his many activities, Dr. Falk is a former vice president of the American Society of International Law, and for almost a decade was co-director of the project on the Future of the International Legal Order. Since 1968 he has been research director of the North American Team for the World Order Models Project.

Navy Fire Control Technician 2nd Class James C. Staples, son of Bruce G. and Olive Staples of 4206 Foxrun Drive, Plainsboro, N.J., recently participated in "READEX 1-83," a major training exercise in the Caribbean.

He is a crew member aboard the guided missile destroyer USS Conyngham, homeported in Norfolk, Va.

Deborah C. Blair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Blair of Balcort Drive, has received the Pink and Green Briar College, honoring her as the most valuable team member during 1982-83.

Miss Blair, a junior majoring in economics, has also been a member of the field hockey team at Sweet Briar. She is a graduate of Princeton High School.

Two Princeton University professors have been elected to membership in the National Academy of Sciences. Professor of Mathematics William P. Thurston, a research topologist, and David T. Wilkinson, the Cyrus Fogg Brackett Professor of Physics, were among 60 new members chosen for their distinguished and continuing achievements in original research.

The 35-year-old Thurston's rapid rise in his chosen field has been highlighted by his introduction of revolutionary new geometrical methods in qualitative theory of differential equations, function theory and topology.

Among the prizes he has received are the Field Medal, the major prize of the international mathematical community, the Alan T. Waterman Award, established in 1975 by Congress to honor the first director of the National Science Foundation, and the Oswald Veblen Prize in Geometry of the American Mathematical Society. Prof. Thurston also is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Prof. Wilkinson's research interests include gravitation, relativity and cosmology. He was a member of the research group, led by Princeton's Robert H. Dicke, that predicted that radiation released by the "big bang" that gave birth to the universe could be detected as radio waves from space. He was also among a 13-member team of scientists who designed a small experimental package that was left on the moon by Apollo 11 astronauts during man's first lunar landing mission in 1968.

His current work focuses on cosmic microwave background. He is involved in Cosmic Background Explorer, a satellite experiment to be launched by a space shuttle scheduled for 1988. The $100-million instrument, designed by a group of scientists that includes Wilkinson, will enable astronomers to study in far greater detail the uniformity of "big bang" background radiation, which is critical to the further understanding of cosmic evolution.

Area students at The Lawrenceville School have earned varsity letters for participation on winter teams.

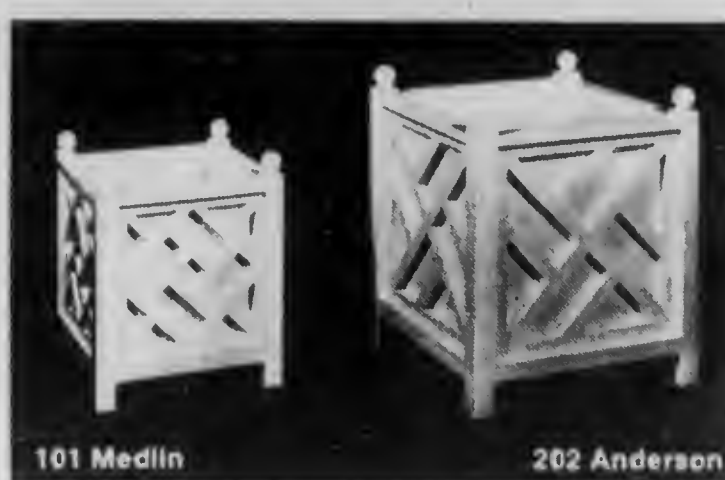

From Princeton they are Ronald J. Kane, Jr., captain of the varsity basketball team, holder of the Lawrenceville School's all-time basketball scoring record with 941 points in four seasons of varsity play; and winner of the Edmund R. Megna Basketball Trophy for excellence of play and commitment to the success of the team.

Also, Christopher R. Randall, fencing; Philip Lam and Thomas R. Murray III, indoor track; R. Craig McClelland and Peter J.S. Smith, hockey; Robert J. Bergman and Eric A. Postel, swimming. Postel was awarded the George Schoneiter Trophy for making the most outstanding contribution to Lawrenceville swimming.

From Princeton Junction, Shannon M. Malloy, wrestling; from Rocky Hill, David J. Hovsepian, swimming.

From Lawrenceville, Adrian W.B. Randolph, co-captain of the varsity fencing team, winner of the Seija Fencing Trophy for his contribution to fencing at Lawrenceville, and winner of the Rufus F. Dawes Fencing Prize for Epee. Also from Lawrenceville, James G. Duffy and W.J. (Hans) Humes, hockey.

BUSINESS In Princeton

BANK OPENS CENTER
In Route One Complex, First National State Bank of New Jersey has opened a Corporate Services Center at the Carnegie Center in Princeton.

The bank is the principal affiliate of the $4.9 billion-asset First National State Bancorporation, largest commercial banking organization in New Jersey. The Center is expected to provide First National State's services to corporate, professional and government customers in the Princeton and Central New Jersey area.

The Center will work closely with another Bancorporation affiliate, First National State Bank-Edison, in providing services. It will be under the general direction of Kenneth J. Mathews, senior vice president of the bank's National Banking Department and its Industrial Finance Group.

The regional manager of the Center is Robert F. Casciola, chief of Borough and Township cable television, National State. Mr. Casciola, who joined the bank in 1978, is former head football coach at Princeton University, and also is a Princeton University graduate.

In a previous government banking assignment with the bank, Mr. Casciola worked closely with municipal, county and state government agencies, as well as with the general manager, Samuel New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority and the professional football Giants. He currently is a member of actual construction of the WOR radio team covering New Jersey General's professional football games.

Mr. Casciola, a resident of East Windsor Township, will be assisted by two corporate account managers: Andrew G. Kress 3rd, assistant vice president-cash management, Associates, developers, of and Susan E. Scott, assistant Carnegie Center, Route One cashier, National Banking.

NEW MODEL
At Constitution Hill, because a customer bought the previous model home including its furnishings, Collins Development is building a new model at Constitution Hill, the James Morgan estate between Rosedale Road and Stockton Street. The model will be decorated by Rita St. Clair Associates, Inc., of New York and Baltimore.

The official opening of the new model will be this Sunday at what Collins calls "a VIP reception." Arthur Collins, president of the firm, and vice-president James Harvie will be hosts.

The new model is a one-story house with two bedrooms, two bathrooms, den, formal dining room and eat-in kitchen. A half-basement is below the living area. Although no price is quoted, basic prices at Constitution Hill range from $238,000 to $262,000.

CABLE MOVES AHEAD
With Staff, Construction. Twenty miles of cable will have been installed by this Wednesday, according to Home Link Communications. The firm, awarded the franchise for Borough and Township cable television, National State. Mr. Casciola, says it will now increase the production schedule to 25 miles a month.

Still ahead are acquisition of antennae sites to receive both off-air and satellite signals within the same time frame, and concluding negotiations for office facilities.

Present offices are at Princeton Professional Park, 601 Ewing. William Hysell is in charge of new business development and Mr. Casciola will co-ordinate the actual construction of the WOR radio team covering New Jersey General's professional football games.

MORE AT CARNEGIE
Firms Lease Space. Several new tenants were announced this week by Carnegie Center president-cash management, Associates, developers, of and Susan E. Scott, assistant Carnegie Center, Route One cashier, National Banking.

Companies are Sage Data, Inc., a computer company providing software in the fields of economic analysis, corporate planning, market research and purchase planning. Armeo Financial Corp., a subsidiary of Armeo, Inc., which specializes in secured business loans for use in maintaining or expanding operations, and Spaul International Associates, for regional offices.

Spring start-up schedules have been approved for the new main branch of the Princeton Post Office, to comprise 36,000 square feet of space. United Jersey Banks' 136,000-square-foot, four-story headquarters and 105 Carnegie Center, a 70,000-square-foot speculative office building.

PERSONNEL NOTES

Dr. Robert M. Olson has joined Dr. Morton H. Goldstein in the practice of plastic and reconstructive surgery. Dr. Olson was a Choate Scholar at Dartmouth College and received his medical degree from the University of Pennsylvania. He completed his surgical training at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital of Harvard Medical School, and his residency in plastic and reconstructive surgery was completed at the Mayo Clinic in 1981.

Board certified by the American Board of Surgery and the American Board of Plastic Surgery, Dr. Olson is also a clinical assistant professor of surgery at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey-Rutgers Medical School. He and Dr. Goldstein maintain offices at 11 North Harrison Street and at 764 Easton Avenue, Somerset. The phone number is 921-2922.

Three staff promotions have been announced by Response Analysis Corporation. Mrs. Ellen Hudes, an employee of Response Analysis since 1979 and a resident of East Windsor, has been promoted to research associate. Mrs. Arleen Witt, of Princeton, a part time employee since 1978 and a permanent employee since 1981, has also been promoted to research assistant.

Kenny Trainor of Lawrenceville has been promoted to senior word processing operator. He has been with the company since 1981.

CORRECTION
A story in last week's TOWN TOPICS on increased earnings for Gulton Industries omitted mention of the years for which a comparison was being made.

The pertinent sentences should have read: Earnings increased from 62 cents per share to $1.52 per share in 1983. In 1982 net earnings were 49 cents per share, after a loss of 13 cents per share from discontinued operations.

Dr. Charles A. Sanders

Charles A. Sanders, M.D., of Independence Drive, has been elected executive vice president, science and strategic planning, of Squibb Corporation and a member of the executive committee of the board.

In his new capacity, Dr. Sanders will join the office of the chief executive and will oversee the strategic objectives and plans for the Corporation and its operating groups, including the formulation of long-term scientific and technological programs.

Dr. Sanders has been an officer and a director of Squibb Corporation since July 1981, when he joined E.R. Squibb & Sons, Inc., as executive vice president, science and administration, a position he continues to hold.

Prior to joining Squibb, he headed the Massachusetts General Hospital. He remains a professor of medicine on the faculty of Harvard Medical School.

Special Wednesday Service at Trinity Church Will Mark Founding of Parish on May 11, 1833

Trinity Church, which has been celebrating its sesquicentennial with return visits by former clergy and special events all year, will mark the actual founding of the parish on May 11, 1833, with a special service this Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The rector, the Rev. John Crocker Jr., will preach on "Turning Points, 1833-1983," and the Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey, the Rt. Rev. G.P. Mellick Belshaw, will give an anniversary greeting.

A special anthem has been composed for the occasion by Trinity's new choir director and organist, John Bertalot. It is a setting of Psalm 150 and other pertinent texts for three choirs in musical multiples of 150.

Under the overall direction of Julianna McIntyre, the anniversary year has encompassed a number of activities, including the publication of a short history of Trinity Church by Margery P. Cuyler and Nathaniel Burt. A display of photographs of the church in various phases of growth, along with memorabilia and a time line devised by Gus and Connie Escher and others is on exhibit in the parish hall through the month of May.

RELIGION
In Princeton

New Wealth a Factor. In a town that was first settled by Quakers and became strongly Presbyterian with the location here of the College of New Jersey in 1746, it took until the mid-1800s for Anglicanism, or its descendant, Episcopalianism, to take hold. Trinity Church owes its beginnings in large part to the arrival here of a wealthy Southerner named John Potter, whose daughter married Robert Field Stockton, grandson of Richard (the Signer) Stockton.

John Potter became involved in canal and railroad transportation with his son-in-law, a Commodore in the U.S. Navy, a U.S. Senator and a financial operator. The Potters built Prospect (now the University Faculty Club) for themselves, and the Stocktons, of course, lived in Morven. The cornerstone for Trinity was laid on July 4, 1833, and while the church was being built, services were held in Prospect and Morven.

Trinity's first church was designed by the architect Charles Steadman, a member of the vestry who was responsible for many of the houses in the Mercer-Alexander Street day, lie Potters and their kin neighborhood. Like the con- temporary Miller Chapel on "Potter's Field."

The Rev. Mr. Hare visited the Seminary campus, it was designed like a Greek temple, Rocky Hill as a missionary, an oblong white stone building facing Mercer Street, with six fluted columns and seven front steps.

The first clergyman was the Rev. George Emilen Hare, who began his ministry in 1834 with 11 communicants. Ten years later when he resigned his parish had grown to 51 and a depot at the foot of Alexander parsonage had been added on Stockton Street. Today that house is the home of Trinity iniquity."

A New Church. The Rev. Alfred Baker became rector of Trinity in 1866 and stayed for 48 years until he retired in 1914. He continued to live at the rectory until his death in 1928. During his long tenure, and again through Potter-Stockton generosity, the Greek edifice was replaced by a larger and more impressive Gothic structure which carried on the brownstone tradition begun by the parish hall and Ivy Hall.

The cornerstone for this new church was laid on July 4, 1868, exactly 35 years after the original one. Later additions extended the nave in one direction (1910), the sanctuary in another (1914) and in brownstone Gothic. Built by a Stockton relative on land sold to him by the church, it was originally intended to house the proposed Law Department of Princeton University. When the Law School was discontinued in 1855, it became the office of the Amboy and Camden Railroad, and still later was the first home of Ivy Club, the first of Princeton's eating clubs.

Ivy Hall then became a library and was finally bought back by the church to be used as a home for Trinity's longtime organist Raymond Rudy. Today it serves as a rehearsal hall for the choir and office for the choir director.

Potter's Field. As the history of Trinity Church notes, one benefaction of the Potter family went awry. John Potter gave the parish a big plot next to the church to be used as a public-not just Episcopalian-cemetery. But the neighbors objected, and Borough Council prevailed upon Mr. Potter to take back his land. He kept a small portion of the lot for a family successors, the Rev. William Armstrong Dod, who became rector in 1851, took it upon himself to initiate a Sunday School and services at the Basin, the busy rail and canal depot at the foot of Alexander Street described in the Trinity history as "a thriving sink of Prominent Clergy. Trinity has served as a springboard for many of its rectors to higher positions elsewhere. Beginning with the Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving, more (famously known as "Tui," who was rector during World War II and went from Trinity to the rectory of St. James Episcopal Church in New York City, the line includes the Rev. John Vernon Butler, who became Canon of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York City; the Rev. Robert Spears, currently Bishop of Rochester, N.Y.; and the Rev. James White-more, who currently heads the Seamen's Church Institute in New York City.

Religion in Princeton

Trinity, was built in 1959-60 and became a separate church in 1970.

In recent years Trinity has wrestled with issues within the church such as the ordination of women to the priesthood (the Rev. Daphne W.P. Hawkes was ordained in Trinity, the first woman priest in the diocese) and the new prayerbook. Its members have taken a far greater role in outreach to Princeton and Trenton and also argued whether social and political issues such as nuclear disarmament do or do not belong within the church.

One hundred years after its founding, Trinity Parish has a place in Princeton as a lively and important institution.

CHURCH TO EXPAND

In Plainsboro, The Congregation of the First Presbyterian Church of Plainsboro will break ground Saturday at 10 for a new building addition. For many years the congregation has worked and raised money through the Sunday Church School, Women's Organization and special offerings in order to add on much needed space.

A major financial campaign was launched last year to finance the addition, and was answered with pledges far exceeding expectations. During this last year, the church has also applied for and received loans from the United Presbyterian Church of the U.S.A. The total estimated cost of the new addition is approximately $350,000.

MUSIC SERIES PLANNED

By Lambertville Church, Saint Andrew's Episcopal Church, Lambertville, announces "Music in May," a series of Sunday afternoon recitals to be held in the Church at 4:30. Admission to each recital is free (donations and freewill offering gratefully accepted), and there will be a reception following each recital with an opportunity to meet the featured artist of the day.

The Trio Francesca Caccini, an ensemble of women performing renaissance and early baroque instrumental and vocal music, will be featured this Sunday.

On May 15, James Litton, organist and choirmaster at Saint Bartholomew's Church, New York City, will perform Saint Andrew's 18-rank 1891 Hook and Hastings mechanical action organ.

A variety of organ works will be presented on May 22 by Paul Danilewski, organist-director of music at Covenant United Methodist Church, Springfield, Pa., and staff organist at Longwood Gardens, Kennett Square, Pa.

This recital series, coordinated by Mrs. Barbara C. Townley, organist and director of music at Saint Andrew's Church, Lambertville, and parish musician at Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oldwick, is presented by Saint Andrew's Church in conjunction with the Lambertville Designer Show House. For further information, call the Church at 397-0194 or Mrs. Townley, (201) 782-9818.

IMMACULATE PRINCETON COLONIAL PERFECT FOR ENTERTAINING. This crisp two story colonial provides all the amenities - in-town living, yet a wooded setting with in-ground pool. The living room with fireplace leads to a marvelous screened-in porch and super deck, the formal dining room has French doors, the kitchen is a chef's delight, and the den a dream. Five bedrooms in all including 2 master suites. For the activity minded family. $295,000

EXCITING PRINCETON TOWNHOUSE ON DOUBLE LOT makes so much sense for your busy lifestyle! Leave the car at home and walk to all the things that make Princeton a very special place to be: University football games and lectures, those wonderful shops, our very special Princeton Library, and children's activities. Especially light and spacious, this delightful home boasts many extra features: a well-proportioned living room with fireplace, heated sunroom for your plants off the separate dining room, modern kitchen with lots of cupboard space, front and back stairways - and lovely private flagstone terraces for your spring and summertime entertaining. Up on the third floor, an ultra-modern hideaway with skylights, full bath and kitchen to use as your master bedroom, studio, children's playroom, or your poetry place. All in all, a truly marvelous home with great investment potential too. We'd be happy to tell you more, but hurry...it's priced to sell at $179,500

LOVELY CONDOMINIUM at One Markham Sq., Princeton Boro - 2 bedrooms, 2 baths, living room with skylights, dining room. Walk to town and bus to N.Y. at corner. $172,000

STONEFRONT LAWRENCEVILLE RANCHER on a superb corner lot. Inside, is a living room with fireplace, formal dining room, modern kitchen, and three delightful bedrooms including a master suite. Downstairs, is a full finished basement really well done in knotty pine. The house looks like it was built for a doctor. Good taste, good construction and looks. $99,900

CHARMING COLONIAL CAPE ON 3 1/2 WOODED ACRES. In the Lawrenceville Area, custom built Cape Cod, in a truly pretty setting overlooking a brook, featuring a large living room with fireplace, a comfortable country kitchen, master bedroom on the ground floor and 2 more family bedrooms upstairs. A very special home in a superb location. $178,500

A LOVELY COLONIAL on six wooded acres in Princeton Township. Light and sunny living room with picture window and fireplace, formal dining room, updated kitchen with all new appliances, jalousied sun room and library-den on the first floor. Upstairs is a full master bedroom and two other bedrooms and bath. An exceptional location in a well established neighborhood, freshly painted with a pool and room for a tennis court and still with plenty more land for subdivision possibilities. $225,000

TEN ACRE HORSE FARM with huge dwelling (could have been an Inn or Stagecoach Stop) including 5 apartments, horse barn, riding ring and more. Call us this week. $225,000

NEW LISTING! PRINCETON COLONIAL CONDOMINIUM offers you that close-to-everything Princeton lifestyle at a cost you can afford. Originally part of the Kurkjian Estate and renovated several years ago, this light-filled condominium unit gives you a spacious living room with two bay windows, a charming cobblestone fireplace and large bay window in the dining room. Upstairs, features include a sunny skylighted bath, and three bedrooms. Let us tell you more! $99,900

BAYARD COURT IN PRINCETON

OPEN HOUSE SATURDAY 1-4 PM

Minutes from the center of Princeton: newly constructed condominiums designed for the ultimate in energy-efficiency

From full basement to the thermostatically controlled attic fan, Bayard Court condominiums have been designed and constructed with extraordinary attention to detail. Remarkable standards of energy-efficiency have been achieved through such features as Carrier SuperSaver gas burners, air-lock entry systems, Perma-Shield windows, and extra insulation in ceilings and walls. Every unit is positioned for full southern exposure with sliding glass doors to take advantage of passive solar heat during sunny, winter days. Overhanging eaves provide protection from mid-day summer sun. Four season greenhouses are also available as an optional extra.

Bayard Court condominiums are priced from $152,000. They are available for viewing now, ready for occupancy.

SPACIOUS RIVERSIDE COLONIAL. On a beautiful wooded lot our newest listing features a living room with fireplace and built-in bookcases, a formal dining room with bay window and French doors to the patio, a large kitchen with dining area and pantry and a paneled family room with built-in bookcases. Upstairs are four bedrooms in all including a master suite with bath. Ideally situated just a few blocks from Riverside School and Carnegie Lake. $198,500

WONDERFUL FAMILY-SIZED COLONIAL ON WOODED CUL-DE-SAC IN PRINCETON! From the large living room with window overlooking the trees to the wonderful kitchen open to the family room to the greenhouse effect in the finished basement, the house is packed with special features. Let us show you the special master suite which includes sleeping area with balcony, separate study, and a wonderful 3rd floor widow's walk hideaway! Call your Firestone associate and let us tell you more! $250,000

CLOSE TO NASSAU STREET AND LARGER THAN YOU THINK! This three bedroom front to back multi-level features a living room with cathedral ceiling and fireplace, knotty pine dining room, eat-in kitchen with mellow wood cabinets, lower level office with full bath & separate entrance & recreation room and laundry. $125,000

The Garden Club of America Bestows its Highest Award For Horticulture on William Flemer of Princeton Nurseries

To walk down Witherspoon Street in the early spring is to enter an arcade softened and transformed by white blossoming trees.

The trees are Bradford Callery Pears, and they were grown at Princeton Nurseries. The Bradford Callery Pear was introduced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture at Beltsville, Md., but a new variety, Redspire Pear, which has large blossoms and is even hardier, was originated at Princeton Nurseries by its president, William Flemer III.

Mr. Flemer's particular interest is plant genetics and the breeding and production of new varieties of shade and ornamental trees. He was recently honored by the Garden Club of America with its highest award, the Medal of Honor, for distinguished service to horticulture.

Mr. Flemer is a third generation nurseryman. Princeton Nurseries, the second largest wholesale nursery on the east coast, was started by his grandfather, William Flemer. It began as a branch of F&F Nurseries in Springfield where the push for housing before World War I was driving up the price of land.

The first William Flemer sought additional acreage on which to grow trees that was a day's drive from Springfield by horse and wagon. He also wanted to be close to a railroad and to a canal, and the four farms he purchased successively in Kingston had all these attributes.

Succession. His son, William Flemer Jr., was born in 1905 and upon return from serving in France during World War I with the Princeton University Ambulance Corps took over the operation of the nurseries.

Similarly, when William Flemer III completed a B.A. cum laude and M.S. in botany at Yale in 1947 after service in World War II, he returned to run the nursery, and his father gradually "took a back seat."

William III became president in charge of production, and his brother John served as treasurer and in charge of personnel until his untimely death last December.

William Flemer IV is superintendent of the nurseries, and a son-in-law, Richard Hesselein runs the Allentown branch, an expansion begun when developmental pressures here led the company to look elsewhere for more land on which to grow trees.

Shade Trees the Specialty. Princeton has a favorable climate for growing trees, Mr. Flemer says. It is cold enough for northern species like lilacs, mountain ash and shadblow but warm enough for specialties of the mid-south, such as crepe myrtles and evergreen magnolias.

"This means a tremendous range of material is possible, which is good for us, and we offer a wide range. But our real specialty is shade trees. That is what we are best known for."

"We are also always looking for new varieties—trees for city streets that can withstand pavement glare and at-mospheric pollution, trees another, with a knowledge and love of trees and his understanding and interest in people as well."

There are 18 trees in the Princeton Nurseries weeds down. One crew makes catalogue that have been a specialty of the planting, developed personally by Mr. Flemer, many specifically to shade streets like Withers—similarly looks to the poon. One example is the evergreens, still another the Green Mountain Sugar Maple which combines the rich autumn foliage coloring and upright growth habit of the Sugar Maple with the thick leathery leaves of the Black Sugar Maple to give it drought and heat resistance for city planting.

Another is the Greenspire Linden, which grows rapidly and uniformly to attain a pyramidal shape without trimming, whereas its parent species is variable in growth. Still another is the Village Green Zelkova that has the classic wingless shape of a Dutch Elm tree but is resistant to Dutch Elm disease.

A Long Process. Not only does it take 18 years or so of patient cross breeding and plant selection to develop a new variety to the point where it can be patented, but it also takes a long time for the new tree to become accepted.

"The Garden Club's Medal of Honor noted, Princeton nursery community is consistent," Mr. Flemer remarks, "and they plant the things they know."

Consequently he spends much of his time lecturing, travelling (he is fluent in German and French and houses to the shipping of Princeton Nurseries enjoys an international reputation) and shrubs."

Mr. Flemer describes Princeton Nurseries as being within a big business. There is the seed department where Flemer told his audience of a collection of dogwood trees and samaras, the winged key presented by the GCA to which is good for us, and we offer a wide range. But our real specialty is shade trees. That is what we are best known for."

Upon accepting the Medal of Honor at the 70th annual meeting of the Garden Club of America in Houston, Tex., Mr. Flemer was presented with a plaque and a certificate.

The story itself tells much about the range of Mr. Flemer's activities and travels, the breadth of his knowledge and love of trees and his understanding and interest in people as well.

'CURSE YOU, VILLAIN!' Alan Salkin (right) and Jim Hopkins exchange a choice curse or two in this scene from "Belle, the Typewriter Girl," the 50th anniversary production of Princeton Community Players. Marie Miller listens, from the left. "Belle" will play again this week-end and next, with an 8:30 curtain Fridays and Saturdays, and a 7:30 curtain this Sunday. The play will close Saturday, May 21. Performances are at the Players' 171 Broadmead theatre.

News Of The THEATRES

'BRIGADOON'
By Periwig. The Lawrenceville School's Periwig Club will explore that misty Scottish village "Brigadoon" in a production of the musical to be given this Friday at 8 and Saturday at 7:30 in the Kirby Arts Center on Lawrenceville's campus. This is the 23rd year with Periwig for director Peter Candler, and the 175th major production of the drama club. Included in the cast of 40 are these students from nearby communities: Rebecca Dyson, Cindy Paxton, Lyle Zinskind, Harry Heher and Sally Snedeker from Princeton; Sonia Friedman, Karl Kettlekamp, Chris Beste, Walter Jean and Jodi Kaplan, from Lawrenceville.

'... WITHOUT A CAUSE'
Play, at Peddie. "Rebel Without a Cause," a stage version of the 1955 film about teen alienation that starred the late James Dean, will be presented by the Peddie School Dramatic Society May 19-21 at 8 p.m. in Geiger-Reeves Hall on the Peddie campus, Hightstown.

Peddie seniors David Reitman and Linda Attaway will play the leading roles. Other cast members are David DeSocio, Carol O'Driscoll, Russ Loaridge and Ann Kulthau.

SUMMER PREPARATIONS
At Princeton Ballet. Auditions and announcements about summer dance classes occupy the Princeton Ballet Society at this time of year.

Male and female dancers from all studios in the area who want to be part of Princeton Ballet II, the non-professional wing of the Princeton Ballet Company, may audition for the company on Sunday, June 5.

Dancers 15 and older are eligible to try out at 1 p.m. for the senior company. Dancers age 12 (by this December) through 14, may audition for the junior company at 3. No special preparation is necessary. Auditions will take the form of a ballet class, with both barre and center work.

Applications may be obtained from the Princeton Ballet Society, 262 Alexander Street, Princeton, N.J. 08540, or ordered by calling 921-7758 between 10 and 5, week-days. Registration should be completed before Friday, June 3.

The School of Ballet, directed by Judith Leviton, will offer an eight-week session of classes in ballet, modern dance and jazz starting Monday, June 6 at the school's studios in Princeton, Cranbury and New Brunswick.

In Princeton, ballet classes will be given for students in fifth-grade advanced, through adult advanced intermediate, and in modern dance and jazz for high school students and adults for beginner through advanced intermediate levels.

In Cranbury, ballet classes will be offered for second graders and older, and for high school students and adults from beginner through advanced intermediate. An eight-week jazz session will be given for students 13 years of age and older.

In New Brunswick, there will be ballet for intermediate students in grades five through eight, and ballet, modern dance and jazz for high school students and adults, beginner through advanced intermediate.

A Japanese Garden

By Charles Peterson

Let us create for you the peace and tranquility of a Japanese garden. No area is too large or too small that it can't be turned into a "mirror of nature," the ideal of every Japanese garden.

With simplicity the key, we can build ponds and cascades where falling water will impart a tranquil mood. An arching bridge can reflect in the water or lead the viewer on a relaxing walk. The graceful branches of weeping trees can add serenity to your garden. A Japanese lantern, carefully placed, can illuminate your path or reflect nearby branches. Stepping stones and meandering paths can add an aesthetic touch and also offer a firm surface for leisurely walking.

If the naturalness and beauty of a Japanese garden appeals to you, please call Charles Peterson at Peterson's Nursery, 924-5770, for an appointment.

pianist, will give a concert on Wednesday, May 18, at 8:30 p.m. in the McAlpin Rehearsal Room at Woolworth Center, on the University campus. Sponsored by the Friends of Music, the concert is free.

Miss Conrad is a graduate of the Yale School of Music where she won the Catherine S. Winchell Memorial Scholarship for outstanding pianist in 1980. She has also studied with Claude Frank and is currently a student of Peter Serkin in New York. Concerto appearances have included performances with the Music Academy of the West Orchestra, the Yale Symphony, the Marin Symphony and the Inverness Music Festival Orchestra.

For her program, Miss Conrad will perform, Beethoven: Sonata No. 28 in A Major, Opus 101; Schumann: Carnaval, Opus 9 and Messiaen: "Five pieces from Vingt Regards sur L'Enfant-Jesus."

JAZZ CLINIC PLANNED
At Westminster Conservatory. Members of the Laurie Altman Jazz Quintet will present an all-day workshop Saturday, May 14, for musicians in the area who would like some coaching on their improvisational skills.

The morning session will be spent with individual members of the group plus a few guests, working on styles and techniques for specific instruments. In the afternoon, participants will be brought together to work on group improvisation and ensemble playing. The day will conclude with a concert by the quintet.

Jazz enthusiasts are aware of the Laurie Altman Quintet through their recording, "For Now at Least." Members of the quintet are Laurie Altman, composer, pianist, leader; Mark Goldsberry, tenor and soprano sax; Victor Jones, drums; Tom Marvel, acoustic bass; and George Naha, guitar. Guests are Clifford Adams, Jr., trombone and Herbie Robertson, trumpet.

The Workshop is open to members of stage bands at area schools and colleges and to the community at large. It will begin at 9:30 and conclude with the concert, beginning at 3:30. The cost for the entire day will be $35, or tickets for just the concert may be purchased separately for $6; $4 for students with I.D.

For further information and registration materials, call the Conservatory Office at Westminster Choir College at 921-7104, or 924-6359.

DIET FACTS & FALLACIES

ARE YOU A VICTIM OF THE "YO-YO" SYNDROME?

Do you feel as though you are constantly on a diet? That you keep losing and gaining the same ten pounds? That no matter what you do, you will never be slim? If so, you may be a victim of what has been termed the "yo-yo" syndrome. People have been dieting for years, seeking every solution imaginable to magically burn off extra pounds. Each year, BILLIONS of dollars are spent on diet pills, foods, books, magazines and exercise equipment. Unfortunately, few of these so-called solutions work on a permanent basis.

What is the secret for success? Diet Center believes the only solution is PERMANENT WEIGHT CONTROL. You can gain this control by becoming nutritionally aware of what and how you eat. Stop counting calories! Instead, ensure your body receives adequate nutrients. Follow a diet that includes fresh fruits and vegetables, lean meats, whole grains and polyunsaturated fats. You, too, can conquer the "yo-yo" syndrome. Start today by calling your local Diet Center for more information.

URKEN'S FOR SUPPLIES
Since 1934. For almost half a century now, the Urken family has been helping to lighten the workload for Princeton residents by providing all of the innovative tools, gadgets, and heavy duty equipment which have developed over the years. Mrs. Paul Urken has seen many changes in town since her husband opened Urken's Supply Co., Inc. in 1934. Keeping in step with the times, the shop, under the expert management of the original owner's son, Mr. Irv Urken, has recently expanded the floor space by 2200 feet.

URKEN'S HAS GROWN: Mr. Irv Urken seems pleased with the additional floor space which the Urken Supply Co. on Witherspoon Street recently acquired. The shop is well organized into household sections including an extensive paint department, tools and heavy equipment for outdoor work, appliances, cooking utensils and a handsome array of new accessories for the home which the shop has introduced this spring.

running for a seat on the Borough council. Not only does the supply company provide all of the latest products for household use, garden care and maintenance, but it has gradually acquired several lines of decorative appointments for the home as well as convenient products which make a "life-on-the-go" much easier.

It is amazing to walk into the shop now and see just how much larger it seems. The cash register is now in the front of the shop, ably handled by Mrs. Urken. The store's additional ample space now facilitates the hurried shopper's quest for whatever item is needed because each section is well-ordered and categorized by the product.

For instance, Urken's now has a complete section of the shop at the back devoted to paint and related products. Bathroom hardware and accessories, laundry room equipment, assorted cleaning devices from the slickest battery-operated appliances such as a power brush or a dustbuster, to a plain, old, natural bristle scrub brush, plus an awesome assortment of tools can all be found in tidy displays. The shop seems to live up to its motto: which is: "If We Don't Have It, You Don't Need It."

Helpful Service. Of course service has always been key to the Urken Supply Company. Several of the able staff there have been advising customers on do-it-yourself projects for many years. Other useful services include: knife-sharpening; small appliance repair; locksmith work (and "moral support to those whose homes have been entered"). Urken's is something of a reference center. A large reference book, compiled by the Ortho company, the Ortho Problem Solver, is on hand at the shop for sale at $145 or for reference on any number of the extensive problem areas in the garden such as disease, insects, care and maintenance, complete with color pictures and an index to locate the type of product necessary to solve such troublesome areas.

It is evident while browsing around this hardware store that Mr. Urken, like so many of us, has a penchant for gadgets and practical items for everyday use. Food preparation, for instance, does not have to be difficult to be good. Witness the vast selection of coffee makers of all sizes and shapes at the shop, including the one which makes 100 cups at a time! Food processors, including the Cuisinart, are available here. The useful toaster ovens are a popular appliance, as standard equipment as the toaster used to be. Small appliances such as mixers, can openers and blenders are in full stock, but perhaps the most exciting collection of accessories now available are the space savers.

The colorful products by Ingrid are now featured at Urken's, from the new serving baskets and flatware to the stacking plates, cups and bowls, which are not only durable and economic from the point of view of space, but handsome enough for spring and summer entertaining. Mr. Urken has ordered the company's new transparent fluted tumblers and old-fashioned glasses with plates to match in soft pastels and attractive plastic glasses in varying sizes to use outdoors all summer. Nicely-packaged glasses by Corning for wine, drinks, and dessert have just arrived.

There are a number of accessories made by Ingrid which will please the shopper who seeks the appropriate yet

How to measure for your new mini-blinds

Inside mount. Measure width at top, center and bottom; use narrowest dimension. Blinds will be made slightly narrower to slip inside easily. Measure height from inside top of opening to sill. A 2" deep recess is required for flush mounting.

Outside mount. Measure width of opening. Add at least 1 1/2" on each side for overlap. Measure from top of frame to sill or 1 1/2" below opening if there is no sill.

practical housegift this season. Who would not enjoy the "party ball," a ball with a handle which includes six plates, cups, small bowls, and two large ones for their summer picnics? The "drink connection" compacts six cups next to a thermal jug, handy all times of the day for the active and thirsty sportsperson. Trays, salad bowls, storage boxes, hampers, laundry baskets, and litter pails in 18 different colors and many sizes complete the plastic picture at Urken's. The litter pails are not only used for waste but toys, clothes, and storage as well.

When Father's Day comes along, Urken's is the place to go. Tools by the hundreds, a new set of reasonably-priced socket wrenches and sets by Stanley, a new Weber charcoal or gas grill (or a tiny gas hibachi), a convenient grass whip, or an Ingrid tool carrier and organizer will make the perfect gift for your special man.

MORE CLOTHES AT "U-STORE": There is a new look at the Princeton University Store this spring. The men's and women's clothing departments where Miss Jennifer Ashcroft works have been enlarged, featuring handsome attire for spring and summer — much of which is reasonably priced under the store's own label. A book festival for children will soon take place in the book section which has grown to an inventory of 70,000 titles.

Practical Suggestions. On the practical side, Mr. Urken suggests items that eventually pay for themselves such as the more expensive rechargeable batteries which can be recharged up to 1000 times. He will soon stock a full selection of telephones, and all of the adapters and equipment necessary to install them. A phone with an automatic redialer will be sold for $19.95.

Anytime who has been in the store recently will know that there is a wonderful selection of clothing in the men's and women's department, the latter of which has grown considerably.

Space-savers by Cabinet Aides are a boon to the chefs in town. Handsome wood knife racks and cookbook holders, both of which pull down from underneath a cabinet, are a tremendous success because Polo's designs appeal to the young as well as the more mature man. Suits and blazers by this company are well-priced compared to the more expensive designer clothing and just as attractive.

A baker's delight is a stroll through the bakery section at Urken's. Hoan's wooden utensils, spoons, pasta forks, and salad scissors, even a ravioli roller as well as cookie and decorator presses, cannoli forms, pixie bun tins, and a wafer lead stencil are among the choices. Spring cleaning and summer fun will begin at Urken's.

CHANGES AT "U-STORE": Under New Manager. Ever since Mr. Donald Broderick came to Princeton to manage the Princeton University Store, it has taken on the atmosphere and the inventory of a city department store. The "U" store has a new look attributable to the marketing skills of Mr. Broderick, who has accrued many years of experience in the field. A native of Philadelphia, he was a vice-president of Gimbel's Department store there and later vice-president and Recent Renovation. Much of the store has been renovated of late, but the greatest change seems to be in the women's department where a fine assortment of sports clothing, summer skirts, blouses and Bermuda bags await the shopper.

Sy's Service 882-8842
MAJOR APPLIANCE REPAIR
Find us in the white pages.

More Books! Mr. Broderick is pleased that the book department has grown to 70,000 titles. The technical book sections have vastly expanded to more than 1000 titles in the computer field as well as a bigger selection of foreign language books. A book festival for children will take place in the store throughout the month. Eight authors will come in to do poetry and story readings along with clown, skits, refreshments and balloons.

The camera and the television section have been realigned and include a variety of services and assistance. Mr. Broderick hopes to open a computer department because so many of the University's courses demand computer use. He compares it to the marketing of calculators 15 years ago.

Typewriter, television repair and antenna installation are great conveniences at the "U" store which also features a mini market frequented by students. The mini market will soon be enlarged by 25 percent. One can always dash into the store to buy wonderful fresh flowers on a Friday or Saturday. On the first day when flowers were sold this spring, the store sold 300 bunches!

Finally, Mr. Broderick is most proud of his music department, which includes sales of records and tapes, a wonderful inventory, but also sheet music and music books, a supply business which he hopes to develop into one of the largest on the East coast.

PIZZA STAR

"Rosemary Spera - Joe Baylis - Owners"

Don't let anyone kid you about who has the best and fastest service in town. People around these parts know from experience that the best pizza is served by the PIZZA STAR located in the Princeton Shopping Center in Princeton, open 7 days a week, Sunday - Thursday, 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., Friday and Saturday 11 a.m. to Midnight. Phone 921-7422 for fast take out service.

Rosemary Spera adds a woman's touch to the complete operation of this fine establishment. Through the use of her guarded recipes and finest quality ingredients this pizza parlor offers this area authentic Sicilian style and regular pizza in many delicious flavors that you can either eat here in the quaint atmosphere or take out to go.

At PIZZA STAR you can order either a whole pizza decked with your favorite topping or order by the slice.

Joe Baylis and Rosemary Spera, owners of PIZZA STAR, have completely redecorated to celebrate their new ownership. PIZZA STAR, formerly owned by Rosemary's father, has always been known for their excellent pizza. The new owners have expanded on the menu and have added such specialties as special Italian dishes, appetizers, salads, calzones, Italian steak, Stromboli, hot and cold subs, eggplant, and veal parmesian all cooked to perfection. To compliment an excellent meal you can choose your favorite soft drink.

Rosemary Spera has made it a point to hire people she can trust to give you friendly service and the prices are very reasonable.

For delicious pizza and Italian food you'll return for again and again, the editors of this 1983 Business Profiles Review heartily suggest the PIZZA STAR. We compliment Joe Baylis and Rosemary Spera for their fine food and friendly service.

BROOKSIDE ALUMINUM CENTER

"Local Owner - Tony DiCocco Jr."

Many fine homes within a wide radius of this area have had their seamless aluminum siding done by BROOKSIDE ALUMINUM CENTER located at 19 Brookside Ave. in Pennington, phone 737-0666. They have gained a reputation second to none and afford their clients the very best seamless aluminum siding. This company also specializes in the sales and installation of aluminum storm windows, doors and replacement windows.

The owner has a background of years experience and is a craftsman of unusual skill and ability. Only the best of materials are used on all jobs contracted for and the work when completed is truly perfect.

Regardless of whether you are remodeling or building a new structure, this is the firm to see for siding work. You will find them just as courteous on a small job as on a large one. They do the same expert work and will stand behind their workmen to assure your satisfaction.

The editors of this 1983 Business Profiles Review are pleased to endorse the professional policies of this contractor to our readers.

FELLOWS READ & ASSOCIATES, INC.

FELLOWS READ & ASSOCIATES, INC., located in Princeton at 746 Alexander Road, phone 452-8818, are specialists in all phases of site development from initial concept to project completion, including construction management if desired. ARDIS & BILL LEIGH

"Fine American and English Antiques of the 18th and 19th Centuries"

Those of you who are antique collectors should come in to see the large selection of genuine antiques and objects of art of every description at 49 State Road in Princeton, phone 924-9310.

There is a great thrill in collecting and owning genuine antiques, because it gives you a real satisfaction to know that you have a piece of furniture that has that mellowness that only years can give. Keep and treasure them and hand them down to your children. They will find that same enjoyment in them that you now treasure. Call this firm for information on any antiques. They are always anxious to buy, sell, and trade antiques, and with your complete confidence they will appraise your treasured antiques so you may protect them with the proper amount of insurance. All their friends are invited to come in and browse around.

As editors of this 1983 Business Profiles Review, we fully endorse the fine business practices of this well known antique dealer.

REED'S GARAGE

Nelson Reed - Owner

When the people of this area look to someone to take care of any mechanical problems they might have with their foreign or domestic cars, they generally head straight for REED'S GARAGE at 269 Princeton Hightstown Road in West Windsor, phone 799-1659.

This well known shop specializes in all types of expert automotive repair and service. They use only the latest equipment and handle any size job in the shortest time and at reasonable rates.

With the automobile as complex as it is today, you owe it to your car to let these qualified people take care of the problem.

In this 1983 Business Profiles Review, we, the compilers, take great pride in representing this reliable shop to the readers of this issue. When you take your car to the experts at REED'S GARAGE, you can be assured that the work is done according to factory techniques and that you will not have to take it to them a second or third time for the same problem.

GOLDEN MUSHROOM ORIENTAL FOOD STORE

"Jeffrey Chen - Owner"

When you talk of new and unusual stores, you must include GOLDEN MUSHROOM ORIENTAL FOOD STORE, conveniently located at 334 Nassau Street in Princeton, phone 924-5253. They have been doing business here for 10 years.

The idea behind their business is to serve the people of this area with a wide variety of fine imported foods from Thailand, China, Japan and other areas of that part of the world. They feature fish, sauces, imported produce and soups and much, much more. Truly a one of a kind store.

They have scientifically stocked their shelves with items often wanted by people but not easily found.

They offer ample easy parking space and courteous service, which adds to the reason why so many people are already taking advantage of their unique make up.

The editors of this 1983 Business Profiles Review compliment the management of this one of a kind store for their efforts to offer what is needed, when it is needed. Remember the name, GOLDEN MUSHROOM ORIENTAL FOOD STORE, you'll find their stock complete and their service extra fast.

NASSAU SHOE TREE/ JONATHAN SHOES, INC.

"Fine Ladies Shoes"

The NASSAU SHOE TREE located at 27 Palmer Square in Princeton, phone 921-7238, is owned and operated by Jane Tobish. JONATHAN SHOES, INC. is located at the Quaker Bridge Mall in Lawrenceville, phone 799-4830, owned and operated by Jonathan Tobish. Ladies, you will find that shoes purchased at one of these fine stores will give you longer wear, more comfort, more attractive style than any that you have ever worn.

The reason many women have foot trouble is because they do not wear the right kind of shoe. The difference is in having a person fit your feet who knows just exactly what you need. If you will let them furnish your footwear, you will always be correctly fitted with comfortable shoes in the latest fashions.

Those are the well known, exclusive shoe stores of the community and they know their business from every angle. They know that it is bad business to use high pressure salesmanship to sell a pair of shoes that does not entirely please the customer.

Ladies, the editors of this 1983 Business Profiles Review recommend that you make either of these fine shoe stores your shoe headquarters and read their long list of satisfied customers. No matter what kind of shoe you need, it will pay you to look over their stock.

R.B. DRAKE PLUMBING & HEATING

"Russell Drake - Owner"

This contractor is located at 105 Hopewell Wertsville Road in Hopewell, phone 466-1023.

Superior to the vast majority of plumbing and heating contractors, and surpassed by none, either in general excellence of work or superiority of materials used, this popular contractor has continued its successful career because the management and assistants are among the most efficient plumbing and heating craftsmen in this part of the state.

They offer you the best in both commercial and residential plumbing and heating installation. Repair jobs are given prompt attention at a fair price.

If you are figuring on any work, let them help you make up your plans. You will find that your consultation with them will save you money.

In this 1983 Business Profiles Review, we, the editors, are glad to compliment them and refer them to all our readers.

HOLIDAY INN

Whether you are in town for business or pleasure, plan to enjoy the comfort of being made to feel at home with service that cannot be excelled. Visit the HOLIDAY INN at 10 U.S. Highway Route 1 South in Princeton, phone 452-9100.

Along with some of the most comfortable and beautiful rooms in the area, this newly refurbished hotel offers in room sauna and steam bath pools. Their cheery dining room has gourmet foods to tempt anyone's appetite. Whether it's breakfast or dinner, you'll enjoy the atmosphere along with the friendly, courteous, and fast service.

After dinner, enjoy your favorite cocktail in the lounge where the troubles of the day will disappear among friendly company.

It does sound exciting doesn't it? Then why not take the week-end off, away from the hustle at home, and let you and your wife relax for a change. Simply phone 452-9100 for reservations into a weekend of relaxation and comfort. Remember that number when you have guests coming in town.

This 1983 Business Profiles Review and its editors are pleased to suggest this fine hotel to our readers.

LUCAR HARDWARE CO.

"Al Carson - Owner"

The LUCAR HARDWARE CO. located at 38 Princeton Hightstown Road in Princeton Junction, phone 799-0599, is your "Do-it-yourself" headquarters in this area.

Be sure to visit this well known hardware store soon. They carry a complete stock of parts, housewares, electrical supplies, tools, lawn supplies, garden tools, hand tools, builders tools, and portable Black and Decker power tools. These and many other types of merchandise are offered in a wide variety of colors, sizes and grades.

Whether you're building a cabinet or laying linoleum, these experienced men will help you choose the correct tools and supplies. Their long experience in this work has qualified them as the "One-Stop" hardware store in this area.

The management is courteous and accommodating and believes that the best way to keep you coming back year after year is to give you highest quality merchandise at reasonable prices. This aim has developed for them a long and lasting friendship with the people in this entire trade territory.

The editors of this 1983 Business Profiles Review take pleasure in referring our readers to the LUCAR HARDWARE CO. as one of the friendliest stores in town.

PREFERRED ACCOUNTING SERVICES, INC.

"Doris Dempster - President"

An efficient bookkeeping and tax service is an essential business. In your business, PREFERRED ACCOUNTING SERVICES, INCORPORATED at 35 Monmouth Junction Road in Dayton, phone 924-8595 or 201-329-6535, offers bookkeeping and tax work for business people in this area.

To properly direct a business, the manager or owner should keep their mind free from details in order that they may introduce new and better methods into the business. As the directing head, it is their duty to guide the business upward and over the rocks and pitfalls that are so prevalent, particularly at this time. Quite obviously, no business executive can give their entire attention to the expansion of the business if they have loaded themselves with the mechanics of keeping their own books.

The editors of this 1983 Business Profiles Review suggest to our readers that they let PREFERRED ACCOUNTING SERVICES, INC. handle their bookkeeping needs. In this area the one to call is this firm well known for their computerized bookkeeping service.

VALLEY OIL CO.

"Locally Owned & Operated by David N. Bregenzner, Donald V. Terhune & Raymond Whitlock Jr."

The name VALLEY OIL, on Somerset Street in Hopewell, phone 466-0015, has become a legend of good service among the people of this area for their deliveries and service with the popular No. 2 heating oils.

Through their desire to serve better, they offer such advantages as: Fast, Dependable Deliveries, Automatic Fill Service, Complete Oil Burner and Furnace Service, Meter Printed Invoices, and top it off with Easy Budget Terms.

You will find that the men who make delivery are very careful not to tread on delicate flowers or shrubs and never spill oil.

They use only the latest modern equipment and can be completely depended on to make their deliveries on time and to keep your account straight.

In this 1983 Business Profiles Review, we, the editors, are pleased to make our wholehearted recommendation of VALLEY OIL, INC. and suggest to our readers that they begin enjoying the competent services of this distributor as so many other people have.

WINIFRED DONAHUE'S ANSWERING SERVICE

Business people — Are you losing lucrative business deals because no one is available to answer your telephone when you are out of the office?

If that is the case, then contact the WINIFRED DONAHUE'S ANSWERING SERVICE at 245 Nassau Street in Princeton. Call 924-4411 and learn about the modest rates for this important service. This highly successful answering service has just celebrated its first anniversary on May 31.

This firm will answer your telephone during the night and daytime intervals when your phone is unattended. Or if you wish, the competent operators employed by this business will answer your phone and take messages 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Instant communication costs just pennies a day and saves you time, gas and labor. Take advantage of toll-free numbers to develop your market area thus expanding your office.

You'll find the operators at this firm courteous and helpful. You will lose no calls because of an unanswered telephone when you arrange for their professional and personal service.

For efficient telephone answering service in this area, the editors of this 1983 Business Profiles Review recommend the WINIFRED DONAHUE'S ANSWERING SERVICE.

NEW JERSEY SAVINGS BANK

"Bill Boozer - Manager"

"Linda Schwarz - Assistant Manager"

The NEW JERSEY SAVINGS BANK is located at 180 Nassau Street in Princeton, phone 924-8454. Bill Boozer, Manager, and Assistant Manager, Linda Schwarz, have a combined experience of forty years in the field of banking.

A strong bank instills confidence in a community.

You will find this bank a friendly bank, providing all the facilities of a city bank, together with a personal interest in each and every customer. When you are contemplating making an investment of any kind, it is a safe plan to consult the staff of this bank before you make the investment.

A great deal of credit is due to the efficient officers and staff of NEW JERSEY SAVINGS BANK, who have done their best toward the development of personal investment and business investment in the community.

The staff of this bank are fine, public spirited people who believe in this community, and they feel that there are always better days ahead for the energetic person who works with a plan backed by sound judgment and reasoning. They are your local friendly bank with an interest in the individual and the community.

NASSAU ROOFING COMPANY, INCORPORATED

"S.J. Herner - Local Owner"

A good roof is an all-important factor in the protection of your building investment and a firm well known for the installation and maintenance of all types of roofs is the NASSAU ROOFING COMPANY, INCORPORATED in Kingston at Sycamore Place, phone 924-0070.

Your roof represents only about 3 per cent of your building investment, it is said. Yet, its value is out of all proportion to its cost; for a roof acts as a guardian of your building and all its contents.

Just as you take inventory of any possessions periodically so you should check up on your roof. Let these roof specialists examine your roof. They may find that it is in good condition, ready for many years of service or they may find defects that can easily be remedied, but which if neglected might soon dangerously weaken your roof. Again they may discover that your roof is so badly worn that it needs a new covering to protect it and to prevent a costly leak.

This 1983 Business Profiles Review and its editors are pleased to recommend NASSAU ROOFING COMPANY, INCORPORATED to our readers as one firm who does the job right at an honest price!!!!

ESPENHORST TENNIS COURTS

"Henry Espenhorst - President"

When you want service for which you cannot go window shopping such as for tennis courts, it then becomes more important to know the reputation of a contractor with whom you can do business.

The oldest established builders of tennis courts in Central New Jersey, ESPENHORST TENNIS COURTS, is located right here in Hopewell. Although locally based this well known company constructs all types of tennis courts within a 150 mile radius of Hopewell, and further still, the Virgin Islands. Henry Espenhorst, President of the company since 1956, says that the company is a member of the U.S. Tennis Court and Track Building Association, a very prestigious honor as invitations are extended to contractors only after a 5 year period in which the contractor has proven success! This well known company offers engineering advising and consultation. To take advantage of this and other services, phone 466-0666.

ESPENHORST TENNIS COURTS provides the whole package from courts to accessories! They are distributors for most nationally known tennis products such as fencing, nets, windcreens, post, ball throwing machines, custom tennis racquets and more. In fact, they supply everything you'll need to enjoy this popular sport.

The editors of this 1983 Business Profiles Review are proud to have this opportunity to recommend ESPENHORST TENNIS COURTS.

VIEW NEAR HUDSON circa 1820 by John Hill is one of the prints that recreates a lost America in the exhibition "Pride of Place," a display of 130 views of this country during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries that will be on display in the gallery at Firestone Library through September 30.

ART In Princeton

IMAGES OF NEW NATION
Preserved in Prints. A good part of the record of America's early years exists in the form of the landscape and topographical prints made before the invention of the camera. Although much of our historical information comes to us as books and documents, the most vivid images of this country as it once was are preserved in the surviving prints made during this nation's first century. It is only in these early prints that it is possible to recapture the unspoiled, romantic wilderness and the character of cities that were often little more than villages, nestled in the picturesque wilderness.

For the next few months it will be possible to enjoy a panoramic view of America as it once was. A visit to the Gallery on the main floor of Firestone Library at Princeton University (the only area of the library that remains accessible to the public) is like opening a door to the past.

The gallery's exhibition, "Pride of Place," a collection of 130 early American views, documents the American people's preoccupation with the physical appearance of their own young country during the period between the late eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. It also documents a nation that has long since vanished: a world where harbors such as Boston, New York and Charleston were filled with ships carrying tall mast and wind-filled sails; a nation where the countryside still looked much as it had for thousands of years.

In the exhibition we can see views of cities such as Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore as they were when the land between them was still pastoral countryside instead of the unending megalopolis that confronts us today.

The collection also serves as a record of the changes that took place during our first hundred years as a nation. In fact, the exhibition effectively traces the chronological development of the American city view. There are Philadelphia street scenes, full of bustle and optimism, recording the decade before 1800 when that city was the nation's capital. Another series of views documents the rapid expansion of New York and Brooklyn — then two separate cities — in the mid-nineteenth century. And, there is the first view of San Francisco following the discovery of gold in 1849.

In addition, the assembled prints serve as a record of the greatness of the Eastern American landscape before our society added its own imprint. Views of such then-remote spots as the Hudson River Valley, Niagara Falls and even Mount Rose, New Jersey, recreate for us an extraordinarily vivid portrait of a lost America.

The visual document continues into the late nineteenth century when the camera all but put an end to the printed view as a popular art form.

In the excellent catalogue of the exhibition, written by curators Dale Roylance and Nancy Finlay, the authors state that "American city view... form a class of prints of endless interest and importance beyond the merely decorative. While often beautiful, these prints also form an important part of an emerging national identity for a young, still insecure country. In historical context, they became our collective cards of identity, and one of the best of all documentary records of how we have seen ourselves."

planting and care. The Garden Club has been doing this for many years, and it appears to have become a tradition that is enjoyed by all. There are quite a few trees around Princeton today that had their start in these classrooms and have survived and flourished.

Princeton Chapter 459, American Association of Retired Persons, will hold its annual meeting and election of officers on Thursday, May 19, at 2 at the American Boychoir School on Lambert Drive. The business meeting will be followed by a concert by the American Boychoir. Attendance will be restricted to members because of the limited capacity of the main hall. The chapter will provide a bus for members without transportation, departing from the Princeton YM-YWCA at 1:30.

The Princeton Area Smith College Club will meet at the Stuart Country Day School on Tuesday at 8. Dr. Stuart Struever, executive director of the Center for American Archaeology at Northwestern University, will discuss "New Discoveries of Ancient Man in America." Smith club members, spouses and friends are all welcome to this exciting talk about Mississippi Valley peoples 12,000 years ago.

For more than two decades Prof. Struever has directed a long-term archaeological program in the Illinois and Mississippi valleys. His goal is to achieve the first comprehensive reconstruction of pre-Euroamerican human history for a specific region of the United States and a detailed picture of American Indian life from the arrival of the first Asian immigrants 20,000 or more years ago to the disappearance of Indian life within the last century.

Members of the Women's College Club will have a fashion show featuring clothes from H.P. Clayton's Palmer Square at their annual meeting and luncheon at the Nassau Inn on Monday at 12 noon.

past hundred years. Watercolors, lithographs, etchings and drawings by such notables as Stuart Davis, Arshile Gorky and James McNeill Whistler are, in effect, a mini-survey of style and technique. Contrasts abound in the small collection. The effect of delicate etching by Whistler is intensified because of things that are purely decorative as well, like a relationship to a nearby vigorous lithographic self-portrait by Munch; a small, expressive Turner watercolor seems even more fluid and dynamic when viewed in combination with the controlled structure of Georgia O'Keeffe's larger-than-life orchid.

The exhibit also includes examples of work by artists who reshaped our view of art. Among them are some of the most innovative and creative forces of this century such as Milton Avery, Alexander Calder, Stuart Davis and Joan Miró.

Full House has Crafts. The variety of form and treatment that can be seen in the Spring Crafts display at Full House is a reflection of the current vogue in hand-crafted objects that is taking place today. Hundreds of works made from clay, wood, fiber and glass nicely combine decorative and functional roles demonstrating that there is room for some form of art in almost every area of daily life.

PRINT FAIR IN JUNE

At Council, Outdoor exhibits by New Jersey printmakers and demonstrations of printmaking will be featured at Print Fair '83, to be held by the Printmaking Council of New Jersey Saturday, June 4 from 10 to 4. The Fair will be held at the Council's studio, Station Road, North Branch, Sunday, June 5 is the rain date.

A reproduction of a wood engraving by Stefan Martin, being used for the Fair's advertising poster, will be for sale. There will also be an artists' exchange of studio supplies, books, print-making materials and the like.

Idaherna Williams, of Princeton, is co-chair, with Joan McKinney.

LOCALIO ON VIEW

At Princeton Gallery, Recent oils by Princeton native Donald Localio will be on view at The Princeton Gallery of Fine Art, 8 Chambers Street, from May 25 through June 16. Hours are 10 to 5, Tuesdays through Fridays and 11-5 on Saturdays.

Localio, who holds a masters in Fine Arts from the Maryland Institute of Art, was included in a show of abstract art two years ago in Texas, which included work by such artists as Robert Motherwell and Stanley Boxer. In 1980, de Kooning singled out Localio's work, invited him to his East Hampton studio, and acquired a Localio for his personal collection.

The artist is represented in private collections here and abroad. He has exhibited in Washington, D.C. and New Jersey. He makes his home in Bucks County.

A TRIP TO NEW YORK

With PAA. If you want to sample the exhibitions of British art now on view in New York, the Princeton Art Association has arranged transportation for next Tuesday, May 17. The fee is $12 for non-members, $10 for members.

Some of the major exhibits include "Holbein and the Court of Henry VIII" (Morgan Library); "Constable's England"; "Paintings of the Royal Academy" and "Henry Moore, 40 Years of his Art" (Metropolitan); "Jewish Artists in Britain" (Jewish Museum) and "Winston Churchill: Painting as a Pastime" (National Academy of Design).

Buses will leave the Princeton Shopping Center at 9 a.m., returning about 5:30. Fifth Avenue stops will be made near the Cooper-Hewitt, Guggenheim and Jewish Museum; Metropolitan; Whitney; Frick; Museum of Modern Art and Museum of American Folk Art.

Reservations may be made by calling 921-9173.

GEORGE GREENE

40-Year Retrospective. Drawings in pen, crayon and charcoal, and works in acrylic plastic by George Greene will be shown in a 40-year retrospective of the artist's work, at Art Masters of Princeton, 44 Spring.

An opening reception will be held from 7:30 to 10 p.m. this Friday at the gallery. The exhibit will continue through May 31.

The artist was one of the first to explore the use of plastics, and he has been cited for his use of the translucent colors of the medium.

THE JUDAIC ARTIST

In Ewing Exhibit. Sculpture, papercuts, lithographs and figurines will be displayed, starting Sunday, May 15, in the Second Annual Art Expo of Ahavath Israel Congregation, Ewing. The exhibit will be at the synagogue, 1130 Lower Ferry Road, from 9 to 5. Admission is free.

Working with the Kolbo Gallery, Brookline, Massachusetts, organizers of the exhibit have assembled the work of Judaic artists and artisans from throughout the United States and Israel.

There will also be a selection of Judaica posters, many of them from the Museum of the Diaspora in Tel Aviv, and limited-edition marriage agreements in four calligraphic designs. Ceramic ritual items on display will include menorahs, kiddush goblets, handwashing cups, seder plates and so on.

Major League Baseball Scouts, Armed with Radar Guns, Come to Clarke Field in Search of Promising Players

The kid wants to be a ballplayer and he has a dream: He'll be out toiling in some sandlot someplace, digging ground balls up out of the uranium tailings, and a grizzled scout hanging out on the sidelines will notice some special grace, some hitherto undiscovered talent, and suddenly the raw youth will be signed to a contract that will turn him into a major leaguer.

Baseball scouts sound like something out of a grade B motion picture, but they exist in real life, as well, playing out their parts surprisingly true to form. These days, as the minor leagues dry up and as college baseball programs become an increasingly important part of the talent pool for the professional leagues, the scouts begin to surface more frequently at places such as Clarke Field, where the Princeton University baseball squad closed out its home season this week with a doubleheader against St. John's (losing the opener, 2-0, and then scrambling to beat the powerful Redmen, 7-6) and a single game with St. Francis.

The Tigers' Steve Kordish, one of those kids with a dream, pitched the first game against St. John's, with a half dozen scouts sizing him up from the hillside behind home plate.

I was there, too, and I figured this was my chance to see just how scouts work. But first things first: Like Kordish, I have a dream of playing professionally. So I asked — what would I have to do to prove to them that I was a major league prospect? They all seemed to give me a quick second look and then one replied, "Nothing. You're not."

Batters and Crumblers. My personal business finished, we turned to the matter at hand. I wondered what qualities they were looking for in a pitcher such as Kordish. "We're looking for a guy with velocity who can throw it over the plate and with a little deception," said Bob Turzilli, who played seven years in the minors and now travels 25,000 miles a year or so to scout for the Atlanta Braves. "And someone who will sign for not too much money," added Bill McKeon, another former minor leaguer who now scouts for his brother Jack, the general manager of the San Diego Padres.

They all laughed at the reference to money but they weren't kidding about the velocity. The scouts, carrying their radar guns in special traveling cases that look like fat valises, clocked Kordish at 82 to 83 miles per hour in Sunday's game — the last of his Princeton career. The major league average is 84 to 86 miles per hour. "He's not overpowering," said Turzilli. "But there are other considerations. Is he a batter? Some guys get somebody on base and they crumble. You'd like to find a guy with ability and toughness."

Every year or so a promising freshman for Coach Tom O'Connell's Tigers, followed Turzilli up two fingers — 82. A few pitches later Danek unloaded another fast ball. This one got four fingers and Tom Urquhart struck out swinging.

Todd Leavitt, one of several promising freshmen for Coach Tom O'Connell's Tigers, followed Turzilli up two fingers — 82. A few pitches later Danek unloaded another fast ball. This one got four fingers and Tom Urquhart struck out swinging.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

STURHAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD

Amazingly, EIGHT DIFFERENT TEAMS have played in the last four World Series, proving that no team has been able to dominate major league baseball recently. In the 1979 World Series it was the Pirates vs. the Orioles. In 1980 it was the Phillies vs. the Royals. In 1981, the Dodgers vs. the Yankees. And in 1982, the Cardinals vs. the Brewers.

Who's the youngest player ever to win the batting championship in big league baseball? Answer is Al Kaline who won the batting title of the American League in 1955 at the age of 21.

None of the scouts at Clarke Field Sunday would say how much money they are paid but Turzilli, the Braves scout, volunteered that "people scout because they love it — not for the money." Out on the field the Tigers were routing the St. John's starter and Eric Stampfl, a highly regarded junior, entered the game in relief. The scouts took out their radar gear. His first pitch drew three fingers.

A few innings later the junior was throwing even more fluidly. The guns came out again and Stampfl jumped right off the finger scale. "He's hitting close to 90," Murphy reported. On the very next pitch Princeton's Urquhart, the freshman who earlier had struck out on an 84 mile per hour fastball, drove a Stampfl fastball over the rightfielder's head for a triple. As the Princeton fans cheered the scouts sat quietly, no doubt absorbing some more impressions that one day would be sorted out and projected and one day after that might help make — or break — some kid's dream.

CREWS TO COMPETE

In Eastern Sprints. Princeton's undefeated lightweight crew, which has visions of Henley in mind, will put its record and its dreams on the line this Sunday in the annual Eastern Sprints in Worcester, Mass. The Tiger heavyweights, with only two defeats on their record, will also compete in Worcester.

If the lightweight win at Worcester, they are virtually assured of an invitation to the annual regatta in Henley, England, next month. The heavyweight crew, regardless of how well it performs in Worcester, will compete in the IRAs on June 4 in Syracuse, N.Y.

The crew races will bring to an end the spring sports season at the University. The lacrosse team, which rallied to beat Dartmouth, 10-6, last Saturday, was scheduled to play at Delaware this Wednesday and to host Adelphi Saturday at 2 on Finney Field.

The injury-riddled track team, which finished second to Harvard in last weekend's Heptagonal meet, will host the fourth annual Princeton-Adidas Invitational meet this Saturday at Palmer Stadium, beginning at noon. Augie Wolf was named the outstanding performer in the Heptagonals for his double win in the discus and shot. He is considered the home team's brightest hope for winning in the Invitational, which will include athletes from dozens of east coast schools and club teams.

In tennis, the undefeated Ivy League team, Harvard, remained that way last week when it defeated Princeton 5-0 in a singles match. The Tigers lost to the Harvard team, 7-1, and was scheduled to play Clemson this Wednesday on the University Courts to close out its season.

PHS SEEDS FIRST

In County Tennis Tourney, Princeton High School with a 10-1 record and 6-0 in the Colonial Valley Conference has been seeded first among the 13 teams that are competing in the Mercer County Tournament. The finals are scheduled for this Wednesday.

Princeton, second-seeded Hopewell Valley and third-seeded Peddie all drew opening-round byes.

In a dual meet last week PHS defeated Nottingham Friday and Hopewell Valley the day before—both by 5-0 scores.

Against Nottingham, competing for the first year, PHS coach Joe Diefenbach used only reserve players from his talent-laden squad. In singles matches, Mike Elliott won 6-4, 6-4, Matthew Mack won 6-0, 6-0, and Darren Elliott captured the number three singles, 6-0, 6-0.

In doubles action, Bret Van DeWuerkamp and David Williams triumphed, 6-3, 6-1, and Bill Perry and Paul Johnson won the second doubles, 6-1, 6-3.

Against Hopewell, which has given PHS so much trouble in previous years, PHS did not lose a single set. Jacob Leschly defeated Hopewell's John Aris, 6-0, 6-2, in their first singles match, while younger brother Mark Leschly handled Quentin Kelly, 6-1, 6-1. Safi Baheal stopped Jim Hines, 6-3, 6-2.

Keith Goldfield and Rob Dunham combined to defeat the Delehey brothers, Brent and Neil, of Hopewell in the first doubles, 6-1, 6-2. In the closest match of the day, Andy Phillips and Tim Kingston defeated Tim McDougald and David Bovenizer, 6-3, 7-5, in the second doubles.

TWO EASY WINS

For PHS Girls Lacrosse Team. Easy wins over Summit and Stuart Country Day School last week propelled the Princeton High School girls lacrosse team to a 9-1 record. The Little Tigers defeated Summit 14-2 on Friday and routed town rival Stuart, 17-3.

This Wednesday, coach Joyce Jones's streaking Little Tigers will entertain

Columbia in a contest at 4. They will be at Chatham Friday, and Morristown Monday—both victims of PHS earlier this season.

Harper Hoff and Allison Fraker with four goals each led the assault against Summit. Anna Navarro and Erica Gabrielsen each added a goal. The Tigers scored on a goal by Jennifer Jennings. Also on this week's agenda is a regular season contest with North Hunterdon on Thursday and an Alumni game on Saturday.

OFFENSE AWAKING

For PHS Softball Team. Although the Princeton High School softball team lost three games last week—its eleventh in twelve games—there were signs that the dormant offense is beginning to show signs of life. "The last two games were really encouraging," said PHS coach Doug Snyder. "We're scoring some runs."

Against Lawrence Friday, PHS led 7-3 after four innings when the Cardinals erupted for 16 runs in the fifth in fashioning a 24-9 victory. A combination of PHS walks and errors and Lawrence hits "just killed us," said Snyder. The day before, PHS pushed across eight runs against Hopewell Valley but couldn't contain the Bulldogs at the plate. Hopewell Valley won, 20-8. Sue Hendrickson and Monica Greenland had the key RBI hits for Princeton.

PHS had begun the week with a makeup game with Hamilton and went down to a 22-0 defeat. The week before the Little Tigers had won their only game when they outlasted Trenton High, 24-22, in extra innings.

PHS had let the entire game, getting eight runs on two grand slam homers by Cora Sloan and Greenland but Trenton tied it at 22 in the bottom of the seventh inning. PHS pitcher Elena Lucillo got her first win when Princeton scored two more runs in the next inning.

"We got that first win," said Snyder. "We'll make it through the end of the season."

In games this week, PHS will be at Steinert this Wednesday, at Lawrence Thursday and play host of Hightstown Monday. Three games remain after that.

HUN STILL STRUGGLING

common opponents. This week, PHS will try to salvage what's left of the season when it entertains a strong Steiner team this Wednesday at 3:45 and then travels to Lawrence on Friday. Monday, Hightstown will be here for a conference game.

What triggered the Little Tiger slide? "Looking back," observed Beacham, "there were too many games in too few days. We just didn't have that kind of pitching staff."

"We opened with a loss to Hamilton and then beat Hopewell Valley for a 1-1 record and the teams we thought we could beat were rained out. We ended up 1-6 instead of 5-2 or 4-3."

"We never got a decent start. We just struggled after that; we couldn't get it together."

Pitching probably had more to do with it than anything else. PHS began the season, thinking Terry Phox was going to be its number one pitcher on a staff that lacked experience. Phox was shelved off the mound in the first inning of the first game and since then has pitched only two innings. Most of the hurling has been done by underclassmen—John Sherin, Dino D'Angelo and sophomore Gavin Hulsman—and their return is one of the bright spots on next year's squad.

But that isn't helping the Little Tigers now.

Another bright spot has been the hitting of catcher Ralph Carnevale, who banged out 11 hits to raise his average to .466. "He's been on some kind of tear," agreed D'Angelo who was charged with Carnevale. The spurt has been the lone win among the batting leaders in the county.

In the lone win against Nottingham, Carnevale was 3-for-3, as PHS raked the North Stars, 12-3. Hulsman, making his starting varsity debut, was the winning pitcher. He limited the losers to seven hits and struck out four.

PHS broke the game open in the second inning when it scored eight runs—all with two make an easy winner of the game. Phox started it with a Montgomery pitcher Stuart Hirstein, who won his third bases-loaded triple and PHS pushed five more runs across before Nottingham was able to get the third out. Mickey Carnevale drove in three of Princeton's 12 runs and first baseman Art Hoover contributed a double in the 12-hit, PHS attack.

Two of Lawrence's runs in the Cardinals' 5-3 win over PHS Saturday were unearned and helped send Sherin to his third loss against one win.

Third baseman Mike Petrone had two of Princeton's five hits and Jason Petrone drove in two runs for the losers. Pete Wojciechowski got the win for Lawrence—his first.

On Thursday, Hopewell Valley atoned for an earlier loss to PHS, by pounding out an 11-5 win, leading 11-1 going into the final inning when PHS plated four runs. Chris Hastings went the distance for HV to get the win. PHS starter Matt Tamasi was tagged with the loss.

After Tamasi walked the first two batters to lead off the sixth, Beacham called on Ralph Carnevale whose normal catching duty was being handled by his cousin, Mickey Carnevale.

Carnevale's first pitch hit the Hopewell batter in the foot to load the bases. This is what followed: a single, scoring Hopewell's sixth run, a walk to force in the seventh run, a ground rule double, sending two more runs across, a run scoring sacrifice fly and another single between first and second, scoring the visitors' eleventh run.

The previous day, PHS was surprised by Princeton Day School, 10-9. Another indication that it wasn't Princeton High's week is the 18 hits they collected off the Panthers to 11 for the victors.

commented Beacham. "I County Tournament. By Soccer Association. Try-outs for the Princeton Soccer Association's 1972 traveling team will be held Saturday and next Saturday, May 21, at 11 following the regular Saturday morning house league.

Try-outs for the 1973 and 1975 traveling teams will be held Saturday, May 21, at 11 a.m.; for the 1974 traveling teams at 1 p.m. -- also on the 21st. Try-outs for the 1970 and 1971 teams will be announced at a later date. For further information, call 921-0442.

LITTLE TIGERS WIN

And Lose in Lacrosse. The Princeton High School lacrosse team split two games last week, defeating Pingry, 8-3, on Saturday, and bowing earlier in the week to Peddie, 7-6, in triple overtime.

PHS coach Peter Larsen said that he and his team are looking forward to their next game, a meeting this Wednesday afternoon at 3:45 against rival Princeton Day School. Tuesday, PHS will be at Johnson Regional, and the final game of the season will be played here next Saturday against Bonton.

Three PHS attackmen Willie Whittaker, Tommy Sheehan, and Chris Carrington, and senior middy Scott Gabrielsen accounted for all the scoring against Pingry by scoring two goals each. Fine defensive play by Peter Gager, Ken Varvel and Alec Hoke kept the visitors contained as PHS led from the start. The win was the third of the season for the Little Tigers.

The game with Peddie was a tough one to lose, Larsen agreed. Any game that has to go into three overtime periods before it is decided has to be. Peddie scored the game-winning goal with 45 seconds left in the third three-minute overtime. "We had a lot of opportunities, but we just couldn't get the ball in the net," said Larsen.

After Peddie had taken a 4-1 halftime lead, the Little Tigers fought back with five goals in the second, Gabrielsen tying the score at 6 with a goal with 14 seconds left to play in regular time. It was his second goal.

Carrington also had two goals for PHS, while Whittaker and Troy Norris added one each.

A PERFECT GAME

For Hun's Rich Stout. "I'll take a week like that anytime," said Hun School baseball coach Bill McQuade. And well he might.

Hun played four games in five days and won all four to raise its record to 10-5 and increase its chances of being selected to play in the Mercer had to make the play, said McQuade—and threw the runner out by a few steps.

"It was an unbelievable ballgame," McQuade commented. "I was more nervous than the kids were."

Stout, he said, was in some kind of unconscious groove. "He was throwing easy. He was not overpowering but he couldn't have happened to a nicer player."

For McQuade, it was a thrill that had eluded him in all his years as a player in high school, college and as a coach. "I never had the privilege of watching one," he said.

It was the first action on the mound for Stout since an appearance in a game April 20 against Trenton High.

Hun won the game, 7-0, as outfielder Paul Pintella batted three for four, including his fourth homer of the year. The senior co-captain batted in two runs and scored twice.

Hun took some of the pressure off Stout by sending home four runs in the fourth. Matt Wheaton walked, Pintella singled and Martin Summers walked to load the bases. Another walk, a passed ball, an error and an RBI single by Harry Landis gave Stout his four-run bulge.

Pintella made it seven runs with a leadoff homer in the seventh.

Hitters' Turn. The day before it was the hitters' turn as Hun pounded Wardlaw Hartridge with 21 hits for a 16-

10 victory. Winning pitcher Peter Stam went the distance to pick up his seventh win, but he struggled as he was tagged for 15 hits by the visitors.

Summers, Dean Forman and Chris Hunninghake all had three hits in four at bats for Hun and Pintella contributed another four-bagger in going 2-for-4.

Rutgers Prep fell, 11-5, in a game that was closer than the score indicated, said McQuade. Forman homered in the second but Hun trailed and needed four runs in the sixth and three more in the seventh to put it away.

Brad Mumme got the win for Hun, allowing eight hits. His teammates didn't make it any easier for the junior hurler by committing five errors.

Hun began the week with a 9-2 win over Newark Academy, as the rubber-armed Stam won again. Wheaton paced a 13-hit Hun attack with a triple and double and drove in three runs. The losers had 10 hits off Stam.

With the schedule wearing down his pitching staff, McQuade said he would have been happy with a split, but to win them all ... well, as he said, a week he'd take anything. But now, he added, the games start to mean something.

COUNTY MEET SATURDAY In Track. Who is king of the hill in this area in track? It will be decided Saturday when the Mercer County Boys and Girls Track and Field Championships will be held at the Steinert High School track.

The girls will start things off at 9 and the boys will begin competition at 1. Princeton High and Trenton figure to battle it out again for scoring honors but both will receive competition from Ewing, Steinert and Notre Dame.

Some of the top performers in the county prepped for the County meet this week by performing in the annual Bernards Invitational held Saturday in Bernardsville.

One of the most impressive was Princeton High's Stephan Fletcher who won the 110-meter high hurdles in 14.0 and the 200-meter dash in 22.2. P.J. Young won the shot put with a toss of 53-10 and another PHS standout, Bill Bushnell, finished second in the 1,600 meter run with a time of 4:22.3. Eddie Rice jumped 20-5/8 to claim a sixth in the long jump.

In the girls competition, Princeton's Marjorie Toussaint was second in the shot put with a 34-11 effort. Trenton High's Wendy Vereen broke her own Bernards meet record in the 200 with a clocking of 24.2 and tied her meet mark in the 100 dash with an 11.9.

Earlier in the week, PHS ran its dual meet record to 4-0 with a 91-40 victory over winless West Windsor. After Tim Robinson of WW won both the 100 and 200 meter dashes, PHS captured every other race. Rice won the 400 Bushnell the 800, Graham Treisted the 1600, Peter Kellogg the 3200, Fletcher the 110 hurdles and Ken McKellar the 400 hurdles.

PHS also won the 1600 relay, the shot put and the discus (Young won both), the javelin and the pole vault (Eric Rapp won both), and the high jump (McKellar).

MONDAY SPORTS PHS Netmen Advance. Princeton High, top seeded in the Mercer County Tennis Tournament, advanced to the semi-final round with a 5-0 victory over Lawrence, and both the PHS boys and girls baseball teams lost to Notre Dame in action Monday.

PHS, 11-1, breezed past Lawrence, as expected. In singles play, Jacob Leschly stopped the Cardinals' top player, Ken Richter, 6-3, 6-0. Mark Leschly defeated Bryan Martin, 6-3, 6-1, and Safi Bahcall took the third singles, outlasting Raleigh Chiu, 7-6, 7-5.

PHS dropped its only set of the match in the first doubles when Keith Goldfeld and Rob Dunham lost the opening set to David Rosenthal and Kuang Huang, 4-6. They came back to sweep the next two, 6-2, 6-1. Andy Phillips and Tim Kingston captured the second doubles, 6-3, 6-0.

PHS was scheduled to meet Princeton Day School in the semis, after the ninth-seeded Panthers had blanked Ewing, 5-0. The finals will be played this Wednesday at 3 at Mercer County Park.

Irish Get Scare. Notre Dame managed to raise its baseball record to 12-4 by defeating Princeton, 7-6, but got a scare when the Little Tigers scored four runs in the sixth to get back in the game.

The Irish were coasting along with a 7-2 lead behind undefeated pitcher Jeff Devenney (4-0), when Devenney developed a blister and had to leave in the sixth. PHS jumped on his successor for four runs but fell one short.

The Irish outhit PHS, 13-10, one of its 13 a three run double by Tom Gavin, who also doubled in another run. Terry Phox had three singles to lead the PHS offense, while second-baseman Mark Shapiro had a double and drove in two runs for the Little Tigers. Dino D'Angelo was charged with the loss.

The girls softball team went down to its eleventh loss in 12 games, losing 23-3 to Notre Dame in five innings. All three PHS runs came on a three-run homer by Cora Sloan in the fourth inning.

It was too little too late. The Irish had locked the game up early by scoring seven runs in the first and 14 in the second. PHS also came off second best in the field, committing five errors to none for ND.

FREE CLINICS OFFERED
To Adults in Tennis. The Mercer County Park Commission will sponsor a series of free tennis clinics for adult beginners during May at the outdoor Tennis Center in Mercer County Park.

The clinics will run for two weeks on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, beginning at 6 and ending at 7:30. The dates are May 17, 19, 24, and 26.

Tennis pros, Dave Mennel and Bill Stoner demonstrate the forehand, backhand, serve and volley and teach scoring. Players may attend any or all of the clinics. For further information, call the Tennis Center at 586-9850.

LACROSSE LEAGUES SET
For Men, Women. Those who are interested in playing summer lacrosse must register with the Recreation Department before June 4. Entrance fees into both the men's and women's leagues are $10 for residents and $20 for non-residents. Registration forms are available at the Recreation Department.

The men's league will meet Monday and Wednesday evenings, June 13 - July 29, from 5:30-8 p.m. (June 13 will be organizational night). Young men who are in high school as of this spring are eligible.

The women's league will meet Tuesday and Thursday evenings, June 23 - August 5, from 5:30-8 p.m. with the first night as organizational night. Young women entering the 9th grade as of September 1983 are eligible.

The summer leagues are recreational in nature. There is no contact allowed. Players will receive jerseys as part of their entrance fee. Pre-registration is required. For additional information, call 921-9480.

Women's Softball Clinic. There will be a free softball clinic for women sponsored by the Recreation Department and the Sweet Jersey Corn Coaching staff on Monday at 6:30 p.m. at Community Park Field No. 2.

The clinic marks the beginning of a free recreational softball program for women. Those who plan to attend the clinic or would like additional information may call the Recreation Office at 921-9480.

SOFTBALL CLINIC SET
For Women. The Recreation Department and the Sweet Jersey Corn coaching staff are sponsoring a free softball clinic on Monday, May 16, at 6:30 p.m. at Community Park Field No. 2.

The clinic marks the beginning of a free recreational softball program for women on Wednesday evenings starting May 18. The purpose of the program is to provide women with some exercise, basic skill instructions, pick up games and the possible development of an informal league.

Call the Recreation Department if you are planning to attend the clinic. For additional information call Kathy Clarkson at 921-9480.

"Aerobic Expression" sponsored by the Recreation Department, will begin its second spring session on Monday, May 16, at the Christ Congregation Church. Lani Morrison will be instructing this seven week exercise program.

Classes meet on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from either 9 to 10 or 10:15-11:15. The cost is $15 for Princeton residents, $30 for non-residents.

Interested persons should register before May 16. Registration forms are available in the Recreation Office.

LACROSSE, BASEBALL. Added to Clinic. Alan Taback, program director of the Princeton YMCA, has announced that lacrosse and baseball have been added to the list of available sports at the Summer Sports Clinic. Participants in the four-week morning camp, which begins June 27, will be able to spend mornings developing lacrosse skills, or split the morning between basketball, soccer, or baseball.

Children ages 6-14 may enroll for from one to four weeks, and openings are still available. Call the YMCA at 924-4497 to reserve a space.

MORE CALLS FOR SQUAD
More Are Emergencies. Princeton First Aid Squad Captain J. Edwin Obert reports that calls for the first quarter of 1983 were up 15 percent over the first quarter of 1982. The squad has answered 359 calls so far this year — an average of four calls a day.

There were 109 calls in March, 98 of which were emergency dispatches, nine routine transports, and two miscellaneous calls. Twenty-one of the patients were experiencing chest pain or respiratory distress; three were in cardiac arrest. Twenty-four of the calls were for persons with injuries, nine from motor vehicle accidents, six from falls and the rest from a variety of other causes.

Four patients were in acute psychotic states, and six were experiencing anxiety-related symptoms. Three patients had taken acute overdoses. Four patients had experienced epileptic seizures, eight had had syncope episodes (fainted).

In seven of the 26 mobile intensive care unit (MICU) calls, the patient's condition was markedly improved or dangerous heart rhythms were treated. Sixteen of the MICU calls were classified as "precautionary measures" in which the patient's heart rhythm was monitored and usually an intravenous line was established. Unsuccessful attempts were made to revive three people in cardiac arrest.

Thirty-seven of March's calls were in Princeton Borough, 46 in the Township, and 26 were mutual aid calls. Squad members served 393 hours actually on calls and drove the vehicles a total of 946 miles. The paid day crew handled about 45 percent of March's calls, usually augmented by volunteer members. Princeton Lifemobile continues to be second only to the Trenton unit county MICU calls handled (97 through the end of March).

PRINCETON'S NEWEST PARK lies between this tranquil stretch of the Delaware and Raritan Canal and the Millstone River. This view is toward the Alexander Street bridge from the new boat launching ramp. Turning Basin Park was formally dedicated in sunny ceremonies on Saturday morning at which Township Mayor Win Pike presided. In addition to two boat ramps, the park has been equipped with picnic tables and grills. There is space for parking, and the park itself is a good starting point for walks north toward Lake Carnegie and south to the Charles Rodgers Wildlife Sanctuary.

Borough and Township Will Have Funds To Complete 80-90% of Repairs to Sewers

"Between 80 and 90 percent of the sewer repairs called for in the Brokaw study will be completed this year. We have the money to do them."

That will be the good word from Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley at a public sewer meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. this Wednesday in Borough Hall.

"The money" is $1 million — $450,000 from the Borough's capital budget for this year, $544,000 from a bond ordinance introduced Monday night by Township Committee. The two Princetons have divided the sum according to consumption, as calculated by the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority: the Borough's share is 48 percent of the total, the Township's is 52 percent.

The late Arthur Brokaw, Borough engineer before he formed his own consulting firm, completed in 1975 a report on infiltration problems in Princeton's sewers. A "consent order" agreement between Princeton and the state specifies, among other things, that work laid out by the Brokaw report must be completed by 1985.

Princeton has been hoping for Federal money, administered by the state, but the municipality is now Number 26 on the state's list, and the state has money only through Number 11, which means that Princeton is eliminated from the grant program.

A state "infrastructure bank" has been proposed which would provide money for things like sewers. Members of Township Committee considered the possibility of drawing on this source instead of using a bond issue, but they were afraid the bank would not be created in time for Princeton to take advantage of its offers.

Residents of the Random Road area near Harry's Brook are expected to be in Borough Hall Wednesday. Mrs. Olivia Applegate (see "Mailbox") has a poster-board of color pictures showing what seem to be a series of decorative fountains — until closer examination shows them to be manholes spouting sewage, in recent heavy rainfall.

Approval for Nassau Inn Addition May Come Tuesday, Financing Set

A group of banks, led by J. Henry Schroder Bank and Trust, a commercial bank in New York, is prepared to lend Collins Development $80 million for the expansion of Palmer Square, according to a letter from the bank to Hans K. Sander, chairman of the Planning Board. The letter was read to the board at last Thursday's hearing on the current phase of Collins' expansion.

"We believe the project concept to be an excellent one and the economic projection to be sound and viable," the letter said.

The project in hand currently is an addition to the Nassau Inn on Palmer Square East, a bridge joining it to the present Inn and a two-story expansion of the Inn next to the Greenhouse restaurant.

Arthur Collins, the firm's president, had agreed to several changes before the hearing began and agreed to consider more as it progressed. His attorney, Thomas C. Jamieson, asked the board to approve the project that night, with these changes incorporated as conditions.

But the board declined. "An extra meeting to get all the detail is better than not doing it and saying later 'How did we let THAT happen!'" remarked Mr. Sander.

The board will consider Collins' application again next Tuesday, May 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the Valley Road building.

The board received a petition with 1,270 signatures opposing the expansion of the Inn. Everett P. Garretson, co-owner of H.P. Clayton's, had obtained 548 signatures in a second petition, but he announced that Mr. Collins had agreed to make all the changes he was petitioned to make:

- elimination of proposed plantings, leaving the green in front of the Inn, as it is now.
- leaving the present parking and not planting trees on Palmer Square West's west side, next to the stores.
- Not extending Tiger Park to the north.

As he was the preceding Tuesday before Borough Council, Mr. Collins was his own spokesman before the Planning Board. James Harvie, Collins' vice-president, was present at both meetings but did not participate.

Mr. Collins conceded that he was "concerned" about scale, throughout the Square. He explained that he had removed the top floor of the bridge, replacing it with a glass-enclosed passageway — for less visibility from the street — and had reduced its width to 44 feet, from 48. It was originally 60.

In addition, he has moved it back four feet from the edge of the existing Inn building, "visually minimizing it," and has re-designed the bridge so that it will have three arches — one on each sidewalk and one over the street — instead of one. The north facade of the addition, facing Hulfish, has been lowered by one full floor.

Ewing Twp. Man Confesses To Rape of 3 Women Here

Claiming he was confessing to avoid any further suffering by his victims, a Ewing Township man last week pled guilty to raping three Princeton women in the fall of 1981.

Derrick Hardwick, 24, of Country Lane in a plea bargain agreement told Superior Court Judge Thomas DeMartin that he had raped two 16-year-old Princeton residents on a lawn at the corner of Terhune Road and Walnut Lane on September 11, 1981, after first taping their wrists and their eyes shut.

Hardwick also admitted raping a woman in a field off Broadmead where he had taken her after bumping his car into her bicycle as she was returning home at night from the Firestone Library on October 22, 1981. In all three rapes, Hardwick had threatened his victims with an eight-inch knife.

Hardwick will be sentenced next month. According to the plea bargain agreement, he faces 60 years in jail and will not become eligible for parole until 1998. When he is sentenced, 25 remaining counts in his Mercer County indictment will be dismissed.

Hardwick will also plead guilty, Assistant Mercer County Prosecutor William A. Zarling reported, to the kidnapping and beating March 27, 1982, of a Scanticon International employee in a Scanticon parking lot.

handling of traffic flow under the bridge, as Inn guests pull up to the door. She suggested a swing-over, passing lane.

"I agree — an excellent idea," Mr. Collins replied.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley told reporters Monday that Council could change its decision of last week and decide not to grant Collins air rights over the street. He pointed out that the agreement, "in principle," to grant the rights, depends on "adequate compensation" for the Borough.

Hardwick

After he had taped her eyes and cut her mouth and tongue with a knife, Hardwick forced the victim into his car. But police said later that Hardwick had failed to cover her eyes completely and the victim was able to lock Hardwick out of the car when he left it to return to the driver's seat. She provided a complete description to Plainsboro police who arrested Hardwick, an employee of Scanticon at the time, as he came to work a few hours later.

When Hardwick is sentenced for that crime, the Mercer County sentence will run concurrently with his Mercer County sentencing.

Gottlieb Suspect, Too. Although Mercer County Prosecutor Philip S. Carchman refused to confirm or deny whether Hardwick is also a suspect in the murder of 19-year-old Lawrence Township resident Maura E. Gottlieb, whose body was found in March 1982 floating in the Delaware-Raritan Canal off Harrison Street by a Princeton couple out for a walk, police sources claim he is a suspect in the slaying.

Miss Gottlieb's body was recovered from the canal on March 14. She had last been seen alive on March 6 as she was leaving her place of employment, the Executive Answering Service on Nassau Street at 11 p.m. Her murderer has never been apprehended.

plans for Palmer Square exansion will add more than Princeton's sewers can take. Mr. Olexa says the entire package of new Collins construction will produce 56,000 gallons per day; of that, 12,000 g.p.d. will come from the new addition to the Nassau Inn.

"We're spending that $1 million on sewers before there is one drop from Collins," the mayor stated this week.

Infiltration, not capacity, is the sewer problem in the Harry's Brook area, the mayor continued. He said the $2,500 study by Killiam Associates showed this to be the case. Collins' sewerage will be part of the Harry's Brook system.

"The Harry's Brook system has a capacity of 1.5 million gallons," Mr. Olexa says. "The average daily flow is 1.3 million, and of course, when there are storms you have problems. But Killam's studies show that 1 million of that average daily flow is infiltration. Only .3 million is actually sewage."

Mayor Cawley said it is "very unfortunate" that over the years, there have been no data gathered on the frequency of manhole overflow, so there is no way of knowing whether there has been any improvement.

Borough and Township have agreed to pay $30,000 for another study of the entire sewer system. The SOC has asked six firms to submit proposals by June 15.

BOND FINANCING SET
By Township. Township Committee has authorized the borrowing of more than $2 million in bonds to pay for repair to the sewer system and to refinance capital improvements already completed.

These are short term notes that are not to exceed five years. Such projects may be paid off by setting aside funds in the capital budget, or they may be refinanced in longer term bonds not to exceed 40 years. With the advice of Township treasurer John S. Clawson Jr. and bonding counsel Frank Gelder, the Township has elected to gather all these notes together in a single bond issue that may raise the municipal tax rate as much as three points, Mayor Pike says.

The public hearing on this first so we will know how ordinance will be Monday, much there is to be done." In June 6, the same night that the response to a question from Township has scheduled a the audience he estimated general improvement three to four years for $1 municipal bond sale amount-million plus of repairs to be ing to $1.5 million. The amount completed.

Olivia Applegate, who has covers eight different pro-jects, from road and tennis court resurfacing, to stabiliz-ing the banks of Stony Brook at Mercer Road, to the pur-chase of an in-house computer undertaken by the Township in recent years and financed with bond anticipation notes. "Will further development be allowed while we are waiting for the repair?"

Mrs. Applegate wants Com-mittee to forbid further hook-up, particularly in the over-burdened Harry's Brook trunk line, until the problem is fixed. Collins Development will be adding 56,000 gallons a day to that line, she said.

Having earlier said he wanted to avoid the "spectre of another sewer moratorium," Mayor Pike told her he felt "between the devil and the deep blue sea" on the matter. Committeeman Richard Schoch added that if Committee enacted a moratorium, it would then be faced with the problem of where to raise the money for the repair. Citing the increase in the tax rate from the pre-bid bond issue, he said, "The smart thing is to get as much doubt we will have to pay as we can" from the contribu-tions to the sewer trust fund. In another sewer matter, Committee appropriated $500,000 from the capital im-essential that we do this part

It May Not Be Enough. Mayor Pike made it clear that the $1 million for sewer repair fund to which developers con-tribute to obtain sewer alloca-tion, may not be enough. "No more," he said. "Princeton is paying for 50 years of negligence in sewer main-tenance, but it does seem essential that we do this part provement fund to correct a situation in the Township Police locker room. Township police had complained that every time it rains and the Valley Road manhole covers are dancing, the surcharging sewer line backs up in the locker room. A pump and some valving designed by the new Township Engineer is expected to correct the situation.

In other business Mayor Pike appointed Denise King, a former employee of the Recreation Department, to the Joint Commission on Aging to replace Anne Truitt who died recently. Ms. King had particular responsibility for programs for seniors while she was with the Recreation Department.

Mayor Pike also appointed Miles Dumont, a long-time member of the Recreation Board, to the state-mandated management committee of the Board, to replace Joe Opperman whose new responsibilities with Johnson & Johnson will take him out of town frequently. Elsa Soderberg was appointed to fill Mr. Opperman's unexpired term on the Recreation Board itself.

NO APPEAL

Bus for Handicapped Considered By Joint Commission on Aging

Are you elderly, and so handicapped physically that you just can't make it into a bus? Crutches? Wheel-chair? Walker? A heart problem?

If you have problems like these, or know someone who has, Princeton's Joint Commission on Aging would like to know. Morris Forer, of the Commission, says the group may possibly be able to rent a van equipped with a special lift — and an experienced driver.

The idea is to plan for van service several hours daily, five days a week, chiefly to take the handicapped to the hospital and the doctor.

Before the Commission can go ahead and make arrangements for the driver, full insurance coverage, maintenance, dispatching and scheduling, its members need to know how many people might be interested.

If you would like help like this, Mr. Forer hopes you will call either Crosstown 62 at 924-6162 between 9 and 1 or the Senior Resource Center, 924-7108 between 9 and 4:30.

ponent, also did not appeal site plan approval granted in the Township for the apartment project's detention basin. He has until early June to decide whether to go to Superior Court appealing the Township Zoning Board's granting of a use variance for the basin, which was upheld by Township Committee when Mr. Barr appealed to that body.

Mr. Barr had appealed to Borough Council the Borough Zoning Board's award of a use variance to PCH. Council upheld the Zoning Board. Mr. Barr then went to Superior Court, which upheld both Borough bodies.

At the next step, the Appellate Court granted PCH's request for a shortened appeal deadline, in view of PCH's own June 30 Federal deadline. Mr. Barr then asked the New Jersey Supreme Court to wipe out the Appellate Court's action. The Supreme Court compromised, and gave Mr. Barr one week longer — last Friday — than the Appellate Court had specified.

'CELLAR' APPROVED

And Watts Building Dissolved. Site plans for Stouffer's Cheese Cellar restaurant and bar in the rear of the One Palmer Square building, were approved by the Environmental Design Review Committee last week.

This Thursday at 7:30, the Planning Board will hear concept reviews of five different proposals for a two-story office building on State Road where the Mary Watts store now stands.

The Cheese Cellar, which will seat 141, will be at street level on the north side of the One Palmer Square Building, with entrances on the north, and also on the west facing Palmer Square. Existing entrances will be removed.

Drawings show a narrow canopy over the main door, and rustic, dark-stained barrel tops against the outside wall, encompassing the sign.

after vandals had lifted a swimming pool on top of the car while it was parked between 3 and 9 Monday morning on Prospect Avenue. It required two policemen and a third person to remove the metal and plastic pool which measured 12 feet in diameter and 24 inches deep.

The tops of two convertibles parked behind the Cloister Inn, 65 Prospect, were damaged last week when someone threw a piece of 2x4 through each, leaving sizeable holes in both. Both cars were owned by university students. Police estimated the replacement cost at $300 each.

Four cars parked in municipal lots were victimized by someone-police believe one person was responsible for all-who gained entry to the cars by first smashing a front side window with a rock.

Two cars were located in the lot off Hulfish Street. From the car of a Princeton resident that was entered nothing was taken, but a couple visiting from Canada lost $525 in such clothing. Taken from a rear seat was a suede coat, dress, morning by Ptl. Mark Stillitano.

A checkbook on the First National Bank of Princeton and registration and insurance cards were stolen from the car of a Princeton resident while it was parked in the Tulane W. lot between 9:30 Thursday night and Monday morning—the same time all the entries took place.

A car parked in the Chambers Street lot was entered and ransacked—stereo tapes were strewn about—but nothing was taken. It is owned by a Princeton resident.

An estimated $50 in damage was caused to the car of a Lawrence Township resident while it was parked in the Witherspoon Street lot. Police said an unsuccessful attempt had been made to remove an AM-FM radio converter. The casings of four parking meters on Prospect Avenue were cracked and broken was admitted in guarded during the weekend. The condition. Miss Smith untan jacket and a cocktail Stillitano.

The accident is being investigated by Hopewell police and members of the Pennington Fire Company. Brashier, driving a 1971 station wagon, was heading south on Route 31; Syers, who was alone, was driving northbound in a 1972 station wagon. Both cars were totaled in the collision.

Police said that it was not raining at the time of the accident but the roadway was wet from an earlier rainfall.

Victim an Actor. Syers of Washington Crossing, Pennington Road, was a graduate of Hopewell Valley High School and a Broadway actor. His best known role was that of an Argentine singing idol who first seduced Evita Perone in the Broadway musical "Evita." His other Broadway credits included roles in "Jesus Christ

Included in the parade march this year will be the Lambertville Volunteer Senior Drum and Bugle Corps, the Black Watch Junior Drum and Bugle Corps and the Diana Twirlers of Trenton.

There will be color guards from the Princeton American Legion Post 76, Princeton American Legion Post 218, Hamilton Township Post 31, Trenton Post 93, Trenton Post 313, Hopewell Valley Post 339, Lawrenceville Post 414, and North Trenton Post 458.

Other groups include the Princeton Volunteer Firemen, Princeton area Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, Kingston Volunteer Fire Company, Khufu Temple 120 of Princeton, Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Borough and Township officials.

TWO MEN KILLED

In Pennington Crash. Two men were killed when their cars crashed head-on Sunday night on Route 31 in Pennington—a half mile south of the Pennington Circle. Two passengers in one of the cars were critically injured.

Pronounced dead at the scene around 7:20 by a passing physician were Mark Syers, 30, of Titusville, and Charles Brashier, 21, of White Pine Circle, Lawrenceville. Carol Geisenhoner, 19, of Pennington, a passenger in the Brashier car, was taken to Princeton Medical Center and admitted in critical condition suffering from multiple trauma and a compound fracture of the right leg. A spokesman for the hospital said Tuesday that Miss Geisenhoner's condition was still critical.

A second passenger in the Brashier car, 24-year-old Kim Smith of Pennington, was taken to Helene Fuld Medical Center in Trenton where she

After graduating from high school, Syers attended the University of New Mexico where he won an acting award for his role in "The Fantasticks." He later transferred to Emerson College in Boston. There he became a professional actor and joined the company of "Godspell."

Born in Trenton, Syers is survived by his parents, John D. and Cynthia Y. Syers of Titusville, two brothers, David C. of Pennsauken and Bruce I. of Croydon; a sister, Rita J. Seifert of Langhorne Manor, Pa., and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 9 a.m. at the Wilson-Apple Funeral Home, Pennington Circle. Mass of Christian Burial will be held at 10 at St. George's Roman Catholic Church, Washington Crossing. Burial will be in Ewing Church Cemetery.

Lamp Craftsman. Born in Plainfield, Brashier was a lifelong resident of Pennington and was a craftsman for the Bidwell Custom Lamp Maker in Titusville. He was a member of the Pennington First Aid Squad, the Pennington Methodist Church and had attended Mercer County Community College. He was to have entered the Trenton State College School of Business this fall.

He is survived by his father, Dr. Porter C. Brashier of Lawrenceville; his mother, Peggy Fiser Brashier of Lambertville; two brothers, Buster C. of Hamilton and Christopher H. of Pennington; a sister, Lynne Lindenthal of South Carolina and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held this Wednesday morning at the First Methodist Church in Pennington, the Rev. Nancy Pierson of St. Mark's Methodist Church in Hamilton and the Rev. James Biggs of First Methodist Pennington officiating. Burial will be in Harborton Cemetery.

Contributions may be made to the Pennington First Aid Squad; contributions in Mr. Syers' memory may be made to the Actors Equity Union in care of John D. Syers, Box 142, Titusville.

THEFT REPORT
Shrubbery Is Taken. Four hemlock trees and six assorted shrubs with a combined value of $382.20 were stolen last week from the site of the Blaine Building, a new office building nearing completion at 330 Alexander Street.

A 15-foot aluminum canoe, chained to a tree at the rear of the Magie Apartments off Faculty Road, was stolen last week. It is valued at $200. Police said that a name inscribed on the left front, Joe Lennon, has nothing to do with the owner.

Twenty-four quarts of motor oil worth $54 were stolen overnight last week from the Mobil service station on Nassau Street. The outside cabinet in which the oil is secured was not locked for some reason, police said.

A Princeton University student left her knapsack on the front porch of her residence on Gayard Lane for a short time Monday night and when she returned it was gone. She lost $35 and other items, including textbooks and a calculator with a combined value of $275.

Another university student lost $40 when a thief removed her wallet from her knapsack which she had left unattended while studying last week in the Guyot Hall library.

JEWELRY IS STOLEN
From Laurel Circle Home. Jewelry valued at an estimated $5,000 was stolen last week from a Laurel Circle home.

The intruder entered the home between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday by breaking a window in a rear door and leaving by way of a basement door. Police report that a large amount of silver and electronic equipment were left behind.

A neighbor later told police that she had observed a medium-size beige sedan parked in the victim's driveway shortly after noon. She was not able to get the registration number and police say they do not know if there is any connection between the car and the robbery. Ptl. John Seeley investigated.

The park and shop attendant's booth at the Hulfish Street lot was broken into overnight last week. Police report that someone smashed a window, reached in and removed a cash box containing $2.

There was an attempted robbery last week at the Princeton Arts Council building, 102 Witherspoon Street. Police said that the building was entered by someone who broke a ground-hemlock tree and six floor window. A locked door was kicked in and several offices inside were ransacked but nothing was taken.

TRESPASSERS ARRESTED
Three Times in One Week. A group of four trespassers were arrested Tuesday morning after they refused to leave the premises of a Nassau Street Church. It marked the third time in six days that the group had been arrested for trespassing at the church.

Chief Michael Carnevale declined to reveal the name of the church, saying it had suffered enough at the hands of the four. Originally, the church had tried to help them by providing shelter but Chief Carnevale said that he would refuse to go into any details.

Scheduled to appear before Judge Russell Annich Jr. this Wednesday were Stephen Blair, 20, of Jersey City; his wife, Kimberly, 20, of Youngstown, Ohio; Denard Edwards, 20, no known address, and Terry Jo Rodriguez, 21, of Center Beach, N.Y.

The four, being held in Borough Jail until their court hearing, were charged by church officials with defiant trespassing and harassment.

They were arrested last Thursday morning at the church after refusing to leave upon request. Police officers had to forcibly remove them from the church where they have been living in stairwells—possibly for several weeks, although Chief Carnevale again declined to be specific.

After being charged with defiant trespass by police, the four were released.

Friday morning at 6:37, police were called again to the church and arrested the same four again for trespassing in the church. They were issued a complaint summons, left Borough Hall and then squatted all day in a grassy area opposite Borough Hall.

TWO MORE ARRESTED
For Drunken Driving. Two more drivers were arrested last week and charged by Township police with driving while intoxicated—the 26th and 27th persons charged by police with drunken driving this year.

Joseph A. Dougherty, 62, 3735 Lawrenceville Road, was stopped and arrested at 1:34 Sunday morning by Ptl.

Anthony Gaylord, after he had observed the Dougherty car weaving from side to side as it passed his patrol car in the opposite direction on Province Line Road near Rosedale.

Mr. Dougherty was taken to police headquarters, given a Breathalyzer test and later transported to the Nassau Inn.

Kathryn K. Detwiler, 28, 9 Turner Court, was stopped on Route 27 after she was observed by Ptl. Robert Buchanan driving in an erratic manner near Snowden Lane. After taking a breath test and being processed at police headquarters, Ms. Detwiler was taken to Humbert Street.

The 27 drivers charged with DWI so far this year compared to 22 charged in all of 1982. Lt. Jack Petrone said that police do not have more officers on the road. "I just think they are more cognizant of it and are watching for it," he said.

ASSAULT ON NASSAU ST.
Tailgating Blamed. Borough police are continuing to investigate a fight on Nassau Street involving three men which police believed was triggered by a tailgating incident.

The incident began Friday night around 7 with two cars following each other on the Princeton-Kingston Road. When they arrived at the intersection of Harrison Street, police said, they stopped and the passenger in Chief Michael Carnevale said Tuesday that police have not been able to locate the other two suspects yet.

BOTTLE ROCKET BLAMED In Dormitory Fire. An illegal bottle rocket has been blamed for starting a fire in a student's suite in Brown Hall on the university campus.

According to police, three students were sleeping when someone apparently ignited the rocket and propelled it through a letter slot around 4:30 Tuesday morning. The rocket hit a wall and fell to the floor on top of some clothing.

The clothing smoldered and caught fire. The blaze was extinguished by university security members and Princeton volunteer firemen. The clothing and part of the floor were damaged, police said.

Mattress Fire. A mattress leaning against the side of a house at 30 Leigh Avenue caught fire last week when it came in contact with an outside electric bulb. It was extinguished by the occupant with a shower hose. Police report the mattress was destroyed and a small part of the wood siding. They identified the owner of the home as Antoinette Cervera, 23 Erdman Avenue.

The front seat of a car parked on Lambert Drive caught fire last week, apparently by a lighted cigarette. The owner, Fred Degehardt, 19, of Cranford, told police that he had been smoking prior to parking the car around 3 a.m. and entering a home on Lambert Drive. An occupant in the home was awakened by the odor of smoke at 5:25 and called police.

The fire was quickly extinguished by firemen who responded with one piece of apparatus. Police said the fire was not suspicious.

PRINCETONIAN CHARGED As Disorderly Person. Great Road, and George R. Feherly Jr., 43 Clearview Avenue, Monika Puchner, 286 Carter Road, paid $70.

Daniel L. Balzer, Wertsville Road, Hopewell, was fined $60 for careless driving and Ian F. Munroe, 26 Woodward Drive, middle of Nassau Street. He had been jumping in front of passing cars causing them to swerve to avoid him, said police, who added that he was under the influence of alcohol.

An oncoming car stopped Ptl. McManimon on car patrol and told him a man had jumped out in front of his path near Chestnut Street. As the officer attempted to locate the suspect, two other drivers stopped and told him similar stories.

MAN EXPOSES HIMSELF To Motorist. A man standing between the sidewalk and curb exposed himself to a Princeton driver as she drove by Thursday afternoon on Madison Street.

The victim reported the incident to Ptl. Randy Sutton on car patrol. Several police cars responded to the area and police searched for the suspect without success.

He was described as a white male in his early 30s, thin, approximately six feet tall, with black, greased-back, medium length hair, and clean shaven. He was wearing black trousers and a grey T-shirt.

12 SPEEDERS FINED In Borough Court. Twelve Princeton area residents were fined Monday in Borough traffic court for speeding.

Fined $60 each were James J. Robinson, 335 Ridgeway Road; Arthur Heimbald, 106 Hun Road; Melvin A. Bernarde, 45 Cuyler Road; Marvin S. Nielsen, 461 Mt. Lucas Road; Jeffrey D. Stives, 5 Borosko Place, Princeton Junction; John J. Pesce, 75 Harris Road; Jean S. Taber, 404 Snowden Lane, who was also fined $15 for no license or registration in possession; Edward M. Kennedy, 31 Edwards Place; Barbara J. Warren, 64 Wiggins Street; Patricia McFadden, 17 Melville Road, Cranbury; Jay Halford, The Great Road, and George R. Feherly Jr., 43 Clearview Avenue, Monika Puchner, 286 Carter Road, paid $70.

Daniel L. Balzer, Wertsville Road, Hopewell, was fined $60 for careless driving and Ian F. Munroe, 26 Woodward Drive, Others: Kathleen E. Grand, Sunset Road, Skillman, $20, no license or registration in possession, and Donald F. Ready, 52 Western Way and John M. Kmenta, 327 Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction, both $15, failure to have inspection.

In Township court last week, Maria Carazzai, 19 Leigh Avenue, was fined $65 for improper entering or leaving a highway, and David J. Stonaker, 30 Bainbridge Street, was fined the same amount for careless driving.

Abbot Moffat, 2 Pheasant Hill Road, was found guilty of allowing his dog to behave in such a way as to endanger another person's property. Judge Sydney suspended the $50 fine but ordered Mr. Moffat to leash his dog whenever it leaves his property.

HELICOPTER CRASHES

But Pilot Survives. A Plainsboro helicopter pilot escaped serious injury last week when the helicopter he was flying crashed into a swamp near the Princeton Meadows' Deer Creek Apartments.

The pilot, Bruce Duffy, 45, was taken to Princeton Medical Center where he was treated for deep lacerations on his head and neck and released.

A crop-duster for 15 years, Duffy was spraying a load of the controversial chemical Sevin which kills gypsy moths at the Princeton Forrestal Center off Route 1 when the tail rotor of his Bell helicopter lost power. The craft plummeted to the ground and

This Sunday, for sure. Rained out last Sunday, the teen "Summer Happenings" will be this Sunday, same time, same place, different weather.

"Summer Happenings" joins students from Princeton's public and private schools in a 1-4 p.m. Palmer Square event to show everybody how many activities and opportunities there will be for teens in Princeton this summer.

The George Dickel Band is still scheduled to play all afternoon, student organizations will sell food and there will be a free drawing for teens who attend. The prize is a gift certificate from a local shop.

Co-sponsors are Collins Development Corporation and the Fund for Drug and Alcohol Abuse, Inc.

landed in four feet of swamp water on its side.

Although bleeding and dazed, Duffy managed to climb out of the smashed "copter as water was pouring in the broken cockpit bubble. He made his way through the woods and was met by a resident of the Deer Creek Apartments who had seen his helicopter spinning and then fall to earth. The resident called police at 7:47 Sunday morning.

Mr. Duffy was fortunate when the craft's fuel tanks did not rupture and burst into flames. Plainsboro firemen were at the scene but were not needed. "He's real lucky to be alive," said a Plainsboro police officer at the scene.

REGISTRATION DUE

For YWCA Summer. Registration for summer programs at the YWCA will be held on Monday, from 9 until 7. The YWCA will be offering 75 separate classes in addition to four summer day camps. In the Adult Department, classes include Antiques Forum, "Summer Cooking With Herbs and Spices," "How to Compete With Your Florist," a Sculpture Walk through Princeton University Campus, and two picnics: a French Picnic on Bastille Day, and a Near Eastern Picnic. Continuing services in the Adult Department are the "Dying and Grieving Hotline," "On Your Own," and "Widowed Friends." A summer program being offered as a service is "Learning to Live With Dying."

The Youth Department will offer "Summer Fun Clubs" for preschoolers too young for day camp, in addition to "Science in the Park" and "Sunshine Messy Play." A special offering will be the Theater Arts Workshop for ages 11 through 14. This will consist of three two week sessions in which all phases of the theater arts are taught.

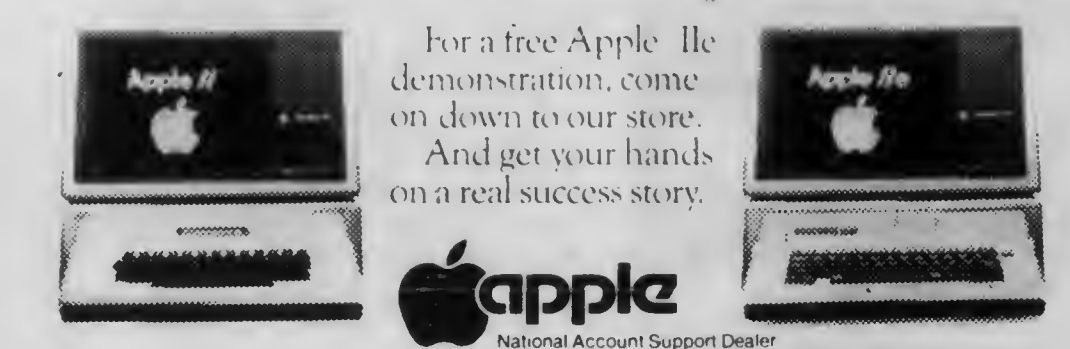

This series is being offered in conjunction with the Princeton Street Theatre. Other classes in the Youth Department include offerings in candle-making, astronomy, outdoor cooking, gardening and pets.

In Aquatics, there will be classes offered during three separate time frames: Aquatics "Mini Classes" from June 14 through June 25; early and late summer classes for adults (early summer starts June 14 but extends through July 13; late summer starts July 18 and extends through August 11), and classes from June 27 through August 12. Sign up for all of these sessions will take place Monday.

Classes offered include "Waterbabies" and "Parent-Toddler" classes, "Swim and

A highlight of the Aquatics program is the "Adapted Aquatics" program for children with physical or mental impairments to whom swimming and safety skills are taught.

Exercise is popular at the Princeton YWCA, and many exercise and dance classes are being held in the summer. They include "Dancing the Aerobic Way," "Early Bird Exercise" starting at 9 a.m., pre and post natal exercise, adult ballet, jazz and modern dance, "Fun for Ones" and "Parent-Toddler Gym I" both parents with their children.

Gymnastics include "Tumble Tots," "Pre-Gymnastics I," Varsity Gymnastics Team and "Tiny Tots." For children and teens, dance classes include pre-ballet for boys and girls, and teen jazz dance.

Self-defense classes this summer will also be held. They are: Aikido, Karate for Women and Teens, and Aikido for Children.

TWO WOMEN CHOSEN

By Princeton. Simina Farcasiu, a comparative literature major from Princeton, has been named University's 235th commencement on June 7. She is the daughter of Alexandru and Viorica Farcasiu of Jefferson Road and a graduate of Stuart Country Day School.

A biochemistry major from Leonia, also a woman, was English, Middle High German valedictorian. The two men, Latin, Portuguese, Provençal and Catalan.

Miss Farcasiu was born in Bucharest, Rumania and came to the United States in 1970. The valedictorian of her graduating class at Stuart Country Day School in 1973, she was a National Merit Scholar, held a Mobil National Merit Scholarship, received the George B. Wood legacy at Princeton for the student with the highest grade point average during her junior year and was awarded the Class of 1870 Prize in Old English. Her overall academic record at Princeton includes four A+'s and 19 A's.

As a specialist in the literature of the Middle Ages, she has done independent work in medieval French hagiography, Anglo-Saxon poetry and Dante. In addition to English and Rumanian, she speaks French, Spanish, and Italian, and reads Old Leonia, also a woman, was English, Middle High German valedictorian. ship, Miss Farcasiu will be reading for a master of philosophy degree at Westfield College, University of London. Interested in international economics and commodities trading, she intends to go to Yale Law School following her studies abroad.

At the commencement ceremonies she will address her classmates in Latin, carrying on a tradition that dates back to Princeton's first commencement in 1748. She is the third woman to deliver this address at Princeton.

ENTERS GUILTY PLEA

In Extortion Scheme. Timothy C. Huizinga of Kingston, a freshman at Trenton State, has pled guilty to what he called "a sick joke" — a scheme to extort $50,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Lester Block, 161 Parkside Drive.

The guilty plea was made in Federal District Court in Newark last Thursday. Young Huizinga, who is 18, admitted to conspiring to extort the money by sending a letter threatening the couple and their children. Two co-defendants, Joseph G. Prestifilippo, 19, and Scott J. Previte, 19, pled not guilty.

Sentencing has been set for June 29. Mr. Huizinga faces a maximum penalty of five years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Collins Beginning to Respond. To the Editor of Town Topics: Is there anyone in Princeton willing to "defend" that cemetery parking lot behind the Post Office on Palmer Square East? Who would join a Committee for the Preservation of acres and acres of Asphalt and Gravel between Hufish and Paul Robeson Place?

No one, obviously, but those two unappealing areas of the CBD may provide some perspective on our assessment of Collins Development Corporation's plans. I, for one, would be delighted to see them replaced by handsome buildings in keeping with our much-loved Palmer Square West.

On the other hand, who loves the present addition to the Nassau Inn? Where were the concerned citizens of this town when 1 Palmer Square went up? Both buildings are hideous, and out of scale with the rest of Princeton. Both might have been much improved by the kind of dialogue now underway with Mr. Collins.

Our problem is perfectly illustrated by the mini-park in front of 1 Palmer Square: Cutesy-Pie Kiosk juxtaposed to Penitentiary Massive. Both were mistakes, and one is immovable. Is it too late to hope that the kiosk might be replaced by a monster evergreen which would partially hide the immovable object?

Mr. Collins is beginning to respond to our concerns. He has agreed to reduce the mass of the bridge over Palmer Square East by some 30 percent, and to lower the roofline of the addition to the Nassau Inn at the corner of Hufish. He has scrapped plans to clutter the village green with shrubbery, and will not extend the sidewalks on Palmer Square West and Tiger Park. These are important steps in the right direction.

Much more remains to be done, however, before Mr. Collins' generally handsome designs can be purged entirely of the cute and reduced to a scale and density appropriate to Princeton. The Planning Board needs our input in order to defend us. Borough Council must be persuaded that we object to Collins' plans as now drawn, and will not tolerate attempts to ride roughshod over our concerns.

Mr. Collins needs to be convinced that we want him to succeed if only because it would be unfortunate if prime acreage in the center of town were developed piecemeal with little regard for architectural harmony.

Most important, all three institutions now deciding the future of Princeton must do so with due regard for the preservation of open spaces in the center of our lovely town.

PATRICIA H. MARKS
8 Morven Place

Public Badly Treated. To the Editor of Town Topics:

At the Borough Council Meeting last Tuesday evening, it is our contention that the public was badly treated! Apparently, important decisions concerning the air-light rights of the proposed Collins "building bridge" were made behind doors, closed to the public, the evening before. Our elected officials are pledged to serve us with integrity and to the best of their ability.

Near the conclusion of the May 10 public meeting, when most of the citizens had left, the Council refused to discuss their decision-making process pertaining to the Chambers Street Garage (on the agenda for that evening) when questioning became embarrassing. This is a serious violation of our trust.

When 1,000 residents sign petitions concerning the development of our Princeton, this is not to be taken lightly! Elections have been won (and lost) with far fewer numbers. The second Tuesday in November is not far away!

KATHARINE B. STRONG
91 Hun Road

Member of Citizens Concerned for Princeton

Public Ignored. To the Editor of Town Topics:

Although elected officials are expected to reflect the opinions and wishes of their electorate in their decisions, it was obvious at the meeting of the Borough Council on Tuesday, May 10, that Council members had already made up their minds in earlier, closed, meetings, as to how they would vote on the granting of air rights to the Collins Company.

There was little evidence that they were paying any attention to the wishes of over 1,000 people who had signed a petition against granting the air rights, or to the voiced objections of several people at the meeting.

Mayor Cawley in previous weeks, through the press and casual remarks, had reiterated that any action was too late, and in stating his views beforehand, his behavior was highly irregular. Barbara Hill's carefully constructed motion to grant the rights had obviously been put together before the public meeting took place, and except for two negative votes, the Council was in accord.

Possibly subject to a suit against Borough Council is their refusal to answer questions made at the end of the meeting as to how their decisions had been reached. Certainly their high-handed attitude to their electorate is far from reassuring about our local government.

Ultior Motives? To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a member of the Citizens Committee Concerned for the Future of Princeton (and we now number over 1,000 members) I was deeply disturbed over the meeting that was held on Tuesday, May 10.

Secret, closed-door meetings where members of the opposition are stifled and their questions ignored go against every concept of democracy and human rights I feel elected officials should grant the members of their constituencies, and cannot make me suspicious of their ulterior motives. As a member of this community for 40 years, I am disappointed in you.

210 Mountain Avenue

Sewer Bond Issue Needed. To the Editor of Town Topics:

At all Planning Board or Council meetings I have attended, when the sewer subject is brought up, the same answer is always repeated, "Collins is putting $400,000 into the sewer trust fund."

Collins will be putting $400,000 into the sewer trust fund only after the Sewer Operating Committee has allocated 56,000 gallons of daily sewage capacity and issued a sewer permit giving Collins the right to build. Considering the serious infiltration and constant surcharge problems of the Harry's Brook Trunk sewer, WILL the SOC exercise their authority and deny a sewer permit by forewarning Collins that there is no sewage capacity? If this is the case, Collins will not give the $400,000 to the trust fund.

We cannot continue to depend on money that does not exist. What does exist in this town is a deplorable condition that is causing major stress to its residents and physical damage to our environment.

The Princeton sewer system dates back to the late 1800s. A significant portion of it was constructed of materials which provide much less resistance to ground clay. The extreme amount of mortar joints, plus the excessive root intrusion is leading to high infiltration rates. The Princeton have 100 miles of trunk and lateral sewers from which only two miles have been reconstructed since 1981 at a cost of $326,369. Collins' $400,000 is almost insignificant when compared with the overall cost to repair the sewer. It is a safe assumption that it will be 6 to 10 million dollars.

What the Princetons need is a bond issue. As a taxpayer I feel angry to know that we all are paying millions of dollars to have rain water processed at the sewer treatment plant and very sad to know that the sewage has become an invisible predator which is destroying our environment.

On Wednesday, May 18, at 8 p.m. at Borough Hall, Borough Council will be having a special meeting to discuss the sewer problem of the Princetons. I urge the community to come and participate. The disposition of the sewer system has become a very serious health issue. Our officials need to know that we can no longer tolerate sewage back ups and overflows.

Planners as Guardians. To the Editor of Town Topics:

A word of praise is due to the Princeton Regional Planning Board for their diligence in upholding the public interest in the processing of the application of Collins Development Corporation for Palmer Square.

Anyone who attended last Thursday's Planning Board meeting had to be impressed by the constructive nature of suggestions by Planning Board members about the kiosk, the bridge, the height of the Nassau Inn addition and the plan in general, which represented the public's concern over these areas.

Collins, in turn, offered some modifications to respond to these, and to comments received at the Borough Council meeting on Tuesday.

Though this dialogue has been going on for two years and has resulted in considerable improvements to the original mega-block plan, public interest has been heightened as it nears final approval.

The Planning Board has rightfully stood its ground in assuring that ironing out the final shape of the plan is done in the same deliberate fashion as previous reviews.

Collins can assure himself of Importance of Speaking Up. To the Editor of Town Topics:

Our town has found out, once again, about the importance of speaking up for the principles that each person believes in. The petitions (about 1,500 or more) prove that concerned Princeton citizens are for a change for the better open space and not to have Palmer Square cluttered up as if it were doomed to be a Milwaukee or Houston, with second class taste.

Princeton can remain a college town, with open spaces, depending on peoples' preferences. (The Route One aspects are, obviously, in the hands of the money developers, as this area, between New York City and Philadelphia, tends to be comparatively convenient.) However, it is more important than ever for each concerned person, to make a special effort to come to the next meeting of the Princeton Regional Planning Board on Tuesday, May 24 at 7:30 at the Valley Road School.

POLLY FAIRMAN

Collins' Negative Impact. To the Editor of Town Topics:

Please allow me to amplify my remarks at the May 10, 1983 meeting of Mayor and Council.

Rarely since the Italian Renaissance has any individual had the opportunity to effect so dramatically and irreversibly the central core of an exquisite small city as does Arthur Collins. The Collins plan that awaits Planning Board final site plan approval, if enacted as presented thus far, will have a permanent negative impact on Princeton.

For many years, as Mayor Cawley states, citizens groups met to advise the Council, Planning Board and the Borough's consultants. Time and again, those groups insisted that certain elements be incorporated in an expanded Palmer Square. Chief among these were: 1) scale in conformity with the existing Square; 2) contiguous, usable open space large enough both for everyday eating, drinking and making discreetly merry and for occasional planned community activities; 3) cultural and entertainment facilities; 4) mixed commercial, residential and office use, preferably on the order of Palmer Square West; 5) no inner city wall.

SITE OF NASSAU INN ADDITION: The proposed addition to the Nassau Inn will be across Palmer Square East from the Inn (left) on this strip of land now used as a municipal parking lot. The bridge will span the street between old and new buildings. This picture was taken in front of what will be Stouffer's Cheese Celler restaurant and bar on the north side of the One Palmer Square building.

In short, what we all worked for (I was a member of the Central Business District Subcommittee) and until recently thought we were getting, was a completed and upgraded mirror image of the present Square with a substantial town center as open space.

What we've ended up with is a Nassau Inn that looks as if it took a hormone pill and spread across the street and all over the back lot, and a northern section that consists of an enormous commercial office building, another smaller one, and a 140 unit high-priced "condo" development. Extra usable public open space? We get a treeless concrete plaza between the office buildings that's only a mite bigger than the Palmer Square One Plaza, and we get a sliver of the Inn's back yard.

I don't believe that this conforms with either the spirit or the letter of the Borough ordinance requiring 25 percent open space in Palmer

Square. I will challenge the Collins interpretation of the ordinance before final site plan approval as well as continue to express my sentiments regarding the bulk and height of much of the project.

What keeps tugging at me is the sense of lost opportunity. I haven't met anyone who is in favor of no change at all in the Square. We're not in love with five acres of asphalt. But we want a lovely, lively, gracious and spacious Square that redefines the character of our town.

Arthur Collins doesn't have to face the traumas of removing either people or buildings that confront most downtown developers, and, indeed, faced Edgar Palmer. He has a "tabula asphaltica" upon which to build, god-like out of nothing.

We citizens understand that the exigencies of the private enterprise system are such that Arthur Collins, like the Renaissance princes, holds the balance of power in our inter-relationship. But his reaction at both the Borough Council and Planning Board meetings last week to citizen concern gives me hope that he is willing to listen to us and to change the plans.

It is not too late. Nothing has been written in stone, concrete, nor, certainly, in five acres of asphalt. Continue to come to Planning Board meetings. The next one is Tuesday, May 24th.

Emergency Care. Another six members recently completed a motor vehicle extrication course held at the Twin W First Aid Squad.

Four more completed the National Safety Council Defensive Driving Course taught by Patrolman David Wilbur of the Princeton Township Police. Three of the squad's paramedics have just received American Heart Association certification in Advanced Cardiac Life Support in a course taught by physicians at the Medical Center at Princeton. Finally, six members have just completed the 100-hour New Jersey Emergency Medical Technician's course. The countless training hours are not included in the on-call totals.

YOUTH HONORED
For Red Cross Work, Dr. Paul Houston, superintendent of the Princeton Regional Schools, spoke at the Red Cross Youth Recognition Lunch held at Princeton High School. His remarks preceded the awarding of certificates and tokens of appreciation from the Princeton Area Chapter to 19 high school students who have rendered service to others through the Red Cross.

Some of the students have been engaged in teaching Red Cross courses to young children, and others have served in various community service roles, including serving as members of the board of the Chapter.

Faye Hunsinger, chairman of the youth services advisory committee, presented the certificates of appreciation. One student, Anne Fendrich, was recognized for three years of service, and special mementoes were given to Tim Root, Mark Sanders, Jennifer Rebban and Cameron Trollo for "service beyond the call."

Dr. Houston applauded the students for becoming involved in helping others and challenged them always to provide service "for service sake." He encouraged them to "leave the woodpile of life higher than (they) found it." Others in attendance included Princeton Area Chapter Chairman Almedia Pace; Robert Ennis, chapter executive director; Marilyn Ebert, director, Youth Services, and Ginny Csilan of the New Jersey State Department of Education, who represented Gustav H. Ruh, honorary chairman of the Youth Services Advisory Committee.

OPEN HOUSE SET
At Rock Brook School, Parents of young children who are experiencing language, speech or learning difficulties may be interested in The Rock Brook School's Open House on Wednesday, May 25, from 10 to noon. Located on Route 518 in Blawenburg, The Rock Brook School offers an intensive program for children aged three through nine who experience delays in the development of learning and communication skills. The curriculum provides a full academic program with language and speech remediation integrated into all aspects of the program. Each class of eight children is staffed by a teacher and speech pathologist. Those attending Open House will have the opportunity to see classes in session and to talk with the director. Refreshments will be served. For more information, call the school at 466-2989.

DEADLINE EXTENDED
For Day Camp Registration. The Recreation Department has extended the registration deadline of its six week day camp program to Friday, May 27. Registration forms are available in the Recreation Office. For additional information call 921-9480.

DYSLEXIA AND PARENTS
Topic of Lecture: The Lewis Clinic will sponsor a lecture and discussion by Harold Lubin, M.D. on Friday, May 20, at 8 at the John Witherspoon School.

Dr. Lubin is clinical professor of psychiatry at New York University's School of Medicine whose expertise lies in the study and diagnosis of dyslexia and in the treatment of the emotional and social aspects associated with the condition. His talk, "Parents, the Grassroots Psychologists," will explore the struggle among families whose children are intellectually sound but who are failing in school and often not coping in life because of a learning disorder and the disorganized behavior it can create.

Dr. Lubin will examine the student's predicament when he senses he is bright but unable to learn appropriately because of a language disability. Options for educational planning and behavior management will be discussed during the open session following the lecture. Tickets at a $5 tax deductible donation are available from the Lewis Clinic, 924-8120, or at the door. Proceeds will benefit the school's scholarship fund.

SCHOLARSHIP AVAILABLE
Support Solicited. A scholarship will be awarded annually in memory of the late Warren E. Huff Jr. who died this past year. The scholarship will be given to a graduating Princeton High School boy or girl who has excelled in the field of athletics and will be entering college in the fall. The Warren Huff Jr. Scholarship Fund Committee is soliciting the support of Mr. Huff's many friends. Members are Mrs. Beatrice W. Boyer, chair, Norman Hines, co-chair, Deborah L. Byrd, Mrs. Romona Huff, Clifford Floyd, Frank Grover, Francis D. Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Johnson, Cynthia McAllister, Harry Kahny, Mrs. Carole D. Taylor, Mrs. Katherine Ussera and Pete Young. The award will be made in June of this year.

educational English or mathematics study program this summer for students who will enter grades 9 through 12 in the fall. The program is an intensive four-week course of study starting at 3 p.m. on Sunday, June 26, and ending at noon on Friday, July 22.

The summer English program concentrates on enhancing the student's understanding and appreciation of literature, increasing the ability to write clearly and effectively, and developing reading and study skills. Each student will be in class three hours a day, five days a week, with additional time spent in individual consultation with instructors. In addition to the specific work in English, each student will be enrolled in a special history course that meets four times a week.

The summer mathematics program offers two basic courses. A pre-algebra course is designed for students who will enter first-year algebra in the fall, and a first-year algebra review course is for students who need to improve their algebraic skills before entering geometry or second year algebra. Both courses require three hours of classroom work each weekday morning. In the afternoon each mathematics student will take an introductory computing course in the school's Corby Mathematics-Computer Center.

Courses will be taught by members of the Lawrenceville faculty. The fee of $1050 for boarding students and $600 for day students includes everything except the cost of books and supplies, personal expenses, and weekend entertainment. Lunch is included for day students.

Applications may be obtained by writing to William J. Jackson, director, The Lawrenceville Summer Study Program, The Lawrenceville School, P.O. Box 6008, Lawrenceville 08648, or calling, 896-0400, Ext. 227.

TWO CHAIRS ENDOWED

At Lawrenceville, Headmaster Bruce McClellan has announced the establishment of two new fully endowed teaching chairs at Lawrenceville. A chair in dramatic arts and a chair for the director of athletics have been funded from a series of undesignated gifts made during recent years by the directors of the F.M. Kirby Foundation of Morristown.

Allan P. Kirby of the Lawrenceville class of 1913 gave to Lawrenceville the Allan P. Kirby Arts Center and an endowment for its maintenance in perpetuity. The Center is currently celebrating its 20th year as the cultural center of the Lawrenceville campus.

As part of an ongoing program to strengthen faculty salaries, Lawrenceville has been seeking endowed chairs for outstanding faculty members. The addition of the two new Kirby Foundation chairs brings the total of endowed faculty appointments to 13.

FOUR DAY CAMPS

Offered by YWCA. This summer, the YWCA will offer a full range of camping experiences for youngsters 4-13 years old in its four day camps. Each camp is designed to provide maximum enrichment and entertainment for the group which it serves.

Arts and crafts, athletics, dance, environmental awareness, drama, swimming and nature study are all part of the program at the Co-ed

No More 'Odd-Even'

The state's odd-even car inspection system, which Governor Thomas Kean started last August, is illegal. It violates the Federal Clean Air Act because it was imposed by an executive order from the governor, without public hearings and without justification to the Federal Environmental Protection Agency, ruled U.S. District Judge John Bissell on Monday. Governor Kean has said he will not appeal.

The state has been ordered to resume one-year inspections "in a reasonable time."

Day Camp. The camp is now in its 50th year, and last year it received accreditation by the American Camping Association.

The Day Camp is open to boys and girls in kindergarten through fifth grade. The six week program, starting June 27 and ending August 5, is divided into three two-week sessions, with the option of signing up for one, two or three sessions. Camp runs Monday-Friday, 8:30 a.m. - 4 p.m. (No camp on July 4).

The camp day starts at Stuart Country Day School where most of the activities are held. Mid-afternoon the children are transported to the YWCA for Red Cross instructional swimming lessons. They remain at the YWCA until the afternoon session ends.

The YWCA Sports Camp is for boys and girls 6½ - 13. Field hockey, volleyball, soccer, basketball, football, softball, lacrosse, gymnastics and swimming for all levels will be the primary sports which will be taught June 27 - August 5 in seven consecutive on-week sessions.

A staff of eight (five professional staff members, and three counselors-in-training) will direct the 40 children in each camp session. Camp begins at 8:30 and ends at 4 Monday through Friday. The camp is located at the YWCA facility on Paul Robeson Place, and field trips are taken to use the nearby facilities of Princeton University, in addition to area parks and playing fields.

The YWCA Girls Activities Camp, open to girls 11-13 years old, provides an opportunity to participate in a host of different activities - day trips, films, cook-outs, sports, swimming, games, gymnastics, arts and crafts, cooking canoeing, and hiking.

This camp is offered for three consecutive two-week sessions, June 27 - August 5, with the option of signing up for one, two or three sessions. Based at the YWCA, the camp is also offered Monday-Friday from 8:30 - 4. (No camp July 4).

For the first time this summer, the YWCA will be featuring a camp for pre-school children 4-5 years old. Each day will provide the opportunity to participate in different activities including outdoor and indoor games, arts and crafts, recreational swimming, music, creative dramatics, and movement exploration (using basic gymnastic equipment).

Paula Greenberg will head a camp staff of five, representing a variety of backgrounds, with pre-schoolers. Called Summer Carousel, it will be offered for six consecutive weeks, June 27 - August 5 (no camp July 4). A variety of combinations are available - mornings only, afternoons only, or a combination of both for a full day program.

DEMONSTRATION SET

Of Sufi Dancing. There will be a demonstration of Sufi dancing Saturday from 7 to 9 in the Quaker Meeting House, Quaker Road. The dancing will be led by members of the Sufi Order of Philadelphia, and everyone is welcome to join in.

Sufi dances or "Dances of Universal Peace" are at once folk, sacred and devotional. The Sufis maintain that through these dances one experiences the joy, peace and unity at the source of all religion. For additional information call 924-8580.

DOLL SHOW SATURDAY

In Hightstown. The Hightstown-East Windsor Historical Society will sponsor its seventh annual Doll Show and Sale Saturday in St. Anthony's Hall, at the corner of Route 33 and Maxwell Avenue. Free parking is available for this day-long event, which begins at 10 and continues until 4.

The Historical Society will offer beverages, and homemade sandwiches and baked goods in the cafeteria located on the premises. The Doll Show is open to the public, with an admission price of $2.50.

The show will feature dolls and doll-related items only - no miniatures. Some 32 dealers from seven states will display and sell a variety of wares: antique and French and German bisque dolls; collector quality cloth dolls; personality dolls of the '30s, '40s, and '50s; composition and plastic dolls; handmade pin cushion and clothespin dolls; Lenci dolls; paper dolls; Barbie dolls; and collectible modern dolls.

There will be doll reproduction kits, clothing and accessories, wigs and stands, and antique doll furniture. Forty-five tables of merchandise will offer something for everyone - doll collectors, dealers, and browsers alike.

A highlight of the afternoon will be the raffling off of a 21" tall bisque doll, "My Fair Lady," handcrafted by doll artist Jodi Abrams.

'ADORATION'

Student Collaboration. It's music, sculpture and engineering, a collaboration between Princeton University students in the visual arts, music, astrophysics and various parts of the engineering discipline.

The students have called it "Adoration." It's in the lobby of the Woolworth Music Center on the Princeton University campus, and will be there through this Saturday.

In "Adoration," as described by its creators, continuous tape loops of music by graduate student Keith Johnston are being programmed and played inside a three-dimensional group of internally lighted paintings, created by visual arts major Tony Saunders.

Lighting, internal electronics and sound dynamics were designed by David Laur (mechanical engineer), Mark Dickinson (astrophysics major) and Dana Batali (electrical engineer).

Sound - it's turned low or off during the day because offices are nearby - is projected through 64 speakers, each controlled separately by a central microprocessor unit. Lighting changes slowly through the day, controlled by timing circuits.

The complexity of "Adoration" is evident from the list of credits in the descriptive leaflet. Included in the 39 individuals and organizations are the gas and electric company, the U.S. Government, somebody called "Sam," Fab Five Freddie, the departments of physics, astrophysics, electrical engineering and visual arts, the City of Honolulu, Flipper, campus radio station WPRB and Mrs. Urken.

Historical Commission; and Leslie (Bud) Vivian of Princeton University.

trekked for six days through the Himalayan range to a summit of 16,000 feet. The research during the journey involved an assessment of the effect of personality type on physical performance. The performance of hard-driving, work-oriented, more coronary prone individuals (type A) was compared to that of more laid back, easy-going trekkers (type B).

Dr. Elmore discovered that under the conditions of the trek, there was no difference in the performing or coping of the A and B personality. He will share his findings, as well as anecdotes and slides of the trip, at the presentation. The evening is free of charge, and open to the public.

BICENTENNIAL BEGUN Observances Planned, 1983 is the 200th anniversary not only of Princeton as the nation's capital, while the Continental Congress convened here, but also of the signing of the Treaty of Paris which ended the American Revolution and established the United States internationally as a separate nation.

Governor Thomas Kean has issued a proclamation to commemorate the Bicentennial of the Treaty of Paris with activities in communities throughout the state until the end of the year. He signed the proclamation on April 15 to recognize the role of New Jersey in the Revolution, because it was on April 14, 1783, that Governor William Livingston issued a proclamation that declared the cessation of hostilities with the British in New Jersey. Governor Kean is a descendant of Governor Livingston.

On September 3, 1783, in Paris, Great Britain, France, Spain, The Netherlands signed the treaty that officially ended the American Revolution. The Congress received notice of the Treaty of Paris while it was convened in Nassau Hall on November 1, 1783. After being notified of the signing, General Washington issued farewell orders to his troops from his headquarters in Rocky Hill.

In recognition of these events, and New Jersey's role in what has been called "The Cockpit of the American Revolution," communities throughout the state hold commemorative bicentennial events.

In Princeton, the Historical Society has scheduled a full year of observances. Lectures were held this winter on the flight of the Continental Congress to Princeton from Philadelphia. A special exhibition featuring Princeton in 1783 will open June 26 and be on view through October.

JOHN WITHERSPOON SCHOOL

There are Princetons and Princetons.

M. S. Yuchnow's 6th grade English class at John Witherspoon Middle School has been involved in a learning exercise that has to do with communication skills, research, library reference and information and letter writing.

The topic of this exercise was to research the various towns in the United States that share the name Princeton. The findings were quite unexpected.

Using the World Book Atlas as a primary source of information, Mrs. Yuchnow's class found that there were 25 towns within the United States and 2 towns in Canada named Princeton.

The students wrote letters to all 27 Princetons, asking for information concerning "their" town. The responses were overwhelming. As letters were received they were shared with the entire class and comparisons were made as to size and geographic location.

The towns of Princeton exist as far south as Florida, as far north as Minnesota and there is even a Princeton, California.

Among the Princetons that have been most informative in answering the student's letters were Princeton, Maine, who sent a book about their Princeton for the school library and a copy of the Princeton K-8 yearbook. They also sent along tourist information, ball pens for all students from a motel in Princeton, Maine and Chamber of Commerce information.

Princeton, Minnesota sent a seven page hand written letter describing their town. Princeton, Michigan history began with the discovery of iron ore when engineers from a survey party created a tent city and named the encampment "Princeton" after Princeton University, the engineer's alma mater.

Princeton, Indiana was named after Judge William Prince, a congressman. Some of the other Princetons were so named by settlers who had gone to Princeton University and others were settled by people whose last name was Prince.

The students are now in the process of thanking all the parties who answered their original letters and are sending them a picture of themselves along with a copy of the Princeton Packet and Town Topics.

This year's English project has been so successful and informative that Mrs. Yuchnow will be continuing the "Princeton Project" next year. She plans on having the students compile all the information, map the different locations of the towns and compare the size and the services each Princeton offers. All this information will be available in book form and sent to the school library so the entire student body can read and enjoy the book and share all the Princetons.

The Last Bull

History lives at JWS. Ms. Wright's 7th and 8th Social Studies classes have created a bulletin board entitled "The Last Bull" an unfinished tale. It depicts the 50's, 60's and 70's decades, the first three years of the 80's, and future projections. The bulletin board consists of research papers and posters.

Come, see and experience major political events, cultural trends and social movements. For example, the 50's cover such topics as Rock'n-Roll, Cold War, Beatniks, Civil Rights Movement, etc. The 60's cover such topics as the Vietnam War, Peace Movement, Fashions, Black Power Movement, etc. The 70's deal with topics like Mid-East Crisis (including the Camp David Accord), Watergate, Iran Crisis, Womens Rights, etc. The 80's has topics like Nuclear Arms vs. Nuclear Freeze, attempted assassinations of the Pope and the President, Polish Solidarity, Valley Girl, Chemical Pump Sites, etc.

The centrally located program — which consists of arts and crafts, sports, games, swimming, and special events — runs Monday through Friday from 9 to 3. After camp care is available until 5.

The cost of the Day Camp is $45 for the first child and $40 for each additional child. After camp care fees are $15 for the first child and $10 for each additional child. The costs are for the full six week period. Registration forms are available in the recreation office: the deadline to register is Friday, May 6. For additional information call 921-9480.

TROUBLE READING?

Course, at Rutgers. Students in grades three through 12 who have normal ability, but are reading below grade level, are eligible for admission to the summer program of the Rutgers Reading Center in New Brunswick.

Screening tests will be held one time only, on Saturday, June 4, starting at 9 a.m. in Rutgers' Graduate School of Education, 10 Seminary Place. The screening fee is $60. The program will start Wednesday, June 29 and run through Tuesday, July 26.

Classes will run from 10:15 to 11:30, Mondays through Thursdays. Tuition is $225. Enrollment is limited to three students for each instructor, and classes are taught by certified public school teachers who are candidates for graduate degrees as reading specialists.

Additional information is available by calling 201-932-7644.

GESTALT WORKSHOP

Dr. Lamper to Speak. A one-day workshop in Gestalt theory and experiential learning will be given Tuesday, May 24 by Dr. Neil Lamper, educator and Gestalt therapist under the sponsorship of The Institute for Creative Change. The workshop will be held at the Lantana Church, Cherry Hill and Route 296.

Although the day-long session is of special interest to human service workers, therapists and counselors in various fields, including alcoholism, it is open to anyone. The fee is $35, and registration must be received by Monday, May 16. Details are available from Libby Ranney, 466-0323.

COALITION GIVES BOOKS

To Public Library. Nine books valued at close to $80 have been presented to the Princeton Public Library by the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament. The books are a collection of some of the latest writings on the issue of the nuclear arms race. There are books for children as well as adults.

The books are a first installment toward a nuclear disarmament book shelf. The Coalition intends to make further donations to this collection in the future.

For adult readers the authors and titles are Arthur Macy Cox, "Russian Roulette"; George Kennan, "The Nuclear Delusion"; Edward Kennedy and Mark Hatfield, "Freeze: Nuclear War: What's in it for You?"; Jonathan Schell, "The Fate of the Earth"; and Robert Scheer, "With Enough Shovels."

Three books were contributed for both children and adults. They are Raymond Briggs, "When the Wind Blows"; Eleanor Coerr, "Sadako and the Thousand Paper Cranes"; and Toshi Maruki, "Hiroshima No Pika."

SAVE Spells "Puppy Love"

She just loves small animals.
And the people who love small animals — especially the people who love dogs and cats — just love her.

Jeanne Graves runs, and in fact IS, the Princeton Small Animal Rescue League, which celebrated its Silver Anniversary on May 3, 1983. (It's also known as SAVE, the acronym for the Small Animal Veterinary Endowment, which is actually 32 years old, but untangling THAT one would take a kitten's nine lives.)

A "great deal of progress" has been made in this quarter century, Mrs. Graves believes: "We've helped thousands of people to place pets that otherwise would have been destroyed."

She has also made progress in explaining to people why female cats should be spayed and male cats castrated. She will tell you, in her soft voice, that a spayed cat is gentler, kinder, cleaner, more settled, and happier to stay at home. And there are indeed fewer mewling, starving, unwanted kittens than in 1958 — have you noticed?

This is what SAVE does — and does not — do:

- If you find you can't keep your dog or cat any more, you call her at 921-6122, and she will try to find it a home.

- If you find a stray, she will tell you to call the police, then keep the dog for seven days. If nobody claims it, she will include it in her weekly TOWN TOPICS ad.

- If you want a dog, answer her ad or call her up. If she makes a match and you find just the dog for you — or cat, she has both — she will graciously ask you to make a tax-deductible contribution to SAVE for "whatever amount you think is fair." The former owner will be asked to give something toward SAVE's expenses.

(If your new pet looks pure-bred and Mrs. Graves doesn't think your offer is quite pure-bred, she will look at you solemnly and say, "Could you make a contribution that is more than fair?")

For one thing, if you say you can't afford more than $5 or so, she will seriously wonder whether you can afford to feed the new pet.

Prohibitions:

- By law, you are not allowed to leave strays at her door. The ONLY animals she takes in, are those brought by Roger Breese, Princeton's Dog Control officer, or the police themselves.

- If you call her up and say, "I've found a dog, will you take it?" she will, regretfully, say "No."

She will ask you to report it to the police, and hold it for seven days, as explained above.

She is not a veterinarian, nor is SAVE a veterinarian service.

In the spotless kennels on Herrontown Road, across from Princeton House, there is room for 12 dogs. But Mrs. Graves doesn't like a full house — she wants to keep them moving on to new owners, or back to their original owners.

A veterinarian visits the kennels morning and night, looking over the newcomers. Diseased animals go into an isolation room, probably with eye, ear, nose, throat or skin problems.

A four-in-one shot against disease, plus a shot against parvo virus, is given to all dogs and cats.

Only healthy animals go into the main room, with its spacious cages, each with private door out to the run.

The only dogs or cats that are put down, are those so vicious that a veterinarian can scarcely get near them, or those that are very old and infirm.

SAVE was founded by the late Dr. Cornelia Jaynes, a Princeton veterinarian for many years. She bequeathed to the Small Animal Rescue League the three acres on Herrontown where SAVE's kennels were built in 1972.

Money to build the kennels came from another legacy, that of Emily G. Myrick. SAVE is supported by a fund drive — now in progress — and the contributions, as outlined above. As a non-profit organization, SAVE pays no real estate taxes to Princeton Township, and qualifies for your tax-deductible contribution.

What about the next 25 years? Any hopes? Plans? "I hope for a clinic for lower-cost spaying, so we won't have so many unwanted animals."

You can reach SAVE and Mrs. Graves — even if only her answering-machine — by calling 921-6122 between 8 and 4, Mondays through Fridays, 8 to 11 on Saturdays. It is necessary to make an appointment to see Mrs. Graves.

SAVE's lady is deeply and warmly grateful to her board of directors.

Mrs. Edward McCabe is president.

Other officers are William D. Lippincott (first vice-president); Mrs. Lindley W. Tiers (second vice-president); William A. Caffrey (treasurer); Mrs. Robert Harvey (recording secretary) and Jeremiah Finch (corresponding secretary).

Trustees are Albert Barclay, Alden S. Blodgett, Mrs. Hamilton Cottler, Amos Eno, Mrs. Pardee Foulke, Henry R. Martin, Mrs. Alexander Morris, Daphne Pontius, Mrs. Clark G. Travers and Jean E. Wilson. Isobel Stuart, who died last month, had also been a trustee.

BUSINESS

In Princeton

WE'RE ON A ROLL

Bakery Opens in Pennington. The Italian Peoples Bakery & Deli opened its sixth store Monday in the Route 31 North Plaza in Pennington.

For weeks residents in the area had seen an "Opening Soon" sign on the front door but the opening was delayed by late deliveries in equipment and the complex problems created in trying to open two new stores almost at the same time.

But the wait only whetted the appetites of residents who are invited in an advertisement by the firm to "Come find out why IPB is 'on a roll.'" Hot fresh breads, pastries, donuts, pies, cakes and cannoli will be baked on the premises. On Saturday, during Pennington Day, lucky strollers who wandered in were treated to free samples as the new bakery tested its ovens.

A seventh store will open soon at Dover Park Plaza in Yardville. In addition to the original Italian Peoples Bakery store at 63 Butler Street in Trenton, other stores are located in Whitehorse, Mercerville, Levittown, Pa. and Morrisville, Pa.

The firm has hired 30 new employees to work in its two new locations. Helen Koudek, an officer with the firm for 20 years (it was started in 1936 by an Italian immigrant, Pasquale Gervasio, and incorporated by his children in 1956) reported that the bakery had received many calls from Pennington residents. "We didn't have to advertise for help," she said. "People saw the sign and asked for jobs."

Ms. Koudek added: "We are exceedingly pleased with the reception that we have received from the community and we are very happy to become your neighbor in Pennington."

If the opening day crowds, despite a day-long rain, are any indication, Pennington is equally happy to welcome Italian Peoples Bakery.

The Pennington store will be open from 7 to 7 on Monday through Saturday and from 7 to 5 on Sunday. The telephone number is 737-0518.

COUNCIL ORGANIZED

To Assist Businesses. A local council of American Business Associates, Inc. has been organized in the Princeton-Trenton area to assist its members in the third quarter of 1983.

"Americans have purchased almost two million home computers in the past six months," said the council.

Horizon Bancorp. will be the first bank in New Jersey to offer an on-line Home Banking and Information Service.

Individuals and businesses with access to a microcomputer or terminal will be able to transact banking business, such as making deposits and withdrawals from their Horizon accounts, from their homes or offices, beginning in the third quarter of 1983.

growth of their individual businesses. This is one of several similar councils being established in strategic areas throughout New Jersey.

ABA, with national headquarters in New York City, is a professional organization specifically structured to aid its members in the development of sales leads and business contacts leading to more business for each member. Marianne Vernon is president of American Business Associates, Inc.

Membership is limited to successful firms and organizations known to be reputable members of the local business community. Each council is composed only of firms with non-competing products or services... one life insurance company, one hotel, one accounting firm, one advertising agency, one printer, one architect, and so forth.

Among the new ABA Princeton-Trenton council members are: Nassau Inn; Customlease, Inc.; Parker Printing Co., Inc.; Triangle Blueprint Co.; and Station WHWH-WPST Radio.

CHANGE IN PASTORS
For Lutheran Church, The Rev. Allen Gartner, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Messiah for the past 10 years, will preach his final sermon here on Sunday, June 19, and then depart for Grand Rapids, Mich., to become pastor of Hope Lutheran Church there.

The Rev. Allen Gartner in the Passover presentation is to enhance the Christian understanding of the New Testament by showing a Jewish background for the Communion celebration. Ancient and modern Jewish customs are discussed and described with an emphasis on the aspect of redemption that Christ accomplished at Calvary.

A table is set with the traditional Jewish Passover items, including representative foods which are explained, but not eaten. Members of the Jews for Jesus group have given this demonstration in more than one thousand different churches. Moishe Rosen, the founder and leader of Jews for Jesus, contends that some of the most important elements of Christian doctrine, such as the Trinity, the principle of substitutionary atonement, and salvation through a common? Tuvia Zaretsky, personal relationship with the staff evangelist with Jews for Messiah, are implied in the Jesus, will answer that ques-Seder (Passover feast) as tion as he presents "Christ in observed by Orthodox Jews the Passover" at the Kingston even today.

BISHOP TO SPEAK
On Pastoral Letter. The purpose of the "Christ Rev. Thomas J. Gumbleton, Auxiliary Bishop of Detroit, will address a community forum on the subject of the pastoral letter on nuclear war and nuclear weapons. The forum will be held Thursday, June 2, at 8 in St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church and is sponsored by the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament.

The American Bishops of the Roman Catholic Church have drafted a pastoral letter entitled, "The Challenge of Peace: God's Promise and Our Response." It has been the subject of several revisions and a good deal of publicity, because it represents a major step in the Roman Catholic Church. In the letter, the Bishops call attention to the potential devastation of all creation by a nuclear war and they question the morality of the nuclear arms race.

Bishop Gumbleton was a member of the drafting committee for the letter. He will discuss the impetus for the letter, an historic document, and its implications.

His address is free and open to the public. It will be preceded by a dinner, also at St. Paul's and also open to the public, for which the cost is $6 and seating limited. For reservations send a check by May 25 to the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament, 40 Witherspoon Street.

OBITUARIES

Norbert A. Considine Jr., 64, former vice president of Blue Bell Inc., an apparel manufacturing company, died May 16 in Princeton. He was 64 and lived at 36 Constitution Hill West.

Mr. Considine was born in Philadelphia and was a long-time Princeton area resident, except for the period 1975-80 when he lived in Greensboro, N.C., the headquarters of Blue Bell. He served as the principal advertising executive of the company from 1955 to 1980, when he retired for reasons of health.

Mr. Considine was a 1942 graduate of the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. He served in the U.S. Navy from 1942-47, rising to the rank of lieutenant commander. He began his advertising career with NW Ayer, Inc. in 1947 and was associated with Ayer for eight years as account executive and account supervisor.

He joined Blue Bell in 1955 as director of advertising and was elected a corporate vice president in charge of advertising in 1965. Other positions he held were director of sales promotion and franchising. According to the chairman of Blue Bell, L. Kinsey Mann, Mr. Considine made a major contribution to the development of public awareness of the company's Wrangler brand jeans and sportswear.

He was a former member of the board of the Association of National Advertisers and of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association. He was a former member of the Union League Club and the Yale Club of New York City and of Bedens Brook Club here.

Survivors include his wife, Margaret Burlee Considine; three sons, Norbert A. III of Brandon, Vt., Brian B. of Los Angeles, and Kevin H. Considine of Samos, Greece; a daughter, Margaret K. Considine of New York City; a brother, two sisters, and four grandchildren.

The service will be held Friday at 11 at Aquinas Institute, Stockton Street and Library Place. In lieu of flowers contributions may be made to Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Association, Greater Philadelphia Chapter, P.O. Box 568, Ardmore, Pa., 19003; or to Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, Princeton; or to Portsmouth Abbey School, Portsmouth, R.I.

Ethel ("Tiny") Meredith Griffith, a former Princeton resident, died May 4 at her home in Bedford, N.Y.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William F. Meredith who lived on Rosedale Road, she grew up here and lived here with her daughter in the 1950s before she remarried and moved to Bedford.

She is survived by her husband, Henry E. Griffith; a daughter, Julia Shelburne Cabanas of Katonah, N.Y.; a sister, Molly Meredith Beekle of Jackson, Wyo.; a brother, William F. Meredith of Vernon, Utah; and several step-sons and step-daughters. A memorial service was held in Bedford.

More and more New Jerseyans are driving to STS for all their car care needs. We're delighted but not surprised. We're an employee-owned company — so our managers and mechanics have a special stake in doing the job right. And as we've believed all along: If you give better service, charge fair prices and do great work, you're going to win over New Jersey.

Drive to STS for tune-ups and tires, batteries and brakes, wheel alignment, front-end work, shocks — whatever it takes to keep your car running smoothly.

BAYARD COURT IN PRINCETON

OPEN HOUSE SATURDAY 1-4 PM

Minutes from the center of Princeton: newly constructed condominiums designed for the ultimate in energy-efficiency

From full basement to the thermostatically controlled attic fan, Bayard Court condominiums have been designed and constructed with extraordinary attention to detail. Remarkable standards of energy-efficiency have been achieved through such features as Carrier SuperSaver gas burners, air-lock entry systems, Perma-Shield windows, and extra insulation in ceilings and walls. Every unit is positioned for full southern exposure with sliding glass doors to take advantage of passive solar heat during sunny, winter days. Overhanging eaves provide protection from mid-day summer sun. Four season greenhouses are also available as an optional extra.

(Mountain Ave. and Bayard Lane)

Bayard Court condominiums are priced from $152,000.
They are available for viewing now, ready for occupancy.

WHAT'S BUGGING YOU???
with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates

SPRING and all its glory has finally arrived! The flowers are blooming, trees and shrubs shower us with their glorious hues of green and the insect world has come to visit. Within the next four to six weeks, we will have an abundance of visitors, namely the Cankerworm, Gypsy Moth, Tent Caterpillar, Sawflies, and Bagworm. We thought it might be helpful to give a brief description of each so that you will be able to identify and treat each of the above.

CANKERWORM - Also known as inchworm. Larvae are slender, striped green looping caterpillars about one inch long when full grown and hang from trees by silken threads.

GYPSY MOTH - The caterpillar is up to 2" long, brown with tufts of hair. 6 pairs of red and 4 pairs of blue tubercles along its back. The adult moth has a thick lustrous cream-colored body with light brown markings on its wings.

TENT CATERPILLAR - Caterpillars grow to 2" long, are covered with fine hairs and have a row of oval blue spots and a white stripe down their backs.

BAGWORM - The larva grows to 1 1/2" and is dark brown or black with lighter colored head. Once hatched, it spins a 1 1/2" to 2 1/2" tough, spindle shaped bag covered with fragments of plant material. The black winged male adult moth mated with a wingless female which does not leave the bag.

SAWFLIES - Adults are small, wasp-like insects about 1/2" long and have 2 pair of transparent wings and a saw-toothed ovipositor usually at the underside of their abdomens. Larvae are cylindrical multicolored approximately 1 1/2" long and are often found feeding in groups.

Custom Homes By William Buccell Builders, Inc.

Dogwood Hill is a unique residential enclave on the west side of Mount Lucas Road in Princeton Township.

The site is naturally rolling and covered with native dogwoods and large shade trees.

Eleven custom homes will be built on lots of at least three quarters of an acre, in a cluster plan with seven acres of common open space.

William Buccell Builders, Inc., are local builders with a fine record of building quality custom homes in the Princeton area. They will build from their plans or yours. All lots are fully developed with public water, sewer and underground utilities of electric and gas.

WOULDN'T YOU REALLY LIKE A RESTORED HOUSE IN PRINCETON FOR UNDER $300,000?

WELL, THIS OFFERING ON MERCER ROAD WILL BE JUST WHAT YOU HAVE IN MIND! Located on over an acre of land with fencing, pool, tall trees and outbuildings, this house has been technically... and tastefully... renovated to an unbelievable degree. Fitting with today's active way of life, it is a combination of today's ease and yesterday's charm. There's a library room that looks like it's waiting for George Washington to return... yet the living and dining rooms have the touch of Greenwich Village class. The kitchen is a mother's dream, there's a glass enclosed family room overlooking the pool, and the upstairs is proportioned basically into suites. The price? Almost unbelievable today... $275,000. Take a quick look at this... it can't last long!

Sierra Club Urges Institute to Preserve Woods As a Unique Refuge for People and Wildlife

Beech trees 250 years old still grow, straight and strong, in the woods of the Institute for Advanced Study.

A fresh-water marsh teems with its own life and knows as well the darting of swallows and the nearby nesting of red-wing blackbirds and purple martins.

In a flood-plain forest are stands of pin-oak, cut over selectively in times gone by.

Oak and hickory forests grow near arrow-straight tulip trees at least 150 years old.

The barred owl, on the state's list of threatened species, makes a home here. So does the wood turtle, equally threatened.

And the birds....

Counts show that 190 species of birds have been sighted here, and 35 are known to nest here — the barred owl and a saw-whet owl have nested in the same part of the woods for 14 years.

On an early morning in spring, with the sun pushing its way through the thick trees, stand still and listen... wood thrush... chickadee... red-eyed vireo... yellow warbler... tufted titmouse... cardinal... robin... oriole... and that very, very common orange and black "Princeton" bird, preening as though he owned the place, the American redstart.

Conservationists, members of the Sierra Club in particular, are urging the Institute not to press ahead with plans for houses and apartments on its 500-acre parcel of woods and fields adjacent to Quaker Road.

The Sierra Club has a petition out — members have been requesting signatures from the swarms of bird-watchers who fill the woods at this migrating season — urging the Institute "to seek alternative ways of raising funds"

Sunlight filters through trees in the Institute Woods.

And to leave its lands as a refuge, for both people and wild-life.

(Petitions are at Cox's Store, the Greenline Diner, Thomas' Sweets, the Whole Earth Center and the Sierra Club offices next to the Whole Earth Center.)

The Institute, in its concept-review presentations to the Planning Board, has stated that it will leave the Institute Woods as they are — and indeed would like to do so in perpetuity; however, a proposed access road would bisect a wooded area near the Friends Meeting House.

Henry Horn, professor of biology at Princeton University who has written widely on forest succession, ranks "diversity" first in a list of seven features that, in his view, make the woods invaluable. It is this diversity, of course, that attracts such a wide variety of birds.

Not Solely the Institute's. It is not solely the Institute Woods: "The area itself is a great

Man's Power to Affect Environment Exceeds Our Knowledge and Wisdom

"We think we're so smart, designing complex systems," said Jose Garcia, conservation chairman for this region of the Sierra Club, on a recent early-morning walk through the Institute Woods.

"But when you think of the inter-action between plants, between animals, between plants and animals — I

"We haven't gone very far in understanding how these complex systems work. We have a lot to learn, and these woods can teach us. A natural system like this woods survives on its own, uses energy but recycles and doesn't accumulate waste. It's dynamic, yet in a state of equilibrium.

"We have developed the power to affect the environment as no other species has, but that power exceeds our knowledge and definitely exceeds our wisdom in using that power."

Unique in Diversity. "The high diversity of habitat in a small space is the main thing in the uniqueness of the woods," Dr. Horn says. Starting with the soils themselves, he points out that the woods are right on the boundary between the impervious, water-retaining clay of the Piedmont, and the open sands of the coastal plain.

"This means the soil becomes a natural loam."

In this Piedmont, extending from the Hudson River highlands to Alabama, only five percent of the land is still undisturbed, according to Mr. Garcia. And the woods are part of that five.

Also, the gradient of the woods, in relation to the clay and sandy soils and to Stony Brook, increases the variety of life that can thrive here, Dr. Horn says.

The wide variation in time from the most recent disturbance of the woods, adds even more to the variety, he continues.

"There is a unique patch, dating from 1729, that has NEVER been clear-cut or plowed." (Experts can tell this by examining a forest floor for the pits and mounds made by pulling out trees.)

"Other patches were abandoned in 1878, 1915, 1935 and 1945. Such a spread means we can see lots of stages of natural forest growth.

"In addition, what I'm going to call the 'local history' of these patches varies as well: the last plowing, the last

News Of The THEATRES

"CAMELOT"
In Trenton, The knights and delights of the musical "Camelot" will be on stage for three week-ends at Artists Showcase Theatre, Trenton, with opening night this Saturday at 8. The theatre is at 1150 Indiana Avenue, off Route One.

Subsequent performances will be Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 27, 28 and 29 and Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 2-5. All performances are at 8, except the Sunday ones, which begin at 7:30. Reservations may be made at 392-1704.

"Camelot" — funded partly by the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission — is under the direction of Gerald Guarneri in this Shakespeare '70 production. Deborah Ivins is his assistant.

Rick Bossman has been cast as King Arthur, and Mary Anne Ver will be making her Showcase debut as Queen Guenevere. Dann Correnti, who has been in several Showcase productions, will play Sir Lancelot. He is also the musical director, assisted by Donna Pysniak.

Others in the cast are Steven Nelson, Keith Thompson, Bob Graye, Barbara Dyett, Debbie Quinlan, Debbie Lawner, James M. Morris, John Reed, Tom Curbishley, Mike Hurst, Kevin Dziura and Gary Fuller.

ARE YOU A PRO?
Auditions Held. McCarter Theatre is one of the professional non-profit theatres in New Jersey that will turn to the New Jersey Theatre Group for actors to fill next season's roles.

Auditions for equity and non-equity actors will be held June 12 and 13 at 185 Nassau, in Princeton. Try-outs will be by appointment only, and are for actors 18 years of age and older.

Actors are asked to prepare an audition piece no longer than three minutes — there will be a timer — in classic, modern or musical theatre, or any combination. A piano will be available, but singers must bring their own accompanists, or sing without accompaniment.

TEENS & SHAKESPEARE

Sign Up! Audition interviews will be held next Monday and Tuesday from 4 to 8 p.m. for teens who would like to spend part of the summer working on, and producing, a play by Shakespeare. Last year, it was "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

This summer's production will either be "The Tempest" or "Pericles," and the project will occupy four weeks, Monday through Fridays from 9 to 1, with the performance on July 23-24 at an outdoor location in Princeton. Interview-auditions will be by appointment only, and teens who are interested should call 452-3616 to make arrangements. The fee is $175, and some scholarships are available. (The Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Committee is underwriting part of this year's Shakespeare Summer.)

Fund-raising is in progress. Veronica Brady, artistic director of NewStage in the summer, and publicity manager for McCarter in the winter, will again be producer-director. Nagle Jackson, McCarter's Artistic Director, will teach scansion and how to speak Shakespearean rhyme, and actress Penelope Reed will teach acting and voice classes. Stephen Smith, another actor in the McCarter company, will return as assistant to the director.

"... WE HAVE NO PLAY"

(So What Are We Performing?) The Acting Lab class of Creative Theatre Unlimited will give an original piece, "Yes, We Have No Play," this Friday at 7 p.m. at Murray Theatre on the Princeton University campus. Slides, music, scenes from contemporary theatre and original writings have all been incorporated into the piece. The class of young people has been meeting since fall with Veronica Brady as director. The first semester was devoted to classical theatre pieces; the second, to literature of the 20th century.

CHORAL CONCERT SET

At High School. The Princeton High School choral groups and the Handbell Choir will present their annual Spring Concert Wednesday, May 25, at 8 in the High School Auditorium. All the choirs will be under the direction of William Trego and Nancianne Parrella, with Steve Strouse, a student teacher from Westminster Choir College assisting. The Freshman Women's Chorus will begin the program with two madrigals from the 17th century, "Fly not so fast" by Ward and "Where the bee sucks" by Johnson. This will be followed by the Men's Choir singing three numbers, "Old Man Noah" arranged by Wadsworth and Beck, a round called "Hodge," and "Wait for the Wagon" arranged by Hunter and Shaw.

These two groups will then combine to form the Choral Singers and sing selections from "Missa Brevis" in B-flat by Mozart, and "Three Madrigals" by Emma Lou Diemer. With the help of Steve Strouse, six men from the Spring Concert Wednesday, May 25, at 8 in the High School Auditorium. All the choirs will be under the direction of William Trego and Nancianne Parrella, with Steve Strouse, a student teacher from Westminster Choir College assisting.

The Freshman Women's Chorus will then perform "Den Tod" from Cantata No. 4 by Bach, "Echo Song" by DiLasso and "God's Bottles" by Randall Thompson. The Women's Chorus recently participated in the N.J. American Choral Directors Association Festival held at Trenton State College with over 25 choirs from all over the state. They received a Superior Rating, the highest possible, and singing three numbers, "Old Man Noah" arranged by

CHORAL FESTIVAL SET
At Boychoir School. The American Boychoir School will host an outdoor Choral Festival at Albemarle, home of the American Boychoir, on Wednesday, May 25, at 3:30 p.m. The rain date will be Thursday, May 26.

The event is sponsored by The Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission and The New Jersey State Council on the Arts. Eight choral groups, representing various schools in Mercer County, will participate. Included will be the American Boychoir's Apprentice Choir, directed by Brad Richmond.

The choirs range in grade level from third through 12th grade and will display a variety of musical styles and talent. The public is welcome and is requested to bring blankets or a lawn chair for seating.

O'Donnell's style reflects both his classical training and strong Northern traditional elements. Donny Golden is a Brooklyn born champion Irish stepdancer. He is the first American to ever place in the All-World Championship finals.

Admission is $5 for adults, $3.50 for students, $3 for Society members. There are no additional charges.

AUDITIONS PLANNED
By Youth Orchestra. The Mercer County Symphonic Orchestra will hold auditions for new members on Monday and Tuesday, June 6 and 7, in the Music House of the Lawrenceville School.

High on the orchestra's priority list are players of flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon, French horn, viola and string bass. Instrumentalists in ninth grade or above, must play a solo piece and be prepared to play scales and sight read orchestral scores.

For an appointed audition time or further information call Evelyn Krosnick, manager, 683-0777.

CHOIR COLLEGE ON VIEW
On Television. Westminster Choir College will be featured in the CBS-TV series "For Our Time" on Sunday at 8 a.m. on Channel 2, New York. The show will be released for national broadcast at 10:30 a.m.

The show was taped on location in Princeton and in Hershey and Bethlehem, Pa. It gives a profile of the Choir College during the regular academic year and during the summer session when the campus draws students of all ages and a variety of professions. CBS crews visited the Westminster campus several times during the past year and interviewed the president, Dr. Ray Robinson.

Alumnus Greg Funigfeld who returned to Westminster to complete his master of music degree discusses his Westminster training and his career as minister of music at the First Presbyterian Church of Bethlehem, Pa. Robert Shaw, conductor of the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra was taped in rehearsal during the summer session to which he returns each year as visiting professor.

The show concludes with segments of the spring concert tour of the Westminster Choir and its conductor Joseph Flummerfelt.

CONSORT TO PLAY

A Musical Bestiary. Animals, insects and birds were a favorite topic for musical expression for many Medieval and Renaissance composers.

The Englechor Consort will present a selection of these musical creatures, from pigs and chickens, birds and bees, hound and hind, on to unicorns, dragons and bison on Friday at 12:30 at the Princeton University Art Museum, and again on Sunday at 3, also at the Art Museum.

The Englechor Consort consists of Mary Benton, Patricia Hafler, Elizabeth Horn, Mary Lib Stewart and Joan Wilson, who will be joined by Henry Horn and Wilber Stewart as guest artists. The featured instruments will be recorders, viols da gamba, krumphorns, harp, hurdy-gurdy, psalter, percussion and voice. The program is free.

DIET FACTS & FALLACIES

COULD YOUR DIET BE HURTING RATHER THAN HELPING?

"Dieting" could perhaps be labeled the American public's most popular obsession. This year, over 40 million Americans will attempt some type of diet. The result for the vast majority is failure. In fact, only 4 percent of all those who attempt diets will be able to maintain their weight loss for more than one year.

Consider these points BEFORE starting a diet:

- Is this diet one that your doctor would approve?
- If you have a health problem, is it taken into consideration?
- Could this diet result in a dangerous health condition?
- Is this diet one that you can live with?
- Has this diet actually worked for others?
- Does this diet provide adequate, essential nutrients through a variety of foods?
- Does this diet teach you how to maintain your weight loss?
- A diet that cannot meet these criteria provides only a temporary answer. For a nutritionally sound and permanently effective solution, contact your local Diet Center Counselor.

IT'S NEW To Us

RESTORATION A SPECIALTY
At Rider Furniture, Mr. Bill Thompson learned his trade the old-fashioned way, as an apprentice for a well-known cabinetmaker in Kingston, the late Mr. Benedict Rider. At the age of twelve young Mr. Thompson began helping out at the workshop which he now owns - thanks to his former employer who opened the business thirty years ago. Since last December, Rider Furniture has expanded considerably.

"I have always enjoyed working with wood ever since I was a little boy and Mr. Rider spent many hours teaching me the trade, how to refinish perfectly, rebuild furniture that is completely broken apart, and how to reproduce fine antiques," explains Mr. Thompson, who has just returned from his honeymoon. After courses at cabinetmaking school, Mr. Thompson at the age of 25 now has a flourishing business backed by a well-deserved reputation of several years.

"It's a simple equation. We do a good job, we are fair and honest, and stand behind our work and therefore we get repeat business," he adds. One of Mr. Thompson's best clients is the University, where he not only refinishes albums of pieces which Mr. and repairs classroom furniture but restores many of the fine antiques on campus. He and his two apprentices are kept busy night and day in their extensive workshop in Kingston located behind Mrs. Beatrice Rider's home at 73 Main Street.

Late last year Rider Furniture opened a small fix, promises Mr. Thompson, showroom and shop where much of Mr. Thompson's excellent work can be seen as well as samples of several lines of furniture from noted companies. New chairs, tables, chests, and desks of all sizes and shapes are on display, along with used furniture which has been restored on the premises.

Direct from Factory, Mr. Thompson points out that

FINE FURNITURE HEADQUARTERS: A new shop has been added to Rider Furniture of Kingston which has been repairing, refinishing and restoring furniture for the past thirty years. Mr. Bill Thompson, owner of the shop now sells new and used furniture pieces which he makes himself, as well as fine furniture made by famous companies at substantial savings.

substantial savings are possible when his customers buy new pieces from one of the major furniture houses through him because he obtains them direct from the factories - thus avoiding the middlemen costs. Dining room and bedroom sets, occasional furniture, solid mahogany, and hickory reproductions by famous houses such as Hickory, Hitchcock, Temple, Stuart, Mobel, Rex Oak, and Liberty Tree pine are all available from Rider Furniture. Catalogues with complete selections are on view in the shop as well as photo albums of pieces which Mr. Thompson has restored or crafted.

It is fascinating to see the photos of a grandfather clock which was completely broken and another one alongside it with the pieces completely repaired and placed in a home.

"There is nothing we can't fix," promises Mr. Thompson, whose workshop is full of broken logged furniture, painted chests and tables which will be stripped, stained and polished, and even a wonderful old, very large carousel horse in need of attention.

Unknown treasures are stashed in one's attic or basement or perhaps under several coats of paint. Hopefully spring cleaning will the small town is attributable in part to the two sisters who own the Full House Gallery. Mrs. Phyllis Kane and Mrs. Ruth Sandler have a sixth sense when choosing the creative work which they display in the small yellow house at 32 Main Street. Their vast knowledge of crafts and good taste combines to make exciting exhibitions in a variety of media.

Currently a wide variety of crafts in clay, fiber, glass, wood, enamel, and jewelry can be seen in the "Crafts" collections until July 9th. Works of art range from beautifully hand-woven silk and ribbon scarves by Laura Vaszgarian to miniature hand-wrought teapots to 18-carat gold or silver pendants and pins with hand cut stones and plume agates and feathered collars and masks by Jennifer Patterson. The show features work by artists from all over the country but there are several Princeton talents to be seen as well.

The sawdust-fired sculpted containers by Mrs. Ruth Cogan continue to fascinate and please the eye. According to Mrs. Kane this is her best collection yet. The colors of Mrs. Cogan's pots tend to the warm coral hues or the rose grey tones, both with a lovely polished luster which offsets the delicate dried flowers placed in them for the exhibition.

"They are wonderful and earthy and I would love to own all of these sculptures," says Mrs. Kane with enthusiasm. There are many crafts in the show which reflect her own good taste such as the refreshing work of potter Mr. Philip Hirtelmann whose unusual vases are a cool white. The Picasso-like black and white pottery of Victoria Crowell is a handsome choice.

The luminescent hand-blown glass vases by artist Don Gonzalez who has had a one-man show at the Trenton State museum, and the well-known work of potter Aaron Datz, whose ceramic art is hand-painted by famous artist Gregorio Prestopino, indicates the quality of this exhibition. Mr. Prestopino's work is found in the Hirshhorn museum.

Fiber Artists. Fiber art has become increasingly important in the marketplace today. In the show, including the whimsical books and soft sculptures of Julia Mann, who often places an oversized rose on her work. Jamie Mencer Greenbaum's velvet cats sit, play, stretch, and clean themselves. Ann Johnson's talents lie in the art of making unusual baskets of twine and twigs while the hand-painted suede and leather belts by Suzanne Carnes will add artistic chic to the wardrobe.

HAND CRAFTED JEWELRY: Mrs. Phyllis Kane, owner of Full House in Kingston, has a fine collection of gold and silver jewelry on display at the gallery, which is presently featuring an exhibition of crafts until July 9th. Fiber art, pottery and sculpture, wood work, and interesting jewelry are included at the showing.

There is an increasing demand for more creative clothing in the marketplace today. Full House is featuring a collection of stunning dresses, sweaters, blouses, and even a handmade-to-order wedding dress of satin and lace. The dress now on display is sewn with many different kinds of lace so the bride will be able to make an educated choice for her important day.

Hand-painted silk scarves by Ellen Eichel, and handsome handknit wool and cotton sweaters by Hanneke de Neve are part of the fiber selections. A slinky handmade ribbon knit dress by Linda Schwager will show off a pretty figure.

Full House features a wonderful collection of fine gold and silver jewelry at excellent prices. Mrs. Kane had been in the jewelry business in New York for several years prior to the gallery's opening which will be three years ago in November. Lustrous pearls, earrings for pierced ears and snap-ons, pins, pendants, and bracelets by famous makers are always available there. What is not always seen is the handcrafted creations by the several artists represented in the show.

The work of Tim McCreight, who has written the jeweler's "bible" on how to make jewelry, is exhibited here. His delicate lockets which open on two sides reflect a revived interest in the traditional piece. His have contemporary lines but are as intricate and beautiful as antique ones.

SALAMI FOR BREAKFAST? Toto's Market on Witherspoon Street decided to liven things up on Friday the 13th by offering cooked salami sandwiches for 13¢. Albie Toto Jr., who estimates he sold about 70 of the bargain sandwiches, reported some patrons who came in early said they couldn't pass it up at that price and bought a sandwich for breakfast - and then came back and bought another for lunch. When the salami ran out around 11 a.m., he switched to bologna. "It was a fun day," he said.

Unusual Jewelry. The hand-cut stones of gemologist Ed Borows are fashioned into unusual rings, pendants and pins. Etta Roebig works fresh water pearls and silver into stunning large and chunky pieces. Princeton shoppers are familiar with the fine work of Jean Bussard. Many of her earrings are on display. The delicate porcelain teapots and miniature ones, bowls, vases, platters, and pins are made by two Princeton ladies, natives of Japan, Hsi-ao Lan Mote and Akiko Colcutt. Apoxy and polyester white mirrors and wall plates are interesting works of art by June Metaxides.

The antiques collected by Eric Kahn, who has a separate room at Full House, are a feast to the eyes. Gorgeous old quilts brought from all over the eastern seaboard are so well-priced that dealers from New York often come down here to buy them. In addition to antique silver, prints, old books, 1790 ceramic jugs, miniature vignettes once used for scents, old plates, and small pieces of furniture, Mr. Kahn has recently acquired old handmade linens and underclothing embroidered in lace.

A baby dress from the 1890's is irresistible, as is a chemise with bloomers. Other collectibles include: a 14-carat gold cigar cutter; baby bonnets; a baptismal dress; 1845 silk jacquard; evening purses; and an autograph of Pearl Buck. Hours at Full House are from 10 to 5:45, six days a week.

Portrait of the Student as Artist: Gala Westheimer, 11th-grader at Princeton Day School, works on her painting from a life drawing class at PDS. Until the end of the school year, student artists from kindergarten through 12th grade will display their work in the Anne Reid Gallery at the school. Ceramics and soft sculpture from the Lower School, posters and murals from the Middle School, paintings, drawings, sketches and sculpture from the Upper School will all be included, along with some architectural models and furniture from students in Industrial Arts. The Gallery is open to the public from 8 to 4 week-days. Week-end visits may be arranged by calling 924-6700, ext. 25.

MILLION-DOLLAR GIFT
To Art Museum. A pledge of $1 million to the Art Museum of Princeton University has been received from Peter B. Lewis of Cleveland. It will support a new gallery, to be named the Peter B. Lewis Gallery of Contemporary Art.

The Gallery will be a central feature of the museum's new $4 million wing, designed by Mitchell-Giurgola of New York and Philadelphia. Museum holdings in the field of modern and contemporary art have expanded in recent years. University representatives said, in announcing the Lewis pledge. The expansion reflects the growing interests of younger collectors and donors, and the establishment of the William C. Seitz Memorial Collection.

The new gallery will provide space for this growing part of the permanent collection.

On the walls of Mr. Lewis' office are lithographs by such contemporary artists as Jasper Johns, Robert Motherwell, James Rosenquist and Roy Lichtenstein. He has a private collection of works by Andy Warhol, Philip Pearlstein and Red Grooms.

A member of Princeton's class of 1955, Mr. Lewis is chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the Progressive Corporation, a midwestern insurance company. He is a collector of lithographs, prints and sculpture, and under his direction the Progressive Corporation has acquired over one hundred pieces of art.

AT CORYELL. Paintings On Exhibit. Two Princeton artists are among the five who will be exhibiting their paintings in the Coryell Gallery, the Porkyard, Lambertville, from May 22 through July 6. An opening reception to meet the artists will be held this Sunday from 3 to 7 in the Gallery.

The artists are Joanne Augustine and Helen Gallagher, both of whom are active in the Princeton Art association. Ms. Augustine is one of seven jury-selected artists chosen to demonstrate in

The Ninety-Nines, an organization of women pilots, will hold its annual "Pennies-a-Pound" fund-raising event Saturday from 10 to 6 at the Mercer County Airport in Trenton.

Sightseeing airplane rides will be given at a cost based on an individual's weight. The pilots will be women flight instructors, charter pilots, commercial pilots and others who are donating their time and planes for the event. Proceeds will be used for aviation scholarships and air safety programs sponsored by the Ninety-Nines. Refreshments will be available for purchase.

The Woman's Club will hold its annual spring luncheon Thursday at noon at the Coach and Four Restaurant in Hightstown. Heidi Soons will entertain with musical selections on the piano and harp.

For ticket information call Mrs. Norman Jackson at 921-7912.

The Professional Roster will meet Monday at 7:30 at 171 Broadmead. Herbert W. Hobler, founder and chairman of the Nassau Broadcasting Company, will discuss the kinds of job openings there are in programming and production of radio, television, cable tv and videotaping broadcasts.

Mr. Hobler has founded three cable television companies and currently serves as chairman of Comcast Cable One in Trenton. As vice president of Videotape Productions in New York he has supervised more than 4,000 television commercials and shows.

The discussion is open to the public. The fee for non-members is $3, which may be applied to annual membership in the Professional Roster, a non-profit job clearing service for the community. Refreshments will be served. For further information call 921-9561.

Arthur S. Link has been elected to the board of trustees of the Historical Society. A member of the Princeton University faculty since 1960, the Central Jersey Computer Club will meet Friday, May 27, at 8 in Armstrong Hall, Trenton State College.

Lawrence R. Bright, vice president, Bradford W. Hildebrandt, Inc., management consultants to the legal profession, will talk about putting small business computers to work in professional offices, with emphasis on meeting the needs of law offices.

Mr. Bright was with Coopers & Lybrand national accounting firm for six years, following which he was controller of the Courier News in Bridgewater.

The public is invited. For information call 466-2926.

Prof. Link is currently president-elect of both the American Historical Association and the Organization of American Historians, the largest historical associations in the world. He will serve as a trustee of the Historical Society of Princeton for four years.

The Friday Club of the YWCA will hold its final meeting of the year this Friday in the all-purpose room of the YM-YWCA, Paul Robeson Place.

Following the luncheon, the program will be a play written, directed and performed by Mrs. Christa Rounds' kindergarten class at Riverside School. Guests are welcome. After the performance, a birthday cake celebrating everyone's birthday will be shared.

The Friday Club will resume its regular meetings the first Friday of October.

The 2nd Annual Lamaze Family Reunion will be held Saturday from 2-4 at Marquand Park. The Princeton Area ASPO/Lamaze invites all parents and parents-to-be.

An exhibition of photographs by Helmar Sakenfeld is now on display in the Great Hall of the Nassau Presbyterian Church at Palmer Square.

The 40-picture exhibit ranges from abstract images to portraits to aerial views of hot-air balloons, and includes scenes as local as Terhune's and as distant as Helsinki. A. Ewing resident, Mr. Sakenfeld began his study of photography in Darmstadt, Germany, with Herr Alfons Rollei and has had further formal training at Long Beach State College, Mercer County Community College, and with George Tice.

His work has been shown at McCarter Theater and at Trenton State College. The current exhibition continues through May.

Tiger Lightweight Crew Wins EARC Sprints; Qualifies for England's Henley Regatta in June

On to Henley. Princeton's undefeated lightweight crew put on one of its finest performances Sunday to win the EARC Sprints in Worcester, Mass., and qualify for the Henley Regatta held next month in England.

The race was virtually a replay of the Big Three meet held earlier in the month on Lake Carnegie, except that this time the margins were narrower—the Tigers nipped Yale by four-tenths of a second and Harvard by just one second. Princeton's showing was even more convincing this time, though, because it competed with a juggled line-up, the result of an injury to No. 6 oarsman John Chamberlain.

With Joe Farley, stroke of the junior varsity taking Chamberlain's place, the Orange and Black varsity bled a procession of strong Princeton lightweight crews, including a win in the second varsity race. "In light of the recent shake-ups in the lineup," said captain and stroke John Andrews, "it's been a banner day for the Princeton lightweight crew."

Not so for the heavyweights, who put their shell into the waters of Lake Quinsigamond seeded second behind Yale. Coach Larry Gluckman had warned earlier in the week that his relatively light oarsmen, averaging about 20 pounds a man less than their opponents, could be disadvantaged if they faced a headwind or choppy waters.

Sunday in Worcester the Tigers had the worst combination of conditions. The varsity heavies finished fifth, nine seconds behind Harvard, which had to fight off a surprising challenge from Brown.

Baseball Goes 10-2. The baseball team, no doubt wishing that its season could go on forever, finished the year by splitting a doubleheader with NCAA-bound Temple, snapping an 18-game Owl win streak in the process.

Princeton lost a slugfest in the opener, 15-9, and won another slugfest in the second game, 17-14. Temple, which scheduled the games last week in order to give itself some warm-ups for the road season tournament, may have gotten more than it bargained for from Tom O'Connell's young team. Former West Windsor star Dan Arendas, now a Princeton freshman, collected five hits in eight at bats to raise his average to .316.

Kyle Heffley, another young prospect for the Tigers, had three hits and three runs batted in.

Just several weeks ago Princeton's season looked like a disaster, and appeared to push back the optimistic rebuilding plans of Coach O'Connell in his second year at Nassau. Then the team swept doubleheaders on the road against Cornell and Army and ended up winning 10 of the last 12 games.

Two of those wins came last week and were the product of late inning rallies—an infrequent occurrence with Princeton teams of recent years. Arendas hustled out an infield single with two out in the bottom of the ninth to lift the Tigers over St. Francis, 8-7. Arendas tripled and doubled the day before as Princeton scored seven runs in the prison challenge from Brown, eighth to beat Trenton State, 10-8.

Wolf Exceeds. A former Princeton High School athlete joined two Princeton University athletes in the winners' circle Saturday at the annual Princeton Adidas Invitational track meet. High jumper Peter Sharpless, now competing for Glassboro, won his event at 7 feet and then missed on all three attempts at 7-foot-3, the minimum height to qualify for the NCAA's.

Augie Wolf, Princeton's ever improving weight man, shattered his own Palmer Stadium record in the shot put by more than three and a half feet. His winning effort was 66-feet, 1 inch. Princeton's other winner was Jack Foss in the 1500 meters.

Princeton men's and women's lacrosse teams ended their seasons with losses. The men allowed Adelphi to overcome a two-goal deficit and win the contest, 13-11. Gerry Ronon closed the account on his career with three goals and an assist, giving him a total of 149 points—fourth among all Princeton players.

The women's team, sparked by co-captain Natalie Bocock's three goals, and three more by sophomore Sue McCarter, defeated Dartmouth, 12-10, to advance to the second round of the NCAA's.

There the Tigers encountered top seeded Temple, however. The Owls hounded Bocock, holding her to just one goal—the 132nd of her career, and eliminating Princeton, 16-6. Bocock will continue to play through the summer with the United States national team.

Beacham's comment on the 17-1 shellacking at the hands of Steiner the previous day.

The score was tied at one run each after the first inning and after three, the Spartans owned only a 2-1 lead.

Then the bottom dropped out for PHS hurler Matt Tamasi. The visiting Spartans scored four in the fourth, four more in the sixth and six in the seventh to turn the game into a rout.

Steiner's undefeated Ron Kroschwitz won his ninth game, limited PHS to three hits—singles by Ralph Carnevale, Mickey Carnevale and Art Hoover. The win was Steiner's 12th in 16 games.

Against Lawrence Thursday, sophomore Gavin Hulsman, one of the players of the future who Beacham is counting on to turn the Blue and White around next spring, pitched his second complete game to capture his second victory without a loss.

Hulsman tossed a four-hitter to frustrate the Cardinals who needed the win to win a berth in the state tournament. PHS won the game, 3-2.

"I feel sort of bad about knocking them out but we didn't go down there to lose," said Beacham. (Lawrence had one more day to qualify and managed to get into the state tournament with a .500 average.)

Hulsman bested Lawrence's top pitcher Joe Buono, who lost his third decision against five wins. Both Cardinal runs were unearned and came as the result of PHS throwing errors.

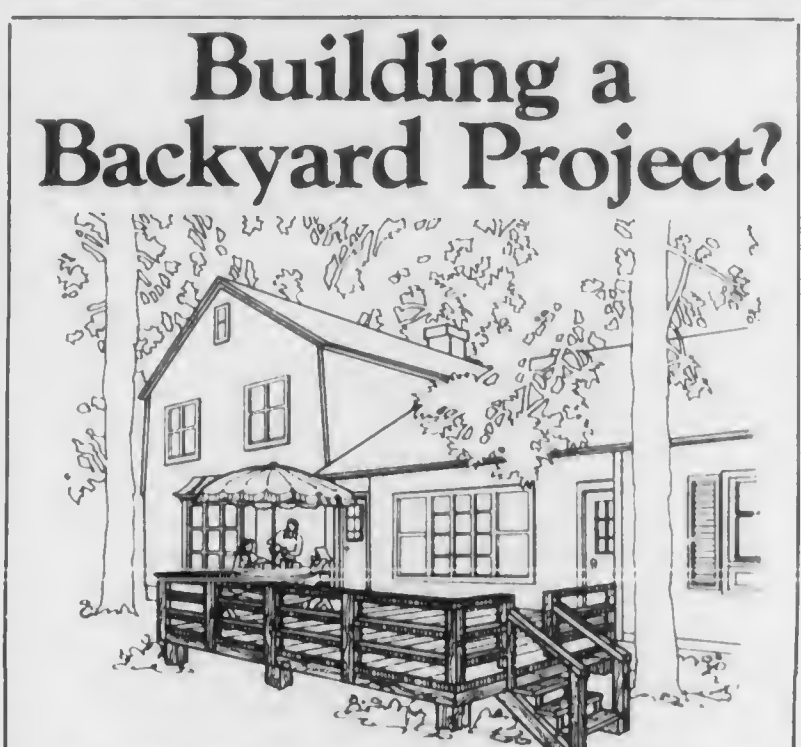

The five hits PHS collected included a triple by Mickey Carnevale that drove in a run and a run-scoring single by John Sherin.

PHS IS NET CHAMPION
Wins County Tournament. If the Princeton High School tennis team hopes to ascend new heights, it is going to have to go outside Mercer County. The Little Tigers underlined their supremacy in this area last week by winning the Mercer County Tournament for the second time in three years.

PHS was only moderately extended in defeating Hopewell Valley in the championship finals, 4-1. It marked the third time that PHS has defeated the (14-4) Bulldogs this season. PHS is 13-1.

PHS had advanced to the final round with a 4-1 victory over Princeton Day School. Hopewell edged Peddie, 3-2, to reach the finals.

As in all previous Little Tiger triumphs this year, the Leschly brothers played an important role. Against Hopewell en route to the team title, Jacob Leschly, a junior, defeated John Aris, 6-0, 6-2, while freshman Mark topped Quentin Kelly, 6-2, 6-1.

Jacob, who learned to play tennis early on from his father, who was a professional tennis player in Denmark and ranked sixth in the world at one time, then successfully defended his first singles individual crown. He used his steady serve and volley style of play to upend once-defeated Brian Cleary of Peddie, a post graduate student from Connecticut, 6-2, 6-1.

A 19-2 player last year who reached the quarter finals of the state singles championship before losing to the ultimate winner, Jacob feels the Little Tigers can go a lot farther in the states this year. "I think we have a definite chance of taking the whole thing," he said. "I don't see who we can lose to."

Mark, meanwhile, won his first second singles crown when he defeated C.J.

Hoigaard of Peddie, 6-3, 4-6, 6-0.

The Leschlys were not the whole story for PHS. The Little Tigers also won the first doubles to cap a dominating performance.

Keith Goldfeld and Rob Dunham won the first doubles championship by defeating Tom Wang and John Szakats of West Windsor, 6-2, 6-4. They were described by teammate Jacob Leschly as "The best doubles team I've ever seen." In the championship against Hopewell, Dunham and Goldfeld defeated Neil and Brent Delehey, 6-4, 6-2. Safi Bahall won the third singles with a 6-0, 6-2 victory over the Bulldogs' Jim Himes.

Hopewell's lone point came in the second doubles when Daved Boyvizer and Tim McDougald lost the first set, 6-3, to Andy Phillips and Tim Kingston of PHS but came back to win the next two, 6-2, 6-2.

PDS Defending Champions. In the semi-finals, Princeton High defeated Princeton Day School, the defending tournament team champion, 4-1.

Jacob Leschly stopped Lyle Menendez, 6-3, 6-3. Mark Leschly defeated Mike Stevens, 6-0, 6-2, and Bahall lost to Jason Shaplen, 6-0, 6-4. Shaplen went on to win the individual third singles title when he blanked Bill Humphries of Hun School, 6-0, 6-0.

In doubles play against PDS, Goldfeld-Dunham lost the first set to the Panthers' Andrew Cross and Dave Supple, 6-7, but came back to win the next two sets, 6-3, 6-3. Phillips-Kingston dispatched Jim Hall and Jared Stark, 6-0, 6-3.

In a league match Friday, PHS edged Lawrence, 3-2, as coach Joe Diefenbach had to go without the service of Mark Leschly. Jacob Leschly handled Cardinal ace Ken Richter for the third time this year, 6-1, 6-0, but Bahall lost the second singles to Raleigh Chiu, 6-2, 6-3, and David Prockop lost a three-setter to Brian Martin, 3-6, 6-2, 4-6.

PHS won the match when Goldfeld-Dunham won easily, 6-2, 6-0, and Kingston-Phillips triumphed, 6-3, 6-2. The win left PHS undefeated in Colonial Valley Conference play. It's lone loss was to Lawrenceville School.

"We have a strong team and we have been playing well," acknowledged Diefenbach last week. The last time the Little Tigers won a state championship, they have won five—was in 1980. "We're due for another," said Diefenbach.

CVC MEET SATURDAY
At Ewing Track, Princeton High School, undefeated in dual meets in league competition this spring, will be a favorite to repeat as Colonial Valley Conference champions this week. The CVC meet will be held Saturday at Ewing High School, with the boys competition starting at 9 and the girls at 1.

The Little Tigers' final dual meet of the season will be Tuesday when they host McCorristin in a 3:45 meet.

With its top hurdler Stephan Fletcher away, Princeton High finished fourth in Saturday's annual Mercer County Track and Field Championships held at Steinert High. Bill Bushnell won the 3200 meter in a new meet record time of 9:29.7, bettering the old mark of 9:50 set by Trenton High's Kevin Bagley. In fact, five of the first six finishers bettered the old record.

Princeton's other first-place winner came in the shot put where P.J. Young captured the event with a toss of 54-6½ to beat out Kevin Graham of Steinert who won the discus event. PHS finished with 47 team points to trail Trenton (100), Steinert (58) and Notre Dame (53).

Three former meet records owned by Princeton High athletes fell. Steve Brown who won the 200 and 400 meter races, setting records in both, eclipsed Paul Miles' former record of 21.8 set in 1981 in the 200. Brown ran a 21.4.

In the first heat of the 200, Brown was clocked in 21.3. That broke a 21-year record of 21.4 established by Paul Bogia of PHS in 1962 and tied in 1971 by Van Butler of Trenton.

The 1981 high jump meet record of 6-9 set by Princeton's Pete Sharpless fell to Erik Reitz of Steinert who cleared 6-10. Reitz set the record on his last jump.

Fletcher, who was an almost certain winner in the 110 hurdles and a possible double winner in the 400 IH, missed the meet, as he was qualifying for the Nationals in the Glen Louches Invitational in White Plains, N.Y. Fletcher won the event in 14.2.

In the girls Mercer County championships, PHS finished ninth among twelve teams with 15 points and failed to win a single event. Trenton also captured the girls competition with 123 points as Wendy Verreen of the Tornadoes was a triple winner, taking the 100 and 200 dashes and the 100 high hurdles.

Irish Suffer First Loss. Early last week in a crucial league meeting between two unbeaten, PHS (5-0) handed Notre Dame (7-1) its first loss by dominating the field events en route to a 78-54 victory.

PHS won every field event but the javelin and even here Eric Rapp and Elliott Liverman finished second and third. Young won both the shot put and the discus with distances of 52-8 and 132-7½. Ed Rice captured the long jump with a leap of 20-5½, teammate Jim Moice taking a third, and Tim Howard, Ken McKellar and Rice finished in a three-way tie for first in the high jump. Rapp and Mike Bender were 1-2 in the pole vault with vaults of 11-0 and 10-6.

The Irish won the 100, 200 and 400 before Mike Schwab of PHS captured the 800 with a clocking of 2:04.2. Bushnell was a double winner in the 1600 in 4:35.3 and the 3200 in 9:56.1. Fletcher and McKellar tied for first in the 110 high hurdles in 14.4 and Princeton's quartet of Tom Haggerty, Rice, Mike and Steve Schwab won the 1600 relay in 3:36.3. Notre Dame was timed in 3:38.7.

THREE MORE WINS
For PHS Girls Lacrosse Team. The Princeton High School girls lacrosse team ran its record to 12-1 last week with three more wins—its sixth in a row.

The Little Tigers defeated Chatham, 10-6, Friday, Columbia, 7-3, and Princeton Day School, 14-6—all for the second time this season. They are scheduled to end their regular season with games at home against Montclair this Wednesday and Stuart (3 p.m.) on Friday. The finale will be Tuesday at Montville, the only team to defeat the Little Tigers this year.

Erica Gabrielsen with four goals led the PHS attack against Chatham Friday. Harper Hoff added three goals and two assists, while Alison Fraker scored twice and Rita Sweeney once. Goalie Ann Sutphin had 10 saves and received fine defensive support from teammates Connie Chiossey and sophomore Nadia Glucksberg. The scoring against Columbia was spread out. Hoff had two goals and scoring one each were Jaunie Parrish, Bonnie Lockwood, Pam Jennings, Bernice Chen and Gabrielsen.

For the second time this season, PHS had an easier than anticipated victory over rival PDS. Gabrielsen led all scorers with five goals.

Hoff and Rita Sweeney each added three goals for PHS. Jennings had two and Fraker one. Janet Zawadzki's three goals paced the Panthers.

Sutphin fashioned a fine game in front of the net for the Little Tigers with 21 saves. Teammates Pat Huckins and Jennings excelled on defense for the victors.

FINAL HOME GAME

For PHS Stickmen. The Princeton High School lacrosse team will play its final game of the season at home Saturday when it entertains Boonton. Starting time is 1.

The previous day, the Little Tigers will oppose Clinton in Clinton in a makeup of a contest originally scheduled for April 16.

Last week, in its only start, the Little Tigers lost what coach Peter Larsen described

Harvard Picked to Win

For the first time in six years, Harvard has replaced Yale as the pre-season favorite to capture the Ivy football title in the annual football game among the league's sports information directors.

The Crimson received four first place votes and 15 points, just edging the Elis, who got one first place vote and 16 points. Harvard, Penn and Dartmouth shared the championship last year, all finishing with 5-2 marks.

Princeton, which had a 3-4 league record a year ago, was picked to finish seventh and tallied 40 points, ahead of Columbia in eighth place with 49. Dartmouth was third with 21, Penn, fourth with 24, Cornell, fifth with 29, and Brown, sixth with 40.

as "the braggin' rights for Princeton" when they lost a 10-4 decision to town rival Princeton Day School. "I'm not sure what happened, we kind of fell apart at the end," said Larsen.

Chris Carrington, Scott Gabrielsen, Troy Norris and Willie Whitaker scored for PHS. During the first half, PHS was playing mostly defense, and when one of its top defensive players, Alec Hoke, reinjured his ankle and had to sit out the second half, "it didn't help," said Larsen. "We had a couple of opportunities, but we just couldn't put the ball in the net," Larsen concluded.

HUN EARNS BERTH

In Mercer County Tournament. The Hun School baseball team will participate in the eight-team Mercer County tournament on Saturday at Mercer Park.

Hun, seeded sixth, will oppose third-seeded Steinert at noon. Other opening run matchups will pit first-seeded Ewing against Lawrenceville, second-seeded Notre Dame against Trenton and fourth-seeded Lawrenceville against Hamilton. "It's nice to be chosen out of the top teams," commented Hun coach Bill McQuade.

Because none of the eight teams has a dominating pitcher or is what McQuade calls "a super club," the Hun mentor feels it could be a very interesting tournament. Which ever team gets hot can take it, predicts McQuade. "It's going to be a lot of fun."

Last week, Hun defeated Blair Academy, 11-2, was blitzed, 18-3, by Hopewell Valley on Friday in a makeup game, and began the week by surprising Lawrenceville, 9-1, the team it was scheduled to play in the semi-final round of the New Jersey Independent School state tournament.

Hun's Rich Stout was not as overpowering as he was in his previous start when he pitched a perfect game against West Windsor but he was in command the whole way against Blair, reported McQuade. Stout struck out nine and gave up six hits, four in the last two innings. Blair (7-4) made it easier for the Raiders to win their 12th game by committing five errors.

Hun won the game on a three-run homer by centerfielder Paul Pintella in the second inning—his sixth this season. "It's the most home runs I can remember by a Hun player in a long, long time," observed McQuade.

Having been named to the Mercer Tournament the day before, McQuade said that his team was due for some kind of a letdown. It came the next day in the massacre by the Hopewell bulldogs, a game McQuade described as "a nightmare that never seemed to end."

Hun hurler Brad Mummie was the victim of some terrible fielding by the Raiders who were guilty of seven errors. The first three balls hit at Hun fielders in this game ended in errors. Pete Engels got the easy win for Hopewell.

"I was kind of disappointed that we couldn't get up for a public school game," said McQuade.

One Of Our Better Games. The win over rival Lawrenceville was, said McQuade, "one of our better games in the field. The key balls that had to be caught we caught. We played very well."

Pete Stam limited Lawrenceville, a hard-hitting club, to just two hits in picking up his eighth win against two setbacks. Hun, in turn, raked Lawrenceville, for 12 hits, including two each by Pintella, who clouted his fifth homer, Martin Summers, Chris Hunninghake and Dean Forman.

Both of Summers' hits were doubles. Shortstop Lorenzo Mendoza drove in three runs with a double and Matt Wheaton also homered for Hun. Lawrenceville slipped to 6-4-1 with the loss.

PHS NO-HIT VICTIM

In Softball. The Princeton High School girls softball team was a victim of a no-hitter last week as Steinert defeated the Little Tigers, 12-2.

Sandy Cohen and Esther Chmielewski combined for the no-hitter, Cohen striking out 11 but Chmielewski getting credit for the win.

REVISION MADE

In Competitive Swim Program. The Princeton Recreation Department will operate a revised competitive swim program for Community Pool patrons this summer.

Most of the emphasis will be directed at the Community Park Swim Team which is a "recreational" approach to competitive swim. The team will practice Monday through Friday mornings from 9:30 to 10:45 beginning June 20 and ending August 5. In addition to the practices, the team will compete in dual meets against other pools in the area. These meets will be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings during July.

For those who wish to participate, the Recreation Department will offer after-school workouts, beginning June 1 at 3:30 p.m. The swim team concept is centered around having "fun"; it is not necessary to be a good swimmer to be part of the team. The team is open to all Princeton residents or season ticket holders, 6 to 17. Diving is also a part of the program. Loraine Wood, Princeton University swimming stand-out, who has just finished coaching the YMCA Flying

WINNERS NAMED

In Junior Olympics Here. At the conclusion of the 12th annual AAU Junior Olympic Track and Field meet held this month previous area records had been broken in the eight pound shot put, boys running long jump, and girls running long jump. The annual event, sponsored by the Princeton Recreation Department and Princeton Jaycees, drew more than 200 youngsters to the Princeton High School Track.

In the Bantam division (ages 8-9) Damian Tucker broke the 1975 boys running long jump record of 11'8" with a leap of 12'2". Brian Williams captured gold medals in the 50 and 100 meter dashes with times of 7.9 and 15.2, and as a member of the 4x4 relay team of Monroe Ashe, Jason Miller, and Damian Tucker. Lia Moore earned golds in the 50 and 100 dashes and as a member of the relay team of Sarah Willard, Ashante Thompson, and Lea Thomas. Dana Litvack displayed her versatility by winning the 800 meter run and the running long jump. The boys 800 meter gold medalist was Matt Pickens.

In the Midget division (ages 10-11) Emily McChesney bettered the 1979 girls running long jump record of 12'9" with a 13'7" effort. Other first-place winners included John Burnett who won the 50 and 100 meter dashes and was a member of the winning 4x4 relay team of Tim Ramsey, Jay Jackson, and Sean Miller. The girls 50 and 100 meter races were won respectively by Kesti Ringland and Reuben Steiger, while Liz Bylin captured the 800 meter run; Nimrod Malewo and Saskia Webber won the high jump.

In the Junior division (ages 12-13) Michael Riddick, the 1983 recipient of the Tony Opperman Memorial Award, broke the 1979, 8-pound shot put record of 37'11" with a toss of 38'4". Mike also earned home golds in the 100 meter dash and as a member of the Andy Jacobs, John Thompson, and Doug Gibson relay team.

Jacobs and Thompson both captured second golds: Andy in the 400 meter run and John the high jump.

Gail Hughes capped a fine day by winning golds in the 100 meter dash (12.8), running long jump (14'11"), and as a member of the Cartasia several booths. In the Sponge Merrill, Nina Dugger and Geraldine Livingston 4x4 relay team. The Swartz sisters, Karen and Kristen won first place medals in the mile and 400 meter run.

Other Junior division winners include Scott Fletcher, running long jump; Greg Clark, triple jump; Derek Heap, mile, and Kris Kaderabek, girls high jump. There is no rain date. If it rains, all the booths will be moved into the school Princeton in the district building.

championships on Saturday at West Windsor-Plainsboro High School.

SATURDAY'S SUPER!

At Middle School. Buy a pair of John Witherspoon shorts and matching T-shirt... sponsor somebody in the one-mile Jog-a-Thon... toss a soggy sponge at your favorite faculty member...

It's the annual Super Saturday of the John Witherspoon Middle School, this Saturday, from 10 to 2:30 on the school grounds, Walnut Lane. Super Saturday is a fund-raiser for the school's Environmental Studies program. The program, also supported by the PTO, pays for camping trips, shore trips and other activities related to the study of ecology and the environment.

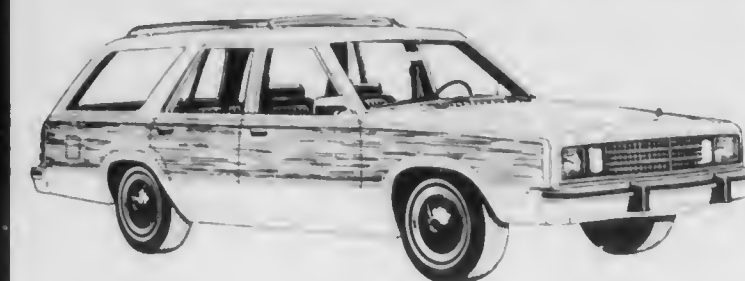

In the Jog-a-Thon at 11, each of the school's "houses" will compete in a one-mile run. Students in the race are asking friends and neighbors to sponsor them by making a contribution to the Super Saturday Fund.

At noon, there will be a baseball game between the Borough-Township Celebrities and the John Witherspoon Faculty and Students. It will be across Walnut Lane on the high school field.

Each house is organizing several booths. In the Sponge Toss, a new one, a faculty member will be target. Besides tossing sponges at Karen and Kristen won first place medals in the mile and 400 meter run.

Food will be sold for lunch, rains, all the booths will be moved into the school Princeton in the district building.

Institute Woods

harvesting, the last logging. For example, the 1878 patch was probably a woodland pasture. It now has a flat forest floor."

Natural interference. As natural disturbances continue, like the flooding of Stony Brook, wind-throws from trees and so on, small gaps are made in the forest that make a home for the kinds of trees that grow on the edges of things, like black cherry.

"The patches that have been broken up," Dr. Horn explains, "have been relatively large, like several acres. This means there is a meaningfully large sample of areas with a common history."

Incidentally, although the oldest trees may be 250 years old, it could have been 400 years since the last major disturbance for that stand of trees, according to Dr. Horn.

This laboratory of varied wood and marsh is used by students from Princeton and from Rutgers, as well as by scholars like Dr. Horn. If you see a grey squirrel with an ear-tag, a bit of dyed hair—or a tiny radio transmitter, it probably has been tapped by a graduate student of Dr. Horn's. She is investigating squirrel social behavior.

A Rutgers student is studying the mechanism of seed dispersal of several species of trees in the Institute woods.

Important to Historians. Not only biologists but historians study these fields and woods. The Friends Meeting House, Battlefield area is on the National Register of Historic Districts, and the so-called "back road to Princeton" is known to have been at the edge of the old Quaker woods, although its exact location is not known.

Dr. Horn believes it might be possible to figure out the location of the road during the Revolution from the growth form and ages of some of the old trees, and perhaps through infra-red aerial photography. The location of this old road is regarded by historians as critical to an understanding of the timing of the Battle of Princeton.

"It's a unique semi-wild area for central New Jersey," Mr. Garcia muses. "There are no other known places where you can walk miles of trails without hearing any road noise—or seeing a development."

Complaint by NOW Will Force Princeton High School To Make Changes in Girls' Basketball and Cheerleaders

Because there are no boy cheerleaders at Princeton High, and because girls who go out for basketball would rather not play night games, PHS was summoned before the Federal Office of Civil Rights on a complaint from NOW, the National Organization for Women.

NOW also protested that cheerleaders do not perform at girls' games, only at boys'.

PHS's culpability was revealed through answers to questions on a survey.

"We bend over backwards to comply with equality issues," said PHS Principal John Sakala, after last Wednesday's hearing. He attended the hearing with Carol Parsons, athletic director at PHS.

"They're picking at what we thought were local options," he added. PHS was one of about 40 high schools summoned by the Federal office. Superintendent Paul Houston remarked this week that, in his view, most of New Jersey's schools have some area of vulnerability in this field.

"At first, we said we wouldn't comply," Mr. Sakala reported, "but we won't be allowed to get away with it. They could force a total review of our entire program; if they took us to court, our Federal and state aid could be in jeopardy."

"We explained that cheerleading is something you go out for if you want to. When we announce the program, we state that girls AND BOYS are invited. Some boys turn up, but few of them stay. The only boy we have now is the one who plays the tiger."

"About basketball — girls want to keep evenings free for study. They mostly play basketball for fun, or to round themselves out for college — they aren't willing to give up that much of their day to it, and I sympathize with them. Also, I'm not comfortable about girls making their way home at 10 or 10:30 at night."

But now, the principal said, he may have to schedule some boys' basketball in the afternoons and some girls' games at night.

J. Seward Johnson Dies at Age 87

J. Seward Johnson, son of one of the founders of Johnson & Johnson and a member of its board of directors for more than 50 years, died May 23 at his home in Fort Pierce, Fla., after a long illness. He was 87 and also lived at Jasna Polana, the extensive estate on the Lawrenceville Road he built in the 1970s with his wife Barbara.

Mr. Johnson was closely associated with his older brother, the late Robert Wood Johnson Jr., who was chairman of the board of the pharmaceutical company for 25 years. Together they planned the first international expansion of the business in the early 1920s. Today Johnson & Johnson comprises 150 separate companies and constitutes the world's largest health care and medical products enterprise.

When he retired from the company in 1971, Mr. Johnson continued to pursue his many scientific, philanthropic and civic interests. In 1976 he moved to Fort Pierce to direct Harbor Branch Foundation, a nonprofit organization he had founded in 1970 for research in the marine sciences and for the development of tools and systems for underwater oceanographic research.

No Decision Is Reached on Collins' Plans; Another Meeting Scheduled for June 16th

Concerns about open space in Palmer Square occupied a standing-room-only audience Tuesday night as the Planning Board continued to listen and talk about Collins plans for expanding the Square.

No decision was reached. There will be a fourth session on Thursday, June 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the Valley Road Building. The board is considering the phase of Collins' expansion that includes an addition to the Nassau Inn on Palmer Square East, connected by a bridge to the present Inn, and an addition to the northwest corner of the Inn next to the greenhouse restaurant.

As board chair Hans K. Sander was about to gavel the hearing closed at a few minutes after the 11 p.m. curfew, Collins' lawyer, Thomas C. Jamieson, asked the board to separate from the overall Inn plans a small kitchen addition. The 1,000-square-foot expansion is part of the work to be done on the Inn this summer, he explained, and if Collins has to wait until mid-June, it might delay re-opening of the Inn in the fall.

The unexpected request began a new round of questions, and the matter had still not been settled at press time.

Arthur Collins explained changes made since the last hearing and filed only this Monday with the Planning Board. The bridge across Palmer Square East, its top floor removed, now has a lowered eave line and dormer windows, and is set back four feet from the southern wall of the present Inn.

The top floor of the addition has been cut back 60 feet on the north side next to Hulfish, and is now one floor lower than the existing Inn. The east side of the addition, facing Witherspoon, now has paired windows instead of strips, and masonry alcoves shaped like windows. Borough ordinances prohibit windows on a lot line.

Mr. Collins compared present revised heights with other downtown buildings including One Palmer Square — which he said is actually six stories on the north side — 20 Nassau, the First National Bank and the 46 Nassau Palmer Square building. The proposed addition, he said, is one floor below the height of One Palmer Square.

Speaking to questions of scale, Mr. Collins said the addition was not a predictor of what the rest of the Square would look like. It would stand, he pointed out, between One Palmer Square and the present Inn — two buildings of bulk. The rest of the Square would be varied, he said.

From the audience—and it was after 10 before public comment began — Marvin Reed reminded the board of original proposals for an expanded Square.

"In any development, you need bulk to compensate for the open

Two Women Arrested In Bomb Threat Case

Borough police who have had to contend with a series of bomb threats at the University Store on University Place are hoping such threats have ended with the arrest of two persons last week. Two more arrests are expected in the near future.

Beverly Webber, 34, was arrested last Wednesday at her home, 77 Clay Street, and charged with three counts of giving false public alarm on the 11th and 18th of this month and again on Nov. 11, 1982. She is not an employee of the store.

The following day, Barbara Beagles, 25, of Birch Avenue, was arrested in the store where she was employed as a switchboard operator and charged with conspiracy to commit false public alarm on the same three dates. No longer an employee of the store, Ms. Beagles was described by Lt. Thomas Michaud as "the inside person."

Both were later released after being charged, pending possible action by a Grand Jury.

Two more arrests are expected — neither suspect a store employee — in the near future. In one instance it is a matter of trying to locate the suspect, Lt. Michaud reported; the second suspect is still under investigation. Det. Gerald Patterson, who has conducted the investigation, has spent a lot of time on the case, Lt. Michaud added.

Now Complaint

The principal added that many of the girls who go out for basketball are black, and they prefer basketball to such traditional afternoon sports as field hockey or lacrosse.

"When we told them girls didn't want to play at night," Dr. Houston reported, "the Feds said, in effect, 'that's just tough.'"

Apparently NOW and Federal authorities believe that working parents are denied the privilege of watching a child play when games are in the afternoon; in addition, Federal officials said, because more people attend night games, the players are more visible and more apt to be recruited by a college for scholarships.

Both Mr. Sakala and Dr. Houston fear that if games have to be scheduled at night, girls may not sign up and girls' basketball may disappear altogether.

The way it stands now, cheerleaders will begin to perform at girls' games — at exactly the same number of field-hockey games (nine) as football games. The principal predicts that cheerleaders will object to performing at girls' games because crowds are usually sparse.

Boys will be welcome as cheerleaders, as always.

PHS will try to re-schedule girls' basketball.

"The primary thing," Mr. Sakala believes, "is to have parity in sports. We have comparable teams in every sport: boys' basketball, girls' basketball; boys' soccer, girls' soccer, right down the line."

Princeton High, by the way, is the only public high school in New Jersey where a woman coaches a boys' sport. It's Becky Mackey and she is coach for boys' soccer. Also, PHS is the only high school in Mercer County with a girls' lacrosse team.

Bomb Threat

Two more arrests are expected — neither suspect a store employee — in the near future. In one instance it is a matter of trying to locate the suspect. Lt. Michaud reported, the second suspect is still under investigation. Det. Gerald Patterson, who has conducted the investigation, has spent a lot of time on the case. Lt. Michaud added:

What were the motives for the bomb threats? "There were several," according to Lt. Michaud. "Each one had a different reason. It doesn't seem to be labor-related," he added.

Police have consistently declined to comment on speculation that the bomb threats were the result of friction between employees to be represented by a union for the first time in the store's history.

AND NOW — SEWERS

Bar? No. Brookside property-owners along Harry's Brook, frustrated and exasperated by a continuing problem with overflowing manholes and overflowing septic matter, asked municipal officials last Wednesday for a "voluntary" sewer ban in Princeton.

It would be "voluntary," residents explained, because it would be undertaken voluntarily by the municipalities, not imposed by the state like the 1973 ban. It might be designed to last until the problem is solved, or there is some kind of relief.

Both mayors demurred. "It's possible that their problem could be solved by the end of the year," Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley told reporters on Monday. "The problem is, we have never collected data on overflow: is it one-and-one-half times the amount estimated in the Brook report, or ten times? Nobody knows."

The mayor was referring to the 1975 report prepared by the late Arthur Brokaw. Princeton is now working toward repair of sewer lines according to the guidelines in that report. Last week, the mayor said he expected that "80 to 90 percent" of what Mr. Brokaw outlined, would be completed by the end of this year. On Monday, he said it might be longer.

Meanwhile, Random Road resident Olivia Applegate said that she and her neighbors want a public admission by both governing bodies and the Planning Board, of the "predicament" Princeton residents are in with their sewer problems.

"It's just going to be another report, another study, and on and on," she said this week.

Over $300,000 is now in the Sewer Trust Fund, Mayor Cawley reported, contributed by developers who want to tie into the sewer lines. Borough and Township have almost $1 million more for sewer repair from a bond issue (Township) and appropriated funds (Borough) but Mrs. Applegate says scornfully, "That's just peanuts."

Illegal tie-ins by homeowners may be contributing to the problem. Sump pumps, for example, or — even worse — a downspout hitched illegally to a sanitary sewer line can cause what Township engineer Robert Kiser calls "private infiltration." There can also be leaking laterals. These are the lines that connect houses to the sewer line in the street.

The Borough is planning to hire an assistant engineer whose job description will include watching for these illegal connections. A surcharge might be added to the sewer bills of home-owners found in violation, Mayor Cawley suggested.

SCHOOLS AS LANDLORD

For Hospital, Toddlers. The 40 students in the Medical Center's School of Practical Nursing will use all the classrooms on the second floor of the Valley Road Building under a lease arrangement with the school board.

Littlebrook School, which will close as an elementary school at the end of this term, has three tenants booked for next year, with others scheduled for discussion by the board at this Tuesday's meeting.

The hospital's rent will be $76,500 a year, including utilities and janitor service. The previous tenant on the second floor, the Lewis Clinic, had been paying $62,038. The Clinic, which wanted more space, has moved to Littlebrook where it will have additional rooms and a rent bill of $116,787.

The other tenants signed up for Littlebrook are Sandbox Tech, a nursery school already in residence, and Nassau Nursery School, which will move over from Riverside. Sandbox will pay $10,886 next year and Nassau Nursery, $11,000.

The school board has given the hospital a two-year lease starting July 1, with a six-month cancellation clause. The Medical Center has been holding classes for its practical nurses in Lambert House, on the Center's own campus. The move into Valley Road will allow the hospital to expand its physical therapy department into the vacated space in Lambert House.

GET 50 DAYS IN JAIL

For Trespassing. Four persons with no known address, who had been arrested and held for 20 to 50 days in jail, each had pled Church during the past few guilty to five counts of trespassing.

The two men were taken to the Mercer County Jail, week at a special session of the Mercer County Jail.

Judge Russell W. Annich Workhouse, the two women to sentenced Stephen Blair and his wife Kimberly, both 20, in Borough traffic court Monday, Judge Annich fined Maria I. Berger, 270 State Road, $315 and suspended her A. Meyers III, 118 Linden license for six months for operating while intoxicated. For improper turn; Carmen J. was revoked, Reginald E. Guagliardo, Box 461, Princeton, stop sign; Betsy J. Haake, 21 Birch Avenue, was fined $265 and received a

Schoolboard Announces Teacher Transfers; Sixteen Littlebrook Staff Members to Move

The transfer of 16 Littlebrook staff members to other schools in the district was scheduled for approval by the school board at this Tuesday's meeting. Littlebrook will close as a public elementary school on June 17.

Transfers are as follows: Dorothy Brecht, who has taught grades 1-2, will teach first grade at Riverside; John Counts, Littlebrook librarian, will go to the middle school.

Psychologist Nancy Devlin will go to Riverside; Eleanor Dreeben, who has taught fourth grade, will teach third grade at Riverside; James Fairfull, fourth grade teacher, will teach grades 3-4 at Riverside.

Helen Geary, third-grade teacher, will teach second grade at Community Park; Ann Marie Hynytzke, first grade, will also teach second grade at Community Park.

Sam Ishibashi will teach grades 3-4 at Community Park, as he did at Littlebrook. Physical Education teacher Larry Ivan has also been transferred to Community Park.

Sonya Kleider, grades 2-3, will teach second grade at Riverside. Jerry Larkin, fifth-grade teacher at Littlebrook, will have grades 5-6 at the middle school.

Art teacher Margaret Lawton will move to Riverside, and music teacher Marilyn Middlebrook will teach vocal music at the middle school.

Kindergarten teacher Evelyn Saldick will continue to teach kindergarten, now at Riverside. Marge Stewart, a supplemental instructor, will have the same assignment at Riverside. Pat Van Ness, kindergarten, will be a kindergarten teacher at Riverside.

In other transfers, school nurse Mary Bannon will move from Community Park-Riverside to the middle school. Art teacher Lou Cicchini will move from Riverside to the high school. William Sirllo, a district-wide Support and Enrichment staff member, will teach fourth grade at Riverside, while Mary Demarest, a 4-5 grade teacher at Community Park, will do district-wide Support and Enrichment. Jean Gilpin, who has been teaching fourth grade at Community Park, will also move into Support and Enrichment.

Doreen Griffin, third-grade teacher at Riverside, will teach the same grade at Community Park. Olga Hrycak, a Special Education staff member, will move her base from Riverside to Community Park.

Physical Education teacher Becky Mackey will transfer from Community Park to the high school. Nancy Martinson, fourth-grade teacher at Riverside, will teach third grade at Community Park.

Joyce Robinson, now assigned to Support and Enrichment, will teach grades 5-6 in the middle school. Maureen Shea, who has been in the high school's foreign language department, will move to the middle school. Ann Stefan, in Basic Skills, will move from Community Park to Riverside. Two district-wide Special Education staff members formerly based at Littlebrook — Doris Tazelaar and Marcia Van Dyck — will move to a Riverside base.

suspended 30-day sentence to the Workhouse.

Three were fined for speeding: Margaret K. Cowles, 22 Walker Circle, Belle Mead, and Tito V. Santoro, 395 Franklin Avenue, paid $70 each while Abdul H. Hamid, 314 Quail Ridge, Plainsboro, paid $60.

Fined $60 each were Joseph A. Meyers III, 118 Linden Lane, careless driving; Seth Lerer, 24 Edwards Place, improper turn; Carmen J. Guagliardo, Box 461, Princeton, stop sign; Betsy J. Haake, 21 Birch Avenue, was fined $265 and received a 16 Linden Lane, red light; Martin J. Payton Jr., 864 Princeton-Lawrenceville Road, improper turn, and Carol C. O'Donoghue, 61 Lovers Lane, and Thozur M. Kasturiranga, Magie Apartments, Faculty Road, both careless driving.

Township Court. In Township court last week, Judge Sydney Souter fined Gabriel A. Ramirez, 549 Great Road, $205 and revoked his license for six months for drunken driving. Speeding cost Razia W. Sayed, 10 Stonlea Drive, Princeton Junction, $70.

In criminal court, Robert Kubiak of Robbinsville, was fined $55 for trespassing on private property off Edgerstone Road with intent to hunt.

Mr. Kubiak paid a second fine of $20 for not displaying his hunting license in a conspicuous manner.

LIQUOR CHARGE LAID
Against Skillman Teenager. Eighteen-year-old David Davis of 28 Sycamore Lane, Skillman, has been charged by Township police with knowingly making an illegal liquor purchase by producing false identification.

The youth was observed by Ptl. John Seeley Jr. entering a Princeton Shopping Center liquor store where another teenager was standing nearby. When Davis left the store, he waved to the youth, police said, as if to say, "I got it," and the two went to nearby Grover Park.

Davis, who was later released, faces a June 14 court hearing in Township court.

THEFT REPORT
Three $500 Suits Taken. Three men's suits tailored by Langroek of Princeton and valued at $500 each have been stolen from a Palmer Square apartment door.

Police report that a dry cleaning firm left the suits hanging on the apartment door. The owner had been away for three days and did not report the theft immediately because he was not aware of the delivery.

An unlocked room in Lockhart Hall on the Princeton University campus was entered last week between 6:45 and 7:30 in the morning while two occupants were sleeping inside. Taken, police said, were $30 from a desk top, a wallet containing $14 and a calculator.

A Princeton resident who is a student at Trenton State College reported the theft.

Ice-Cream? Don't Pass!

It's against the law to pass an ice-cream truck without coming to a full stop and yielding to pedestrians. That's the warm-weather, it's-almost-June warning from the Division of Motor Vehicles.

When you approach an ice-cream truck, you must come to a full stop, and yield the right-of-way to all pedestrians moving to or from the truck. You may then move, "cautiously", no faster than 15 m.p.h., but still prepared to yield to a darting child. Or a darting adult, for that matter.

Trucks are required to have flashing red lights, front and rear, and a stop-signal arm extending out from the left side of the truck. "STOP IF SAFE, THEN GO" should be on the extended arm in two-inch-high letters.

Penalty is four points on your driving record, and a fine as high as $100.

Saturday night of his nap-sack from the coat room of a Nassau Street restaurant inside were articles of clothing worth $120.

A student listed the theft of his Minolta camera Thursday. It was taken during a 15-minute period from the cart shed at the Springdale Golf Club pro shop where he had left it.

A Chestnut Street resident joined the list of theft victims when his $50 bicycle was stolen last week from the rear of the YMCA building. It was unlocked and had been left unattended for only a few minutes.

Shoplifter Charged. Ernestine Rosolondraid, 36, of 42 Greenbrier Row, has been charged by Township police with shoplifting merchandise worth $47.62 from the Acme Market in the Princeton Shopping Center.

Ms. Rosolondraid was observed by an employee allegedly taking Polaroid film and Shake and Bake. A store official called police and the suspect was turned over to Ptl. John Seeley for processing. She was later released and is scheduled to appear in Township court June 14.

TRUCK FIRE PUT OUT
By Police. A battery cable in a spraying unit atop a tree surgeon's truck shorted out last week and caused a fire. The fire in the Treeco Tree Experts truck, parked in front of 302 John Street, was extinguished by Ptl. John Seeley with equipment from his patrol car shortly after 7 p.m. Police identified the owner as Lawrence E. Benson II.

TWO MORE CHARGED
With Driving While Intoxicated. Township police last week charged two more drivers with driving while intoxicated—the 28th and 29th drivers to be charged with that offense this year.

Lilia M. Veitia, 28, of Miami, Fla., was stopped early Monday morning on Route 206 near Jefferson by Ptl. David Cromwell after he had followed her weaving car for more than a mile. Because the Township's Breathalyzer machine was not working, Ms. Veitia was taken to Borough police headquarters and given three breath tests. She was later released on $250 bail.

Rowland V. O'Malley 2d, 25, 43 Prospect Avenue, was charged with drunken driving after he was involved in an accident Sunday evening with another car on Birch Avenue.

There were no injuries.

Mr. O'Malley was also charged with careless driving. After taking a breath test at police headquarters, he was released.

EMPLOYEE CHARGED

With Attempted Theft. A 28-year-old Trenton resident was charged with burglary and attempted theft last week after she was found at night hiding in the office of a retail store on Nassau Street where she was employed.

The suspect, Stella Washington, had apparently concealed herself in the store at closing time, police said, and later began searching through drawers in the office. She was discovered by the store's owner who had returned to his office around 9 Thursday night and found Ms. Washington hiding there.

The suspect, who is awaiting action by a Grand Jury, was turned over to the Mercer County Sheriff's Office which has a warrant from Mercer County for her arrest on other charges.

The four were apprehended around 9 p.m. by a university proctor who turned them over to Ptl. Anthony Federico. Each was later released on his own recognizance.

Pot Smokers Charged. Four young men have been charged with possession of under 25 grams of marijuana after they were arrested Saturday night for allegedly smoking marijuana at Prospect Gardens on the university campus.

They were identified by police as Matthew Chenoweth, 19, Main Street, Lawrenceville; Christopher Crafton, 18, Redding Circle; and two 16-year-old juveniles from Princeton and Pennington.

The four were apprehended around 9 p.m. by a university proctor who turned them over to Ptl. Anthony Federico. Each was later released on his own recognizance.

WINNERS LISTED

For Flower Show. At the first community flower show, "Princeton in Springtime 1983," held last week at the Art People Place, Mrs. John W. Flemer of the Stony Brook Garden Club was awarded the silver bowl for amassing the most points with her horticulture entries. The bowl was presented by Sam de Turo of Woodwinds and was one of a number of awards.

In the Horticulture Division, there were 24 classes with subdivisions. The azaleas, peonies, columbines, camassias and other specimens won many blue ribbons in spite of the soggy spring. The Best-in-Show Horticulture award was won by the Plainfield Garden Club for a "Princeton Window."

In the Artistic Division, the Best-in-Show award was won by Mrs. William Hurtt Jr. of the Rumson Garden Club for her Challenge Class entry. Other blues were won by June Stewart, Hopewell Valley Garden Club, in the class "Morven"; Mrs. Eugene Harling, Stony Brook Garden Club, in the class "Westminster Choir College"; Mrs. Robert A. Cooke Jr., Rumson Garden Club, in the class "Lake Carnegie"; Mrs. Vagn Worm, Garden Club of Princeton, in the class "Town"; and Mrs. A.F. Austin, Stony Brook Garden Club, for the class "Gown."

AWARDS ARE MADE

To Junior Volunteers. The Auxiliary of the Medical Center at Princeton has presented merit awards to seven outstanding junior volunteers at its annual junior volunteer recognition day.

The recipients plan to pursue their education in a health care field and were judged on academic standing, extracurricular activities and quantity and quality of service as a junior volunteer. According to Fleur Chandler, Auxiliary president, the junior merit awards come from Auxiliary membership dues, and the 1983 winners represent the largest number of awards ever granted in a single year.

MONEY EARNED

From Student Peer Conference. Proceeds from the April Peer Leadership conference, Princeton at Princeton, N.J., will be used to fund a walk in the Princeton Cemetery.

TO CELEBRATE BASTILLE DAY: Rather than compete with Princeton's crowded winter calendar, an imaginative benefit committee has decided to mark the French equivalent of Independence Day with a Bastille Day Ball on Saturday, July 16. The proceeds will go to Trinity Counseling Service, which is directed by the Rev. Canon E. Rugby Auer, left. Mrs. William Sword heads the committee with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Richard Sword.

the college, the town and the country. In addition to John Witherspoon, Jonathan Edwards, Grover Cleveland, Paul Tulane and the two Aaron Burrs, the cemetery is the burial place of lesser known but also intriguing personalities such as Guy Chew, Joseph Karge, Don Lambert and the "Princeton Flag Man."

The tour will provide lore on these and other personages. In case of rain it will be held on Memorial Day, Monday, May 30, at 10 a.m.

James Scott Hill, Mrs. Tobin V. Levy, Mrs. M. John O'Donoghue, Mrs. William R. Robins, Mrs. Henry J. Scherck, III, and Mrs. L. V. Silvester, Jr.

Further information about reservations may be obtained from the Trinity Counseling Service Office, 22 Stockton Street, 921-0060.

Trinity Counseling Service was founded in 1968 by the Rev. E. Rugby Auer in response to needs he saw during his years in the parish ministry. The service has a staff of 16 professional men and women including clergy, social workers, psychiatrists and psychologists of all denominations and operate in a pastoral tradition of caring.

NEW TENNIS CENTER

By fall Princeton University will have a brand new outdoor athletic facility — the Lenz Tennis Center.

According to David A. Benjamin, Princeton's director of racquet sports and head coach of men's tennis, the eight hard courts with lighting for night play should be complete by June and the rest of the center will be replace the University's "Pagoda Courts" as the official home of the Princeton Tigers.

DINNER DANCE PLANNED

As Counseling Service Benefit. The benefit committee of Trinity Counseling Service will hold a Bastille Day dinner dance on Saturday, July 14, at Bedens Brook Club. Co-chairmen for the event are Mrs. Richard M. Sword and Mrs. William Sword.

Their committee includes Mrs. G.P. Mellick Belshaw, Mrs. Alexander K. Buck, Mrs. James J. Chandler, Mrs. Harold B. Erdman, Mrs. Moore Gates, Jr., Mrs. Richard D. Hargrave, Mrs. for reason pertaining to lack

Referrals are made by pastors, doctors, lawyers and past clients.

The current case load is 240. Father Auer says, "People often ask what is the most frequent problem. With individuals, it is the feeling of loneliness, and with couples, the problem is communication."

the clay Church Courts into a complete hard court tennis center was first discussed in 1976. Nestled near a small patch of woods, the Church Courts were the site of NCAA preliminary playoff matches in 1963 and 1972, but in recent years they had deteriorated badly. Last summer, it was finally necessary to take them out of service.

The Lenz Tennis Center is the gift of Winthrop and Lila Southard Lenz of Summit, given in memory of Mrs. Lenz's father, Robert Hamilton Southard of the Class of 1899. A retired vice chairman of finance with Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, Win Lenz was graduated from Princeton in 1928 with a baccalaureate degree in history.

Currently, he is serving as co-chairman of the Special Gifts Committee for the Class of 1928, whose goal is to raise $2 million as part of the $275 million "Campaign" for Princeton currently underway. While at Princeton, he was a member of the undefeated tennis teams in 1924 and 1928.

The Church courts around which the new center is to be constructed were given to the University in 1927 by George M. Church of the Class of 1915. While an undergraduate at Princeton, Mr. Church was the national intercollegiate tennis champion in 1912 and 1914. He was also ranked in the top ten nationally during 1911, 1913 and 1915.

The original Church Courts were razed in 1965 to make way for the site of Peyton Hall (Astrophysics) near Palmer Stadium, but they were reconstructed at their present site and they continued to be known, as they will in the future, as the Church Courts.

SUMMER WORKSHOP SET

For Youth at Old Barracks. The second annual summer workshop on a soldier's life during the Revolution will be held at the Old Barracks Museum in Trenton this July and August. In three weekly sessions beginning July 18, children are invited to re-live the experiences of a raw recruit in Washington's "Rag-Tag" Army.

The workshop is run on a day-camp format from 9 to 2 each day. Boys and girls ages 9 through 11 will learn to march and drill in 18th century military fashion and will have hands-on experience in the Barracks "Squad Room" and on the Parade Ground in front of the museum.

Each child makes the important parts of a soldier's uniform (hat, cartridge box, etc.) for himself or herself and is introduced to the material culture of early America: domestic utensils, craft tools, military equipment and medical instruments. Activities range from making musket balls and cartridges, to learning colonial games and songs, to taking foot-marches in formation, to visiting nearby sites such as the William Trent House.

Tennis! Racquetball! Jogging!

Warm Weather Sports-lovers are back again.

Most sports can be great for your body if you understand how to prevent, or correct the muscle imbalance they can create. This is where the Smart Moves Fitness Program can help.

- Our carefully researched stretch program can lengthen the hamstrings many sports shorten, and give your body full-range flexibility;
- Our rhythmic program can strengthen those muscles you especially need in your sport, and maintain the strength-balance for the muscles you don't use (thus preventing many sports related injuries);
- If you don't have a sport, our full session can provide what you need for complete fitness — stretch, strengthening, and aerobics.

Princeton Regional School HIGHLIGHTS

Highlights is sponsored and prepared by the Parent Teacher Organization of the Princeton Regional School.

COMMUNITY PARK SCHOOL: Congratulations to Mrs. Penrose's second grade class for their presentation of the history of "Morven" as seen through the eyes of John Witherspoon and Robert Stockton. They made a part of Princeton's history come to life.

On May 25th, Community Park will be treated to a musical version of "Peter Rabbit." Mrs. Kramer and Ms. Rowland will present their K/1 class in Beatrix Potter's charming story. Members of the class will portray Peter and his family, Mr. MacGregor, and the vegetables in his garden.

On May 27th, Mrs. Mackey, with the help of teachers, children, and parents will sponsor a Field Day. There will be different kinds of foot races, folk singing and dancing, a bicycle rodeo, a trading booth, makeup booth, hook-a-fish, tug-o-war, apple dunk and MORE. The mysterious Madame XOFLYS will also make her appearance.

RIVERSIDE SCHOOL: Mrs. Moore's third grade class has been studying a unit on the Identification of Birds. Some of the activities the class has been involved in are: bird-watching in the courtyard of the school where they have seen such birds as bluejays, starlings, sparrows, chickadees, blackbirds, mourning doves and the red-headed woodpecker.

Two students each day feed the birds in the courtyard and each student has built a birdhouse with the assistance of Principal Gene Biringer. A birdhouse was also built to be housed in the courtyard of the school.

Mrs. Dolly Minis gave a talk with slides about common birds and their calls. The students have made replicas of various birds from boneware clay and painted them.

"ART FROM SESAME STREET," An exhibition of paintings and drawings sent to "Sesame Street Magazine" by children from all parts of North America, will be on view at Littlebrook School from May 13, 1983 through May 27, 1983. The show was organized originally by the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton and is now one of its traveling exhibitions.

Pictures in "Art From Sesame Street" were submitted in response to a request by the magazine for imaginative drawings to appear on Ernie and Bert's picture page, a regular monthly feature.

Cooperating with the museum and the magazine in creation of the exhibition was the Children's Television Workshop. On June 9, 1983, the PTO will sponsor a school trip to Sesame Place.

The Littlebrook PTO is planning a SKATING PARTY on Friday, May 27th from 12 noon to 2:00 p.m. at the KENDALL PARK ROLLER RINK. The PTO will provide a hot dog lunch that day for all 4th and 5th grade students.

Borough Police Seeking Candidates To Fill Vacancy Opening This Fall

The Borough police department wants you — if you're interested in a career in law enforcement.

Seeking to fill a vacancy that will be created when Sgt. Thomas Procaccio retires this fall and to create a new list of applicants, the department will conduct a written examination Monday, June 13, at 6 at Princeton High School.

To be eligible, applicants must be 18 to 35, a U.S. citizen and a resident of New Jersey, possess a valid N.J. driver's license, have 20-20 vision with corrective eyeglasses, normal hearing and a high school diploma.

A written examination is the first step. Successful applicants will also be subjected to a medical examination, a physical fitness test and a thorough character investigation. In return, a police career offers an excellent salary, paid vacations, free hospitalization and other fringe benefits.

Those interested may obtain an application at police headquarters in Borough Hall any time prior to the written examination.

Children do not handle hazardous materials and all activities are supervised by Old Barracks museum staff. Registration is limited to eight girls and eight boys each session and repeat registrations are not permitted. Sessions are from July 18-22, 25-29 and August 1-5.

The fees are $20 per session for members' children and grandchildren and $25 for non-members. For applications to the "Call to Arms" Workshops call 396-1776.

GUARANTEED FUNDING?

For Library. It has often seemed to Princeton's library trustees that whenever they are successful in finding money outside their municipal allotment — the municipalities promptly lop a slice off the library's budget.

Last winter, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley suggested the concept of a "long-term agreement of guarantee for public funding of library services," to break the catch of this Catch-22. The idea will be discussed this Thursday at Borough Council's 8 p.m. work session in Borough Hall.

INTERESTED IN RENT?

Members Needed. The Borough needs three residents to sit on its Rent Registration Board, and if you are interested, you are invited to call Borough Hall, 924-3119.

The board has one landlord representative — Sheila Cook — and one tenant representative — Pierina Thayer. The municipality needs three more members who are "non-aligned;" that is, neither landlords nor tenants, but home-owners.

CLUB NAMES WINNERS
Of Scholarships. The Women's College Club has announced the winners of its annual scholarship awards. All are graduating seniors in the Princeton area secondary schools.

Winners of named awards are: Sara Welch of Princeton High School, recipient of the Anniversary Award; Leslie Dreyer, Hun School, the Founders Award; and Pamela Jackson, Stuart Country Day School, winner of the Memorial Award. Sara plans to attend the University of Virginia; Leslie will be a freshman at Lafayette College; and Pamela will attend Rutgers College.

Recipients of the 1983 Awards, the schools they are graduating from and the colleges they will attend are, from Princeton Day School, Dawn Crossland, Brown University; Veronica Curvy, Georgetown University; Tracy Watkins, University of Pennsylvania; and Lindsay McCord, class of 1982 who is currently an AFS student in Denmark, University of Vermont.

Also, from Princeton High School, Sandra Cook, Rhode Island School of Design; Maria Dowall, University of Michigan; Jacqueline Lipsley, Smith College; Elena Lucullo, Fairleigh Dickinson University, Madison campus; Caroline Taraschi, Sweet Briar College; Christine Nielsen, class of 1982 current.

CORRECTIONS

The story in the May 11 issue of TOWN TOPICS on the dedication of the Takamaka Fusion Test Reactor (TFTR) at the Plasma Physics Laboratory incorrectly stated that Melvin Gottlieb, director emeritus of PPL, is now president of Cal Tech. It is Marvin Goldberger, former Joseph Henry Professor of Physics, who left Princeton to accept the position of president of Cal Tech several years ago.

Also, in the issue of May 4, Henry DeWolf Smyth's father was incorrectly listed as a chemistry professor when in fact he was professor of geology. In the same article, two words were dropped from a quotation from Dr. Smyth's birthday dinner remarks. The sentence should have read: "These questions are not scientific but political and social questions and the answers to them may affect all mankind for generations."

Hall. The screenings will be for blood pressure and diabetes in addition to hemocult checks.

Persons wishing to be screened may do so on a walk-in basis; appointments are not necessary. Those wishing to be tested for diabetes should eat a full meal, preferably with dessert 1½-2 hours before the test to assure greater accuracy in the reading.

Reporting Biased.

The N.J. Department of Transportation, which seems to like to build major highways, is prepared to spend several hundred million dollars on the system and is from front to back, advertised launching a major publicity campaign. Time is short. Pressure must be put on local politicians and planners who are supporting the DOT to oppose the and keep them informed of town happenings. In short, local solutions for local over the years. TOWN TOPICS has become a Princeton institution seen what freeways do: they But now I have become don't solve problems, they involved in the 'Collins' create them. Let's call the Development Project and Princeton Freeway by its real have been attending the name, and let's put a stop to it. Council and Planning Board meetings and I realized, to my DONALD DICKSON great concern, that your reporting of these meetings is very biased and one-sided.

It is not so much what you say as what you leave unsaid. The opinions and proposals of the opposition are, on the most part, omitted or, when included, treated with a tolerant condescension as if we were a group of misguided children. This is neither honest reporting nor in the best interests of the community. It is editorializing and should be labelled as such and respected as such.

I shall be at the meeting on Tuesday, May 24. Your paper will report what transpires at that meeting to the general Princeton public and those of that public who did not attend the meeting will believe what they read. And so, this time let us have all the facts and let them be objective. Don't, please, stretch the credibility of your fine and muchly appreciated topics of our town, our paper.

Stop the By-Pass.

To the Editor of Town Topics: Route 92 has been sold as the Princeton By-Pass. It is more accurately named the Princeton Freeway. Rather than a simple means to re-route some local traffic around Princeton, 92 is now part of a major highway system which will bring increased traffic through and into Princeton.

The proposed highway system begins at I-287 with the four-lane Somerset Expressway which runs to Belle Mead and connects with a four-lane divided Route 206, which slices through the center of Montgomery and connects with 92.

DOT plans 92 as a high-speed freeway, a four-lane divided highway which will run from Route 206 through northern Princeton and southern Montgomery, the middle of Kingston and Plainsboro and the southern part of Cranbury, ending at the Turnpike Interchanges will be built at Routes 206, 27 and 1.

This is not a simple by-pass, this is a major new highway system. Connecting I-287 at the north with the Turnpike and via Route 1 the I-95 & I-295 complex to the south, the planned system will provide a toll-free through truck and car route.

Much of the northern part of Princeton Township will be within hearing and smelling distance of the freeway, but these are not the only consequences. The entire area will be affected by increased pollution in the air and water, increased traffic on local roads and loss of dwindling forest and farm land.

of the square opposite the present Inn's Garden Terrace could be designed as a far more handsome and distinguished part of the Inn than is possible on the East side. Gardens giving a more open feeling would prevent the creation of a New York City garment district congestion which would result from the monolithic design presently being considered.

I feel that the Collins Development Corporation has an opportunity to build an exciting and distinguished Inn and has more than adequate area in Palmer Square for this purpose. I respectfully request that the Planning Board work with Collins to prevent the implementation of a plan which has had a very divisive and negative effect on the citizens of Princeton and to ensure the better use of the Palmer Square site.

Withhold Approval
To the Editor of Town Topics: (The following is a letter to the Planning Board.) As a long time resident of Princeton, I have seen a great many changes in our community. Obviously some of these have been more productive and helpful than others, and I feel that we are now at a crossroad which may make the future of Princeton very different from the picture presented by some of the publicity which has been disseminated to its citizens. I refer to the present plans for the development of Palmer Square.

Recognizing full well the necessity for development, I should like to request the Planning Board to give extraordinarily careful thought to some of the points which have been raised by these plans. In a true democracy, it is never too late for further discussion by the citizenry, although this has been suggested by some of our elected representatives. The plans, as they presently exist, have been available for only about two weeks, hardly a long period when the community's future is at stake.

I am not, in principle, opposed to development, but I am opposed to the following aspects of the present Collins' development plans. I request that the Planning Board withhold its approval of the plans presently before them, even though Collins has offered to make some changes in this latest design, until the following points have been carefully answered.

OPEN SPACE: I request that the Planning Board give meticulous attention to the method by which the number of square feet of open space was determined. It seems clear that this does not conform to the Planned Commercial District requirements for the reservation of 25 percent of the land surface for open space.

THE BRIDGE: It was not clear, until recently, that the bridge was not to be a walkway, but a very high and massive building spanning a narrow traffic-ridden street joining two other heavy buildings. I request that the Planning Board drastically reduce the height of this bridge, and remove the entire fifth floor from the Inn expansion on the East.

TRAFFIC FLOW: With the Inn entrance on this narrow traffic-ridden street (which will be further reduced in width by the bridge structure), it will be at times an intolerable problem for those wishing or needing — fire trucks, ambulances, police and delivery vehicles, as well as normal traffic — to use this street as a public thoroughway. I request that the Planning Board require that the Inn entrance be a proper offset driveway or some other means of exiting from the street to the Inn.

POSSIBLE CHANGE OF PRESENT PLAN: The question of access to the Inn could be far better solved by having the Inn addition on the Hulfish side of the present Inn. An addition on this north side of the square opposite the present Inn's Garden Terrace could be designed as a far more handsome and distinguished part of the Inn than is possible on the East side. Gardens giving a more open feeling would prevent the creation of a New York City garment district congestion which would result from the monolithic design presently being considered.

I feel that the Collins Development Corporation has an opportunity to build an exciting and distinguished Inn and has more than adequate area in Palmer Square for this purpose. I respectfully request that the Planning Board work with Collins to prevent the implementation of a plan which has had a very divisive and negative effect on the citizens of Princeton and to ensure the better use of the Palmer Square site.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

A SIGHT TO SEE!!!

with Sam DeTure
Woodwinds Associates

Last week we visited the beautiful flower show "Princeton in Springtime" at the Princeton Art Center. It was a delightful way to spend a leisurely hour admiring the creative abilities of so many of our local residents.

Among the winners from our Princeton area were Mrs. J. Haring, N. Burt, A. Carrick, S. Worm, A. Townsend, E. Rose, A. Austin, E. Hoogenboom and S. Croggett. Other prizes awarded went to K. Bogle, J. Stewart, J. Sayen, S. Gance, J. Olcott, A. Gates, B. Lee, M. Felton, E. Stuart, A. Fairman, C. Mathews, M. Johnson, L. Peters, K. Brooks and Jane Campbell. Other recipients were A. Wilmerding, C. Pratt, L. Peters and C. Dolich. The WOODWINDS BOWL was awarded to Mrs. M. Flemer.

Residents of Princeton should be most grateful to both the Stony Brook Garden Club and the Garden Club of Princeton for a beautiful Flower Show and also all the marvelous ways in which these two groups help to keep Princeton beautiful.

Why not help beautify your garden with the help of WOODWINDS (924-3500)?

NEW INVESTMENT IDEAS

Two exciting and innovative issues will be discussed during a special meeting in the Nassau Street Conference Room. Benefits and features to be highlighted include:

- MBIA Insured Series Municipal Investment Trust Fund - AAA rated with monthly payments and diversification.
- Abnett Value Appreciation Fund - growth through capital appreciation in undervalued stocks of established companies.

The quality of these new issues coupled with an investment strategy will be tied to our current economic climate.

will offer an extended program in addition to the regular school hours. The program will be available before school from 9:30 and after school from 11:45-1. The school offers programs for two-year old children on Monday and Thursday or Tuesday and Friday mornings; for three year olds on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday mornings; and for four year olds every day but Wednesday. School tuition has not been raised for the coming year.

For further information call Dianne Gruber at 921-0863.

COUNTRY DANCE DUE
At Trinity Church, Princeton Country Dancers will hold a special country dance on Thursday at 8 at Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street. The dance will benefit the church, which has housed the Princeton Country Dancers for the past year, and is celebrating its 150th year.

The event will feature several area dance callers and Rum and Onions, a large country dance band composed of area traditional musicians. Admission will be $2, and there will be a potluck refreshments table (bring something if you can).

Country dancing includes square dancing, New England contra dances (similar to square dancing, except that the dancers line up in parallel lines, like the Virginia Reel), Appalachian circle dances and English country dances. A special dance workshop for beginners will be held at 7:30. No experience is necessary and all are welcome. For more information, call 466-3896.

POLAROID AVAILABLE
From Library. Registered Princeton Public Library borrowers, 18 years of age and over, may now borrow a Polaroid camera (one of five), with strap carrying case and an instruction booklet. Users must supply their own film which retails for about $9 for 10 instant pictures. Circulation is on a first-come, first-served basis with no reservations.

The Library is participating in "Check This Out," a program providing free-loan Polaroid Land cameras to public libraries throughout the United States. This service, provided by the Polaroid Corporation, is offered in cooperation with the American Library Association. The Association notes that this is the first time that a corporation has made a commitment on this scale to the nation's libraries.

Princeton High School's Ed Katz Returns From Year as AFS Student in Malaysia

"When I talk to people in Princeton about Malaysia, I tell them it's 'just north of Singapore,' because a lot of people either don't know where it is, or have never heard of it."

Ed Katz knows exactly where it is. As an American Field Service student, he left Princeton High School for a year, and lived in Ipoh with a Malaysian family, attending St. Michael's Institution, learning something of Bahasa Malaysia (which translates as "the language of Malaysia") as well as Cantonese and making such friends with the country that he is looking forward eagerly to a return. He came back to Princeton in March, and is still waiting for some of the keep-sakes he acquired to catch up with his arrival home.

"People think it's a backward country, in the middle of nowhere," and he shakes his head in sorrow. Here, in the pile of treasures he brought back with him are a brilliant batik baju kurung, worn as everyday wear by Malay women, a regal ebony sarong embroidered with gold, a frolicsome kite, a carving of wood.

"There was this one encyclopedia from America that said Malaysians lived in trees! Well, in an isolated part of a big national park that is all jungle, people used to have to build tree-houses because of the animals. But traditional houses are all on the ground. The Malaysians were very upset about that article."

MALAYSIAN TREASURES: The Malaysian city where Princeton High student Ed Katz spent a year, had a large Chinese population and the New Year was an exciting event. Ed is holding a miniature of a giant flaming red and gold mask worn during New Year's festivities. Across his knee is a black and gold sarong. He brought back lengths of silky batik fabric, batik shirts — and enough happy memories to make him want to return.

Ipoh is the third largest city — about 300,000 — and is in tin country. It's not particularly modern or westernized because, Ed was told, its citizens have usually voted for the opposition in national elections and the government has not been much inclined to spend money there.

Back in colonial days, the British hired Chinese to mine the tin and workers from India for the rubber plantations. It's the same today, Ed found. The sticky samples of rubber he brought back from a field trip were processed by Indians. The tiny sample of raw tin — "they're stingy about giving out tin" — came from a plant whose workers are largely Chinese.

Because Ipoh is a tin town, it is predominantly Chinese. Ed's "family," however, was Malaysian. He smiles at the memory of his "mother" and her fluency with languages. She learned Japanese in school during the Japanese occupation in World War II. She knows, Ed reports in awe, "all" the languages spoken in Ipoh, including half-a-dozen Chinese languages, the Tamil, Hindi and Punjabi spoken by the Indians and, of course, Bahasa Malaysia and English. "How does she know so many?" Ed laughs. "Because she has to buy from all of them in the stores, and in the markets!"

Language was frustrating for Ed.

"Before I left — in March, 1982 — the thing I was most scared of was learning the language. Classes in my school were in Bahasa Malaysia and I could do the math, and physics and chemistry.

"But they had a course called 'General Paper' where you wrote about anything, and it was hard: all the discussions were in Malaysia. The 'brother' in my family tried to help me, but actually I wasn't speaking Malaysia with anyone. In the shops, they all wanted to speak to me in English. My 'family' spoke English, and my friends in school did, too. In a single day, I'd hear more Chinese and English than Malaysia."

Incidentally, Ed took a course in "English (British) Literature", and studied "King Lear" with the humid, pulsing heat of this tropical country on the other side of the school walls.

Although it took "a long time," he began to be comfortable in Cantonese — "Malaysian is a much simpler language to learn" — and he would like to continue his Chinese studies next year.

Yes, it was hot. The humidity.

ty and heat were like a blow when he got off the plane at Kuala Lumpur. He soon learned that "you change your behavior to accommodate."

School began at 7:45 and ended at 1:20, with special hours on Friday in this Moslem country. A mosque was across from the school, and the calls to prayer were part of the day's schedule of events.

Even in the heat, he kept up his favorite sport — track.
They started practice after 4 p.m., when it was "enough" cooler.

Everyone wore a uniform in this school — white short-sleeved shirt and long pants of school green or white, with school tie. It had been a British school, founded by Catholic missionaries, but is now a national school like all the others.

Ed didn't mind the uniform.
"It draws attention to what people really are, because you aren't looking at their clothes.
And it makes you feel part of a group. I was the only white student in the school and I didn't feel so different from everyone else, when I wore a uniform."

His "family" took him on a 12-hour bus ride to Singapore over the Christmas holidays, and they spent ten days there, visiting the family's oldest son. "It was the first time I'd been cool in a long time!"

But air-conditioning is quite common, he explained, and the bus systems are excellent, with very modern, air-conditioned vehicles. The "father," regional director of a company making industrial scales, traveled a great deal in the family's only car, so bus travel was an everyday affair.

Although Malaysia is said to be the third wealthiest country in Asia and the buses are indeed fine, Ed began to see how "we take our wealth for granted, in the United States."

In his Malaysian public school, students must buy their own uniforms and books and pay lab. fees. Jobs like painting or library work are done by the students themselves.

"Things we'd expect to have done for us, you have to do yourself."

Yes, indeed, he wants to go back, at least to Asia, and preferably to this part of Asia.
He made many friends, who gave him tokens of friendship and of the country to take home, and who saw him off on the bus to Kuala Lumpur and the airport.

In the school library, while others were occupied with national tests he did not have to take, he read "bunches of things, especially in economics."

"I was really sparked by all these economics-oriented things I read. Asia is very interesting, and things are really going on there. I might take political science in college and I want to keep on with the languages I learned, and then I'd like to go back."

Degrees Awarded to Princeton Area Residents

Four area residents have received bachelor's degrees from Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio.

They are William L. Biddle, 360 Rosedale Road, who majored in economics; Allison M.
Hargraves, 747 The Great Road, English; Deborah L.
Cooperman, 10 Washington Street, Rocky Hill, drama/PHS; and James W.

Diane F. Reeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Frank Reeder of 62 Heron-town Circle, has graduated from the T.C. Williams School of Law at the University of Richmond, Richmond, Va.

James E. Burke, of Constitution Hill, chairman and chief executive officer of Johnson & Johnson, will be awarded the honorary Doctor of Commercial Science degree by Pace University at commencement exercises June 11 in Madison Square Garden.

After 12 years of increasingly responsible management assignments at Johnson & Johnson, Mr. Burke was elected to the board of directors and made a member of the executive committee in 1965. In 1971 he became a vice chairman of the executive committee with responsibility for the management of a number of domestic and overseas companies. In 1973 he was elected president and named chairman of the executive committee, and he was elected to his present post in November, 1976.

Mr. Burke is chairman of the President's Commission on Executive Exchange and was named by President Reagan to serve on the Private Sector Survey on Cost Control in the Federal Government. He serves on the board of directors of IBM and is a member of the policy committee of the Business Roundtable and of the Business Council.

Pauline J. Freitas of 99 Mosher Road received a degree in pharmacy at the commencement ceremony at Temple University School of Pharmacy.

George F. Kennan, Pulitzer Prize-winning historian and former U.S. ambassador to Russia, has been awarded an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters from Clark University in Worcester, Mass.

Prof. Kennan, who is currently associated with the Institute for Advanced Study, was cited for his efforts on behalf of peace: "his love for his country; his sense of responsibility for American's peaceful role in the world; his gentlemanly dedication to public service; his lifelong commitment to the intellectual and spiritual arts, embodied in historical studies as a guide to human action in the perilous game of power politics; and, informing all these qualities, a transcendental moral obligation toward all humanity."

What's your favorite worst intersection in Princeton?

Lots of contenders. But Mercer County thinks there are two that merit attention — Nassau-Washington-Vandeventer and Nassau-Harrison — and has listed them in the county TIP: Transportation Improvement Program.

Borough engineer George Oleksa is suggesting that Council apply for Federal money to improve the two intersections. Both were cited in an 11-year-old Federal TOPICS study done in 1972, and applications would be made under that program.

The Borough would apply for $12,000 to make engineering studies. The cost of re-working the Nassau-Washington-Vandeventer crossing is estimated at $100,000 and the Nassau-Harrison one at $85,000.

In the county's TIP, both are scheduled for design in 1984 and construction five years from now, in 1988.

A third intersection — Chambers and Paul Robeson — will be improved by Collins Development as it expands Palmer Square.

Mr. Wu and Mr. Venturi will both speak at the dedication. Others present will be University President William G. Bowen and Emory Elliott, professor of English and master of Butler College.

Built of brick in contemporary style, Gordon Wu Hall has decorative motifs characteristic of English country houses to suggest the Gothic buildings that dominate the campus. Over the entrance, in English and Chinese, is the name of Mr. Wu, 1958 Princeton graduate and Hong Kong real estate developer, who gave the money for the building.

space we all want," he said. "And we expected open space in exchange. We expected space for cultural amenities when the Playhouse was torn down."

"But the proposed Plaza is small, a dining plaza at the Inn is up a few steps and is only semi-public."

He urged the board to delay approval of the northwest plans because "that is the only place we could have that kind of space."

Provisions for public open space do not add up to the required 25 percent, Barbara Sigmund told the board. Asking to be sworn in "in case I have to take this on appeal," she asked the board to defer a vote until the Borough Zoning Board could interpret what constitutes 25 percent open space in a Planned Commercial Development.

"This meets neither the letter nor the spirit of the ordinance," she stated.

A candidate for mayor of the Borough, Mrs. Sigmund remarked to the board, "I hope to be sitting up there with you."

Jay Bleiman, former mayor of the Township, suggested instead of the bridge, a four-story glass walkway without the 18 hotel rooms planned by Collins, but Mr. Collins said, as he has before, that he doesn't want the annex-feeling he thinks a bridge without rooms would convey.

Tax Rates Set

Borough and Township officials received this week the final tax rates from Mercer County. Figures show an eight-cent rise in the overall rate for the Borough and a three-cent rise in the Township.

The Borough's rate is a rounded-off $2.49 per $100 of assessed valuation, up from $2.41 in 1982. That comprises a local rate of 52 1/2 cents, a county rate of 84 cents and a school rate of $1.12.

For Township residents, the rate is $2.28, compared to last year's $2.25. This includes a 34-cent local rate, the county's 82 1/2 cents and a school rate of $1.12.

Asking a balance in height between the two sides of Palmer Square, Mr. Bleiman learned from Mr. Collins that the addition is one and one-half stories above the Palmer Square West buildings.

"I'm an engineer," said Dwight O. North bluntly, "and that bridge is a building with a hole rammed through it at grade level."

Much of the hearing was taken up with reports from Borough engineer George Oleksa and Planning Board consultant Paul Szymanski. Since both reports were over a month old and neither reflected the changes Collins had made since the previous hearing, they seemed irrelevant. The board asked that the two reports be brought up to date in light of the changes.

The Delaware Valley Unit of the Herb Society of America will sell herb plants, antique apple trees and antique rose plants. Herb Society members will sell breads, coriander honey, herb butters and mustards, jams and frozen soups made of sorrel, rhubarb, watercress and carrot.

For children, the Gathering will have day-long pony rides, a puppet show (11 a.m. and 2 p.m.) and baby animals to pet.

Nancy Browder, who owns Witherspoon Street property which will be next to the addition, objected "strongly" to what she regarded as "advocacy" on Mr. Szymanski's part when he replied to a question from the board in a way that seemed favorable to Collins.

She continued her remarks, charging an "unconscious, overall attitude" of bias toward Collins in the comments of board members.

Mr. Sander defended Mr. Szymanski. Board member Richard Henkel said "It's when we make comments that changes are made — we're here to make comments."

—Katharine H. Brettnall

THEY SPIN AND CRAFT

At "Country Gathering," Herbs and quilted garments, carved ducks and a collection of antique firearms will be gathered together at "A Country Gathering" to be held this Saturday at Prallsville Mill, Stockton, under the auspices of the Delaware River Mill Society. Hours are 10 to 4, admission is $2.

Members of the Pralls Mill Spinners Guild, an auxiliary of the Mill Society, will spin and show wool in all stages of production. Handmade wool articles will be for sale. Inside the mill, artisans will display their skill, exhibiting and selling carved ducks, quilted clothing, "scratched" eggs and ceramics.

A collection of old firearms will be on display, and examples of custom-made muzzle loaders. There will be a Men's Tool Exchange, and a horseshoe pitching contest.

For children, the Gathering will have day-long pony rides, a puppet show (11 a.m. and 2 p.m.) and baby animals to pet.

J. Seward Johnson

Working at the foundation with the late Edwin A. Link, inventor of the Link flight simulator, Mr. Johnson developed a two-chamber submarine called the Johnson-Sea-Link for study of the underwater environment.

In the 1930s he won some of the world's leading six-meter sailing regattas. He owned and raced yachts regularly on Long Island Sound and in England and Bermuda. In 1932, he was one of four American yachtsmen honored by a visit at Cowes, Isle of Wight, by King George VI for the victor of their four six-meter vessels over Britain in the British-American Cup.

Mr. Johnson was born in New Brunswick and attended Yale University. He joined Johnson & Johnson in 1916. In World War I, he enlisted in the Navy as a seaman second class, rose to the rank of lieutenant (j.g.) and later commanded a submarine chaser in the Mediterranean.
Later he helped organize the first United States Naval Reserve in New Jersey.

In the early 1920s he returned to Johnson & Johnson Research Laboratories to develop its purchasing and planning departments. He was elected a director in 1921 and served on the board until he retired in 1971.

From 1939 until the end of World War II, Mr. Johnson served as president of the Atlantic Diesel Company, which manufactured essential war products, including torpedo and aircraft engine parts. After the War, he returned to Johnson & Johnson as vice president and was named chairman of the finance committee in 1968.

Mr. Johnson was an honorary trustee of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute and the recipient of the Smithsonian Institution's Matthew Fontaine Maury medal and the International Oceanographic Foundation Gold Medal Award. He was awarded honorary degrees by New York Law School, Bow-doin College and the Florida Institute of Technology.

In 1969 the Hunterdon County Board of Agriculture cited him for his outstanding contributions to agriculture and to Hunterdon Medical Center.
For many years he owned a farm in Oldwick, where he bred prize-winning Holstein dairy cattle. He received the Aviation Award from the Delaware Valley Council in 1969 for his work as chairman of New Jersey's Evaluation Committee for an International Jetport.

In 1982 Mr. Johnson and his wife presented a $1.8 million gift to Princeton Medical Center in the form of a CAT scanner and a Digital Angiography unit. In gratitude, the hospital board of trustees dedicated the Department of Radiology to the Johnsons and announced the opening of a new "Diagnostic Imaging Center" containing the new equipment.

Mr. Johnson established and was a trustee of The Atlantic Foundation, and he was also a major contributor to and trustee of The Hun School of Princeton.

OBITUARIES

Robert V. Appleton, 53, of Hopewell Township, died May 17 in Princeton Medical Center.

Mr. Appleton was born in Trenton and was a longtime resident of Bordentown before he moved to Hopewell Township in 1969. A graduate of Princeton University, he was a member of the First vice president and director of Baptist Church of Princeton Research Support Services at and of the William T. Parker Gallup and Robinson, Inc. in Princeton.

Surviving are his wife, Barbara W. Appleton; a daughter, Andrea; and two sons, John and Craig Appleton, all at home; and a sister, Mrs. Joan A. Sangre of Houston, Tex.

A memorial service was held in the Marquand and the Royal Nine Social Transept of the Princeton University Chapel, the Rev. Louise L. Kingston, chaplain of Princeton Medical Center, officiating. Burial was in Bordentown Cemetery. Arrangements were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society, 88 Lakewood Drive, Trenton, 08648.

The service was held at the First Baptist Church, the Rev. Edward Smith, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the Telephone Company until his retirement in 1976.

Charles E. Housner Jr., of Stuart, Fla., formerly of Princeton, died May 18 at his home.

Mr. Housner was a native of Princeton and had been employed by New Jersey Bell Telephone Company until his retirement in 1976.

He is survived by his wife, Violet Hart Housner, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Housner of Cranbury, a son, Charles E. III of Andover, N.J.; a daughter, Holly L. Goff of Essex, Conn.; a brother, Richard Housner of Pennington; three sisters, Gayle Weisel of New Egypt, Doris Dunlap of Mercerville, and Loryane Hagadorn, also of Cranbury, and five grandchildren.

A memorial service was held in the First United Methodist Church of Pennington. Those who wish may make contributions in his memory to the local kidney foundation.

Mildred Cramer McKallen, 72, of North Cape May, formerly of Princeton, died May 21 at Atlantic City Medical Center. Born in Philadelphia, she has lived in Princeton for 35 years before moving to North Cape May last year.

Wife of the late John B. McKallen, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Frances E. Sauter of North Cape May, a niece, a grandniece and a nephew.

Mass of Christian Burial was scheduled to be celebrated this Wednesday at 11 a.m. in St. Paul Roman Catholic Church. Burial will be in the parish cemetery. Arrangements are under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Buster Sandifer, 72, formerly of Redding Circle, died May 21 in the Merwick Unit of Princeton Medical Center.

Mr. Sandifer was born in Campbell County, Va., and had lived in the Princeton area for more than 40 years. He was a retired employee of Princeton University, with 14 years of service. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Princeton and a member of Aaron Lodge No. 9 F&AM.

He is survived by four sisters, Cora Grooms of East Bank, W. Va., Patsy Payne of Long Island, Va., Martha Sandifer of Charlotte, W. Va., and Francis White of Washington, D.C.; a brother, Herman Scott of Ohio; and four grandchildren whom he raised, Penelope S. Edwards Carter and Portia Edwards, both of Princeton, Jamesina Edwards of Atlanta, Ga., and Richard E. Edwards of Atlanta, Ga.

The service will be held this Wednesday at 8 at the First Baptist Church, the Rev. Edward Smith, pastor, officiating. Burial will be on Thursday at 10 in Princeton Cemetery. Friends may call on Wednesday from 6 until the time of the service at the church.

Edward R. Jacobs, 20, of Dey Road, Cranbury, died May 21 at Rhode Island Hospital in Providence.

Born in Boston, he had lived in Plainsboro for the past nine years. He was a sophomore and an active athlete at Bryant College in Smithfield, R.I., where he was a member and the assistant treasurer of Delta Sigma Chi Fraternity. He was a graduate of the class of 1981 at West Windsor-Plainsboro High School and a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Plainsboro.

Son of the late Edward M. Jacobs, he is survived by his mother, Lois Ann Jacobs; a brother, Thomas A. at home; a sister, Geraldine M. Jacobs, also at home; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Martin Hartmann of Pomona, N.Y.; and Evelyn Jacobs of Walker Valley, N.Y.

The service was scheduled to be held this Wednesday at 11 at the A.S. Cole Funeral Home, 22 North Main Street, Cranbury; the Rev. Robert L. ## Religion in Princeton ing, June 9, at 8:15 by Prof. from the Sabbath to the start of the new week, and a concept, "Why Are the Jews in the Holy Land?" Prof. Prof. Ephraim Isaac, also of Gotein, a Princeton resident, Princeton, who is visiting professor emeritus at the fessor of religion at Bard College, University of Pennsylvania lege and a Yemenite-Ethiopian and the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, where he was director of the School of Oriental Studies. He is an associate on the oldest Jewish community in existence, located at the Institute for Advanced Study and a recent recipient of many years in Yemen in a MacArthur Foundation southwest Arabia. Although the Yemenite Jews were isolated for long periods of time as "a Jewish island in an Islamic sea," they remained loyal to Jewish ways. Their culture represents a fusion of the religious and ethical traditions of Judaism with the folk attitudes of Oriental peoples.

In 1949-50 practically all of the Jews in Yemen, dispersed among some 1,100 localities, were airlifted to the newly-founded State of Israel in a modern-day Exodus termed "Operation Magic Carpet." In Israel, where they form barely four percent of the population, their influence has been felt in such areas as the study of ancient Hebrew language, Jewish literature and the Talmud, as well as in the fields of music, dance, art and handicrafts.

Area residents are welcome to attend any or all of the events of the weekend, which is being sponsored by two independent area Jewish fellowship groups as well as the Jewish Center. Reservations are required for the Sabbath luncheon, for which the donation is $2.50. Call the Jewish Center at 921-0100 for reservations and information.

FINE SMALL HOUSE FOR A SMALL FAMILY

within walking distance of Pennington schools and stores, but with a view into the woods across the street, and a lovely, nicely landscaped and fenced yard for privacy of its own. Living room, nice dining ell, kitchen, laundry and half bath on the first floor, 3 bedrooms and bath on the second, with spill-over space in the paneled basement room. Newish roof and furnace, exterior and interior freshly painted. Appealing! Let us show it to you. $120,000 in a stunning residence on six plus wooded acres. Formal entry court with miniature fruit and espaliered trees, imposing 2 story stucco home in a neo-classic design. It offers lovely, light soaring open spaces that make up the living, dining and kitchen areas of the first floor. Upstairs, a private master bedroom suite with library, loft and deck; in a separate wing, 2 more bedrooms, each with deck, and shared bath.

A TOUCH OF CLASS

Flanking one side of the entry courtyard is a charming guest house of large living room or office, sleeping alcove, and 1/2 bath - all with its own private terrace. Potential apartment, anyone?

This is an exciting new listing for a very special buyer.

Offered at $450,000

BAYARD COURT IN PRINCETON

Minutes from the center of Princeton: newly constructed condominiums designed for the ultimate in energy-efficiency

From full basement to the thermostatically controlled attic fan, Bayard Court condominiums have been designed and constructed with extraordinary attention to detail. Remarkable standards of energy-efficiency have been achieved through such features as Carrier SuperSaver gas burners, air-lock entry systems, Perma-Shield windows, and extra insulation in ceilings and walls. Every unit is positioned for full southern exposure with sliding glass doors to take advantage of passive solar heat during sunny, winter days. Overhanging eaves provide protection from mid-day summer sun. Four season greenhouses are also available as an optional extra.

(Mountain Ave. and Bayard Lane)
Bayard Court condominiums are priced from $152,000.
They are available for viewing now, ready for occupancy.

PEOPLE In The News

In his senior year at Dartmouth College, David A. Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Ellis of Ewing Street, has already founded a host of successful businesses. The most successful to date, Custom Caps International, which he founded nine months ago, expects sales this year of $40,000 to $50,000.

Mr. Ellis' first major business venture began in the fall of his junior year when he and a fellow lightweight oarsman decided to sell T-shirts at Dartmouth's Winter Carnival festival. Initially hoping to sell a few dozen shirts, the two aggressively marketed the shirts at nearby women's colleges and began selling door-to-door. The hard work paid off handsomely; they eventually sold over 1,000 shirts to the carnival-goers.

Buoyed by his initial success with the T-shirts, Mr. Ellis moved on to selling painter caps, because of the higher markup and smaller investment required. With another partner, Mr. Ellis quickly capitalized on the college market, and by last October, Custom Caps International was wholesaling to campus representatives at more than 50 colleges throughout the Northeast. In addition to working 40 to 50 hours per week on his painter cap business, Mr. Ellis, an economics major, maintained a 3.8 grade point average his junior year.

The young entrepreneur founded several more successful business ventures in the fall term of his senior year. These included delivering "Exam Survival Kits" to freshmen, selling live lobsters on weekends in southern New Hampshire, and selling over 350 Christmas trees (which he purchased from a farmer in Quebec) on a vacant lot in Sudbury, Mass. during Christmas break.

Mr. Ellis' latest project is a 16-month "Men of the Ivy League" calendar, scheduled to appear in college bookstores in late August of this year. Ellis already has orders from bookstores and distributors throughout the U.S. for about 2,000 calendars, and he is hoping to sell as many as 10,000. One advantage to running several businesses at the same time is that one can finance another. Ellis is using some of the profits from Custom Caps International to pay for the printing of his "Men of the Ivy League" calendar.

As one might expect, the 21-year-old Lawrenceville alumnus intends to continue his activities after graduating from Dartmouth this spring. He has just completed preliminary research indicating a potential multi-million dollar market for a business which involves the use of high technology to produce innovative advertising. He expects this to be his biggest venture yet.

Robert A. Scott, professor of sociology at Princeton University, has accepted the position of associate director at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences in Stanford, Calif.

Dr. Scott, who is also Director of the Graduate Program in Sociology, has been affiliated with Princeton University since 1966. He is known for his work in the field of social deviance, labelling theory and the effects of socially stigmatizing conditions.

He has written numerous books and articles on blindness, most notably "The Making of Blind Men," on mental illness and the history of mental institutions, and on the social stigma of handicapping conditions. Most recently he has conducted a two-year study of patterns of bisexuality in America. A book, with results from the study, will be published in the spring of 1984. Dr. Scott will assume his new duties this summer.

John McCormick of Princeton is a freshman midfielder on the Union College (Schenectady, N.Y.) lacrosse team. A graduate of Lawrenceville School last year, he is one of three freshmen on the team.

Stephen Bender, D.D.S. of Princeton will appear on an upcoming segment of "Consumer Line," a television show broadcast by New Jersey Network.

Dr. Bender, a former president and active member of the Mercer Dental Society, will discuss consumer questions about dentistry and will suggest guidelines for choosing a good dentist with host Susan Sikora on Tuesday, June 14. The show will air at 7 p.m. on channel 52.

Dr. Bender serves as chairman of the Professional Relations Committee of Mercer Dental Society and is a member of the Society's delegation to the House of Delegates of the New Jersey United States Army, daughter Dental Association. He also is of Ann Freda, successfully chairman of the Peer Review completed the Advanced Council of the New Jersey Medical Laboratory Course. Two Princeton residents have won corporate-sponsored "Mrs. Wilson was instrumental in getting the committee's proposal approved by the Board and was there to defend the regulations against attacks in the legislature, the community and the media," notes the Forum announcement. She was honored "in recognition of her outstanding dedication and unfailing determination to make this progressive step a reality."

Mrs. Wilson helped organize and presently serves as the chairperson for the New Jersey Network for Family Life Education (NJNFLE), a group of 31 statewide public and private organizations united to promote community awareness and understanding of family life education in the schools. The Network makes its services available to community groups and agencies, school parent groups and church groups by identifying the resources available and clarifying the guidelines governing the family life program.

New Jersey, Maryland and the District of Columbia are the only jurisdictions to mandate inclusion of sex education in the school's curriculum. Eight other states encourage instruction. No state prohibits family life education, but Louisiana does bar sex education prior to the seventh grade.

A graduate of Vassar College, Mrs. Wilson received her Masters of Education from the Bank Street College in New York and at one time worked as a researcher and writer for Life magazine. She also served as executive assistant for the U.S. Teachers Program, implementing a $250,000 federal grant for inner city school improvement. A former reporter for the N.J. Office of Economic Opportunity, she is also a freelance writer who has been published in the New York Times and Teacher magazine.

Ready, Amateurs?
The Yellow Brick Toad nightclub in Lambertville will start a Sunday Night Amateur Talent Contest this Sunday. You may pick up an application at the Yellow Brick Toad, 225 Route 179, or call 397-3100 for information.
You must be at least 21 years old, and have a routine no longer than ten minutes. Since there will be no accompanist available, routines must be recorded on a tape cassette.
If you are one of the weekly winners, you will be asked to return for the finals on Sunday, August 28, and compete for a $250 grand prize.

Each of the 12 programs will have five screenings, from Wednesday through Sunday evenings of each week. There will be special screenings on Monday, July 4, and Monday, September 5.

We open with "Arthur," starring Dudley Moore as a poor little alcoholic rich boy, Liza Minelli as the poor but dishonest waitress and Sir John Gielgud as the butler. With "Arthur" will be Blake Edwards' "Victor, Victoria," with Julie Andrews as a female impersonator.

Then, "An Officer and a Gentleman," an update of the service romances of the '40s, combined with "Body Heat" a moody thriller from the Raymond Chandler school.

"Chariots of Fire," the story of two British track stars in the 1924 Olympics, will combine with the Australian film, "Gallipoli."

In "Diva," Jean-Jacques Beineix has a surrealistic thriller about a teen-age Paris mailman and an American opera singer. You'll remember it from last year's Summer Cinema. It will be screened with Kubrick's "A Clockwork Orange," the vision of a future in which western society has become a mod slum.

an ambitious reporter and Paul Newman as the innocent victim she destroys booked with the adaptation of "All the President's Men," starring Robert Redford and Dustin Hoffman as Woodward and Bernstein.

Germany is the location and the theme of two more summer cinemas. One of the films is Gunter Grass' "The Tin Drum" and the other is "Das Boot", the latter sometimes described as "the best submarine movie ever made by anyone anywhere."

"True Confessions" is John Gregory Dunne's adaptation of his own Southern-California detective novel about an ambitious young priest and his brother, a Los Angeles detective. You'll see it with "Atlantic City", in which Burt Lancaster plays an aging gangster in retirement.

Another Australian film, "My Brilliant Career", stars Judy Davis as a feisty young turn-of-the-century Australian woman who wants to be a writer. McCart combines it with "The French Lieutenant's Woman," the John Fowles novel adapted for the screen by Harold Pinter, and starring Meryl Streep and Jeremy Irons.

The final program, booked for Labor Day week-end, will be "My Favorite Year", in which Peter O'Toole plays a sudden film idol scheduled for a guest spot on a TV program. It will have two co-features: "Breaking Away," the story about bicyclists in Bloomington, Indiana, and "Diner," a look at middle-class relations between the sexes, set in the 1950s before the sexual revolution.

WINNERS AND CLASSES
For Ballet Workshop. Four young dancers from the Ballet Workshop school received top marks at the Teen Arts Festival at Mercer County Community College last month. The four are Dawn Holland, Margarita Garcia, Lynette Langere and Justine Dennis.

Looking ahead to summer, the Ballet Workshop is planning its eighth annual summer workshop course to run June 20 through July 30. Classes will be held in the Art People Place, 102 Witherspoon.

The young winning dancers received their top marks for performance, technique, presentation, suitability of material, costuming and artistry. They performed excerpts arranged for them by the school's director, Imogen Stooke Wheeler, including the Pas de Six and Pas de Trois from "Napoli" and the duet from "William Tell."

APARRI ALUMNA: Sarah Rothrock, recently with the Berlin Ballet in West Germany, will dance a variation from "Giselle" when she plays the part of "The Professional Dancer" in the spring children's dance recitals at The Aparri School. Ms. Rothrock received her original training from Aparri. She will be dancing with the San Antonio (Texas) Ballet starting in September.

They are one of nine groups selected to represent Mercer County at the state level on June 1, and the only ballet group in the area to be so honored.

During the summer workshop, daily classes will be held in ballet technique, pointe work, pas de deux and repertoire; group sessions in modern technique, choreographic experimentation, improvisation, gesture and stress-release.

Theatre make-up, mime and work on costume creation are all in the curriculum. The workshop will conclude with a public performance of a classic, and a work choreographed by the students during the summer.

Faculty members, in addition to Ms. Wheeler, will include Laura Gates, dancer with the Lar Lubovitch Dance Company and Julia Simone, formerly of the Royal Ballet, now on the faculty of Harkness House of Ballet Arts in New York.

Ms. Wheeler has scheduled open classes in the evening twice a week for intermediate-advanced level ballet, and once a week for national, character and Spanish dance.

"THE DINING ROOM"
Next Season at McCart Theatre, Nagle Jackson, Artistic Director of McCart Theatre, has announced his choice for the fourth show in the '83-'84 season.

It will be "The Dining Room," by A.R. Gurney, a contemporary comedy currently playing at the Astor Place Theatre in New York.

In "The Dining Room," the playwright has used that meeting-place room of the American family as a frame, within which actors present scenes from everyday life—past and present, humorous and sad, real and larger-than-life. Six actors—three men and three women—share the roles, and each will portray over 40 characters.

Other Gurney plays are "The Middle Ages," "The Golden Fleece" and "Scenes from American Life." A novelist as well as playwright, he is the author of "The Gospel According to Joe" and "Entertaining Strangers."

TRIANGLE RETURNS:

June 3-4, "Under the Influence," the 94th annual musical from Princeton University's Triangle Club, will return Reunion Week-end, with performances at 8:30 Friday, June 3, and 8 and 10 p.m., Saturday, June 4, all at McCarter Theatre.

Director Stuart Ross says his "spectacular" cast helps make "Under the Influence" "one of Triangle's most exciting productions."

The musical, cast in revue form, examines the roles of power, politics and persuasion in American life. (All that, and a kickline, too!) Terry Rieser has choreographed and Debra Stein did the costumes.

AUDITIONS: 'GREASE'

At Theatre-by-the-Lake. For its tenth anniversary show, Theatre-by-the-Lake on the Peddie School campus in Hightstown has chosen the musical "Grease."

Auditions will be held at 7 p.m. Sunday and Monday, June 5-6 in Geiger-Reeves Hall on the Peddie campus, South Main and Ward Streets. Performances will be Fridays and Saturdays, July 8-9 and 15-16, and Elizabeth Brienza.

MUSIC

In Princeton

OFF TO ICELAND
For Concert Tour. Twenty-six youngsters, ages 11-13, of The American Boychoir, have departed on a two week tour of Iceland.

Accompanied by music director John Kuzma and staff members of The American Boychoir School, the boys are on a concert tour sponsored by Karlakorinn Fostbraedur, the male choir of Iceland, that has been made possible by Flugleidir, or Icelandair.

Thoughts of a trip to Iceland began almost five years ago when Landau's gave an Icelandic sweater to each boy singing carols in the central business district at Christmas time. A Christmas tradition was born—carolling for the town dressed in the familiar hand-knit sweaters. This year the Boychoir was in touch with the Icelandic male choir during its 1982 tour to the United States.

Area residents who are members of this touring choir include Benjamin Farrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Farrell, 129 Hodge Road; Douglas Mosle, 7 Castle Howard Court; Gabriel Ostriker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Ostriker, 33 Phillip Drive;

Also, David Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Edwards, 20 Merion Place, Lawrenceville; Peter Eglitis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgars Eglitis of 23 Ludlow Avenue, and a joint concert with the Belle Mead; and Saul Ferris, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ferris, 25 Van Dyke Road, Hopewell.

Among the highlights of the trip will be a concert/reception at the residence of the president of Iceland, Vigdis Furbogadottir, the only directly elected woman head of state; a concert/reception at the United States Embassy with U.S. Ambassador Marshall Bremont as host; a concert at the U.S.-staffed NATO base on Keflavik; two concerts at the historic Reykjavik Opera House; and concert and cake party with Iceland's girls' choir, Kor Oldulusskola; Eglitis of 23 Ludlow Avenue, and a joint concert with the men's choir. The boys will stay with Icelandic families.

Before leaving the U.S.,

Governor Thomas Kean presented Director Kuzma and the Boychoir with a Boehm porcelain donated by Helen Boehm, a member of the Boychoir board of directors. The porcelain is a Paleartic bird, indigenous to Iceland, and will be presented to President Vigdis by the Boychoir as a gift of friendship from New Jersey.

PIANIST TO PLAY

At Choir College. The Westminster Choir College Conservatory Division will present its final concert for the season this week.

Featured will be pianist Peter Lauffer, who has taught for the Conservatory for four years. The program is scheduled for Friday at 7:30 and will be held in Williamson Hall on the Westminster Choir College campus. Included in the performance will be works by Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Ravel and Brahms.

Mr. Lauffer was born and raised in Lawrenceville and attended the Lawrenceville School. While in high school he won the Mary Simon Gindhart Piano Scholarship Competition and performed with the Greater Trenton Symphony Orchestra. He has a bachelor's degree in piano performance from Indiana University, where he studied with Dr. Karen Shaw. He is currently a student of German Dietz in New York.

Mr. Lauffer has performed extensively in the New York in Williamson Hall, and Victoria Griswold, who will play Wednesday, July 27, at 7 p.m. in Bristol Chapel. The program will be a preview of a Carnegie Hall performance which is set for October 2.

For further information call the Westminster Conservatory Office at 924-0955. Concerts are open to the public and admission is free.

TAKES TWO PRIZES
In Piano Contests, Julie Yoo, daughter of Sung Yoo and Inook Yoo of Dodds Lane, has won two piano competitions in recent weeks.

A junior at Princeton Day School, she was selected as a winner in the statewide Talent Expo '83 and will perform in the Showcase of Stars at the Garden State Cultural Center on June 10. She also won first prize for 11th-12th graders in the Gindhart piano competition sponsored annually by the Greater Trenton Symphony Orchestra. For this she received $250 to further her music studies.

Julie is a native Korean who came to this country when she was in kindergarten. She has been at Princeton Day School since sixth grade and since 1980 has been studying piano in New York City with Mrs. Martin Canin at the Manhattan School of Music.

Julie Yoo

POPS CONCERT PLANNED
For July 3, The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra will return for an Independence Day performance complete with fireworks. The concert will be held Sunday, July 3, at the Princeton University fields.

Under the direction of conductor George Manahan, the orchestra will play a selection of marches, Broadway tunes and the classics. The finale will be a display of aerial fireworks.

The event is co-sponsored by the Princeton Chapter of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra League and the Chamber of Commerce of the Princeton Area. The audience is encouraged to bring a picnic supper and family and friends.

REGISTRATION OPENS
For Music Instruction, The Westminster Conservatory, a division of Westminster Choir College, has opened registration for the summer term. The Conservatory offers private lessons in most musical instruments and voice, Suzuki instruction in violin and piano, and several group course offerings. The Conservatory will be open from June 1 through August 31. Information and registration forms are available by contacting the Conservatory at 924-0955.

New and returning students may register for lessons in multiples of four and arrange a schedule that is mutually convenient for the student and the teacher. This flexible scheduling allows students to create an intensive music program or to study on a limited basis during the summer months.

The summer term course offerings include classes for students of all ages. A "Chamber Music" course of ensemble playing will be held on Wednesday evenings in July. Presented in a master class format, the course is open to intermediate and advanced players on all instruments. "Introduction to Piano for Adults" will provide group instruction in the College's versatile Electronic Piano Lab.

A "Kindermusik" program is designed to build music skills in children aged 4-6. The course is ideal preparation for later instrumental study, and children participate in singing, moving to music, playing instruments alone and in ensemble, and learn the basics of notation and sight reading. Other courses include a "Pre-Twinkle" program for very young Suzuki violin beginners, and "Group Suzuki," a course that supplements private instruction with an emphasis on ensemble playing.

Summer String Festival '83 will be held from June 20 through June 24 at the Westminster Conservatory. The Festival activities include classes in repertoire, chamber music, music reading and fundamentals, ear training, movement and string orchestra. Registration is limited but is still open to students of all ages and abilities.

TWEEDS FOR HIM
New at the Marketplace. Mr. Robert Savino is not kidding when he says that his clothing for men is "off price." Designer sportswear, Izod shirts and linen blazers, stunning silk neck ties, sports and dress shirts are all available at his attractive new shop in the Marketplace called Tweeds, Gentleman's Togs.

The young owner, who will soon open his fourth shop, is committed to the concept of "better goods at better prices all year round." He makes sure that his merchandise is current so that his customers will not have to wait until the end of the season for a good buy. The clothing he features in his handsome shop reflect his own good taste, classic yet updated styles which will appeal to most shoppers from the area. Certainly his prices will convince one that it's worth the trip — only "minutes from Nassau Street," as Mr. Savino reminds his customers. Savings up to 50 percent are tempting!

"I have been working on this concept for two and a half years. I felt that there was a void in the market for a shop like this, a pleasant environment with good clothes at lower prices. I finally got it together and opened four weeks ago," says the owner, who was drawn to the retail business at the ripe old age of 14 when he worked in a boys clothing store. Anyone who has combed the large discount stores in search of good buys with supermarket basket reeling will appreciate the unhurried civilized atmosphere of Tweeds, where quality not quantity is stressed.

Shoppers will recognize all of the good brands featured here. An opening offer of Izod shirts for only $17.99 sold more than six hundred shirts in a few days. Activewear by Polo, Calvin Klein, Rod Chereskin, Woolrich, Adolfo, Boathouse Row, Le Tigre, Camp and many other famous houses are nicely displayed. The Polo sweats and those by Rod Chereskin are comfortable and chic. Calvin Klein jeans continue to be a favorite with men and women, but jeans of all types are sold at Tweeds, including the comfortable skeets, a white cotton pant perfect for summer.

Shorts and Trousers. Corduroy shorts by Woolrich are a popular item around town, as are the simple classic cotton twills, denims, and canvas trousers which come in several colors such as navy, khaki, yellow and white. Summer grey flannels in two shades provide the classic look with one of the Izod or Stanley Blacker navy blazers. The jackets are also available in several colors, "summery but not too flashy" such as ivory, pale yellow, hunter green, and a medium blue. At $119 shoppers cannot go wrong.

Windbreakers and cotton knit sweaters will keep your favorite man warm on blustery days and in the evenings. Good-looking knits in summer stripes and natural grey blends by Woolrich and Boathouse Row are always useful and not too warm.

Anyone who has wandered through the dress shirt department of a large store will know how bewildering an experience it can be. At Tweeds, the finest quality shirts are neatly organized in wall shelves making selection as easy as possible. It will be fun to buy two instead of one shirt because the prices are so good. One hundred percent cotton or the 65-35 percent blend shirts by Enro, Bill Blass, Calvin Klein, and Stanley Blacker to mention a few will make ideal Father's Day gifts. Ranging in size from small to extra large, there is a wide assortment of summer sports shirting too in the latest plaids and stripes. Many of the colors are muted this year. The collarless Egyptian cotton shirts are stunning.

WOMEN'S CLOTHING: Discounted sportswear and dresses by a famous maker from North Carolina are featured at a new store in the Marketplace — The Way Station managed by Mrs. Barbara Lederman. Colorful all cotton and blended fabrics in skirts, golfing wear, pants, knit polo tops, blouses and pretty sun dresses for summer are available at excellent prices.

"The standard useful oxford cloth button downs and tattersalls will take a customer to Wall Street. Add a bright colored tie and you've got a more updated look for dancing or dinner out," explains Mr. Savino as he combines several shirts and ties together to demonstrate how colors and textures can blend nicely. Dress shirts with white collars are a popular feature at Tweeds which has a terrific selection of silk ties as well. Neckwear by Liberty of London, and many other well-known brands are reduced by 40 percent, another chance for a thoughtful gift for that special father. Hours are Monday through Wednesday from 10 to 6, Thursdays and Fridays until 9:30, Saturdays from 10 to 6 and on Sunday from 12 to 5.

railroad stop in North Carolina from where most of the merchandise is sent by a well-known manufacturer. It is the perfect place to go if you are looking for the cool classic lines so comfortable in the warmer months. Clothes found here will be worn for many years to come because the all cotton and cotton blended sweaters, skirts, pants, blouses and dresses will never go out of style.

"One of the greatest features of our store is that it is an outlet store with prices up to 50 percent less but the quality and workmanship is just as good, if not better, than clothing found in the retail stores," says manager Mrs. Barbara Lederman. She adds that because the shop is small she and her staff can offer customers the same kind of service a retail store often does, such as co-ordinating colors with other pieces and mix-matching fabrics and textures.

The Way Station, which opened April 2, is in good hands because Mrs. Lederman brings years of retail and buying experience to her work.

"I have been in the business for 18 years. My father was in the clothing business too," explains Mrs. Lederman, who began her career in Macy's executive training program. Summer options at this shop await all sizes and shapes beginning with petites right through size 18 in skirts and pants and size 16 in bathing suits. The return to cotton clothing is evident here where much of the clothing is all cotton, far cooler than the blends. For starters cotton mesh sweaters are very important in fashion this season. They are cool but give women some warmth inside for 18 years. My father was in the clothing business too," explains Mrs. Lederman, who began her career in Macy's executive training program.

Not Just Average Sizes. Styles include: cardigans, short-sleeved pull-overs, and long-sleeved crew necks. The bright vivid pinks and blues through size 18 in skirts and pants and size 16 in bathing suits. The return to cotton clothing is evident here where much of the clothing is all cotton, far cooler than the blends. For starters cotton mesh sweaters are very Madras has returned once again. The Way Station features long pants, the newer Bermuda short length and skirts in these classic plaids which always look handsome in summer. Soft pastels, and cheerful print skirts in varied styles with self-belts or elasticized waists will please the shopper. Golfing ladies will be able to select their whole sports wardrobe at the shop, which has many colorful golfing skirts and hundreds of cotton knit polo shirts for any sport from which to choose.

The bold play of stripes in primary colors will make your sundress a smashing summer statement this season. They vary from the very simple beach dress to ones with ruffles that are dressy enough for most parties. These cool options will be appreciated when the humidity begins to rise!

We thought that the shirt-dress had disappeared. Wrong! The Way Station has a nice selection as well as one piece bathing attire for the youthful and the mature figure.

This shop is serious about saving its customers money. A book called "SOS Save On Shopping," a national guide to discount stores by Iris Ellis is on sale at the register. Hours are from 10 to 6 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Saturday, Thursday and Friday until 9; and Sunday 12 to 5.

SIMPLER DAYS, SIMPLER WAYS. A Chinese portfolio of transportation drawings from the nineteenth century, on display at The Eye For Art, captures images of a way of life that has long since vanished.

ART In Princeton

PLASTIC CONSTRUCTIONS
Innovations of George Greene. In the years immediately after World War II the fine arts were in a state of flux. At the time, new forms, new materials and new artists appeared in significant numbers. The work that appeared during those years changed the definition of art forever.

Plastic, then a relatively new material, was one of the substances that was adopted by a small group of innovative artists. And, in 1949, one of the first collections of art made from plastic was exhibited at the Addison Gallery in Andover, Mass.

George Greene, a long time resident of the Princeton Community, was among the artists using an entirely new visual syntax, whose works were included in the landmark exhibition. In fact, "Rectangles in a Cube," one of Greene's entries in the important display, was chosen as the most popular in the show and is now part of The Addison's collection.

Several plastic constructions by George Greene are currently on display at the Art Master's Gallery on Spring Street. The then innovative, now comfortably familiar forms are part of a retrospective display that spans almost a half century of Greene's career.

George Greene did not always work as an artist. During the 1930s he taught English at The Lawrenceville School.
At the time, however, he describes himself as having taken "tentative" steps toward being a full time artist.
He studied with Yasuo Kuniyoshi, Morris Kantor and Ralph Pearson. He then switched to teaching art, and exhibitions soon followed.

Plastic Possibilities.
Although more than three decades have passed since the first exhibition of Greene's significant early work in plastic, the material continues to interest him. He describes it as having infinite possibilities and explains that although the plastics he uses today are similar to the original materials that he employed, his treatment has changed over the years.

The constructions in the exhibition are good examples of some of the ways in which he employs his materials. Many are similar in style, but not identical to the earliest work.
In the exhibited work, pieces of clear and translucent plastics, often in color, are used to create simple, almost stark, geometric arrangements.

Light is probably the most important element in these almost minimal works. The tinted, translucent materials form delicate color relationships. Light and color join to create tonal blends and new shapes that seem to float in space.

Greene explains that the luminosity in these works is a most important element. He says that in the beginning he often dyed clear plastic but the colors, which were often deeper and more subtle, were not as responsive to light.

George Greene's most recent work in plastic is quite different from his earlier forms. Unlike the earlier works, he develops a more distinctive three-dimensional effect that he describes as similar to bas relief. In these, he exchanges the color and pure geometry of the earlier works for more complex forms and a monochromatic surface.

The artist explains that these recent constructions are transitional in character: that he is currently developing still other applications. Among them, he says, are collages in which the plastics are mixed with other materials and, sometimes, painted with acrylics for a more complex visual mix.

Throughout the years
Greene has worked in a variety of media and examples of these are included in the retrospective display. Among them are intricate line drawings whose complex construction and figurative imagery contrast strongly with the simplicity and the purity of the plastics. And, in his surface painting in acrylics, the artist develops an opacity and sense of weight that is a radical departure from the lightness and translucent character of his earliest works.

There is, however, some collage and water based work in which clarity of color is a major characteristic. In addition, there is non-objective sculpture which is closest to

News Of Clubs and Organizations

The American Association of University Women will meet Wednesday at 6:30 for its annual supper at All Saint's Church. Wine punch will be served, followed by quiche, salad and dessert. New officers will be installed and Martha Karaker, National AAUW vice president, will be present.

Prospective members and guests are welcome. Those interested in attending should call Pat Cahill at (201) 359-2272 for information.

The Committee On Latin America will sponsor a talk by Walter Herring, managing editor of the Trenton Times this Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the Original Trenton Coffee House, 15 South Broad Street (enter on Front Street, Commons Parking Lot).

Mr. Herring will discuss his recent trip to El Salvador, including eyewitness accounts of the civil war and interviews with Napoleon Duarte and American military advisors. Members of the Committee will supplement the discussion with historical background information.

Peter M. O'Neill of Strauss Wills O'Neill & Voorhees, Attorneys at Law, has been unanimously elected president of the board of trustees to the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association. Mr. O'Neill has served on the board of directors as a member of the finance and development committees.

Assisting Mr. O'Neill on the executive board are Karen C. Hegener, Pennington, Vice President; David H. McAlpin, Jr., Skillman resident, Treasurer; and Patricia Morrissey of Princeton, secretary.

Other trustees serving are Yvonne Bleiman, Gail Barrows, Thomas P. Cook, Luli Gund, Sarah Hollister, Samuel de Turo, Lawrence Houston, Jr., Rosanna Jaffin, Robert C. Johnston, Vera Kohn, Pat Light, Gary Mount, Mary O'Leary, Thomas O'Neill, Steve Picco, Kathleen Roberts, Hope Robertson, S. Wyman Rolph III, Richard Sneeker, Susanna Waterman, and Ann Massa.

The Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, with 1200 members under the direction of Mr. O'Neill, will continue to address local problems relative to land usage, waterways and statewide management plans for protecting drinking water sources. Anyone interested in further information is encouraged to call Mr. O'Neill through the Watersheds' office, 737-3735.

Chinese Drawings at Eye for Art. A nineteenth century Chinese portfolio of transportation drawings captures the charm of simpler days. Tinted drawings, almost primitive in style, depict cheerful workmen and passengers being pulled about by equally cheerful looking horses and oxen. Delicate, almost sparse in conception, these pleasant works are reminiscent of children's book illustrations of an earlier era.

A collection of eighteenth and nineteenth century botanical prints, also on view, are more sophisticated in both style and concept. Finely rendered, hand colored copperplate images, by some of the better known botanical illustrators of the past, combine scientific accuracy with richness of detail and often exquisite line.

PRINTS, AT BANK

By Eight Artists. A mixed-media show by eight print makers living in the Princeton area will be on display in the main office of the First National Bank — 90 Nassau — through June 2.

Etchings by Jane Eccles, Doris Hartmann and Jan Dalzell; monoprints by Minna Kirzenbaum; drawings by Julia Gordon; wood-block prints by Shari Homes; tapestries by Hanneke DeNeve and figurative plaster reliefs by Margo Gotoff are all on view.

CHEMIST AS PAINTER

Exhibit, in Rocky Hill, Lawrenceville painter Jody Furch, a research chemist with FMC and a self-taught artist, is exhibiting in the Montgomery National Bank, Rocky Hill. The show will be up through June 2.

Using primarily acrylics, he executes paintings that are a realistic capturing of the interaction of humans and nature, with elements of abstraction.

SPORTS In Princeton

TRACK TEAM FALTERS
At ICAA Championship, Princeton University's track team, which pulled off one of the major upsets in its sport last year by winning the ICAA track championships for the first time, failed this year in its effort to retain the title.

The meet, held at Villanova, Pa., was won by George Mason University, a school that had been as unheralded in track this year as Princeton was a year ago. The Tigers finished fourth, but only nine points behind George Mason in the highly competitive field — and well within striking distance of the title if a few events had turned out differently.

One such event was the 400-meter hurdle race, which the Tigers' Augie Wolf, this year Wolf concentrated on the shot put, which he won in a heavy rainstorm with a meet record performance of 65-feet, 8 1/2 inches. He slipped to third place in the discus.

Peter Arduino had the talent to win the 400-meter intermediate hurdles, but stumbled over the last barrier and finished in second place. Mike Gray finished second in the triple jump; Matt Farmer raced to a sixth place finish in the steeplechase, and Brad Urschel took third place in the decathlon. Princeton seems certain to be headed for a rebuilding year in its track program: all the individual point scorers for the Tigers at the ICAs were seniors.

Farnsworth Eliminated. The University's number one tennis player, Ted Farnsworth, won his first two matches in the NCAA tournament last week, before being ousted in the third round by the number three seed, Rodney Harmon of SMU. Earlier this year Farnsworth shocked the college tennis world by winning the national indoor tournament.

ament, held at Jadwin Gym. The season is over for the Princeton baseball team, except for five Tigers scheduled to compete in the annual New Jersey college baseball all star game this Wednesday in Linhurst. Seniors Steve Korish and Paul Steinhauser and freshmen Dan Arendas, Marc Goldenberg, and Todd Leavitt will play on the south team, managed by Princeton coach Tom O'Connell.

NEVER ON SUNDAY
Schultheis Rejects Pros. Princeton football co-captain Jon Schultheis, the only Ivy League player selected in this year's professional football college draft, has rejected the invitation from the Philadelphia Eagles and will work instead toward an eventual career as a minister.

The 6-foot-3, 270-pound offensive lineman from Keansburg told reporters that his religious beliefs included obeying the letter and spirit of the Fourth Commandment, "Remember the Sabbath Day and keep it holy." Since the vast majority of National Football League games are played on Sunday, Schultheis felt that he would not be able to compete.

Instead of taking the Eagles' signing bonus, which would have permitted him to pay off his educational loans at Princeton, Schultheis will work in another field for several years and then enroll at the Pentecostal Church seminary in Brant Lake, N.Y. The Princeton senior hopes to follow in the direction of his father, a former minor league baseball player who became a minister and now oversees a church of 125 worshippers in Keansburg.

Lightweights to IRA
Princeton's championship Varsity Lightweight crew, which finished its regular season undefeated with a victory in the Sprints at Worcester, Mass., will have a chance to practice against some strong competition before heading for the Henley Regatta, which begins June 14 in England. The Tiger lightweights will join Princeton's heavyweights at Syracuse June 2 to 4 in the IRA Regatta. The lightweights will be an unofficial entry, but on a good day could well finish ahead of some of the 14 or so heavyweight crews that are expected to compete.

case of windburn from flying projectiles. As it was, that was nothing compared to the carnage that Hightstown had wrought two days earlier. The Rams obliterated the Little Tigers with a 19-hit cannonading for a 22-4 victory.

It is all going to end for PHS on Thursday when the Little Tigers entertain West Windsor at 3:45 in its season's finale. It was not as if the Little Tigers did not get in their own shots against Ewing. Sophomore Gavin Hulsman had a double and two singles and drove in two runs. Jason Petrone had an RBI single. Terry Phox doubled and DH Mickey Carnevale rapped two singles. Mike Petrone contributed a single—all in the first three innings when PHS scored once in each frame. With that firepower (PHS ended with 10 hits, the same number as Ewing), the Little Tigers should have plated twice as many runs but they were thwarted by some fine defensive plays by the visitors.

Instead of an upset and its sixth win, PHS was pounded into its 13th defeat in 13 games. Ewing, a perennial contender on the diamond, after losing two and tying one in its first three games, has come on to win 15 of its next 16. The Blue Devils are ranked number one in the County tournament and are battling Notre Dame for league honors. How come?

It's no mystery to PHS coach Ed Beacham. Ewing fields 32 Babe Ruth league teams; PHS has to scrape to form three. Beacham pointed out, "That's where it's all at."

Hard To Compete. "Counting Little League and Babe Ruth, these kids have played together seven, eight years by the time they get to the varsity," continued Beacham. "It's very hard to compete."

"You may beat them once or catch them on an off day, but over the course of season after season you just are not going to beat this club. They have a very fine team."

The whole reason for the CVC (Colonial Valley Conference) Beacham said, was to give the smaller schools like Princeton, Hopewell and Lawrence the chance to break out and compete on their own level. "Now," he added, "Ewing's in, Steinert and Hamilton will be in next year ... we're right back to the Mercer County League."

Beacham was not complaining, just explaining. He cited Hulsman for his three hits and Mike Petrone for his two. "Mickey Carnevale stung the ball hard," he added, "and John Sherin had a couple of nice stops at third and had a hit. You can always find a couple of nice things."

Murderers' Row. After Ewing had tied the game in the fourth on a triple and delayed double steal, they sent three runs across in the next innings. It began ominously when pitcher Dino D'Angelo, Sherin and catcher Ralph Carnevale led Tom Elder's sky-high pop drop in between them for a two-base error. Scott Paterson, who had homered in his previous appearance, walked and Ken Nelson sent both home with the first of his two triples. Dave Wadding then singled sharply to send Nelson home. Facing Nelson, Wadding and burly Andy Harder is akin to pitching to three Greg Luzinski's in a row. Ewing is not only good, they're big.

PHS appeared as if it might get some of those runs back when Mike Petrone led off Princeton's half of the fifth with his second single. Mickey Carnevale then lined a solid smash which was caught by Kier Harvey and Petrone was easily doubled off first.

"That's been the story of my season," sighed Carnevale as he returned to the bench. Harter's single, Nelson's triple, Wadding's double added up for two more runs for Ewing in the final inning as the Blue Devils unloaded once more against D'Angelo. After a glittering long running catch by Terry Phox, of Mike Pasquito's long drive robbed Ewing of still another extra base hit, Mark Rubino singled home Ewing's final run.

Ewing's veteran coach Andy Greener agreed after the game that, "We had a pretty good defense." It was no more evident in the third when PHS filled the bases with no outs against starter John Capuano. Ewing got out of the inning with one run when they turned Ralph Carnevale's bouncer into a double play and left-fielder Pasquito robbed D'Angelo of extra bases with a diving catch of a sinking line drive.

STICKMEN END SEASON
With Big Win. The Princeton High School lacrosse team ended its season last week with a crunching 17-5 victory over Bontion.

The win, coupled with an 8-7 victory over Johnson Regional earlier, left the Little Tigers

Sports Fans! I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW
Although Billy Martin is one of the most sought-after managers in baseball, how many pennants would you say he has won in his managerial career? ... Martin has been a big league manager for 14 seasons, and has won 2 pennants — in 1976 and 1977 with the Yankees.

THE BUCKS STOP HERE. A famous slogan, but not true with S.D.B. claim payments.

One of the most amazing upsets in boxing history happened when a 37-year-old man, who had never been heavyweight champion before, stepped into the ring and won the heavyweight title of the world ... It happened in 1951 when 37-year-old Jersey Joe Walcott knocked out Ezzard Charles — and became the oldest man EVER to hold the heavyweight crown.

One of the most unusual trades in baseball history happened on Aug. 3, 1960 when, for the first and only time, 2 big league managers were traded for each other. The Indians sent their manager, Joe Gordon, to the Tigers for their manager, Jimmy Dykes ... It was an even-up trade, one manager for another.

It was a 5-9 record for the year. It wasn't enough for first-year coach Peter Larsen. "Not good enough; I expected more," said Larsen.

Larsen summed up the season with two comments. It was a learning experience for him, he said, and as far as the team's performance throughout the season, his one-word observation was "inconsistent."

Larsen will lose 10 from the squad to graduation including six starters: Scott Gabrielsen, Willie Whittaker, Ken Varvel, Matt Kinnan, Alec Hoke, and goalie Alex Taft. Michael Finzi who played so well in front of the net in the final game also departs.

"We'll be pretty strong at attack and defense next year," predicted Larsen, "but we'll be weak at midfield where the loss of Gabrielsen and Hoke is a big hole to fill."

Gabrielsen, a standout midget for the team the past three years, finished second in scoring with 40 points. Whittaker had 37, while junior attack Chris Carrington led the team with 42 points.

Five For Gabrielsen. In the final game, Gabrielsen led the potent PHS attack with five goals and three assists for eight points. Carrington contributed five more goals and an assist.

Whittaker had three goals and "Troy" Norris and sophomore Keith Greer one each. Larsen cited the play of Finzi "he had a fantastic game" in front of the net for helping to keep the visitors in check.

"We played very well," said Larsen. The game was stopped with about six minutes left because of lightning.

Game-Winner by Kinnan. A goal with 14 seconds left to play by Kinnan—his second of the game—brought the Little Tigers to an exciting victory over Johnson Regional. PHS had led, 7-5, with a few minutes remaining, but Johnson was able to tie the score in a hectic climactic finish before Kinnan saved it for the Blue and White.

Joining Kinnan with two goals each for PHS were Carrington, Gabrielsen and Norris. Larsen described the win as "a complete team effort."

SECOND WIN ELUSIVE For Girls Softball Team. The Princeton High girls softball team was still looking for that second win following an 11-7 loss to Ewing last week. The 1-15 Little Tigers will end their long season Thursday when they play host to West Windsor in a 3:45 contest at Community Park.

In a sense, the loss to Ewing was an accomplishment: the team's first win in 1983.

margin was a lot less than in previous games.

PHS grabbed a 7-4 lead in the third inning when it scored six runs, the big blow a three-run double by Monica Greenland. Sue Hendrickson and Diana Schmidt drove in Princeton's other runs.

The Little Tigers, however, could not contain the Blue Devils. They chipped away at hurler Marcy Murray for two runs in each of the fourth, fifth and sixth innings and one more in the seventh. It was the victors' fifth win against twelve setbacks.

PHS VS HOPEWELL In State Tennis Final. For the third time this season, Princeton High School will oppose the Hopewell High tennis team — only this time the stakes are much higher.

The Little Tigers, winner of 17 of 18 matches this year, will take on the 16-4 Bulldogs in the year's predicted final, "but we'll be weak at midfield where the loss of Gabrielsen and Hoke is a big hole to fill."

witz who hung on to win his tenth without a loss.

Aside from a first-inning chopper that went for a hit, Stout held the Spartans to that lone safety through the first five innings. Hun broke the scoreless tie in its half of the fifth when Marty Sumners doubled home Matt Wheaton who had singled. After Steiner had gone ahead with a pair of runs in the sixth which featured a leadoff triple by Herb Goetz, Hun rallied to tie the game in the seventh inning on an RBI single by Wheaton, sending the contest into extra innings. Hun might have ended it right there but Spartan first baseman Harry Coleman made a self-defense catch of Chris Hunninghake's line drive and turned it into a double play.

"That's the game; if the ball goes through we win," said McQuade.

In the ninth, Steiner combined a walk, ground out and single to score the go-ahead run and then added three more insurance runs on a triple by Tony Manto.

Hun outlast Steiner, 10-7, as Paul Pintella, Sumners and Hunninghake all cracked doubles for the losers. The loss was Hun's seventh against 13 wins; Steiner climbed to 15-4.

"It could have been one of those things," said McQuade, mulling over the close loss. "Who knows what might have happened if we beat Steiner."

In State Prep Final. Earlier in the week, Hun defeated Lawrenceville School for the second time this season, 4-3, to advance to the final round of the prep school Class A state championship. Hun will oppose top-seeded Peddie for the title.

Pintella was the batting hero again for Hun. His seventh home run of the season in the seventh game gave Hun the win, after the Larries had tied the game with a three run outburst against Hun starter Pete Stam in the fifth. The seven homers gave Pintella the lead in the county in that department.

Hun scored one in the first on a leadoff triple by Pintella, which, McQuade said, carried farther than his home run, and a single by Hunninghake. Hun added another in the third when Pintella singled, stole second and came home again on another Hunninghake single. Wheaton's solo circuit smash in the fifth gave Hun a 3-0 lead.

Then a drop of a routine fly ball by Hun in the fifth, "kind of woke a sleeping giant," recalled McQuade. Lawrenceville followed with double, double, single to tie the game and only a fine throw to the plate by Hunninghake which cut down the lead run kept the Larries from forging ahead.

After Pintella's blast put Hun ahead, Stam set the Larries down in order in the last inning to win his ninth game against two setbacks.

After struggling to a .500 season last year, Hun has come a long way, observed McQuade. "This year we were expected to win and they are. I'm proud of my players and they deserve it."

"I can't think of any team that we lost to that we should have beaten and there are a few teams that we've upset—and that's the sign of a good team."

PHS GAINS FINAL Of Net Tourney. Princeton High gained the final round of the NJSIAA Central Jersey Group 2 state tournament Monday when it blanked Hopewell, 5-0. The Little Tigers are seeded second.

Jacob Leschly, Mark Leschly and Safi Bahcall all won their single matches without being pressed. In doubles play Princeton's Keith Goldfeld and Rob Dunham were extended by Brent and Neil Delehey before winning, 6-4, 7-5. Andy Phillips and Tim Kingston also had to struggle somewhat before taking the second doubles, 7-5, 6-3, from Tim McDougald and Dave Bovenizer. With the win, PHS raised its overall record to 18-1.

FOR THE THIRD TIME PDS Girls Win Lacrosse Title. The Princeton Day School girls lacrosse team last week won the Division A Independent Schools state lacrosse championship at Peddie by defeating town rival Stuart Country Day School, 12-5.

Senior captain and center Louise Matthews and senior right wing attack Rena Whitehouse each scored three goals to trigger the Panther offense. Contributing one goal each were Janet Zawadsky, the team's other co-captain, Annie Drezner, Megan Nape, Margie Wallace, Birgit Enstrom and Karen Callaway.

Zawadsky, Drezner and Whitehouse each scored in the first five minutes of the game to propel PDS into an early lead. Junior goalie Hilary Thomas, playing her first year in front of the net, kept Stuart in check with 11 saves. "She's really come along," said first-year coach Margo Huber.

After a slow start, PDS finished the season with a 6-7 Colonial Valley Conference track meet Saturday at Ewing season—very rewarding High with Princeton High winning the state championship, 81-79, over defending CVC champion Ewing, the Little Tigers.

Huber weren't worried. Ewing was acknowledged. "We had the potential to do better. I think we showed that ability in the season."

The two events left to be finished on Monday were the shot put and discus. As track was missed, stated Huber, the pre-Dartmouth-bound Matthews, eminent performer in both is who led the team in scoring, Princeton's P.J. Young, As and Drezner, Whitehouse and Zawadsky.

Looking ahead to next year, Huber reported that she has a standard of 52-6 1/2 set in 1979 "really strong" quartet of by West Windsor's James juniors coming back which Madden.

They are Laura Von Young, who plans to consolidate, Melinda Bowen, concentrate on the shot and the discus in college, also won the Wallace and Nape.

"They're all close friends discuss with a winning distance and they work well together," said Huber. "In the zone defense we use, it's crucial to be able to communicate. Defense should be one of our strongest phases."

ANOTHER CHAMPIONSHIP FOR PDS: The Princeton Day girl's lacrosse team won its third consecutive NJSWAA Division A title last week, again defeating its neighbor Stuart School in the process. Acting headmaster Sandy Bing holds the trophy, flanked by co-captain Louise Matthews (left) and senior Bonnie Berschad.

Having Thomas back in the goal with one year's experience will also help the Panthers shut down the opposition, Huber concluded.

In addition to Young, PHS had two other double winners. Stephan Fletcher, the premier high school hurdler in the county, won the 400 hurdles in a new meet record time of 35.7, breaking his own record of 38.8 which he set last year. Fletcher, who hopes to earn a berth on the 1984 U.S. Olympic track squad, easily won his specialty, the 110 high hurdles with a clocking of 14.3. Teammate Ken McKellar was second with 15.4.

Distance runner Bill Bushnell, who has joined Fletcher and Young in entering invitational track meets wherever and whenever they can in the East, also joined his teammates in setting a new CVC record. His came in the 3200 meter where his time of 9:36.9 bettered the converted two-mile time of 9:37.1 set in 1981.

Bushnell then edged George Wagner of Hopewell Valley in the 1000 meter, 4:29.4 to 4:30.6.

Miles' Record Broken. Another record to fall in the meet was the 200 meter mark of 21.9 set by Princeton High's Paul Miles in 1980. Steven Brown of McCristin lowered it by one tenth of a second to win the event in 21.8. The Iron Mike speedster set a new meet record in the long jump with a leap of 22-1½, breaking his record of 21-3. Princeton's Eddie Rice was second in that event with a leap of 20-5.

PHS Girls Are Fourth. In the CVC girls meet, Princeton High finished fourth with 72 points, two points behind third-place Ewing. Notre Dame finished on top with 118 points and Hightstown was second with 84.

The Little Tigers failed to win a single event. Marjorie Touissant was second in the shot put with a toss of 35-1 where Sherry Hiar of Hightstown set a new meet record of 36-11½ and Nadia White finished second in the high jump. Gail Woolston of PHS was second in the 400.

Two meet records set by Princeton's Gladys Rice last year were broken. Notre Dame's Charisse West ran a 25.9 in the 200 to better Rice's mark of 26.1 and Tanya Young of Ewing jumped 16-11 in the long jump to erase a 16-9¾ mark shared by Rice and Karen Sweeney of Hightstown.

SEASON BEGINS
In Women's Softball League. The Princeton Women's Adult Slow Pitch Softball League, sponsored by the Princeton Recreation Department, will begin play this week and continue each Wednesday through August. The four-team league includes Mike's Tavern, Andy's Tavern, Conte's Bar, and the Army-Navy Store, a newcomer.

Mike's Tavern, league and playoff champion the past two seasons, will again be the team to beat. Manager John Leiggi has a strong veteran squad returning, including Debbie Breithaupt, Dee Pearce, Grace Durland and Sallie Toscano, who are all members of the Sweet Jersey Corn team and Kathy Shillaber, Debbie Picarro, Michelle Morgan, Elizabeth Zing, Lorraine Duthie and Marilyn Stevens.

Andy's Tavern, playoff runner-up the past two years and managed by Bob Smyth, has lost several players, but has a strong veteran core, comprised of Cindy Nielsen, Donna Woodruff, Marie Wszolek, Lisa Schmidt, Linus McHugh and Mary Fox. Tracey Armiger and Susan Packer have been coaxed out of retirement, and rookies Patti Dowgin and Dee Ellis have looked good in pre-season.

Conte's Bar, managed by Peggy Wood, who also plays, features a number of young rookies, formerly Princeton High School players. In addition, returning veterans Nancy Pesce, Laine Ivan, Jackie Rock, and Cynthia Lucullo will add necessary depth to the team.

The Army-Navy Store, a new entry this year, is managed by Michael Bonin and several assistant coaches, headed by Mickey Foltiny. The team features experienced veteran league players Jill Bonin, Theresa Foltiny and Karen Piper, and a large group of rookies, including Nina Tocco, Barbara Fried, Sheila Rowe and Barbara Young.

Games are played at the Community Park fields at 6:15. Admission is free, and the public is invited to attend.

PHS ROLL-ON
In Girls Lacrosse. A 10-3 victory over Montclair Academy last week--its second of the season over Montclair--raised the record of the Princeton High School girls lacrosse team to 13-1.

The Little Tigers were scheduled to end their regular season this week against Montville, the only team to defeat the Blue and White this year. Friday's rematch with Stuart County Day, which PHS had defeated, 17-3, in their first meeting, was treated as a jayvee game by PHS.

Against Montclair last week, Erika Gabrielsen, Lisa Blair and Alison Fraker each scored three goals for the Little Tigers. Harper Hoff got the tenth.

FIRST SOCCER WIN
For Kepner-Tregoe. In the Princeton Soccer Association's Junior League last week, Kepner Tregoe defeated PMC Corp., 2-1, as David Kahn scored twice for the winners and Scott Blinder for the losers. It was Kepner Tregoe's first win of the season. An undermanned Firestone Real Estate lost, 6-1, to Competitive Sport. David Ragsdale and David Saidman each scored two goals and Damon Ross and Chris Rogers one each for the winners.

Grover Lumber lost, 1-0, to STS Firestone, the lone goal coming on a shot by Ernie Soffronoff. Michael Scarlata scored the only goal and made a vital save to lead Ladilaw, Adams & Peck to a 1-0 win over Princeton Nautilus, while Lahiere's suffered its first defeat of the season against Kopp's Cycle, as Greg Kessler and David Suomi scored for the victors.

In the annual Coaches' Game, the senior league coaches and coaches for the junior league battled to a 1-1 tie.

SIC OPENS SEASON
With Tournament Win. The Princeton-based Sweet Jersey Corn women's softball team, last year's Amateur Softball Association New Jersey state champion, opened its 1983 season by winning the Rascals Spring Classic Tournament for the second year in a row.

The Corn won both its games on Saturday, defeating the Spartans from Piscataway, 7-3, and the Mean Machine from New Brunswick, 6-3. In the Spartan win, Sweet Jersey scored six of its runs in the fifth and sixth innings on hits by Grace Durland, Beth Muzyka, Dee Vertucci, and a Sandy Hibbs triple. Pitcher Clare Baxter got the win, allowing just four hits.

In the second game, The Corn scored all of its runs in the third inning. Pacing the hitting attack were Hibbs, Dee Pearce, Baxter and Marianne Smith. Pitcher Louann Slocum recorded the win.

The next day of the double elimination tournament found the Corn pitted against its main rival from the Mercer County Major League--the 3 Season team. Last year, 3 Seasons won the League, and Sweet Jersey Corn won the playoffs. These were the last two unbeaten teams remaining in the tournament, and the Corn sent 3 Seasons into the losers bracket with a 6-4 victory. Once again, Sweet Jersey scored all its runs in the third inning, paced by the hitting of Durland, Hibbs, Carol Knapp and Vertucci. Baxter got her second win of the tournament.

3 Seasons defeated the winner of the losers bracket and returned to face Corn, needing two straight victories for the championship. A second game was not necessary, however, as Sweet Jersey Corn won the first game, 1-0, in the bottom of the seventh inning, on a Muzyka triple and a game-winning RBI by Vertucci. Slocum was the winning pitcher.

The Corn opened its regular season league play last week, defeating Champale, 11-3. Sweet Jersey unleashed 16 hits, paced by Durland (3-for-4), Pearce and Vertucci (each 2-for-4, 2 RBI's), Baxter (3-for-4), Debbie Breithaupt (2-for-4), and Maureen Nosal. Slocum got the win.

On Tuesday, Sweet Jersey Corn will meet 3 Seasons in the first of three games between the two teams. The game will be played on Field 1A at Mercer County Park at 6:30 and Corn Coach Bob Smyth has announced that this night will be Button Night: the first 50 Sweet Jersey Corn fans will receive free Corn buttons. Admission is free.

REGISTER NOW
For Summer Lacrosse. All those interested in playing summer lacrosse must register with the Princeton Recreation Department before June 4. Entrance fees for both the men's and women's leagues are $10 for residents, $20 for non-residents. Registration forms are available at the Recreation Department. The men's league will meet Monday and Wednesday evenings, June 13 - July 29, from 5:30 to 8 (June 13 is organizational night). All those entering the 9th grade as of September, 1983 are eligible.

The women's league will meet Tuesday and Thursday evenings, June 23 - August 5, from 5:30 to 8 (June 23 is organizational night). All those entering the 9th grade as of September, 1983 are eligible. The leagues are recreational in design and no contact is allowed. Players will receive jerseys as part of their entrance fee. All participants must pre-register. For additional information, call 921-9480.

Council Seeks to Learn Value Of Palmer Square Air Rights

Moving along on air rights over Palmer Square East for Collins Development, Borough Council last week authorized its attorney, Edwin Schmierer, to find an appraiser to determine the value of those rights. The action was taken Thursday at Council's work session.

Mr. Schmierer emphasized this week that the Borough will retain its interest in the air rights, keeping title and ownership but allowing Collins to use the rights for a period of time to be stated in whatever agreement is worked out.

Current Collins plans show a bridge across Palmer Square East connecting the present Nassau Inn with a planned addition on the present parking lot. Last month, Council passed a resolution affirming, in principle, the concept of granting air rights, subject to negotiations with Collins, chiefly regarding money, open space and questions of bulk.

Only Contests in Tuesday's Primary Are for Democratic County Posts

Democrats at the Mercer County level will face off in Tuesday's primary elections, but there are no Republican contests and no contests in either party in Borough or Township.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. at the usual General Election District polling places. Information is available from Borough Hall (924-3119) or Township municipal offices (924-5749).

In the race for the Democratic nomination for Mercer County Executive, Joseph E. Tighe is running against G. Dallas Dixon. Republican incumbent Bill Mathesius has no challengers in his party.

Democrats will choose two of the three who want the party's nod for the County Freeholder race in the fall. The three are Anthony P. Carabelli, Regular Democratic Organization candidate; Shirley K. Turner, Regular Democratic Organization can-

State's Ban on New Sewer Extensions Will Affect Collins' Plans for Expanded Square

"We have no alternative but to cease approving any new sewer extensions that will contribute sewage flow into the Harry's Brook trunk sewer."

The state Department of Environmental Protection, in the person of Arnold Schiffman, administrator for Water Quality Management, this week surprised Borough and Township officials and pleased the embattled residents of the Harry's Brook area with a letter to officials incorporating that statement.

Except to say that Collins' plans for an expanded Palmer Square would be affected, Mr. Schiffman declined to be specific about where the blow would fall.

However, Borough engineer George Olexa added the Bowers tract off Terhune Road, now under purchase contract to a new owner and any Bunn Drive office buildings not yet started.

Projects not affected are the town-houses across from Princeton High School on Houghton and the Gershen office building, now under construction on Nassau Street.

Although property-owners in the Harry's Brook area — chiefly those along Random Road — were jubilant, Mr. Schiffman said he didn't see why all the fuss; in fact, he had highest praise for Princeton's officials and the way they've handled sewer problems.

Mr. Olexa, on the other hand, says he thinks the letter shows that the state is withdrawing from its original agreement with Princeton. He is referring to a 1981 Administrative Consent Order, in which the state said Princeton could add sewer capacity according to a formula, if the town also began to make sewer repairs.

But Mr. Schiffman says "We can't approve any new extensions, because of the terms of that agreement."

"All we want from Princeton is a concrete plan, and I think such a plan is do-able," Mr. Schiffman explained. "We need a plan prepared by the Sewer Operating Committee (SOC), with an implementation schedule and this is negotiable. We realize it must be done piece-meal, in a phased-in way. I'll work with the SOC. This isn't an enforcement thing — it's a problem."

"But we do have a plan," is Mr. Olexa's reply. "It's to do the work outlined in the Brokaw report and complete it by 1985. That's what we negotiated with the state in the Consent Agreement."

Mr. Olexa is referring to the report prepared by sewer consultant Arthur Brokaw in 1975.

"Our figures show that we still have gallonage available for people who want to tie in," said Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley. "We need to talk with Mr. Schiffman and compare his bookkeeping with ours."

"We also need to know the basis for their action. After all, we're planning to spend about $1 million, we have plans based on the Brokaw report, we're planning to hire an assistant engineer to look at the sewers and eventually we're going after private property-owners who may be illegally dumping into the sewer system."

Air Rights

The Borough will pay for the appraisal, estimated to cost approximately $1,000.

Borough Mayor Robert W.
Cawley declared this week that Barbara Sigmund was "wrong" in her statements to the Planning Board last week about Borough actions regarding Collins and open space.

"She was wrong in claiming the Borough acted improperly in accepting common open space available for public use," Mayor Cawley said.
"The phrase in the law, 'including, but not limited to,' means that plazas, pedestrian ways and green acres can be counted. 'Excluding public ways' refers to sidewalks in the public right-of-way."

Borough regulations require that 25 percent of a project be in open space. Mayor Cawley said Planning Board members felt there are some pieces of land they did not want counted as open space, like areas between buildings or rights of way.

"The legislative intent was to exclude that, but include major areas," the mayor stated.

Mrs. Sigmund had told the Planning Board that Venturi and Rauch's open space plans were better than Collins'.
Mayor Cawley said he had asked Borough engineer George Olexa to make an open space comparison, applying the same criteria to Venturi and Rauch plans, the 1974 Central Business District master plan and Collins' plans.

"Venturi and Rauch has only 14 percent open space," the mayor stated, "and Collins has 29 percent."

The mayor acknowledged that the two earlier plans had "very substantial" pieces of open space, "significantly larger than any Collins piece."

He said that Mr. Schmierer and Alan Lavine, the Planning Board's lawyer for Collins hearings, agreed with him that the Borough was "on very, very firm ground" regarding Collins compliance with open space requirements.

Commenting on the kiosk, the mayor said it was in Collins' preliminary site plan when that plan was approved by the Planning Board, and received approval in a final site plan. To questions regard-

Local slates list Republican Richard Woodbridge and Democrat Barbara Sigmund, who are running for mayor of the Borough. A Democratic contest failed to develop when Barbara Hill withdrew her mayoralty candidacy. Council candidates are Democrats John Hutton and Irv Urken, Republicans Hank Abernathy

University Prepares for Returning Alums and Commencement Activities in Coming Week

Continuing the annual rite that began soon after the Civil War, some 10,000 alumni and family members return to the Princeton campus this week for Reunions.

They will be followed closely by another, slightly smaller army of parents and relatives here for the busy round of senior class activities that culminate with Commencement on Tuesday. A few days later, there is also an on-campus Alumni College.

In preparation for it all, tents are blossoming all over the campus, the massive Commencement platform has been reconstructed in front of Nassau Hall, and the University's gardeners have been cutting, pruning and weeding acres of lawns and gardens.
Orange and black numerals have appeared on some buildings, and colorful barricades have sprung up in courtyards everywhere.

The highlight of Reunions, as always, will be the P-grade which will step off from the front campus and Cannon Green at 2 p.m. on Saturday to follow its mile-long route to Clarke Field. Thousands of spectators will line the route as the 25th Reunion Class of 1958 and members of the Old Guard lead the procession of orange-and-black clad celebrants. Symbolically joining the P-grade at its end will be Princeton's newest alumni,
The Class of 1983.

Welcome, Elsie!

A Jersey, not "new," but a matronly eight years of age, will march with the class of '33 in this Saturday's Princeton University Reunion parade. She is, of course, Elsie the Cow.

Elsie will arrive from Houston in her
"Cowdillac," with a special exhibit which will be at Johnson Park School this Friday from 10 to 4. She will pay her respects to the original Elsie, buried at the Walker-Gordon Farm, Plainsboro, and will spend two nights there.

Her connection to '33?
The class's Senior Beer Suit, 50 years ago, featured a cow with the legend "No Udder Like It." A cartoon character in medical journal ads of the '30s, a live Elsie didn't materialize — and become a Borden dairy advertising agent — until the 1939 World's Fair, six years after '33 had graduated.

One of Elsie's herdsmen at the fair was Chester
A. Steen, now Plainsboro clerk, then a new graduate of Washington State University with a degree in dairy science, and subsequently a Walker-Gordon vice-president.

'33 says her favorite books are "The Brave Bulls" and "Pail Hands I Loved."

The Class of 1933 will have a record 50th Reunion number returning this year—234—and the class will make its headquarters at Princeton Inn College. The Old Guard will probably be led this year by the University's oldest returning alumnus, Joseph F. Boyd of the Class of 1909, who will be accompanied by his classmate, Judge Harold Medina. The Old Guard includes all classes beyond 65 years out of Princeton.

Dedication of New Hall. The year end festivities will feature two special events:
the formal dedication of Gordon Wu Hall, the new social and dining center for Butler College, and the dedication of the completely refurbished auditorium of the Woodrow Wilson School as the Harold
W. Dodds Auditorium.

Mr. Wu, the Hong Kong businessman and real estate developer whose gift of $4.3 million made Wu Hall a reality, will be returning for his class's 25th reunion and will participate in the dedication ceremonies Friday at 2:30.

The next morning at 9:30, Mrs. Harold W. Dodds will join President William Bowen, Dean Donald Stokes and others in dedicating the auditorium.

A commemorative plaque bears the inscription: "This room bears the name of Princeton's fifteenth president in recognition of his early leadership and enduring support of the School of Public and International Affairs.
June, 1983."

After the alumni leave, Princeton will turn its attention to the graduating class of 1983. The Baccalaureate Service will be held Sunday at 2 in the Princeton University Chapel, with Homer U. Ashby of McCormick Theological Seminary preaching. A reception for degree recipients and their families and friends will be held at Prospect, with President and Mrs. Bowen as hosts.

On Monday Class Day Ceremonies will be held at 11 on Cannon Green (or in Dillon Gym in case of rain), followed by luncheon for parents and guests in the court below Blair Hall. The senior prom will take place that night in Jadwin gym, and the next morning the academic procession will begin at 10:38 for Princeton's 236th Annual Commencement, scheduled for 11 a.m. in front of Nassau Hall. If it rains, Commencement is held in Jadwin Gym.

"WAY" ALLOTS MONEY

Tops Million for First Time. A record $1,077,553, 11.8 percent more than last year, has been allocated to the 26 agencies funded by the United Way, following approval last week by the fund's board of trustees.

Agencies will begin receiving the money in July. The largest amount, $170,655, will go to the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross. Other large allocations are for the Family Service Agency ($138,301); YWCA ($116,362); YMCA ($93,000); Community Guidance Center ($89,519) and Council of Community Services ($70,405).

Remaining agencies and their allocations are: Association for the Advancement of the Mentally Handicapped ($34,055); Better Beginnings Child Development Center ($40,041); Big Brothers-Big Sisters ($19,810); Boy Scouts ($44,000); Camp Fire Latchkey Program ($10,450); Catholic Welfare Bureau Child Abuse Program ($14,000) and Children's Home Society ($9,000).

Also Crawford House ($5,000); Delaware-Raritan Girl Scouts ($31,000); Eden Institute's parent-family counseling and training program ($10,450); Somerset County Family Counseling Service ($2,892); Florence Crittenton Home ($9,000) and the YMCA of Hightstown-East Windsor ($53,370).

Also Jewish Family Service

($15,100); N.J. Association for Retarded Citizens ($17,390); Homemaker Service ($15,000); Princeton Nursery School ($47,303); Rolling Hills Girl Scout Council ($6,910); University-NOW Day Nursery ($4,000) and Womanspace-Mercer County Women's Shelter ($10,000).

Committees of volunteer citizens decided the amounts agencies should receive, based on needs met, people served, operating efficiencies, budget problems and the need for United Way support.

The area served by the agencies includes both Princetons, Cranbury, East and West Windsor, Griggstown, Hightstown, Kingston, Montgomery Township, Plainsboro, Rocky Hill and adjacent areas of Hopewell, Lawrence and South Brunswick.

The cause of the accident was still under investigation.

CAR OVERTURNS

Three Are Injured. Three young men were injured, one with a fractured neck vertebra, when their car went out of control early Sunday morning on Snowden Lane and overturned. Police have charged the driver, Christopher E. Pey, 19, 29 Duffield Place, with driving while intoxicated.

Pt. Mark Emann, responding to a call at 12:42 a.m., arrived to see Pey's Toyota Celica upside down and partially in the Snowden Lane roadway between Franklin Avenue and Rollingmead. A passenger, Quinton Beggs, 19, 42 White Pine Circle, had managed to climb out a broken rear window. He sustained a large contusion on his forehead and a laceration to his left hand.

COUPLE KILLED

In Route 31 Crash. Leonard J. Bik and his wife, Emma, of 115 North Main Street, Yardley, were killed Saturday night in a two-car collision on Route 31, Hopewell Township, near the Charlene Farm Market. Both were pronounced dead at Princeton Medical Center following the 8:20 accident.

According to State Police at the nearby Hopewell Barracks, the Bik car was headed south when a Jeep Wagoneer operated by Kevin B. McQuade, 34, of Winthrop Avenue in Lawrenceville, crossed the center line and crashed head-on into the Biks' car.

Mr. McQuade and his wife, Carolyn, 35, were also injured in the crash and were treated at Princeton Medical Center. He sustained lacerations and a possible leg fracture while Mrs. McQuade was admitted in fair condition for treatment of internal injuries. Rescue workers from the Pennington First Aid Squad used the Jaws of Life machine to free Mrs. Bik, 54, and her husband, whose age was not available, from the wreckage.

Pt. Emann observed Beggs, on his arrival, dragging a second passenger through the same window. The second passenger, Dudley Eppel, 20, 789 Cherry Valley Road, suffered a fractured neck and a laceration to his right arm. He was taken to Princeton Medical Center and admitted to the Intensive Care Unit for treatment. Pt. Emann noted in his report that both were obviously intoxicated.

The driver, Pey, was still in the overturned car when members of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad arrived two minutes later. Some 35 minutes later they had succeeded in removing the semi-conscious Pey from the wreck and he was taken to the hospital for treatment of a bruise on the right cheek.

Pt. Emann wrote in his report that he detected a strong odor of alcohol on the victim. When questioned in the hospital, Pey told the officer that he could not recall the accident. A sample of his blood was sent to a state police lab for analysis.

Pt. Emann's investigation revealed that the Pey car was traveling south at a high rate of speed on Snowden when it began to slide as it traveled on a curve at Franklin Avenue. Excessive speed and rain which had begun to fall were the factors that contributed to the loss of control, according to the officer.

The Pey car skidded off the roadway and then glanced off a tree. Skidding sideways, it continued back onto the roadway, then turned on its right side and rolled onto its roof before coming to a rest 87 feet from the tree. The car was a total loss.

TENNIS TREASURES

To Be Auctioned Off. Three condominiums, a house in St. Croix, and enough tennis equipment to start a pro shop are just a few of the items that will be put up for bids at an auction of tennis treasures to be held later this month for the benefit of the Youth Tennis Foundation.

The event, which includes a light supper with beer and a wine, will be held from 5 to 8 p.m., Sunday, June 26 at Windrush Farm. Masters of ceremony will be Jack McCarthy and Brendan Byrne.

The list of auction choices also includes a week at Don Budge's, Dennis Van der Meer's, John Newcombe's and the Lawrenceville tennis camps, lessons from top teaching pros, tickets for the U.S. Open, health club

HOME IS BURGLARIZED

On Armour Road. A home on Armour Road was entered and burglarized during the weekend by a thief who broke through a patio door window to get inside. The interior was ransacked.

The most valuable article taken, police report, is a benefit of the Youth Tennis "Schwabti" figurine, an eight to nine-inch bust of an Egyptian face several thousand years old. Also, a carved ivory tusk and several smaller pieces of ivory and some sterling silver.

The break-in was discovered by a relative checking the house and police are awaiting a full inventory of missing items, pending the return of the owners. Lt. Thomas Michaud commented that he assumed the Egyptian figurine was "extremely valuable" and he described the burglary as a substantial loss.

THEFT REPORT
Coat Rack Stripped. A coat rack in the hallway of an apartment building in the 100 block of Nassau Street was stripped last week of articles of clothing valued at $390. Taken were rain coats, umbrellas, hats and overcoats. The book bag of a Rutgers University student was stolen last week during the hour the victim left it unattended while shopping in a Nassau Street store.

The victim, a resident of Princeton, lost his wallet containing $10 and credit cards, a check book and tape cassettes. Total value of all items is $78.

A member of the McCarter Theatre Company lost $100 when his wallet was stolen while he was performing in a play at Princeton High School. Police said the victim's wallet had been removed from his trousers which were hanging back stage. The theft took place between 10 and 11 Thursday morning.

A university student listed the theft of clothing from a wire basket on his bicycle which he had left unattended outside the Princeton University Chapel. The victim also lost a $75 custom-made rain cover for his bicycle for a total loss of $145.

Mag Wheels Stolen. Four aluminum mag wheels with yellow spokes and four Goodyear tires valued at $1,000 were stolen overnight from a car parked in the rear of the Harold Williams Body Shop, 875 State Road.

A Von Neumann Drive resident was the victim of a theft last week on which it would be hard to place a price tag. Police said that his briefcase containing four term papers that he had written was stolen from the front seat of his unlocked car while it was parked between 1 and 1:50 Sunday morning at the Institute for Advanced Study.

FRONT WINDOWS BROKEN
In Restaurant. Two large front windows of a Witherspoon Street restaurant were broken last week by a vandal.

Tomato Patch Deadline
Registration deadline for the drama-dance-music-art classes known as Tomato Patch Workshops has been extended to June 10. Tomato Patch, given by Mercer County Community College on its West Windsor campus, is for students entering seventh and eighth grade, and in a separate session, for high school students.

High school students start their three-week session June 27. Younger participants begin theirs on July 18. This summer, there will be workshops in acting, costumes, make-up, lighting, stage managing, dance, instrumental or vocal music, ceramics, drawing, silk screen, macrame, lettering, ballet, modern dance and jazz dance.

Applications may be requested by calling 586-4800, ext. 581.

sometime between 10:40 and 11:26 Thursday night. There was no attempted entry.

Police said that one window measured four feet by six feet, the other four feet by one and a half. They estimated the replacement cost at several hundred dollars.

KITCHEN? YES
From Planning Board. Collins can move into the kitchen this summer, expanding the present Nassau Inn kitchen by 1,000 square feet, following a vote by the Planning Board last week.

Township Mayor Winthrop S. Pike cast the only negative vote. He had earlier expressed fears about possible legal action. The kitchen parcel was separated out from Collins' overall plans — still moving through the hearing process — because Collins wants to start remodeling the Inn as soon as possible. The hotel will be closed for the summer during remodeling.

Next Tuesday's regular Planning Board meeting, at 7:30 p.m. in the Valley Road building, will consider two Princeton Theological Seminary projects.

One is the preliminary and final plan to build 23 houses and 12 townhouses on the Mt. Lucas Road Habada tract owned by the Seminary. The units would be for faculty housing. The second Seminary project is the two-story research institute planned for construction on Stockton Street.

TWO ARE ARRESTED
For Shoplifting. Police arrested two persons last week who were later charged with shoplifting.

A Princeton University student, Susan Dabney, 20, was arrested last week at the Wawa Market on University Place where she allegedly shoplifted a bar of soap and cup of yogurt valued at $1.50. She was issued a summons after a store employee signed a complaint; she was later released.

Gene C. McMillian, 39, was arrested last week at the Super Fresh Market in the Princeton Shopping Center and charged with allegedly taking six packages of veal worth $30.36.

McMillian, also known as JoJo, gave police a Princeton Community Village address but police said that he has used several addresses. He was also wanted by Township police on an August 1981 bench warrant when McMillian was again charged with shoplifting. Police issued the warrant after he failed to pay his court fine.

McMillian was later released on $250 bail and was fined again in Township court.

Caught Smoking Joint. An 18-year old Trenton resident was charged with possession of under 25 grams of marijuana Saturday night after he was observed by a detective in plain clothes smoking a reefer next to a bank at Palmer Square.

Brian Pshar was arrested by Det. James Agins, who was in the area on another assignment. The officer, after arresting the suspect, then found some loose marijuana in a plastic bag in Pshar's possession. He was later released, pending his appearance here in Borough court.

Lifetime of Hard Work the Secret of Longevity Says Katherine Baker on her 100th Birthday

"Hard work," replied Katherine Baker promptly when a visitor asked what she thought might account for the fact that she has reached the age of 100.

She began work as 15-year-old Katherine Stintzman, requesting "Number, please" as a telephone operator in her native New Hope. She ended her formal career in the work force at the age of 91, retiring in 1974 from the Princeton roofing firm of Cooper and Schafer, where she was book-keeper for 30 years.

Before Cooper and Schafer, she had been book-keeper and taker of orders at Bamman's, a specialty grocery store on the corner of Bank and Nassau, where American Express now is.

"I've worked all my life," she says with pride.

All of this, and more, was recalled with verve and affection last Sunday at a surprise 100th birthday party marking May 29, 1883 and Katherine's birth.

"I sure was surprised," she told a visitor later. "I stood in the doorway and gazed out at all those people — every one of the 17 was a friend or relative. It was wonderful."

Congratulatory flowers and plants tumbled joyously on the dining-table in the five-room apartment she maintains on the second floor of her house at 215 Nassau Street. Her niece, Laura Warren, lives on the lower floor.

"It looks like a small apartment," Mrs. Baker says, regarding her house plants, the family pictures, the little kitchen with ripening bananas awaiting tomorrow's baking of banana bread, "But when you start to clean it, well, it's not so small."

Splendid, in a corner of the living-room, is the new color television she got for her birthday, replacing one that was 17 years old — Katherine Baker has an accountant's facility with numerical fact.

"It's a very nice set, but it has the same problem as the old one. You see, the computers at this brokerage office next door cause all kinds of distortion. And it's stiff to tune ... " She peers closely, remembering that the digital tuning is different from the tuning mechanism on the older set.

CELEBRATING 100: "I sure was surprised," says Katherine S. Baker, describing her reaction Sunday when she walked into a great-niece's house and found 17 friends gathered to celebrate her 100th birthday. Mrs. Baker, who began working at 15 and retired at 91, ascribes her long life to "hard work."

She enjoys television very much, especially bowling. Asked whether she'd been a bowler, she looks at the questioner for a moment, then replies patiently, "Women didn't bowl when I was a girl."

But she reads, too, especially now that a niece's son sends her large-type books. She lends them out to friends when she's finished. "Oh, I read almost anything that's interesting ..."

For an interview and photograph, she wore the yellow orchid presented on her birthday by a great-niece, 18-month-old Christina Mertz, daughter of Melinda Mertz of Kingston, at whose home the party was held. Hostesses were nieces Sally E. Matlack, Mabel S. Murden and Mrs. Warren. The Murdens came from St. Louis for the party.

After the brief career as telephone operator, young week, two area residents were each fined $265 and had their licenses revoked for six months for driving while intoxicated. They are Katherine Detwiler, 9 Turner Court, and Henry Richardson, 42N Princeton Arms Apartments, Cranbury.

Judge Sydney Souter fined Melvyn K. Scudder, 36 Clay Street, $215 for driving while his license was suspended and $65 for an improper turn. Fined for speeding were Brown F. Williams, 27 Random Road, $65, and Romaulso N. Espirito, 909 Sturwood Way, Lawrenceville, $75.

TWO TRUCK FIRES

In Township, Township police responded to two truck fires last week—both on Friday.

An employee of the Whisper Concrete Cutting Co. of Passaic was injured when he attempted to refuel a pump motor running inside a van parked at the River Road sewer plant where the firm was doing some work.

The employee, John Bottine, complained to police of his eyes burning due to a flash fire when the gasoline ignited. He was taken to Princeton Medical Center for treatment. One fire truck and four firemen responded to the 9:45 a.m. call. Police report that the van was partially damaged by the fire.

Earlier in the morning at Belle Mead, Paul and Renee 8:08, the right rear wheel of a Smith, Box 106, U.S. Route tractor-trailer caught fire outside Township Hall on Routes 206. Police tried to put out the overheated wheel fire with patrol car extinguishers but were unsuccessful and called for one piece of fire apparatus.

The tractor trailer was later able to continue on its way. Police identified the owner as John DeMeglio Inc. of Ancora, N.J.

27 BIRTHS LISTED

By Medical Center, in the week ending May 26, there were 14 boys and 13 girls born at Princeton Medical Center.

Sons were born to Thomas and Catherine Jacobsen, 410 West Palmer Street, Morrisville, Pa., May 20; David and Ann Winn-Mueller, 221 Deedee Run, Belle Mead; Frank and Lynn Yurcan, 620 Edison Drive, East Windsor; Jean and Carol Prevost, 14 Manning Lane, Lawrenceville, all on May 21;

Also to Russell and Patricia Caterinicchio, 1931 Hamilton Avenue, Trenton, May 22; Michael and Joanne Aguilar, 415 Willow Street, Bordentown; Alan and Angelina Chiang, 27 Sheffield Road, East Windsor; D. Andrew and Annette Foote, 8 Wilbur Drive, Allentown; Kevin and Diane Medical Center for treatment. One fire truck and four firemen responded to the 9:45 a.m. call. Police report that the van was partially damaged by the fire.

ALL AGES TO MARCH

For Nuclear Disarmament. There will be a March of the Generations Against Nuclear Weapons on Sunday, June 12, along Nassau Street. June 12 is the anniversary of the massive demonstrations in New York City that brought 750,000 people from all over the country to Central Park, including a 12-car special train load from Princeton.

Marchers of all ages—children are particularly welcome, grandparents too—will convene in the Princeton Public Library Parking lot at 1 p.m., bringing their own signs and banners. The march will proceed east on Spring Street to Vandeventer and along Nassau Street to Marquand Park where there will be entertainment, a picnic and other activities, beginning at about 3 p.m.

According to the Rev. Robert Moore, executive director of the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament, one of 12 sponsors of the event, the march could draw upwards of 1,000 people. Mr. Moore feels that the movement for nuclear disarmament has grown even since the big rally a year ago, and more groups are involved. "The march will bring together people of all political persuasions who agree on one thing: we want a future," Mr. Moore said.

The march is co-sponsored by the Hopewell Valley, Trenton, Freehold, East Windsor, West Windsor and Princeton chapters of the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament, also the Holistic Health Association, the Princeton YWCA, Pax Christie, Physicians for Social Responsibility, the Social Concerns Committee of the Jewish Center and the Fellowship of Reconciliation.

38 RECEIVE GOLD KEYS

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION: Harry and Mary Newhouse of 2 Tee-Ar Place celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at a dinner at a restaurant given by their daughter, Betty Anne Flaig, and son Dick. They enjoyed a full-course dinner and a layered wedding cake and all the trimmings which they didn't have 50 years ago when they eloped. Forty-five people attended, mostly family and a few close friends, and many came from long distances. The couple are also planning an anniversary trip to California.

EXHIBIT IN ROCKY HILL

On Terra Cotta Plant. Atlantic Terra Cotta workers and their wares will be featured in an exhibit by the Rocky Hill Community Group on Sunday, June 5, from 3 to 5 at the Community House, 62 Washington Road, Rocky Hill. On display will be photographs and terra-cotta artifacts detailing the history and contributions of the firm's plant No. 3 which was situated on the outskirts of Rocky Hill in the early years of this century. Some of these items were featured in the recent terra-cotta exhibit at Princeton's Bainbridge House.

The exhibit features taped recollections of two former Atlantic Terra Cotta workers, now deceased, who were interviewed a decade ago. Former workers, their families and friends are asked to bring relevant photos and terra-cotta pieces to show to the community. Oral contributions are also welcome. Diane Sliney, who was guest curator of the Princeton exhibit, will be present to exchange information. Refreshments will be served.

SAFE BOATING PROGRAM
In Rocky Hill. The Mary Jacobs Library in Rocky Hill will present a Safe Boating Week program on Monday at 7:30.

Margaret Haseltine, officer of operations and communications with the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Princeton Flotilla No. 47, will be on hand to answer questions and show a film, "What Went Wrong, Skipper?" If weather permits, a completely equipped power boat will be on display in the library parking lot, and program attendees will be permitted to go aboard.

The program is free and open to the public. For further information call the library at 924-7073.

NATURE DAY SET
In Washington Crossing Park. Len Soucy, a raptor rehabilitator from Millington, will bring some of his hawks and owls to Washington Crossing State Park on Sunday as one of the featured demonstrations for Washington Crossing Audubon Nature Day.

Other events of the day will include guided nature tours on insects, pond life, wild edibles, early American uses of plants, general ecology, birds, and reptiles. There will be demonstrations of beekeeping, nature photography, spinning and weaving, astronomy, bird banding and kite flying.

Craftspeople will be selling handiwork, and there will be live American and Irish folk music throughout the day. Activities for children will include nature crafts and games, scavenger hunts, sing-alongs, pony rides, hayrides, face painting, and a kite-making workshop. Food and soft drinks will be available.

The day's events will run from 11 to 4. Mr. Soucy and his raptors will be there from noon. Enter the park from Bear Tavern Road (Route 579) just north of Route 546. Admission and parking are free.

Proceeds will benefit the Washington Crossing Nature Center and its projects and scholarship programs of the Washington Crossing Audubon Society.

New Jersey State Museum and date from the early 1800s through the end of the 19th century.

The Clarke House is a restored 18th century Quaker farm house consisting of seven rooms. It is a state historic site and is open Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 9 to noon and 1 to 6. Saturday it is open from 10 to noon and 1 to 6, and Sunday from 1 to 6 only. The house is closed on Monday and Tuesday, but will be open for the last day of the show, Monday, July 4, until 1. There is no admission charge for the exhibit or for guided tours of the house. Further information or directions can be obtained by calling 921-0074.

BIKING COURSE PLANNED
By YMCA. The YMCA will be offering a course entitled "Distance Cycling For Beginners" during its eight-week summer session beginning June 27.

Nils Dennis, formerly of upstate New York, will be the instructor. Mr. Dennis has been involved in bicycle racing for the past four years, and was the 1981 New York State Road Race and Time Trial Junior Champion. The race included a 65-mile road race through the Adirondacks, and a 25-mile time trial, which he won with a time of 59:47. In the same year, he placed 19th in the East Coast National Time Trials.

Mr. Dennis averages 250-300 miles a week on his bike, and up to 400 miles a week preparing for a race.

The summer course, for ages 14 and up, will include an introduction to the 10-speed bicycle, instruction on how to shift gears correctly, tips for on-the-road repairs, and advice on safety while out on the road.

The class will meet Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 10 to 11 and weekly day trips will be planned to areas in the greater Princeton area, to as far away as Lambertville. The only equipment needed is a 10-speed bike in good working condition and a hard-shell helmet.

Also offered this summer will be Youth Karate, Adult Aikido, and an expanded fitness course schedule. There are summer camps for ages 12½ to 14 and swimming courses for all ages. Call the YMCA for more information.

YMCA PLANS WORKSHOP

In Communication. A workshop entitled "Success Through Effective Communication" will be offered at the YMCA on Monday, June 13, from 7-10 p.m. Melva Harris, a development consultant in private practice, will lead the workshop. Ms. Harris has 15 years of experience with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in the areas of training and career development. She is a certified consultant with Perfor-max Systems International, Inc.

Call the YMCA at 924-4497 to register.

FESTIVAL PLANNED
To Aid Park. Residents of Princeton Community Village who seek to raise funds for the development of a park and play area on Township lands across Bunn Drive have announced the First Hilltop Festival to be held Saturday, June 25, at the proposed park. This event is a follow-up to the May 15 Hilltop Road Race, first of many fund raising projects for the new park. The festival will consist of a flea market, rummage sale, games, food, bake sale, and the committee hopes—the full participation of the Princeton community and bordering communities.

There will be a $10 tax-deductible donation requested for each space rented in the flea market. Checks or money orders may be sent to The Hilltop Festival, care of Patrick Leight, 25 Red Oak Row. They should be made payable to PCH, Inc. To donate rummage, call Mary Brassell, 921-2682. For further information or to volunteer to help, call 924-4217 evenings. Donations will be gratefully received.

The raindate for the festival is Sunday, June 26.

MEDICAL SURVEILLANCE

For Toxic Waste Workers. A contract designating a department of the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey to maintain medical surveillance of state workers handling toxic waste has been awarded by the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection. The nine month contract is for $96,000.

The medical surveillance is aimed at detecting and preventing disease, particularly work-related disease, among more than 200 workers, most of them 35 years of age and younger, who are employed in cleaning up toxic waste sites. New Jersey has 66 of the 416 hazardous waste sites the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has targeted for cleanup.

The medical surveillance will include a complete medical history, physical exam and laboratory test, all of which will be done with special emphasis on those organ systems potentially affected by chemical exposure. Examination results will be correlated with the employee's exposures.

Employees and their regular physicians will be provided with the results of the examinations. Abnormal findings will be discussed with each employee and repeated or followed-up as necessary. The confidentiality characteristic of the usual doctor-patient relationships will be strictly maintained.

SEMINAR SCHEDULED

On Writing For Children. How to write and sell children's books will be the subject of the Princeton Writers' Center's first writing seminar on Sunday. The seminar will be held from 1:30 to 4:30 at 10 Nassau Street.

Penny Pollock, author of "The Spit Bug Who Couldn't Spit" and "Keeping it Secret," published last year by G.P. Putnam's Sons, will be the featured speaker. She will discuss the specialized techniques needed by those who wish to write for a young market.

For further information and reservations call 924-3511. The seminar fee is $30 and enrollment is limited.

LET'S TALK ABOUT
PESTICIDE USE — RISKS, BENEFITS & DECISIONS
with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates

There is a potential mini-Love Canal condition in millions of homes across this country. If you looked in the garages and basements of the homes in your county, as well as across the country, you would be stunned at the accumulation of pesticide concentrates and mixtures. Some are old, some are new, some are in their original containers, and some are carefully put in coffee cans or old peanut butter jars and forgotten. Worse yet, when the homeowner gets tired of seeing all these containers, they go into the garbage can and end up in the "Sanitary Landfill!"

As Horticultural Consultants, we have witnessed hundreds of instances where severe plant damage has resulted from the indiscriminate or improper use of pesticides by the homeowner. If the label calls for 2 lbs. per 1000 sq. ft. to control crab grass with a "weed and feed" type material, then some illogical reasoning says the whole bag will do an even better job!

Commercial applicators who have years of experience in the field must be licensed and/or certified by examination in order to purchase and apply pesticides. In many states, employees have to be examined and licensed as well in order to apply pesticides. However, the average homeowner can go into almost any store and buy pesticides over the counter without any training or qualifications.

There is growing public concern for a problem with pesticides known as involuntary exposure which is usually, although inaccurately, referred to as drift. By either name, it is simply the movement of the pesticide off the target area, a phenomenon of pesticide application.

MAILBOX

Thank You, Ruby Campbell
To the Editor of Town Topics:
At the May 23, 1983 meeting of the Princeton Borough and Princeton Township Joint Commission on Aging it was resolved that the Commission go on record in tribute to the many contributions of Mrs. Ruby Campbell to the work of the Commission.

For six years Mrs. Campbell served the Princeton Communities as a member of this Commission and during this period she served as the liaison member between the Commission and the Princeton Senior Citizens Club. Her work in this regard was immensely valuable to both organizations.

Mrs. Campbell, ignoring her own infirmities, faithfully represented the Senior Citizens of both the Borough and Township. In the deliberations of the Commission hers was always the voice of wisdom and practicality. Her contributions have been instrumental in advancing the goals of the Commission which are to make possible the continued independent life-style of the senior citizens of the communities.

The Federal law, FIFRA, as well as other state and federal regulations prohibit the application of pesticides to anything but the target area. Conventional pesticide products usually consist of liquids, powders, or dusts. Although they are carefully directed towards the targeted area, when applied they may, in some instances, run off, leach off, blow off, or, in some other manner, move off the target area. It is recognized by those knowledgeable about the characteristics of pesticides that no matter how much skill or care is employed during a particular application, there can be some movement of the material.

The problem, therefore, is not whether the pesticide is going to move off the target area but whether the movement is going to have an adverse effect. In view of the years of testing and research a pesticide product must undergo before it is federally registered by EPA, logic tells us that once registered, it is safe if it is applied as directed by the label. The criteria used to determine the relative safety of a pesticide is the risk/benefit factor. Obviously, as with drugs, food preservatives, and a variety of other man-made products, it is impossible to ensure that there will be absolutely no adverse effect from the product. However, a person has the right to be free from involuntary exposure to a pesticide.

The growing movement nationally to curtail the commercial use of pesticides has its greatest support in states with little agricultural activity. Ironically this movement appears ignorant of the most flagrant abuse of pesticides. If it can be established that pesticides are harmful to the environment then that judgment must apply to all pesticide users, not just those applied commercially.

The caution, warning and danger symbols on all pesticide containers are like highway safety signs — intended to alert the user of a possible hazard. Driving laws apply to those vehicle operators who earn their living by driving, as well as those who drive for pleasure or as a convenience. Pesticide legislation also has to govern all users of pesticides, not just the trained professionals.

A Sigh, from Passerby
To the Editor of Town Topics:
The kiosk and the other plans of the Collins Corporation seem to be causing a great deal of anger among the townspeople. Perhaps the following bit of whimsy will lighten the atmosphere a bit.

Ode to a Kiosk
Oh ugly kiosk on Palmer Square,
Nobody likes you.
It just isn't fair.

You shelter people from the rain.
So what if you cause us a visual pain.

You've ruined the view of Palmer Square West.
But the Collins' folk tell us
That they know best.

And now, a bridge across the street.
Won't that just be A dandy treat?

Four stories high it will soar.
Not light and airy,
Full of rooms galore.

A garage to draw more people to town.
What about traffic jams That'll make us frown?

Brophy's, Milady's, Music Shop, Skirm's
And more — booted out, Treated like worms.

Oh ugly kiosk on Palmer Square,
You're a real beauty.
When the rest we compare.

Woods for Contemplation
To the Editor of Town Topics:
(The following is a letter to Dr. Harry Wolf, Director of the Institute for Advanced Study.)

Many years ago, when the Institute for Advanced Study was founded, Oswald Veblen, the brilliant mathematician, was not only one of its first professors, but also a trustee. To advance his ideas he liked to walk in the quietness of the woods. He also found that cutting paths gave him the same exercise and exhilaration that joggers seem to experience, the physical effort clearing his head for further thinking.

It was he who advocated strongly that the Institute buy several tracts of land encompassing the nearby woods, so that its thinkers could walk quietly through them and cogitate. His idea that the Institute needed protective space to maintain quiet and to supply the needed area for meditative walks would seem as important today as it was in the 1930s. The Institute should reconsider its plan to install a new road and establish a housing development.

Headache Victim?
Researchers at Rutgers Medical School are looking for people who suffer from muscle tension headaches, and would like to take part in a new diagnostic and treatment program.

The purpose is to learn more about the causes of these headaches — psychological, environmental and physiological. In six sessions of treatment, volunteers will be shown how to cope more effectively with the headaches and the stresses that produce them. Sessions will be held in Piscataway, and testing will be done in New Brunswick.

Topics to be addressed include the psychological and legal aspects of abortion. Persons interested are welcome and should call 921-0494 to reserve places.

The Alpha Pregnancy Center is a non-profit crisis counseling center offering viable alternatives to the abortion problem. The center has been in operation for one year at 89 Washington Road.

CAMP PROGRAM SET
At Blairstown. The Princeton Summer Camp, a program of the Princeton Education Center at Blairstown, and now in its 74th year, will operate several sessions of its modified Outward Bound program between June 20 and August 19.

Campers, aged 10-16, participate in six or 12-day adventure-based programs that offer boys and girls outdoor experiences including backpacking trips on the Appalachian Trail, canoeing on the Delaware River, camping out, rock-climbing and rappelling.

Less intensive activities for younger campers provide gradual exposure to the natural environment. Staff members are trained professionals, assisted by experienced undergraduate outdoor leaders from Princeton University.

Scholarship assistance is made available to youth from low income families by a grant from the Princeton Youth Fund. Further information and applications are available from the Princeton Education Center at Blairstown, Maclean House, Princeton University, 08544. Phone 452-3340.

ART GROUP PLANNED
For Seniors. An Art Expressions Group for seniors will be held this summer in the community room at Redding Circle. It will begin Friday, June 17, from 1:30-3:30 and continue until August 19 for 10 lessons.

Library Hours Change

The Public Library has been forced to make the following change in its schedule.

Beginning Thursday, June 2, the Library will close Thursday evenings at 5:30 p.m. This reduction in schedule is necessary because of insufficient public funds.

For the last two and a half years an anonymous donor has contributed money to staff and service the library on Thursday evenings, Saturday mornings during July and August, and winter Sunday afternoons. That money has now run out and no public funding has been provided in its place.

Books may be returned through the Library's book drops whenever the building is closed.

The emphasis is on enjoying and exploring different art media. Some of the projects will include sketching from nature, sculpting with clay, acrylic painting, and a mystery group project. No previous art experience is necessary. The teacher is Ann Haber, a master's candidate in the Creative Arts from Pratt Institute.

There will be a fee of $10 per person. To register, call the Senior Resource Center, 924-7108.

FOOD IS FOCUS

Of YWCA Offerings. Food, indoors and out, is featured among the YWCA Adult Department's special summer offerings.

Ann Harwood, nationally certified cooking teacher, International Association of Cooking Schools, will teach "Summer Cooking with Herbs and Flowers," which will incorporate ideas from Italian, Chinese, Moroccan and American cooking. Bastille Day on July 14 will be the date for a French Picnic, led by Mary Ann Solomon, for conversational speakers of French.

Not to be outdone, the end of the fast of Ramadan will be observed with a Near Eastern Picnic on July 12, when participants may take part in cooking Shish Tawuk, a chicken dish, a Fattush, a salad. Samira Sisson will host this event. Scheryl LoMonico, a self-employed cake decorator, will teach Cake Decorating for Beginners in one session June 29, offering demonstration and hands-on practice in basics for special occasion cakes.

For further information on these and other classes in the Adult Department, call the YWCA at 924-5571.

VOLUNTEERS HONORED

For Service to Scouts. Princeton area Girl Scout leaders and service team members were honored for their work with the scouts at the annual appreciation luncheon held at All Saints' Church.

Eleanor Ignat, leader of Brownie Troop 610 was honored for 15 years of volunteer work in scouting. Ms. Ignat, who was a scout herself through the 11th grade, remained in scouting during college as a co-leader for a Brownie Troop in an orphanage in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. For several years after that, while teaching school, she continued as a Brownie leader. Then as her two daughters reached scouting age, she returned as a leader for each of their troops, spending five years as both a Brownie and Junior leader for her elder daughter's group and currently finishing her second year as Brownie leader for her younger daughter's group.

Those receiving tenure pins for ten years of volunteer work include Carol Haag, chair of the Princeton Area Girl Scouts, Carol Segur and Wendy Watt. Nancy Rothberg received a pin for five years of volunteering.

Sewers

"The letter is just putting them on notice that it's a problem," Mr. Schiffman explained.

In the letter, he writes that "the raw sewage overflow has been a consistent, recurring problem for many years and is well-documented and known by the local authorities."

"Because of the potential threat to the public health, both the State Department of Health and the local Health Department are vitally concerned. Because of the serious nature of the problem, it is requested that the SOC forward to this office its plans to remedy the Harry's Brook trunk sewer problem and an implementation schedule to accomplish an abatement program."

Mr. Schiffman speaks warmly of Princeton officials and the community's sewer trust fund, to which developers must contribute money if they want a sewer connection. He said he had urged a similar plan on other communities because it is a "pretty innovative plan and it works."

"Princeton will respond, they always have, and they always will," he added. "They are good people and easy to deal with. The names change, but the type of person is the same. I have absolute confidence in this particular community. I wish I could say the same about the rest of the state."

Princeton Area Residents Receive Degrees and Diplomas

Princeton area residents continue to receive honorary, advanced and undergraduate degrees at commencement ceremonies at colleges and universities across the country.

Elise H. Denny, 172 Cedar Lane, Robert J. Ellerstein, 38 Terhune Road, and Judith A. Jeydel, 308 Gallup Road, were awarded baccalaureate degrees at Skidmore College's 72nd commencement exercises at the Saratoga, N.Y., Performing Arts Center.

Mr. Ellerstein earned a B.S. in history, Ms. Jeydel a B.A. in economics, and Ms. Denny a B.A. in history, upon successful completion of requirements by September.

Niels E. Nielsen, son of Mr. & Mrs. Niels H. Nielsen of Moore Street, graduated magna cum laude with an AB degree with honors in history from Cornell University. He was also named to the Dean's List.

Timothy A. Stafford, son of Mrs. Helen T. Stafford and the late Paul T. Stafford of 30 Russell Road, was awarded a J.D. degree from the University of California, Berkeley, School of Law.

Mr. Stafford did his undergraduate work at the University of California, Santa Cruz, and received an M.A. degree from the Graduate School of International Studies at the University of Denver. In September he will be joining the New York law firm Milbank, Tweed, Hadley & McCloy.

Seven area residents were among the 549 new physicians, dentists, research scientists and allied health professionals who have graduated from the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey (UMDNJ).

Receiving M.D. degrees from UMDNJ-New Jersey Medical School were Douglas P. Murphy of Princeton, Polyseni Scoville Rounds of Princeton Junction, and Lucy A. Gorelli of Pennington. Area residents who earned their M.D. degrees at UMDNJ-Rutgers Medical School were Michael D. Achey and William M. Hike, both of Pennington, Peter G. Stein of Princeton, and Beverly Ann Radice of Lawrenceville.

Leslie Katz of Princeton Junction earned a certificate in the Allied Health Education Program from the UMDNJ School of Health Related Professions.

Robert Ayling Jr. of Princeton and Sharon Mitchell of Lawrenceville have received BA degrees at the Monmouth College commencement.

Austin Wilmerding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Wilmerding of 9 Russell Road, has graduated from Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., with a bachelor of science in general engineering and a computer major coordinated with engineering. He is a 1979 graduate of Princeton Day School.

Shelley A. Hearne of 116 Clover Lane was awarded a bachelor of arts degree at Bowdoin College's 178th commencement exercises. She received honors in environmental studies.

A graduate of Stuart Country Day School, Miss Hearne held a joint major in chemistry and environmental studies. She was a member of the Delta Sigma Fraternity and was elected its president and house manager. She was a three-year varsity letter winner in lacrosse and a co-captain of the team during her junior year. She was a student interviewer in the admissions office, played varsity basketball for two years and served on the student government during her freshman year.

Six students from Princeton received bachelor of arts degrees from Middlebury College at commencement exercises marking the close of the college's 183rd academic year.

They are Sarah S. Woodworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newell B. Woodworth, One Oler Road, majoring in political science; Harriette P. Brainard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Brainard, Jr., 37 Stony Brook Lane, history; Margaret W. Gordon, daughter of Mr. George S. Gordon, 24 Carson Road, English; William P. Jacobus, son of Dr. and Mrs. David P. Jacobus, 37 Cleveland Lane, religion; Jeffrey D. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tristram B. Johnson, 84 Hun Road, history, and Frederick J. Tetzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Tetzel, 336 Rosedale Road, independent scholar.

Miss Woodworth shared the Hazell-Klewen Cup for combined ability in athletics and excellence in scholarship. Miss Gordon graduated cum laude, and Frederick Tetzel graduated magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa.

Melanie V. Thompson, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Speir of Snowden Lane, has received a bachelor of arts degree, cum laude, from Williams College. She majored in psychology and was elected Phi Beta Kappa.

Miss Thompson is presently working as a social worker with the Lutheran Social Service organization in Trenton with responsibility for the cultural orientation of refugees.

Benjamin Dubrovsky, son of Gertrude Dubrovsky of Hawthorne Avenue, has graduated magna cum laude from Tufts University with a degree in engineering science. He has accepted a position with IBM in Endicott, N.Y.

Clifford Hill of Plainsboro was among the 1983 graduates of Westminster Choir College. He received a Master of Music degree in Church Music with organ as his principle performing area. During the year he presented a solo organ recital and conducted a choral recital as partial fulfillment of his degree requirements.

Richard A. Falk, Milbank Professor of International Law at Princeton University, received an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree at Monmouth College's 49th commencement. Dr. Falk was cited for his accomplishments as educator, researcher and writer, and for his public service.

Frances B. Weisberg, daughter of Serena R.B. Weisberg of Kingsway Common, was one of 512 seniors to receive an A.B. degree at the 146th commencement ceremonies at Mount Holyoke College in South Hadley, Mass.

A double major in psychology and philosophy, Ms. Weisberg wrote an honor thesis on sex-related differences in children's response to training on a spatial-visual task. She graduated with honors and will attend the master's program in developmental psychology at Columbia University.

She has held a variety of teaching and tutoring positions during her four years at Mount Holyoke. Her other activities included volleyball, rugby, student government association representative, psychology club and student recruiters.

Dr. Warren B. Martin, scholar in residence at the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching in Princeton and Washington, D.C., was the speaker for Westminster College's 120th annual commencement in New Wilmington, Pa. He will receive the honorary doctor of humanities degree.

Dr. Martin is a participant in the Carnegie Foundation's program on the Profession of Teaching as well as the Carnegie Seminars for College and University Presidents. He is author of three books, including "A College of Character," which was published last September; editor of two other books; and author of more than 50 professional articles.

Before joining the Carnegie Foundation in 1980, he had a distinguished career in college teaching, research, and administration. He was vice-president of the Danforth Foundation and director of its Graduate Fellowship Program in 1974-80; provost and professor of history at Sonoma State University in California, 1972-73; research educator and coordinator of development for Research and Development in Higher Education at the University of California at Berkeley, 1966-72.

In The News

Three Princeton residents have been notified they have received grants for specific projects from the Rockefeller Foundation.

The three are Joseph H. Carens, Stanworth Drive, assistant professor of politics and public affairs, Woodrow Wilson School, whose project is entitled, "Ethics and organizations"; Joseph N. Frank, Haslet Avenue, professor of comparative literature, Princeton University; and F.M. Dostoyevsky, the struggle against nihilism, 1865-1870"; and Paul Fussell, Nassau Street, professor of English literature, University of Pennsylvania, "The cultural form of the Second World War."

They were selected from 1,500 applicants for grants totaling $1 million. The awards, given annually, range from $15,000 to $25,000.

Ralph A. Pirone of The Great Road has been appointed director of the Corporate Payroll Center of McGraw-Hill, Inc.

Mr. Pirone joined McGraw-Hill in 1961 and has held a variety of positions in the department, most recently as manager of payroll processing and accounting. In his new position, he will be responsible for all phases of the corporation's payroll activities.

Matt Willis, Princeton High School Senior, won the bronze medal in the United States Cycling Federation Junior Criterium National Championship race at Nutley last Sunday. Over 150 racers from across the country came to compete in the 30-lap, one-mile-loop criterium. Willis finished just behind U.S. riders from Colorado and Massachusetts.

The following day, he repeated the feat against the same field in the 40th Annual Memorial Day Tour of Somerville. He finished neck-and-neck with another Colorado rider and one from California, making Willis the most consistent rider of the weekend.

He has had an outstanding season so far, winning the National Capitol Open in Washington, D.C. on April 17, the Siegfried Stern Memorial Race in Central Park and the Tour of Flemington on May 1. His next challenge is to win the New Jersey Road Race Championship for the second straight year at Bernardsville on June 5.

He hopes to represent the U.S. on the Junior Worlds Team in the World Championship races in New Zealand in October. Willis is a member of the Century Road Club of America, with headquarters at Kopp's Cycle Shop on Witherspoon Street and is sponsored by Miyata.

Adrian Valeriano, son of Mrs. Pauline Valeriano and the late Mr. Joseph Valeriano of Lawrenceville, and a third grader at The American Boychoir School has been awarded a scholarship made possible through funds provided by New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, Trenton. Before coming to The Boychoir School, Adrian was a member of the Trinity Church Choir and attended the Nassau Christian School.

Navy Midshipman Timothy P. Mahony, son of Leo H. and Marion J. Mahony of Hopewell, was selected for both the Superintendent's and Dean's List at the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md. The Dean's List recognizes midshipmen who have excelled in academic studies, while the Superintendent's List recognizes both academic achievement and the professional training required.

Cornelia J. (C.J.) Reeder, daughter of Mrs. Cornelia Reeder of Hun Road, has completed her third year of varsity lacrosse at Colby-Sawyer College. Reeder was one of the Chargers leading defensive players and scored four goals from her midfield position. She has earned six varsity letters at Colby-Sawyer, the other three as a standout halfback on the Charger soccer team. Cornelia is a junior at Colby-Sawyer with a major in Business Administration.

Eiko Kahn, watercolorist from the Princeton area, won the "Albert H. Baldwin Award" at The National Academy of Design School of Fine Arts in New York City for her painting, "The Artist." The award was presented on May 20 at The National Academy by Robert S. Hutchins, president of the Academy.

Chris McDonald, of Princeton, was a leading scorer on the Heidelberg College varsity lacrosse team. A senior, he was credited with 14 goals and seven assists for a total of 21 points.

Barbara Kleinrock Pollinger M.A., C.C.M.H.C., a clinical mental health counselor in private practice in Princeton, will present a workshop at the Eastern Regional Conference of The Association of Humanistic Psychology in Philadelphia. Her workshop is entitled "The Cinderella Complex" and deals with the issues involved around dependence and independence and the wish to be rescued that exists to some degree in women.

Ms. Pollinger's workshop was selected from many proposals that were submitted as being appropriate for the theme of the conference, which is "Coming of Age: Continuing 21 Years of Innovation." Her workshop will demonstrate the use of psychodrama as a method of change within the counseling group setting. Ms. Pollinger is a psychodramatist as well as a certified clinical mental health counselor. She specializes in women's issues and separation and divorce counseling.

Richard Killmer of Mt. Lucas Road, director of the peace-making project for the United Presbyterian Church, is one of some 40 American Christians who are visiting with Christians in the Soviet Union. The visit is the first attempt by U.S. churches to bring together American Christians who have been active in regional and local peace-making programs and Soviet Christians with similar concerns. The group has been officially invited by the Russian Orthodox Church and is sponsored by the National Council of Churches (NCCC), the Joint Peacemaking Program of the United Presbyterian Church and the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. (PCUS) and the United Presbyterian Bi-National Service Program.

William Pearce of Parkside Drive has been elected senior vice president of Coca-Cola Bottling Company. Mr. Pearce's recent responsibilities were as vice president-corporate affairs. Dalton H. Pritchard

Two RCA Laboratories researchers, Dalton H. Pritchard of Adams Drive and Dr. Fred Sterzer of Province Line Road, have been elected to membership in the National Academy of Engineering (NAE), the highest professional distinction that can be conferred on an engineer.

The NAE cited Mr. Pritchard, a Fellow of the Technical Staff, for "significant contributions to the development of the NTSC color system with subsequent continued improvements and innovations in video technologies." Dr. Sterzer, director of the Microwave Technology Center, was cited for "continuing significant contributions in development of advanced microwave devices and for motivating researchers in the forefront of microwave technology."

Most of Mr. Pritchard's 36-year career with RCA has been devoted to research in color television systems and devices. He has received nine RCA Laboratories Outstanding Achievement Awards for his research in television and related areas. In 1980 he was the only American among nine co-recipients of the Rhein Prize awarded by a West German foundation for research in the consumer audio-visual field.

A recognized authority in microwave technology, Dr. Sterzer subsequently turned his attention to solid-state devices. He has made significant contributions to practical use of tunnel-diode circuit theory and applications and early recognized the potential of gallium arsenide field effect transistors for power applications in microwave systems. Since 1978 he has pioneered in microwave research applications to cancer research and treatment.

PRESERVE OPEN SPACE FOR PRINCETON

The Institute for Advanced Study plans to build a development on its 537 acre property on Quaker Road near Stony Brook.

The following are some of the reasons why this land should be preserved as farmland and open space:

- Farmland Preservation: The farms have some of the richest soil and are among the most productive per acre of any farms in New Jersey. They are among the last working farms in Princeton.
- Historic Preservation: The whole area is significant historically. It is the site of the original 17th century settlement as well as of Washington's historic march. The land is in a key location adjoining the Battlefield Park, Stony Brook Settlement, Friends Meeting and Burying Ground and the Delaware and Raritan Canal historic sites.
- Wildlife Preservation: The abundant bird and animal life, flora and fauna now form an unique eco-system in the Institute Woods and fields which would be upset or largely destroyed, especially if the planned access road cuts through the Woods.
- Quiet Atmosphere: A high density housing development in close proximity would disrupt the tranquility of the Institute grounds and its surrounding residential neighborhoods, especially if one access is through the Olden Lane area.
- Flooding of Stony Brook: Quaker Road and the surrounding fields are flooded when it rains heavily. This would force the construction of access roads through the Institute campus, Woods or even the Battlefield Park, as discussed by the Planning Board.
- Traffic: Quaker Road cannot handle any substantial increase in traffic circulation, nor can the surrounding linking roads, without major and costly rebuilding.
- Princeton services: Sewer, police and fire protection, school busing, road maintenance among other services, would add a heavy burden for the rest of Princeton.

The Princeton Friends of Open Space, Inc., is a coalition of Princeton citizens whose goal is to avoid future development of the Institute for Advanced Study's land on Quaker Road. The coalition's members were raising these issues and objections to the Planning Board well before the Master Plan was adopted in 1980 which allowed "conditional high density" development of the land. Other members have expressed their concern to the Institute directly, in letters and in interviews with the Director over the years, since its development plans were made known. The Princeton Environmental Commission rejected the Institute's plans on the basis of these very issues. The Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, Princeton Battlefield Association, Historical Society of Princeton, New Jersey Conservation Foundation, and New Jersey Farm League have raised their concerns and cited their own reasons for wishing to protect the land from development before the Planning Board at its April and May meetings.

These combined efforts have not yet succeeded in changing the Institute's plans to develop marketable housing on this land.

The Institute's stated reason for the development is to increase its endowment. The Princeton Friends of Open Space have therefore agreed to initiate a community effort to purchase easements on the property. In this way we are cooperating with the Institute's goals and at the same time will preserve the land from development permanently. It will remain as a witness to the strong commitment of Princetonians to their heritage and to their environment.

BUSINESS In Princeton

HAVE AN 'EATIE'
For lunch, picnic. It's much more, so how about an 'Eatie'?

Stuffed with shrimp or a beef, spinach married to feta cheese, chili aromatic cheese, it's just the right size — six inches — and weighs five and one-quarter ounces — for lunch.

The 'it' that is stuffed, is a fold of flaky pastry, rather like the traditional English pasty, but infinitely lighter and more sophisticated.

Buy one today at "Eaties," 830 State Road in the northernmost part of The Neckel building, and in late June, at a 20 Nassau street-front shop. Price range: $1.25 to $2.50.

The new enterprise comes from the imagination of Dennis Eady, who has joined with Cyrus Amirsardary to form "Fortesque, Inc.," the producers of Eaties. Mr. Eady, who has lived more in France than in England in spite of his U.K. accent, is the man on the scene in Princeton.

"These two Princeton shops are the first in a chain," he says, flaking off and testing bits of a dessert Danish made by his Danish chef.

New York, Philadelphia, Albany, as well as Princeton. We chose Princeton because the town is expanding, it has the right location and geography, and it is a very beautiful place.

Everything is baked on the State Road premises in new equipment just imported from Switzerland. No preservatives are used. The Danish are unlike any Danish you've seen before — flaky and buttery as a croissant, so light you don't even notice the calories. There is one with hidden bits of chocolate, another whose sliced apples are redolent of cinnamon, one with raspberry jam, another with fruit.

His work with Rockefeller involved him in the development of Continental Center, the 1-million-square-foot office complex in New York.

For Addition, Applied Data Research, Inc. has broken ground for an addition to its worldwide headquarters on Route 206, north of Princeton. The headquarters are north of the Montgomery Shopping Center, south of the County Line Inn, on a 41-acre parcel of land.

In the first phase of the program, ADR will add a 70,000-square-foot wing to the present building. Scheduled for completion in mid-1984, the wing will double the present size of the building. Over the next years, according to ADR president John R. Bennett, the complex will be expanded to 254,000 square feet.

Building plans comprise a training center for customers and ADR staff, an expansion of computer center facilities and new space for groups.

NEW MAN AT COLLINS.
To Oversee Palmer Square, Gary Green, formerly development manager of the Rockefeller Center Development Corporation, has been appointed a vice-president of Collins Development, and will serve as project manager of the Palmer Square project. He succeeds James Harvie, who has been directing Palmer Square expansion.

A graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic with an MBA from the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, Mr. Green has a background in project management as well as in construction and business.

As project manager for Cabot, Cabot and Forbes, he worked on the 13,000-acre Wintgreen Resort in Virginia which combines golf course, ski area, houses and condominiums. He also assisted in development of the headquarters office tower for New England Merchants and Boston Company buildings in Boston.

His work with Rockefeller involved him in the development of Continental Center, the 1-million-square-foot office complex in New York.

Mr. Green lives in Upper Montclair with his wife and three children.

SEMINAR PLANNED
On Financing Business.
Mercer County business people are invited to a seminar on financing to be held Wednesday, June 14, from 8:30 to 4 at Forsgate Country Club in Jamesburg.

The seminar will acquaint area business people with available public and private methods of financing new business endeavors and expansions. Co-sponsored by the N.J. Alliance for Action and N.J. Bell, the conference will provide information on N.J. Department of Commerce, Economic Development Authority and U.S. Small Business Administration programs, banking relations and implications of tax law changes.

Participants will have opportunity to speak with panelists. For more information, call the Mercer County Office of Economic Development at 989-6555 or the N.J. Alliance for Action, (201) 494-7077.

FORD, AT RUTGERS
Business Conference.
Former President Gerald R. Ford will address the 35th annual Business Conference at Rutgers Friday, June 3. President Ford will speak at the 12:30 luncheon at Brower Commons before an expected audience of 1,000.

The Business Conference is sponsored by the Sales Executive Club of New Jersey and the Rutgers Graduate School of Management. The theme will be "What Lies Ahead for Business."

Other speakers will be Governor Thomas H. Kean; former U.S. Senator Nicholas Brady, now chairman of the board of Dillon, Read & Co., Inc.; Robert S. Strauss, former chairman of the Democratic Party; Donald C. Burr, president and chief executive officer of People Express airlines and Albert Wojniowicz of The First Boston Corp.

SCIENTIST NAMED
At Textile Research. Dr. Carolyn Perkins, 65 Woodside Lane, has been named Senior Scientist at Textile Research Institute, 601 Prospect.

A graduate of Wake Forest, Dr. Perkins holds a doctorate in physical chemistry from Cornell. She was formerly a senior research scientist at American Can, and a lecturer in the department of chemistry at Princeton University.

At Textile Research, she will deal with programs concerned with fluid flow in fibrous media. Several TRI projects dealing with the development of semi-permeable fabric barriers fall within Dr. Perkins' field of expertise, TRI officials said.

Selden B. Clark of Bucks County has been named director of account management at Gillespie Advertising. Before joining Gillespie, Mr. Clark served as senior vice president at N.W. Ayer in New York. In his more than 20 years at Ayer, he had top management responsibility for the AT&T Long Distance account for 10 years, during which time many awards were won for TV, radio and print campaigns. Other management assignments at Ayer were Bahamas Ministry of Tourism, Sabena Airlines, Hanes Corp., Marathon Oil, Newsweek and The Washington Post.

Earlier he had sales management roles in New York, San Francisco and Philadelphia with the Remington Electric Shaver Division of Sperry Rand. In the early 1960s, Mr. Clark founded the Nassau Hockey League here for youngsters between 6 and 14. Although he has relinquished the director's role in recent years, he is still an active coach with the younger players from November until March.

Marilyn R. Sikora, manager of Revere Travel in Princeton, participated in an intensive three day Los Angeles seminar on Personnel Management designed for travel professionals. A resident of Lawrenceville, Mrs. Sikora is active in the national Institute of Certified Travel Agents, the non-profit, educational arm of the travel industry, which sponsored the seminar.

The Institute awards the CTC (Certified Travel Counselor) designation to those who have successfully completed its graduate-level, five-part travel management course and acquired a minimum of five years experience in the field.

Over 3,800 CTCs have been certified to date, and there are more than 6,000 candidates nationwide studying for the designation, which was established in 1964.

Mrs. Sikora is also active in the Princeton Chapter of Commerce and the Princeton Business and Professional Women's Organization as well as state travel groups.

Richard E. Romanko of Jamesburg has joined New Jersey National Bank as assistant vice president and manager of the Princeton office. He will additionally serve as area manager for the Easton Avenue office in Somerset; the Mid-State Mall office in East Brunswick; the Kingston and Princeton offices.

Mr. Romanko received a degree in accounting at Middlesex County College. Prior to joining New Jersey National Bank of Central Jersey as manager of its Livingston Avenue office in New Brunswick.

Benjamin F. Herrman of Hamilton Township has been appointed as assistant cashier and manager of the Lawrence Shopping Center office of New Jersey National Bank.

Mr. Herrman began his banking career with Princeton Bank and Trust Company. Just prior to joining New Jersey National Bank, he had been affiliated with Fidelity Union Bank as manager of its East Windsor office.

"A man, in short, with both policy-making and executive experience, respected and recognized by his peers in both government and business."

Barbara Sigmund, Candidate, Mayor of Princeton Borough

"Joe Tighue's persistence and integrity will insure that the people of Mercer get quality and efficiency in their government."

Senator Gerald Stockman

"Joe Tighue has the experience, the heart and the vision to be a County Executive worthy of our confidence."

Walter Bliss, Chairman, Mercer County Democratic Party

"He is unbosomed and unbought."

Peter Shapiro, Essex County Executive

"...His demonstrated ability to follow the dictates of his own conscience has been a refreshing and reassuring quality... He has served his County well..."

The Trentonian

Democrats: The Mercer County Executive is the single person most responsible for making government work in Mercer County. He develops and administers an over 76 million dollar budget. He is a full-time manager who oversees all County facilities, programs and personnel. And he must be an advocate and a leader. Joe Tighue will make a County Executive equal to the challenge of that office. He offers us 10 years of experience in all facets of County government and 25 years of experience as a successful businessman. He has been lauded by leaders and the press. He has been endorsed by the Princeton Community Democratic Organization and by the Mercer County Democratic Convention. We, also, take pride in endorsing Joe Tighue for County Executive.

Autobiography of Bishop Prince A. Taylor Jr. Recounts Struggle for Black Equality in Church

Bishop Prince A. Taylor Jr. has written an autobiography that is at the same time his view of the struggle for racial equality within the Methodist Episcopal Church and in American society. Entitled "The Life of My Years," and published by Abingdon Press as an original paperback, the book is available at the Princeton University Store.

Bishop Taylor was bishop of New Jersey for 12 years until his retirement in 1976, the first black bishop of his denomination assigned to a predominantly white northern Conference. He was also the first black to serve as president of the Methodist Council of Bishops. And he served in leadership positions on commissions established by the denomination as early as 1949 only to be called to integrate the black Central Methodist Church into the mainstream of the Methodist Church, a task which he found to be a barrier or a benefaction—a source of separation and conflict, or a catalyst for the enrichment of spiritual life.

"Whatever have been the benefits of separatism, in essence, it has fragmented the body and impaired its health," Bishop Taylor notes that his life has been marked by the struggle to overcome years over which "tremendous strides" have been made in dealing with the issue of race in the church, and he sets out to tell the story in autobiographical form since he has been involved in many aspects of that work.

Grandson of Slaves. Bishop Taylor was born in Oklahoma in 1907 to a Methodist preacher and his wife who had 14 children in the space of 20 years. His paternal grandparents were each born in slavery and remained slaves until each was 16 years old. There is a story in the family that his great-grandmother was the daughter of an African chief in Nigeria, West Africa, who was lured with other members of the tribe onto a slave trader's ship. That was in 1789, the year George Washington was elected President, and five years after the Methodist Episcopal Church was organized in America, Bishop Taylor notes.

He grew up in Mississippi, where the public schools for black children were "horrible," but there were occasionally gifted teachers and church-sponsored schools that helped fill in the gaps. Inclined from an early age to the ministry, he enrolled after high school in a joint program with Clark College and Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta, Ga. He completed the requirements at Gammon in less than the usual time and paid his way by waiting on Bishop Prince A. Taylor Jr.

Ordnained in the North Carolina Conference in 1931, he served pastorates in several churches in North Carolina and was present at the annual conference in 1936 at which the issue of the merger of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and the Protestant Episcopal Church was discussed. Prior to the merger Presbyterian Church, has in 1939, all the Negro conferences were in the Methodist Episcopal Church. The of Christ at Dartmouth College proposal was for five legs in Hanover, New Hampshire geographical jurisdictions and shire.

Mr. Mackenzie earned a sixth jurisdiction that was to be all black. The conferences, such as the Princeton Seminary in 1970 North Carolina Conference, and wrote a thesis on which later became this Central Religion and Politics in the black by the church-in-theology degree from which we placed our hopes."

Constitutional Segregation. It was the first time, he adds, that segregation had been director and later associate written into the constitution of director of field education for the church. In a later chapter nine years at the Seminary he describes the lengthy and while studying for his doctoral process during the tenure at New York University in 1958 of undoing this definition, which he received in 1978, of jurisdiction in terms of He was called to Nassau race.

Meanwhile, his ministry and has had special responsibility to teaching, and his abilities there for education earned an M.A. at Union and outreach. Theological Seminary and Nassau Church will hold a Columbia University in New reception for the Mackenzies York and a doctorate in education on Sunday, June 19.

He returned to the south to serve as an assistant to the president of Bennett College in Greensboro, N.C., and he taught at both Gammon Seminary and Clark College. In 1945, he was named editor of the Central Christian Advocate, published officially for the black annual conferences but read throughout the church. It was a post that usually led to the episcopacy, and in 1956 he was elected a bishop and assigned to serve in Monrovia, Liberia, West Africa.

Bishop Taylor served for eight years in Liberia, and he writes warmly of the valid contributions of missionaries who "in many unselfish ways worked ardently for a better life for underprivileged peoples around the world." He was decorated twice by the Government of Liberia. In 1964 he was assigned to the New Jersey Area, which was not only an experiment in assigning a black bishop to a predominantly white area, but was also the forming of a new area out of two annual conferences.

It was a difficult time, he remembers. The Black Revolution was in full force, and he encountered discrimination as he attempted to obtain housing in Princeton, which had been chosen as the headquarters for the new area. Nonetheless he views his assignment here as "another step toward the wholeness of the church."

Bishop Taylor is a temperate man who has travelled widely and served his church in a number of important posts. In this book he seeks neither to judge nor to idolize figures of the past. In his final chapter, in which he lifts up a number of accomplishments toward wholeness, he says, "I sometimes feel that we anesthetize people with clichés instead of offering them renewal and hope through Christ... In many instances it is not a new structure that the church needs, but a new spirit for which there is no substitute."

Barbara L. Johnson

BULLETIN NOTES

The Rev. Eugene Speckman, pastor of Six Mile Run Reformed Church, has been elected chair of the Religious Ministries Committee that has direction of the chaplaincy program at Princeton Medical Center.

He succeeds the Rev. Galen Goodwin, minister of the Montgomery United Methodist Church, who is leaving to become minister of the Sparta United Methodist Church. The Religious Ministries Committee is composed of lay and clergy representatives of churches and synagogues in the area served by Princeton Medical Center as well as representatives of the Medical Center.

The Singles Fellowship Programs will hold a Crafts Fair, Antiques & Bake Sale Saturday from 9:30 to 4:30 at Nassau Presbyterian Church. The event is a benefit for the Singles Ministry of the New Brunswick Presbytery.

Some 50 craftspeople from New Jersey and Pennsylvania will show handwork ranging from afghans to wooden primitive crafts. Sale items will include antique ribbon flowers and bonnets, bread dough art, ceramics, doll houses and furnishings, folk art toys, stained glass, jewelry, monogramming, patchwork pillows and wall-hangings, and silk flowers, among other things.

The donation is $1. For information call 452-9252 Monday-Friday only.

St. George Greek Orthodox Church, 1200 Klockner Road, Hamilton Township, will hold its 8th annual Greek Festival Thursday through Saturday, June 9-12. The festival will be open from 5 to 11 Thursday, 11 to midnight Friday and Saturday, and noon to 8 p.m. Sunday. Proceeds will benefit the church building fund.

Costumed students representing many regions of Greece will demonstrate traditional folk dances, and there will be luncheons and dinners of traditional Greek cuisine as well as Greek hors d'oeuvres and desserts for sale. A bazaar will offer imported gift ideas.

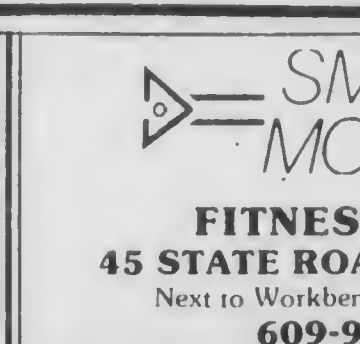

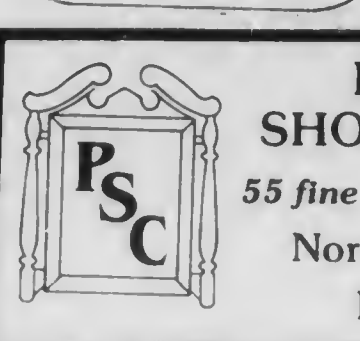

Registration is underway for two free classes for senior citizens at the Jewish Center. One is a television course on contemporary society with an accompanying instruction booklet, and the other is "Selected Topics in History," covering the philosophy, literature and arts of the 1920s and '30s and taught by Dr. Edward Ettinger of the Mercer County Community College Department of Sociology.

The courses are sponsored by the Social Concerns Committee and the Drop-in Lounge of the Jewish Center. Interested persons may register at the Center weekdays from 9 to 2 or call Administrator Paula Wachtel at 921-0100. Fall classes will begin on August 31 and be held at the Drop-in Lounge on Wednesday mornings from 10 to noon.

New officers will be installed by the Women's Division of the Jewish Center at its "Soup, Salad and Song Springtime Luncheon," Monday at 11:30, at the center, 457 Nassau Street.

Officers include Elaine Weinberg, president; Louise Forman, membership vice president; Judith Leopold and Judith Rin, program vice presidents; Robin Blumberg, treasurer; Sue Gross, recording secretary; and Rhonda Stein, corresponding secretary.

Folk guitarist Caroline Moseley will entertain following the luncheon and installation.

BAYARD COURT IN PRINCETON

OPEN HOUSE SATURDAY 1-4 PM

Minutes from the center of Princeton: newly constructed condominiums designed for the ultimate in energy-efficiency

From full basement to the thermostatically controlled attic fan, Bayard Court condominiums have been designed and constructed with extraordinary attention to detail. Remarkable standards of energy-efficiency have been achieved through such features as Carrier SuperSaver gas burners, air-lock entry systems, Perma-Shield windows, and extra insulation in ceilings and walls. Every unit is positioned for full southern exposure with sliding glass doors to take advantage of passive solar heat during sunny, winter days. Overhanging eaves provide protection from mid-day summer sun. Four season greenhouses are also available as an optional extra.

(Mountain Ave. and Bayard Lane)
 Bayard Court condominiums are priced from $152,000. They are available for viewing now, ready for occupancy.

Bill in NJ Senate Would Give Teachers, Police Greater Latitude in Negotiating New Contracts

A bill which would allow the number of children in a classroom to be a subject of negotiation between school board and teachers, or the number of police officers in a patrol car to be negotiated between a police union and a municipality, is now in the Labor Committee of the State Senate. It has already passed the Assembly.

Princeton's school board is lobbying hard against its passage. The New Jersey Education Association is lobbying hard for passage. Princeton's own teachers union, the Princeton Regional Education Association, has been quiet so far, preferring to let the NJEA be its representative on the battlefield.

"A-585," as the measure is known, is the outgrowth of a New Jersey Supreme Court decision in 1978. Until that time, PERC (Public Employee Relations Commission) had defined three areas for negotiation between unions representing public employees on the one hand, and school boards, municipalities, state and county governments on the other.

First, there were mandatory items like salaries and hours. Next, there were matters outside the scope of negotiations like tenure, which is already written into law.

Permissible Questions. In between, were the so-called "permissibles" — questions that could, or could not, be on the negotiating table depending on the parties involved. For schools, these included the transfer of teachers, the size of classes, choice of textbooks and the like.

But the Supreme Court, in its 1978 ruling, wiped out the "permissible" category. Now, the NJEA wants it returned. Under A-585, "permissible" matters would be everything not actually eliminated from bargaining by law.

"Here in Princeton, we talk with the staff about transfers, and people have a right to come in and protest, and a change can be made.

Classes Small Already. "We don't want to bargain over how many kids there will be in a classroom. We have a policy now on class size: 20 to 25 kids in elementary classes with an optimum of 20; 25-30 at the high school with a 25 optimum. A few classes at Princeton High go over that, but we're trying to reduce them. On the whole, the elementary schools are close to target."

"Today's teachers want change to come from participation and consensus, not from mandates proclaimed on high. They want guarantees that change will improve programs for students, not just save pennies for the school board." New Jersey Education Association.

Because of high turnover among Princeton University staff and the way children from Institute for Advanced Study and Seminary families "dribble in during the fall," Mrs. McGoldrick says, predictions are hard.

"But we're awfully good at arranging this kind of thing."

The NJEA argues that school boards can always say "no," if employees raise a "permissive" issue: "the employer may negotiate if it wants to, or decline to negotiate if it doesn't want to."

In practice, Princeton's Superintendent Paul Houston suspects, it wouldn't work out that way.

"They say a board doesn't have to give in and negotiate something they propose, but the fact is, there is a trade-off, as always. The more demands there are on the table, the higher the ante."

"You could put anything you want on the table — 100 items, maybe. To get them off the table, will cost money. For the public, there are dire financial

"I certainly support the bill. It would make a big difference in our negotiations with the school board." — Ann Johnston, president, Princeton Regional Education Association.

implications, if class size is negotiable."

Negotiated Curricula. Curriculum is another area where the bill would allow negotiation.

"Today's teachers want change to come from participation and consensus, not from mandates proclaimed on high," the NJEA says. "They want guarantees that change eliminated from bargaining by law."

"For the public, there are direct financial implications, if class size is negotiable." Dr. Paul Houston, Superintendent of Schools for Princeton.

students, not just save pennies for the school board."

Mrs. McGoldrick says that, in Princeton, teachers already have "a great deal of opportunity for input into curriculum, and other matters. It's the job of professionals on our staff. As we review curriculum in our five-year, rotating schedule, teachers do this and are paid extra. We don't need this as a permissive category."

One thing Mrs. McGoldrick and Dr. Houston fear is "an enormous wish list, with enormous pressure on us. We might give up management prerogatives in order to keep expenses down," Mrs. McGoldrick points out, "and then find expenses had gone up because we no longer had the flexibility we once had. And a matter is still on the table, even if you say 'No, we won't negotiate that.'"

Stockman in Middle. Ten days ago, the board held a breakfast meeting with State Senator Gerald Stockman, and another is scheduled soon with the Mercer County School Boards Association. Senator Stockman has been on the griddle before with Princeton school board members, going back to his role last year in legislative action that cancelled half-a-million in Princeton's state aid.

Senator Stockman told the board he was still undecided about which way to vote, and "It's question of managerial prerogatives. Transfers of teachers, for example, shouldn't be negotiable, especially with the decline in enrollment we're facing." Ann McGoldrick, Princeton school board president.

he reminded them that labor is a major constituency for him.

"We reminded him that there is more to his constituency than Trenton," Dr. Houston reported.

Municipal officials also were present at the breakfast. Borough Administrator Mark Gordon, Township Committee member William Cherry, representatives from the Mercer County Board of Freeholders, the State School Board and the League of Municipalities, all were present. Board member Karen Woodbridge and, representing the public, former board member Hannah Fox attended as well.

Both Borough and Township have police unions. The Borough also has a union of public works employees, which the Township does not.

Negotiated Asphalt? Mr. Cherry worried that a unionized road crew might want to negotiate such matters as the thickness of asphalt on a roadway, or the height of a fence around a tennis court. Mr. Gordon said it might be the number of officers in a patrol car, or the number of people in a work crew.

"A union might be negotiating public policies," Mr. Gordon added. "That would be taking policies out of the hands of those directly elected by the public, and placing them in the hands of a third party — the union, or perhaps an arbitrator who didn't have much interest in the community."

One thing seems to bother school and municipal officials almost more than anything, and that is — what happens to rules and regulations?

After the Legislature passes a bill and the governor signs it, the act is then turned over to the appropriate agency to devise the regulations that will implement the new law. But under this measure, contracts would take precedence.

Meaningless Rules. "The rules and regulations are intended to be followed, statewide, after a law has been passed," Mr. Gordon explains. "But this way, a rule could be null and void in a particular town because of a contract. The rules would be meaningless."

He is also concerned about "impact bargaining."

"This would permit managerial decisions, but negotiating on their impact would be mandatory," Mr. Gordon says. "For example, you could decide the hours a playground would be open as a matter of policy, but the impact of that policy decision could be a topic of negotiation. The bill is an end run around the courts that struck these things down."

To Us*TASTEFUL MEN'S WEAR

At Lake Lawrence Plaza, Summer chic has arrived at Fred K. W. Donnelly and Son just in time for Father's Day. The well-known clothiers who have been dressing men with good taste in the area for the past 115 years has a fine assortment of summer wear for that very special man in the house. Gift items range from the classic tie he has always wanted to a snappy new swimsuit to stunning summer jackets.

The Donnelly family's original store, founded by two brothers, was located on Broad Street in Trenton until 12 years ago when they moved to their spacious shop in Lawrenceville at the Lake Lawrence Plaza on U.S. Alternate Rt. 1. There your man can be outfitted from head to toe. Swatches for custom tailored suits, ready made suiting, fine dress shoes and loafers, sportswear, slacks of all types, jackets, shirts, coats and sweaters are handsomely displayed to make shopping there a pleasant and convenient experience.

for the sportier days of the summer and surely handy for vacations in the north.

The cotton striped sweaters at F.W. Donnelly and Son have been so popular this year that one of the color combinations is already sold out, so hurry to select one of those still in stock, such as the ice cream color striped sweater with pink, blue, tan, and pale yellow.

Your man will be happy to receive a summer pastel gift after several long months of the dark blues and greys. A wonderful assortment of colorful summer sports jackets will be seen at this shop such as those made by Izod in pale yellow, a good-looking green, blue, and many other shades. Jackets begin at $135 and are available in stunning linen, hopsack, madras, and poplin.

The good news for the extra tall or large man is that the clothing store has a wide selection of sizes in suits (up to 50 in regular and long) and shirting (extra long up to size 48 with sleeves up to 37 in length). Large or tall men will not be ignored when it comes to looking chic.

The shop has 100 percent cotton shirts in six colors under its own name as well as a wide selection of Izods and matching golf sweaters. Multi-stripes and solids by Thane in 18 colors are sure to please a Dad who is usually seen in white or navy. Put a little life in his wardrobe and shop at Fred K. W. Donnelly and Son.

FABRIC OUTLET STORE: Amazing values in fabrics for upholstery and draperies are available at Trenton Home Fabrics where a drapery department has recently been opened. Ms. Barbara Jablans, owner of the store and vast fabric warehouse outlet with her father, Mr. Irv Jablans, and Ms. Debbie Bogart display one of the hundreds of drapes found in standard sizes in the shop, where prices are discounted up to 70 percent.DISCOUNTED FABRICS

At Trenton Home Fabrics.

Until now there has been a well-kept secret by decorators and interior designers in the area — one which many shoppers have only recently learned. Amazing values and the lowest prices imaginable wholesale customers. We are the skills to make their own for terrific fabrics and drapes are now available at Trenton Home Fabrics, located at 1661 N. Olden Avenue in Trenton, the middlemen costs. The firm, an extensive drapery shop's showroom includes No more long trips to the city warehouse adjoining the department has been formed. top quality because it's right near home.

Mr. Irv Jablans and his daughter, Barbara, natives of Trenton, opened their discount outlet and warehouse a year ago March. Mr. Jablans, owner of Jablans Fabrics overruns from all of the distributors all over the country, has been in the business 35 years in New York City. The shop is a result of combining all of his large amounts of fabric from warehouses together under one roof. Shoppers from the Princeton area and Trenton are the lucky recipients of first quality materials for drapes and upholstery at prices which are at least two-thirds less than regular prices.

Trenton Home Fabrics is an awesome operation where one fabric houses have been buying from Trenton Home Fabrics ever since the shop was opened. Those who have been delighted by the vast range of fabrics from which to choose. However, since Mr. Vince Noto joined the department has been formed. Mr. Noto, formerly a vice president in marketing for Decorator Industries, knows the drapery business well after 30 years of experience. He has taken 12,000 yards of fabric from the warehouse and made them into handsome drapes in standard sizes, a great boon to those who cannot sew!

Anyone who has stood in line in one of our nearby cities wasting precious time in order to buy a shirt or a tie will appreciate the deference and service at Fred K. W. Donnelly and Son which has always earmarked the family business. Mr. Frederick Donnelly Haulenbeck Jr. is owner and chief buyer for the company. Pictures of his predecessors and relatives adorn one wall of the shop along with photos of the interior and exterior of its original site in the 1800s.

Who is tired of looking at Father's old shirts? If you are, Donnelly and Son is the place to go. Stunning gingham, solids, and stripes, 100 percent cottons, or blends which need no ironing by Enro, Sero, and Damon will make lovely gifts. Short-sleeved cotton sports shirts in a variety of plaids are a nice change from winter wear. They will combine well with the fine selection of slacks for the warmer months or the hundreds of lightweight suits in stock.

Traditional Styles. The clothes found at this men's department store will never go out of style. The clothing is traditional and will stand the test of time such as the handsome poplin trousers in several light colors. Pincord trousers and suits in blue, lightweight khakis, summer seersucker, and crisp linen, are among the choices in the slacks and suit department.

Golfers will delight in the wide range of gear for that sport such as comfortable plaids, solids, trousers, cotton knit shirts, and outerwear for the occasional thunderstorm while on the links. For the warmer day, perhaps your favorite Dad would appreciate a new pair of walking shorts. Bright colors and conservative alike, as well as the classic madras will be needed

ART

In Princeton

AT.E.T.S.

Work by Cody Eckert.
Paintings and watercolors
by Cody Eckert, Cranbury artist, will be exhibited in the Henry Chauncey Conference Center, Educational Testing Service, from June 13 through July 29. An opening reception will be held Sunday, June 19 from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Center.

On August 1, the exhibit — encompassing 60 to 70 works — will be transferred to Lounge
B in Conant Hall at E.T.S. It will remain through September 16.

A licensed architect and planner, Ms. Eckert was graduated from Syracuse University with a degree in architecture and fine arts, and later studied art and environmental design at the Philadelphia College of Art.

She began exhibiting her paintings in 1980 in galleries, banks and hospitals in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and she has had solo exhibits in New Hope, Trenton, New Brunswick and Cranbury.

The artist has explained that she calls her work "suggestive realism," often introducing a variety of ideas around a single predominant idea. In her work with watercolors or acrylics, she also uses pastels, crayon, ink, pencils and collage materials to complete her concepts.

'ARTISTS, '83'

Exhibit, in Trenton, Princeton artist Jane Eccles is one of four artists in the Trenton area whose drawings and etchings will be exhibited at Ellarslie, the Trenton City Museum, during the month of June. The opening reception is scheduled for this Wednesday from 7 to 9 and the public is invited.

Each month during the summer, four artists from the area will be featured in the "Sixteen Artists '83" summer program, co-sponsored by the Trenton Artists Workshop Association and the Trenton City Museum.

The museum is open daily from 11 to 3 and Sundays from 2 to 4. It is closed Saturdays.

ART, FOR SUMMER

MUSIC

In Princeton

CHAMBER CONCERTSET
By PHSO Orchestra. The Princeton High School Orchestra will present an evening of chamber music Thursday, June 2, at 8 in the PHSO auditorium. Tickets at $1 can be purchased at the door.

Standard works such as the Schubert Quintet in C Major, the Mendelssohn D Minor Trio, and string quartets by Haydn will be performed, as well as the Bolling Suite for Jazz Flute and some contemporary duets. In order to allow as many musicians as possible to participate, only one movement of each work has been selected and rehearsed by each group, coached by Portia Sonnenfeld.

Aaron Copland's "Quiet City" will complete the concert, featuring Rebecca Dyson on English horn and Stephen Billington as trumpet soloist with all of the PHSO strings.

The Princeton High School Orchestra is about to release a record on the VQR label. Pieces by Monteverdi, Handel, Haydn, Mozart, Hummel and Wagner, all recorded within the past 18 months, are included. Records may be purchased at the chamber music concert, or ordered through Portia Sonnenfeld at 924-5600.

1983-84 CONCERTS SET
In University Series. Princeton University Concerts will offer two series of four concerts each during the 1983-84 season. In its 89th year, the University Concerts are one of the oldest continuous music series in the country.

The "Virtuosi in Recital" series will offer "Harlequins, Gods and Dancers," a program of French baroque music, with five musicians (two singers, harpsichord, flauto traverso and viola da gamba) and two dancers on November 7. The Leipzig Gewandhaus Bach Orchestra, with Gerhard Bosse, conductor and violin soloist, will perform on January 23, 1984; Miriam Fried, violin, and Garrick Ohlsson, piano, will give a joint sonata recital on February 6, and Richard Goode, the American pianist, member of the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center, will be here on March 19.

The "Chamber Masterworks" series will bring four string quartets here next season: the Juilliard, with Stanley Drucker, clarinet, on October 24; the Concord on November 21; The Ridge Quartet on January 30, 1984 and the La Salle on April 30, 1984. All concerts are held at McCarter Theatre, on Mondays at 8 p.m. Subscriptions are still available at moderate prices and with discounts if both series are purchased. For information, call the Concert Office, 452-5707, weekdays.

COMPOSERS INVITED
To Enter Competition. The Little Orchestra of Princeton will sponsor a competition, in cooperation with the Composers Guild of New Jersey, for a new work for chamber orchestra by a New Jersey composer.

The winning composition will be premiered by The Little Orchestra on February 5, 1984. Scores must be postmarked by October 15, and the judges' decision will be announced December 1. The Little Orchestra reserves the right not to name a winner if none of the entries is judged to be of appropriate quality. Other factors being equal, preference will be given to works commissioned by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts.

Maximum instrumentation will be strings 6-5-4-3-2, winds 2222 2211 T1. More restricted instrumentation is permissible. Maximum length is 15 minutes. Entrants should bear in mind that there will be limited rehearsal time. All inquiries and entries should be addressed to The Little Orchestra of Princeton, 1 Westcott Road, Princeton 08540.

NURSING HOME TO GAIN

AUDITION FOR MUSICAL

"West Side Story." Try-outs for the Franklin Community Players' production of "West Side Story" will be held Thursday and Friday, June 9 and 10 from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Bound Brook High School and June 16 and 17 from 7 to 10 at Franklin High School.

Production dates are October 21-November 13, and rehearsals will be approximately three nights a week starting in mid-August.

If you try out, you will be asked to sing one song, not necessarily from "West Side Story," to read from the script and to dance. An accompanist will be provided. All parts are open, and anyone over the age of 20 is invited to audition.

More information is available from Ellen Jaffe, 201-993-8156 or Bill Grippo, 201-545-4229.

Kraft in New York

Robert Kraft, pop singer-songwriter-pianist who grew up in Princeton, is now playing an open-ended engagement at The Ballroom on West 28th Street in New York. The new show is called "West Side Solo." Young Kraft was the subject of a feature story last week in the entertainment section of the New York Times.

A graduate of Harvard, he formed his band, The Ivory Coast, in 1979, developing a wide following in New York jazz clubs and cabarets. He has twice appeared in sold-out concerts in Radio City Music Hall. Producer Hal Prince currently has an option on a Kraft show, "Metropolitan Serenade."

Kraft's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Kraft, Ridgeview Road.

AND AT RUTGERS....

Three Plays for Summer. "Fun, Farce and Folly," is the way Rutgers is characterizing its three summer productions by the Rutgers Theatre Company, a professional group in residence at Rutgers University. Plays will be given in Levin Theatre on Rutgers' Douglass College campus.

"On the Razzle," a comedy by Tom Stoppard, will open the season with a run from June 14-26. It's about a pair of lower-class citizens who decide to live like the privileged, and go "on the razzle" for a day. Disguise, mistaken identity and "chaotic fun."

"Black Comedy," a farce by Peter Shaffer, will play July 5-17. It starts with a blown fuse, and, like "On the Razzle" has a lot of identities that are mistaken.

"Talley's Folly" booked for July 26-August 7, won the 1980 Pulitzer Prize for Lanford Wilson. It's a romance between an accountant who has been the victim of European anti-Semitism, and a rich spinster with scars of her own. Subscription information is available from the Levin box-office 201-932-9892 between noon and 5, Mondays through Fridays.

TWO CONCERTS PLANNED
By University Chorus. The Princeton University Chamber Chorus, conducted by Prof. Walter Nollner and Assistant Conductor Isobel Woods, will give two concerts in Princeton this coming weekend before leaving on a six-week tour of the Far East. On Friday night at 8 p.m. in the Princeton University Chapel, the group will present a short concert of sacred

This work is the subject of a dissertation for a Ph.D. in music for Assistant Conductor Woods, who has transcribed the composition from the manuscript and prepared it for performance, and will conduct it Friday night. The program also includes two American spirituals. The concert is open to the public and is free of admission charge.

On Saturday night at 8 p.m. in Alexander Hall, the Chamber Chorus will present its Reunions Concert, devoted primarily to light music. The program will begin with the spirited and entertaining "Gypsy Songs" (Zigeunerlieder) by Johannes Brahms. A group of international folksongs from China, Japan, Jamaica and Mexico will follow, representing countries visited by the Chamber Chorus in the last five years. Spiritual arrangements by Walter Nollner and John Work will be followed by a special arrangement of Gershwin's "I Got Rhythm," and the program will conclude with the Princeton Football Medley and the Alma Mater, Old Nassau.

This concert is also open to the public. Admission is $2, $1 for students.

On Thursday June 9, the group leaves to sing concerts in Los Angeles, Japan (Tokyo, Kofu, Kyoto, Osaka and Yokohama), Hong Kong, Thailand (Chiangmai and Bangkok), Honolulu and San Francisco. The tour will end in San Francisco on Saturday, July 23.

This will be the University Chamber Chorus's second trip to the Far East, the success of the first venture in 1980 having prompted this summer's return.

FOLK, ROCK CONCERT

Most Teams Except Football Do Well in Recruiting Athletes, Despite Princeton's Extra Emphasis on Admitting 'Academics'

Question: What does Brooke Shields have to do with an article about the athletes recruited for the incoming Princeton Class of 1987?

We will get to the answer in a second, but first let us assure you: Contrary to what you may have heard or read, Brooke is not the only member of the newest freshman class at the University. This year, just like every other, Princeton's coaches and their aides were scouring the secondary schools of America looking for the blue chip athletes who can perpetuate a winning tradition or eradicate a losing one.

This year, while everyone else was titillated over whether or not Brooke would be admitted, the coaches were fretting in their offices, worrying about their top recruits and how they would fare at the admissions office.

For the coaches, and here we get to the question posed at the beginning of this article, Brooke was just one more student trying to squeeze through the gates into Princeton. For Brooke and for any other applicants whose strengths were primarily in extracurricular activities, the squeeze was especially tight this year, since the faculty and administration had directed the admissions office to admit a relatively greater number of students with outstanding academic credentials. So hello, Brooke, and so long some burliness who might have helped the football program.

Given all the forces working against the admission of athletes this year, the coaches themselves seem to be remarkably pleased with the players admitted.

Pete Carril is said to be satisfied with the nine basketball players admitted with the Class of 1987. Tom O'Connell "thinks the baseball team will be strengthened immediately by the addition of several freshmen next year. Jim Higgins, who played eight freshmen on the hockey team last year, expects to have an

STURHAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD

Incredibly, there was once an athlete who played in the big time for 7 years and lost ONLY ONCE... It was Suzanne Lenglen, who ruled women's tennis from 1919 to 1926... Lenglen played at Wimbledon, the French and U.S. championships and met the top players in the world — and during those 7 years, she lost only ONE match... ONE LOSS IN 7 YEARS! The only time she lost was on a default to Molla Mallory in 1921 when she became ill during a match and never finished it.

It seems hard to believe, but in the equal number on the team this year. Wrestling coach Johnny Johnston and track coach Larry Ellis are not complaining about the quality of new athletes who will compete for their teams.

What About Football? Not surprisingly, though, the one sport that requires large quantities of players apparently did not fare well in the admissions process this spring. The incoming class includes only 32 students recruited as football players.

That number will surely be reduced as players are injured, become discouraged about their chances of starting, or just lose interest in the sport—one or more may fall in love with Brooke, after all, and decide that she is a more inviting pursuit than some opposing quarterback or lineman. When all is sorted out, next fall's freshman football team could have fewer than 40 players, a number that creates problems in simply setting up practice scrimmages and one that does not augur well for the team's success two or three years from now.

In basketball, Pete Carril does not need nearly so many players in a class. Moreover, the Ivy League rules permit freshmen to play for the varsity—last year John Smyth was a starter from the giggo.

This year Carril may have another freshman who can break into his starting line-up. Alan Williams, a 6-foot-7 forward from Pensacola, Florida, is described by Carril as a player who "can do a little of everything. He's a shooter, can pass, and has a good body. He's the only one of the group who can jump."

With the Tigers losing their entire front line of big men to graduation, Williams doesn't have to be Phi Slamma Jam-freshmen in order to make a contribution to the team.

Other Hot Shots. The other recruit who excites Carril somewhat is Joe Scott, a 5-foot-11 guard from Toms River. Carril says that may recruiters passed over Scott because of his height—"they look only for 6-3 guards"—but that he "is a nice little player, better than most recruiters know."

Also hoping to play for Carril at Princeton are Ted Gohillot, a 6-foot-4 guard from Hunterdon Central; Aaron Belz, 6-5½, from Silver Spring, Maryland, son of Herman Belz, who along with his twin brother Carl played at Princeton in the late 1950s; Jay Bubniak, 6-7, Troy, N.Y.; Tony Vlatas, 6-8, Annandale, Virginia; Sean O'Sullivan, 6-6, Clifton Park, N.Y.; Tom Doran, 6-5, Metuchen; and Fred Beavers, 6-4, Chicago.

The hockey team can look forward to the arrival of 12 players in the Class of '87, including seven from Ontario and one from Alberta. After trying for second in the Ivy League last year with a 5-3-2 record (9-14-2 overall), the Tigers this year hope to shore up their defense and goaltending.

The new freshman class will include three of four good defensemen and a young goaltender, who is expected to challenge the three already in school and listed on the team's depth chart.

That chart currently includes only three seniors, and one of them—Ed Lee—may no longer be playing for Princeton by the time the season begins. Lee, a winger, played for the United States national team after this year's collegiate season and scored seven goals in seven games. He has been invited to compete this month in the sports festival in Colorado Springs where 60 skaters will compete for 10 or 12 spots available on the 1984 Olympic team. "We hope he makes it," said assistant coach Bruce Delventhal. "On the other hand, we'd be happy to have him back."

Power and Pitching. Baseball coach Tom O'Connell knows that a team cannot have too much good pitching, and the Class of 1987 includes three pitchers who may be able to help next year's varsity. They are Jim Collera, of Newtown Square, Pa.; Mike DeNoia, Springfield, Pa.; and Joe Pape, Abingdon, Maryland—all righthanders.

O'Connell hopes several of the freshmen will be able to provide some power on offense. Drew Stratton of Barre, Mass., is a "top-notch player" who leaves in June for a United States Baseball Federation tour of Taiwan. An outfielder and switch hitter, Stratton hit six home runs in his first seven games of this year's high school season. Todd Tuckner, a third baseman and another switch hitter, plays for the Flushing Tigers, a highly regarded sandlot team near his home in Bayville, N.Y.

Outfielder Darrin Owens of Cranford, N.J., and pitcher Brian Casazza of Smithtown, N.Y., who is also a football quarterback, may also be part of what appears to be a bright future for Princeton baseball. O'Connell says he lost "four good kids" to other schools—Stanford, Duke, Harvard, and Columbia.

Track coach Larry Ellis will be guiding the forces of two teams next year, the Princeton Tigers and the United States Olympic team. The Olympic work will begin this summer and continue next summer in Los Angeles.

PHS NETMEN DERAILLED
By Holmdel. At the start of the season, Princeton High tennis coach Joe Diefenbach said that he felt it was time again for PHS to win a state championship.

As PHS swept through the Mercer County tournament 2

last month, Leschly said that he saw no reason why the Little Tigers couldn't go all the way.

Well, Diefenbach and Leschly are going to have to wait another year for that state championship. Last week's seedings held up as top-seeded Holmdel (21-6-7, 6-3, while in the third singles players in the state in junior Jacob Leschly.

As PHS swept through the Mercer County tournament 2

That left the outcome riding on both doubles matches. The key was the first doubles where Keith Goldfeld and Rob Dunham had dominated their opponents in this area.

"We really don't know how good we are," said Goldfeld during the County tournament. Against Holmdel, they lost the first set, 2-6, but came back to take the second, 6-4. In the decisive third set, Dunham and Goldfeld fell, 4-6.

As PHS swept through the Mercer County tournament 2

Andy Phillips and Tim Kingston of PHS dropped the second singles in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3.

PRINCETON IS SECOND
In AAU Regional Meet. At the AAU Regional Track and Field Championships held last week at West Windsor-Plainsboro High School, the Princeton team finished second with 13 firsts, 13 seconds, and two third-place awards.

In the mid-junior division, John Burnett won a gold in the 100 meter dash, and Nimrod Malewo a gold medal in the high jump.

In the junior division, Mike Riddick and Andy Jacobs each won two gold medals, and then teamed with John Thompson and Doug Gibson to claim the 400 relay. Individually, Mike captured the 100 meter dash and Andy the 400 meter run. Scott Fletcher and Gail Hughes were victors in the running long jump.

Other individuals with strong performances in the bantam division were Dana Litalack, second in the 800 meter, and Damian Tucker, second running long jump.

Standouts in the mid-junior division include John Burnett, second in the 50 meter dash, Kestri Ringland, second in the 50 and 100 meter; Reuben Steiger, second in the 800 meter; Dylan Penningroth, second in the running long jump; Natasha Morris, second in the girls shot put; Scott Socolow, second in the boys shot put; Anthony White, Jay Jackson, Shawn Miller and John Burnett and Lynn Livingston, Sylvia Rodriguez, Liz Mueller, Jennifer Wolinetz, second in the 400 relay.

Those with fine showings in the junior division were Gail Hughes, second in the 100 meter; John Thompson, second in the high jump; Mike Riddick, second in the shot and second in the relay team of Dee Gillette, Nina Dugger, Geraldine Livingston and Gail Hughes.

All first-place winners are eligible to compete in the State Meet on June 18 at the Lawrenceville School.

THREE TIED FOR LEAD
In Men's Softball. At the start of the fourth week of play in the Princeton Recreation Department men's slow pitch softball league, three teams are tied for first place with 5-1 records: Conte's, Princeton Italian-American Sportsmen's Club and Princeton Nautilus, C Square C. Hinkson's and Mike's Tavern all have 4-2 records.

Downtown A.C. is 3-3, followed by Princeton Army Navy and Princeton Medical Center at 2-4.

Buffalo Wings have lost five of their six games, while Marita's Cantina and Stefanelli's are still winless.

Games are played Tuesday 110 evenings at Community Park, Marquand and Valley Road. In addition, two Sunday doubleheaders scheduled for June 12 and June 26 (first game 2 p.m.).

Spectators are welcome to attend. For further information, call the Recreation Office at 921-9480.

Tournament Next

For Girls Lacrosse Team.

The Princeton High School girls lacrosse team ended its regular season of play last week by losing to Montville for the second time, 11-8. A scheduled make-up game with Morrisville Thursday was cancelled by Morrisville and will not be played. The Little Tigers ended with a fine 13-2 record—the only blot those two setbacks at the hands of Montville.

In its first game in the upcoming state competition PHS was scheduled to play the winner of the Montclair-Moorestown Friends game.

The game against Montville followed the same pattern as the first one: PHS took an early lead and was ahead 5-3 at the half but could not hold it.

Lisa Blair fashioned an all-round performance for PHS with three goals and four assists. Erica Gabrielsen also scored three goals, while Harper Hoff and Alison Fraker added one each. On defense, the Blue and White was led by Rita Sweeney and Nadia Glucksberg.

PHS goalie Ann Sutphin stopped 13 of the 24 shots on goals by Montville.

Montville is seeded number one in the state tournament, PHS number three. "I'm sure we'll meet them again," predicted co-captain Rita Sweeney. This time, the Little Tigers are hoping the result will be different.

PHS 62-POINT VICTOR

In Track. Capturing every field event but the discus and dominating the hurdles and long distance races, Princeton High School remained undefeated in dual meet competition last week with a 96½ to 34½ victory over McCorristin in a Colonial Valley Conference meet.

Eric Rapp and Mike Bender each vaulted 10 feet to lead a PHS sweep in the pole vault and Elliott Liverman and Rapp finished 1-2 in the javelin. Liverman tossing the spear 146-10. Ken McKellar won the high jump with a leap of 6-3.

Eddie Rice led a PHS sweep in the long jump and P.J. Young won his specialty the shot put by more than five feet with a winning heave of 52-2½. Young, however, had to settle for second place in the discus.

Stephan Fletcher won the 110 high hurdles in 14.3 to 15.8 for teammate McKellar who won the 440 hurdles with a clocking of 63.4. Bill Bushnell, Ed Katz, Steve Treistad and Jim Moice combined to win the 1600 mile relay.

Spectators are welcome to attend. For further information, call the Recreation Office at 921-9480.

Perkins was timed in 10:27.5

to win the 3200 meter—another PHS sweep.

The Iron Mikes won all three shorter races, the 100, 200 and 400. Rice was second in the 100, Fletcher in the 200, and Katz in the 400 for PHS.

HUN LOSES TITLE GAME

But Ends 13-8 Season.

"Successful seasons are not just measured by wins and losses and championship games," observed Hun baseball coach Bill McQuade last week, after Hun had just lost a 1-0 duel to Peddie in the Class A Prep School state championship game.

"When you lose to a pitcher like Hanson it's nothing to be ashamed of, when you lose to a team like Steinert it's nothing to be ashamed of."

McQuade conceded that in finishing with a 13-8 season, Hun had "ended on two tough notes." A few days earlier it had been eliminated by Steinert in extra innings in the first round of the Mercer County Tournament which pits the top eight teams in the area against each other. Then came the squeaker to Peddie and the chance to claim a state title.

"We've come a long way since our Florida trip," maintained McQuade, "and to come up short it still hurts, but 13-8 is nothing to be ashamed of. The players were disappointed but they've come around. There will always be those 'could-have-beens': we still could have been playing in the states, we still could have been playing in the tournament...."

Stam Vs. Hanson. The game with Peddie, McQuade felt, would be decided by one or two runs. His own Hun squad didn't figure to get too many hits off Peddie's stout Erik to 34½ victory over McCorristin in a Colonial Valley Conference meet.

Eric Rapp and Mike Bender each vaulted 10 feet to lead a PHS sweep in the pole vault and Elliott Liverman and Rapp finished 1-2 in the javelin. Liverman tossing the spear 146-10. Ken McKellar won the high jump with a leap of 6-3.

Pinella stole second and was sacrificed to third by

Martin Summers. Wanting that one run badly, McQuade singled a suicide squeeze, but the fleet Pinella left the bag a little too early. The Falcons snuffed out the play, called a pitchout and Pinella was an easy out at the plate.

Hanson settled down and then retired the next 13 Hun batters in a row. Peddie (12-2-1) wasn't able to get anything going against Stam, either. Stam gave up five hits through six innings but "he didn't give Peddie a chance to get in a groove," said McQuade.

Stam Singles. In the sixth

with the contest at Princeton University's Clarke Field still scoreless, Hun's Stam led off the sixth with a single. McQuade called on senior Pedro Brache to pinch hit and he delivered a line drive right to Hanson. Stam was an easy out at first and the DP took Hun right out of the inning.

Stam began the last inning by walking Peddie's No. 8 hitter, Steve Fox. Jeff Enslin then sacrificed Fox to second who went all the way to third when Hun didn't cover the base in time.

P.J. Horgan, Peddie's leadoff batter, then worked the count to 2-2. After fouling off three pitches, he hit what McQuade described as "a good curve ball, low and away. It wasn't hit that hard but it had eyes on it," sighed McQuade. The ball went through and Peddie had its state prep school title.

Hanson struck out eight and limited Hun to a pair of hits in winning his eighth. McQuade said after the game that the 6-5 Hanson has the potential to play professional ball. He throws hard enough and his off-speed stuff is good. We played well but we lost to a good pitcher.

Hun will lose five starters through graduation—Pinella, Summers, Chris Hunninghake, Matt Wheaton and pitcher Rich Stout. Also Rick Stoy and Brache.

McQuade will build next year's team around Stam, Barry Landis, Lorenzo Mendosa, Owen Cane and Brad Mumme. "We have five or six coming back who played a lot," said McQuade.

Pinella, Summers MVP. At an awards dinner last Tuesday, Pinella and Summers were each named Most Valuable Player on the team. Pinella, a three-year centerfielder for the Raiders, batted .380, was the county's leading home run hitter with seven, scored 22 runs and stole 20 bases. "He had an awesome season," said McQuade.

Summers led the team in batting with a .409 average and was successful in 22 of 23 stolen base attempts. Both players plus Stam were named to the all group, Prep School first team.

Hunninghake, completing two fine slugging seasons for Hun—he batted .380 this spring—was named to the Division A Prep School first ## team. First baseman Dean

Forman, who batted .280 and Rich Stout, who pitched the area's only perfect game this year, and is a much better hurler than his 4-3 record would indicate, were named to the prep school Division A second team.

GOLF TOURNEY WON
By Jean Petrone. Jean Petrone of Princeton defeated Beverly Crane, 2 and 1, for the championship of the Spring Handicap Tournament held recently at Springdale Golf Club.

In flight one, Debbie Shillaber defeated Dean Grove, 5 and 4, and in flight two, Marion Houghton defeated Jackie O'Neil, 7 and 6.

Others participating in the tournament were Debbie Pierson, medalist; Katie Conover, Kathy Shillaber, Kay Bingham, Dorothy Schoch, Liz Fernandez, Claire Parsells, Rita Edmunds, Ginny Selden, Jean Brown, Sarah Gillespie, Mimi Frantz, Jeanne Silvester, Anne Poole, Lynn Greenfield, Shelia Leyton, Claudine Schorch, Lorraine Tams, Rose Johnson, Delores Allaire and John Shaw.

ANDY'S MIKE'S VICTORS

In Opening Softball Games.

The Princeton Women's Adult Slow Pitch Softball League, sponsored by the Princeton Recreation Department, began play last week, with Andy's Tavern defeating the ARMY-NAVY Store, 10-6, and Mike's Tavern stopping Conte's Bar, 9-2.

Andy's scored five runs in the first three innings to lead, 5-1, sparked by Donna Woodruff's two hits and Cindy Nielsen's single and double. ARMY-NAVY scored a run in the second, when Barbara Fried drove in Jill Bonin. Andy's sent five more runs across in the top of the fifth, on hits by Susan Packer, a Woodruff triple (3-for-4), and one from Marty Heard. ARMY-NAVY came right back and scored three runs in the bottom of the inning and two more in the sixth, to make the final 10-6.

Hitting well for ARMY-NAVY were Nina Tocco (2-for-4), Kim Hoff (2-for-3), and Donna (2-for-3, including a triple). Andy's pitcher Linus McHugh got the win and had two hits.

SPRINGDALE CHAMPION: Jean Petrone of Princeton was the victor in the Spring Handicap Tournament held at the Springdale Golf Club.

Walks and Errors Costly. Although Conte's Bar outhit Mike's Tavern, 12-6, it was on the short end of the 9-2 score. Primarily due to walks and errors. Mike's scored five runs in the top of the first on one hit and error and four walks. Mike's added a run in the fifth on a Dee Pearce sacrifice fly and three more in the seventh on three Conte's errors and a Debbie Breithaupt (2-for-3) sacrifice.

Conte's stroked hits in six of the seven innings, but got its only two runs in the bottom of the seventh on a Fran Johnston double, a Heather Ward single and RBI's from Laine Ivan and Missy McCloskey. Barbie Falcone (2-for-3) and Monica Greenland (2-for-4) also hit well for Conte's.

Games are played at Community Park at 6:15 p.m., and admission is free.

PHS NINE A WINNER

In Last Two Games. When Princeton High pitcher Gavin Hulsman had retired the last West Windsor batter to complete a sparkling three-hit, 13-2 victory over the Pirates—his third against one loss—PHS coach Ed Beacham remarked, "Too bad the season's over; we've got to extend this winning streak next year to 10 to 12 games."

The West Windsor win was Princeton's last game of the season. The previous day, senior Matt Tamasi had limited McCorristin to a pair of hits and struck out four for a 3-1 win. Beacham described the win as "our best pitched game of the year."

If you remember your last game the longest, then PHS managed to salvage something of the season. Beacham gathered his players and .255 respectively.

But the disappointed Little Tigers had little else to remember the '83 season. It won a third of its games—7 of 21—and never was able to establish any consistency.

"We just didn't put our pitching with the hits," offered Beacham. "When we would hit the ball well, we'd lose 12-9; when we got the pitching we'd lose 4-3. We just couldn't get it together."

For his second try, Beacham will welcome back six starters: sophomore Mike Peronen, whom he brought up from the jayvees midway through the season; Jason Petrone, a first baseman and outfielder; Mickey Carnevale, a fine hitter, and three pitchers—Hulsman, Dino D'Angelo and Jon Sherin. Each scored elsewhere when PHS scored all its runs. PHS on the mound (Sherin and D'Angelo also drove in a run).

It is the prospect of having a more experienced pitching staff that has Beacham encouraged about 1984.

"This is a good nucleus coming back—from Princeton state track sectionals, held on Saturday at South Plainfield Beacham, emphasizing the last part. "We still have to add some luster of its own face teams like Ewing and with brilliant individual Notre Dame—and they always performances by its big three have fine teams."

In the final batting averages Fletcher and P.J. Young. The compiled by team statistician Little Tigers finished second Carrie McCune, catcher among the 15 participating Marc Shapiro finished with .311 and centerfielder Terry Phox an even .300. The returning D'Angelo, Sherin and Hulsman batted .289, .281 and .255 respectively.

4 RBIs for Hoover. In the finale with West Windsor, Hoover had a double and two singles to drive in four runs. Ralph Carnevale continued his hitting to the very end with three singles while Sherin and Shapiro contributed two hits each to the 15-hit PHS attack. PHS scored in every inning but the first two.

Hulsman got the win, his third against one setback, to emerge as the only winning PHS hurler. Tamasi finished with a 2-4 record. Sherin, 1-2, and D'Angelo, 1-6.

Negotiating Bill

Where does Governor Thomas H. Kean stand?

School officials point out that he has said, in the past, that he would veto such a measure. (It has been through the Legislature before, but has always failed until now.) One official commented that if the Governor sees enough votes to override any veto, he might let the measure sit on his desk for 45 days, become law without his signature, and then blame the Legislature.

Pressure Building. Meanwhile, the pressure builds on both sides. When the bill came to a vote in the Assembly, the gallery was full of teachers. It is not known how many Princeton teachers attended, if any. Mrs. McGoldrick remarks wryly that school districts had to pay substitutes for teachers who took a "personal day" to attend, as well as continue to pay the salaries of the teachers themselves.

"They have a personal day in their contract," she points out, "and we didn't make any inquiries. It's a day they are entitled to."

All school board members have been asked to write Senator Stockman. Mrs. McGoldrick herself has written to him twice. Mr. Gordon will be writing him also, and assuring the League of Municipalities of Borough support.

The PREA's executive committee has its regular meeting next Tuesday. Mrs. Johnston said last week that she had no plans to call a special meeting.

"I will urge the executive committee to take a stand," she said, "but probably no more than that. I will suggest that they endorse the idea of getting PREA members to write the Senators."

Mrs. Johnston says the PREA membership is "almost 100 percent" of the 200, or so, teachers in Princeton's schools. Union and board are now ending the first year of a two-year contract. Both sides are preparing for negotiations expected to start in the fall.

Mrs. McGoldrick referred to negotiations for the present contract as "serious, tough bargaining, but relatively smooth."

"It's reasonable for the staff to want this," she said, "but it's reasonable for us not to, as well."

event qualified for the state championships to be held Friday and Saturday at Rutgers University.

Fletcher won his third Group II sectional crown in the 110 high hurdles with a record-breaking time of 13.9. Sought by a number of colleges, Fletcher, who hopes to compete in the 1984 Olympics, has reportedly narrowed his choice between Nebraska and Alabama.

Young won his specialty, the 47.2 but Brown has already qualified in the 200 meter.

shot put, with a toss of 53-11½ and placed second in the discus behind South Brunswick's Dave Nolle. Young's best throw was 143-10 while Nolle had a 145-9.

Also qualifying for the weekend state meet from PHS were Eddie Rice, third in the 100 and fifth in the 200 meter; Mike Schwab, fourth in the 800 and his twin brother Steve, fifth in the 800 (their times were 1:58.1 and 1:58.7) and Eric Kapp in the pole vault.

SUMMER WRESTLING

Offered by Recreation Dept.

The Princeton Recreation Department will sponsor a summer wrestling clinic to be held at Princeton High School on Tuesday evenings from June 21st - August 9th. The program will provide an opportunity to wrestle weekly 18. Entrants must be 40 years under supervision and instruction.

from 6:30 to 7:45 p.m., while grades 9 through college will meet from 8 to 9:30. The fee is $10 for Princeton residents, $20 for non-residents. Those interested should register with the Recreation Department at 921-9480 before June 13.

Lacrosse Deadline: Those interested in playing in the men's summer lacrosse program must register by Friday.

Registration forms are available at the Princeton Recreation Department in the Township Hall Annex. The fee is $10 for Princeton residents, $20 for non-residents.

TOURNEY PLANNED

By Tennis Foundation.

The Youth Tennis Foundation will hold its first Father's Day Classic Tennis Tournament program will provide an opportunity to wrestle weekly 18. Entrants must be 40 years under supervision and instruction.

There will be a singles and doubles event, with consolation tournaments for first round losers in each event. The tournament will be held on Princeton University's hard courts.

After a weekend of all-day Grades 6 - 8 will be taught play, matches will continue in the evening beginning Monday, June 20, with the finals to be held on June 24. Entry forms may be obtained at the YTF Office, 71 University Place, or by calling 924-4343.

PHS GIRLS FOURTH

In State Sectionals. Princeton High girls track coach Lamont Fletcher was "ticked pink" with the performance of the Little Tigers in the Group II NJSIAA sectional track meet held in East Brunswick. PHS finished fourth in a field of 14 with 23 points—only three behind second-place Lawrence—and produced two individual champions.

Kerri Phox set a new meet record in the long jump with a leap of 17½ and Gail Woolston won the 400 meter again with a clocking of 58.9.

Others from PHS qualifying for the girls state meet which will also be held this weekend at Rutgers are Heather Grey and Nadia White, third and fourth in the 800; Susan Grey, third in the 1600; Suzette Cumberbatch, fourth in the long jump.

South Brunswick won the team title with 49½ points.

FLETCHER IS FIRST

In Eastern Track Meet.

Princeton High's Stephan Fletcher added another laurel to his track record by winning the 110 hurdles at the prestigious Eastern Track Meet at Randall's Island Monday.

Fletcher equaled his personal best of 13.8 in the event. That 13.8 is also the qualifying time for the Golden West Invitational Meet, one of the top track events in the country.

A measure of the level of competition at Randall's Island fell on P.J. Young of PHS who tossed the shot put 57-1½ feet for his personal best—which earned him a fourth place finish. Two days earlier, Young had won the Central Jersey Group II shot put title with a toss of 53-11½.

Eddie Rice of PHS jumped 20-9 to finish sixth in the long jump. The only other performer from this area to win a championship at Randall's Island was Steve Brown of McCortristin High who won the 400 meter in 47.6. The qualifying time for the Golden West tournament in the 400 is 47.2 but Brown has already qualified in the 200 meter.

SEASON ENDS

In Princeton Soccer League.

On the final week of Princeton Soccer League play, the Bantam League enjoyed a fine turnout with Princetonian Hair defeating Center Sports, 1-0, and Princeton Volvo losing to the U. Store 6-2. Z & W Honda defeated Mexican Village II, 2-0, while Princeton Bank battled Princeton Hardware to a 1-1 tie.

Woodwinds blanked Home Decor, 2-0, and Cytoen enjoyed its first win of the season with an 8-0 triumph over Haagen Dazs. Continuum Dynamics lost, 2-0, to Nassau Inn.

In the Senior League, Merrill Lynch and Jay's Cycle battled to a 5-5 tie. Commodities Corporation defeated Opinion Research, 4-2, and Hult's Shoes tied Princeton Caterers, 2-2.

Princeton Caterers are Senior League champions this season, followed in the final standings by Hult's, Merrill Lynch, Jay's Cycle. Opinion Research and Commodities Corp. tied for last place.

Fate of Princeton Airport Still Unclear, But Revenue Up Sharply from Year Ago

Princeton Airport, down on its luck and up for sale just a year or so ago, now seems to be flying higher than ever — even though it is still for sale and its fate as an aviation facility remains unclear.

The airport, actually located just north of the Princeton Township line on Route 206 in Montgomery County, was placed for sale by owner David Van Dyke at about the same time that regular commuter service was discontinued.

Travelers today still cannot fly regularly scheduled flights from Princeton, but the airport's other sources of revenue — including fuel sales, maintenance, landing fees, and so on — are said to be much more robust.

"The airport is in better shape than it's been in for years," says Joe Wilson, the general manager. "We used to have 35 planes based here. Now we have 70 airplanes. Maintenance is up 500 percent; fuel sales are up. Ronson Aviation is offering charter services, plane rentals, and flight school."

Ronson, headquartered at Mercer County Airport, began its satellite operation at Princeton airport in early April. "It's a restricted airport in terms of size," says Peter Hines, general manager of Ronson. "We're not there permanently at this point because we're not sure if it will be sold. But it's a good community and we're pleased with the interest."

On top of that, construction may begin soon on a 53,000 square foot office building adjacent to the airport. A developer from Elizabeth, David Ben-Zvi, has obtained the promise of a $4.3 million mortgage for construction of a cantilevered, steel frame and masonry building to be placed on a seven acre tract. Occupancy is planned for early next year.

The resurgence may be due more to the general economic recovery than to the dedication of light plane enthusiasts who a year ago were lamenting the possible passing of another airport. In any case the airport is still for sale and Montgomery Township still is considering what role, if any, it might take in determining the facility's future.

PHS Senior, Named a Presidential Scholar, Shakes Up Capitol with Anti-Nuclear Views

A 17-year-old Princeton High School senior, believed by members of the Reagan Administration to be a radical anti-nuclear demonstrator bent on disrupting a White House ceremony, is working fervently four nights a week in the back of a crowded Nassau Street storefront, concocting ... blend-ins for customers of the Thomas Sweet ice cream shop.

Before anyone forgoes one of those summertime delicacies, we should assure you that Ariela Gross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Gross of 264 Hartley Avenue, does not really consider herself a wild-eyed radical, and that the Reagan Administration itself has retreated from its initial response to her plan to voice her criticism of the President's nuclear arms policy.

Miss Gross found herself in this Washington tempest after being selected one of 141 high school seniors from across the country selected as Presidential Scholars by the Commission on Presidential Scholars. The distinction carries with it a $1,000 scholarship plus an invitation to visit Washington next Thursday, June 16, to meet with public officials and — if the President's schedule allows — receive medallions from Mr. Reagan himself.

Miss Gross, former editor-in-chief of the PHS student newspaper, and

Boro Officials, Developers Seeking Quick Resolution To Sewer Extension Ban

Last week's bombshell announcement that the state's Department of Environmental Protection would "cease approving any new sewer extensions" into the Harry's Brook trunk line has public officials and developers in Princeton scrambling—though apparently not panicking—in an effort to resolve the impasse.

The Regional Planning Board, which already had a full agenda scheduled at its meeting Tuesday night, tucked in a half hour at the beginning to consider, in Elizabeth Hutter's words, "whether to adopt a recommendation to the governing bodies requiring sewer capacity allocations or whether to adopt the planning board's own policy for reviewing such allocations."

Planning Board chairman Hans Sander participated in an exchange of letters with the DEP's administrator for water quality management, Arnold Schiffman. Mr. Sander expressed his hope that the DEP could meet with Borough and Township officials and the Sewer Operating Committee to discuss

Honorary Degrees Awarded To Two Princeton Residents

A Hunt Drive resident, a retired University professor, a former Princeton basketball star, the architect who helped create the Borough's master plan for the central business district, and a native of Trenton were among the recipients of honorary degrees at Princeton University's 236th Commencement.

The Princeton resident, Charles L. Brown, is chairman of the board of AT&T. The presentation of his doctor of laws degree was made with the following citation:

"His corporate family has been described as 'the biggest on earth,' yet he performs his duties with a remarkable empathy and concern for individuals. These characteristics may reflect his own career beginnings as a young telephone lineman who dug ditches and laid cable for the same company he now leads, with vision and courage, into a new organizational and technological era..."

captain of the cross country team and distance runner on the track team, felt that that meeting would be an opportunity to pass along a letter to the President, expressing her views on the nuclear arms race. She drafted a letter and sent copies to the other 140 scholarship winners, inviting them to add their signatures if they were in agreement.

That letter came to the attention of Gary Stember, executive director of the Commission on Presidential Scholars, a panel of private citizens appointed by the President. Mr. Stember felt Miss Gross's activity was inappropriate.

"Name Would Be Mud," "He definitely threatened my mother that my name would be mud and that my scholarship would be revoked," said Miss Gross. Mr. Stember also told reporters that he was considering cancelling the ceremonies altogether if she insisted on "politicizing the event."

"He probably figured he could scare me," said the PHS student, who continued to circulate her letter and confer by telephone with other scholarship winners. Miss Gross soon learned that Mr. Stember had been upbraided by an official of the Department of Education who stated that "we cannot allow the students and their parents to be intimidated by because of their political views... These students obviously retain all of their rights to express their views and seek out others who may share those views."

Miss Gross has continued to do just that, and as of this Monday she had received more than 20 responses from other Presidential Scholars. "For the most part the responses are very favorable," she said. "Even the people who don't agree are writing three-page letters outlining their positions and when I talk to them on the phone we often end up agreeing."

She still plans to attempt to hand deliver her message to the President. "We don't want to do anything disruptive," Miss Gross said. "On the other hand, the idea that it's inappropriate to 'use' the ceremony as a forum is based on some false assumptions — the biggest being that the White House is President Reagan's house. I feel it belongs to all the people and I would feel no qualms about presenting a letter to the President."

Maybe she should first try to sweeten the man's disposition by presenting him with a blend-in, which — when you think about — is a pretty radical idea in itself.

Princeton Airport

Rayner said this week that the Township is on the verge of commissioning a complete feasibility study. "We want to see if the airport is worth saving," said Mr. Rayner. Proposals for the study have been submitted by five firms and Mr. Rayner expects that the work will cost about $50,000, 90 percent of which will be paid by the Federal Aviation Agency. "The FAA seems eager to save airports," said Mr. Rayner, "if they are viable."

The township expects to award the work for the feasibility study within a month.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS Next Tuesday. The Princeton Regional Board of Education will hold a regularly scheduled business meeting next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Davis Conference Room of the high school.

The agenda includes a number of what are presumed to be non-controversial items, including an evaluation of the superintendent and the approval of his contract and the assistant superintendent's contract for the next year.

A more controversial issue, the proposed renaming of one or more of the school district's elementary schools, may be the subject of some discussion at this meeting, but no action is expected.

BOND SALE HELD

By Township. Princeton Bank, acting as agent for Tucker Anthony & R.L. Day, brokers, was the successful bidder last Monday night in a sale of $1.5 million municipal bonds.

Princeton Bank was the low bidder of eight who specified a percentage rate ranging from a high of eight percent per annum to the 7.60 percent bid by the bank. Princeton Bank's offering price was $1,540,432 for $1,540,000 worth of bonds. Witherspoon Middle School, Mayor Winthrop Pike told the audience that the Township had a AA-1 rating from Moody's and AA from Standard and Poor, and Treasurer John Clausen said he was "pleased" with the percentage rate of all the bids.

The $1.5 million issue is a refinancing of a number of capital projects already completed in the Township and initially funded with short term "bond anticipation" notes. The state sets a limit of five years to these notes, which then must be paid off or refinanced.

In addition to holding this bond sale for past projects, Committee approved or introduced several current projects with big numbers attached. It unanimously approved the appropriation of $545,000 as the Township's share of the next phase of sewer line rehabilitation by both municipalities.

According to Mayor Pike, the $1 million from Borough and Township will be used to continue the work of removing infiltration and inflow (known as I & I) from the system. Some of the work will be applied to the Harry's Brook trunk line, he said, emphasizing again that the I & I work must be done before it is known what else needs to be done to correct problems of excess water in the system.

In addition, Committee voted unanimously to spend $500,000 to correct a sewer-related problem in the Township Police Station. The money will be spent on a pump

'SUPER' TRIBUNE: By, for and about students at John Witherspoon Middle School, "The Witherspoon Tribune" was for sale Super Saturday, May 21, after three Wednesday afternoons of discussion, reporting, writing, interviewing and editing, and a fourth Wednesday for make-up. It was a PTO-sponsored project, supported by English teachers. Reporters from TOWN TOPICS, The Princeton Packet and The Trenton Times worked with students as advisors. Shown here are sixth-grader Lara Taber, left, and eighth-grader Emily Allen.

Salaries Set. In other money matters, Committee introduced an ordinance that would give Township municipal employees an across the board seven percent pay increase for 1983, retroactive to January 1. Last year's pay hike, negotiated first with the police and then made applicable to all municipal employees, was 8.5 percent. The Borough recently approved a 7.5 percent increase for its employees.

The public hearing on this ordinance, and another appropriating $20,000 for office furniture and equipment for several Township departments, will be held on Monday, July 11, at 8 in the Valley Road Building. Committeewoman Gail Firestone asked that all requisitions except the walkie-talkies and a video recorder for the police department be eliminated from the ordinance, but she did not receive a second to her motion.

More for Litigation. Committee reluctantly approved the spending of $25,000 for the services of a planning consultant and $18,000 for a land economist to assist in the defense of the Township and the Planning Board in litigation over the zoning changes brought by the Master Plan. "This litigation is turning into a bottomless pit," Mayor Pike said dolefully.

In an annual ritual, Committee renewed the alcoholic beverage licenses of the Township's bars and taverns, clubs and single liquor store. A plenary retail license costs a tavern $1,656 each year; while a distribution license costs $885 and a club license $150.

DOGS ARE AN ISSUE
In PCV, dogs make nice pets, not only for children, but also for the elderly and disabled.

Princeton Community Village, home to the elderly and disabled, among others on a restricted income, has a strict rule against dogs. Thereby lies a conflict and a tale that has led to a court order for the eviction of a couple who harbored a miniature pomeranian for a weekend in February in defiance of the rules.

Mrs. Lucy Morelli came before Township Committee

last Monday night, not, she said, to plead her own case in relation to the eviction order (for which she and her husband have received another postponement by the court) but to plead the case for pets in rental units. She spoke of her husband, a disabled veteran, who was not able to function because of his disabilities but who was motivated by Fifi to take walks and to care for his children and his wife.

She told of the rape in the middle of the night of a disabled woman at Princeton Community Village who had pleaded for a dog and was denied her request. She said the robbery of her next door neighbor might have been prevented by a barking dog.

Mrs. Morelli spoke of a bill currently pending before the New Jersey legislature which she said would allow renters to keep pets, although it was not clear whether she was speaking of public or private housing, or both. And she brought with her a sympathetic letter from the governor.

Her plight received a sympathetic response from Committee member Barbara Cantrill who said the "consciousness of the community has to be raised" in regard to individuals "who need to give the loving care and receive the loving response" that a pet can give. She told Mrs. Morelli it was a "courageous step" on her part to bring her story to the attention of Committee, and added she hoped "it would bring about changes of attitude as well as policy."

No Authority. Mayor Pike reminded Committee that it had "no authority whatsoever" in the matter, because Princeton Community Housing that runs PCV is a privately owned non-profit organization. He agreed to obtain a copy of the bill in the legislative hopper that Mrs. Morelli referred to and to take a look at it, and if Committee felt it was appropriate to write a letter endorsing the measure.

Harriet Bryan, president of Princeton Community Housing, conferred with Mrs. Cantrill in the half hour before Township Committee met, but she left, apparently thinking that the matter was not coming up for discussion.

WOMAN IS ASSAULTED
On Corner at 2:30 A.M. A 49-year-old Princeton resident was assaulted around 2:30 Sunday morning as she was walking on the sidewalk at the intersection of Maclean and John Streets.

A man, Lt. Thomas Michaud said, came up behind her as she was walking and threw her to the ground. He made no attempt to rob or assault her and when the victim told him that she was going to yell for the police, he got up and fled the scene.

The victim was taken to nearby Princeton Medical Center and treated for a large contusion on the back of her head and for a laceration on her right hip.

The suspect is described as a black male, about 27, 6-1, slender with acne scars on his face. He was wearing dark clothing.

were robbed and assaulted at 4 o'clock Saturday morning on Nassau Street near the taxi stand opposite Palmer Square.

The two, who had been attending the Princeton University reunion parties on campus, police said, were approached by three men in their 20s.

Through intimidation and assault (pushing and grabbing) the three forcibly removed the wallet from the pocket of one of the victims and took $80. The three then jumped into two cars, Lt. Thomas Michaud reported, and drove away.

"We have a description of the three suspects and the two cars and we have suspects in the case," commented Lt. Michaud. He anticipated arrests soon, he said.

The victims, Lt. Michaud continued, told police that they vaguely recognized the suspects but did not know them by name. They are believed to be Princeton residents. Police added that the two victims were not students.

MOTORCYCLIST INJURED

In Turning Mishap. A 21-year-old motorcyclist was injured last week when his cycle skidded to the roadway while he was making a turn from Paul Robeson Place onto Bayard Lane.

The cyclist, Mark J. Lanoue of Far Hills, told police that "his rear wheel just slid out" as he was making the turn on the wet roadway. He was issued a summons for driving without due caution by Ptl. Michael Taylor.

He was taken to Princeton Medical Center and treated for a laceration of the right elbow and bruise of the left knee. The oilcrank housing of his Honda cycle was badly damaged in the spill which occurred at 7:25 Friday evening.

Two drivers sustained minor injuries following a two-car crash Thursday afternoon at the intersection of Quaker Road and Route 206 which left one of the cars a total loss.

Brian Bean, 23, of Libertyville, Ill. was heading south on 206 when he attempted to turn left onto Quaker Road and turned into a car operated by Richard Lardy, 31, of Edison. Bean was ticketed by Ptl. David Cromwell for failing to give a proper signal.

Mr. Bean complained of minor head injuries and Mr. Lardy of neck pains after the collision and both were taken to the Medical Center for treatment. The 1978 sedan of Mr. Bean was judged a total loss; Mr. Lardy's 1980 small foreign car sustained front end damage.

THINGS DIDN'T GO WELL

For John Wells. Instead of going on a bike ride, a Long Island resident ended up being taken for a ride to Mercer County Jail—after he was caught trying to use a stolen credit card.

According to police, John Wells, 32, of Garden City, entered Jay's Cycle on Nassau Street last week and discussed renting two bicycles. For payment for the $200 charge, he offered an American Express credit card.

When the clerk called to verify the card, he was told it had been stolen the previous day in Florida. He called police who arrested Wells inside the store.

Charged with credit card theft and criminal intent, Wells was later taken to Mercer County Jail to await possible action by a Grand Jury.

Charged With Harassment. A 34-year-old Trenton resident was charged last week by Borough police with harassment of pedestrians.

Jones was arrested shortly after noon by Sgt. William Fitch at the intersection of Nassau Street and Palmer Square E. He was continually annoying and interfering with pedestrians at the intersection, police said, by taking place during a four-day period while the 1979 van had them. He threatened one pedestrian, police said.

Jones was later issued a summons and released. Police mischief, the rear window of a 1982 station wagon was smashed while it was parked in a Palmer Square lot off Hurlish Street.

Police said that nothing was taken from the car nor was there any sign of any object or damage.

SAND IN GAS TANK
Delivery Van Damaged. The engine of a delivery van of a Princeton florist was damaged last week after someone had poured sand into the van's gas tank.

Police said the vandalism took place during a four-day period while the 1979 van had them. He threatened one pedestrian, police said.

Jones was later issued a summons and released. Police mischief, the rear window of a 1982 station wagon was smashed while it was parked in a Palmer Square lot off Hurlish Street.

a College Night for Mercer County athletes.

After receiving his B.S. from Pennsylvania State University in 1967, Mr. Stuart served with the U.S. Army First Infantry Division in South Vietnam in 1968-69, earning two Bronze Stars, two Accommodation Medals and two Air Medals. He returned to Penn State and earned an M.Ed. in 1970.

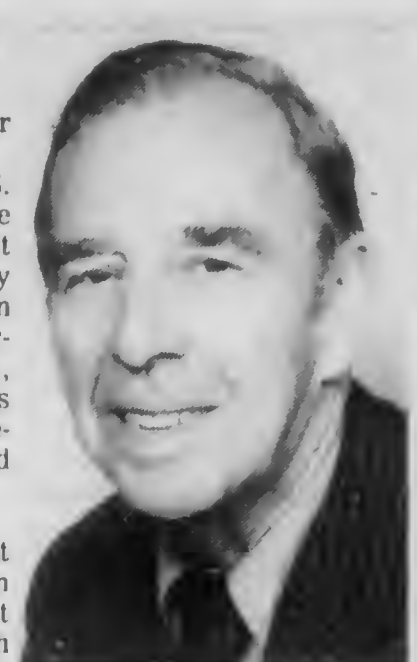

Before joining the faculty at West Windsor-Plainsboro in 1978, he taught and coached at Glasgow and Newark high schools in Newark, Del. He did graduate study at the University of Delaware and Rutgers University.

Mr. Stuart teaches in an open classroom, where an observer noted that he had "total command of the attention of his students" and that his presentations were "serious so students could realize the historical importance of his subject, yet humorous at just the right moments."

AWARD FOR SERVICE

To Retired Professor, Erling Dorf of Mercer Road has received an Alumni Council Award for Service to Princeton University.

He is one of three members of the Princeton University community who were honored with commemorative gifts during the 12th annual presentation of awards at the alumni gathering last Saturday on Clarke Field after the P-Race. The others are George R. Beeble of Philadelphia, an engineer and a graduate of the

Erling Dorf

Woodrow Wilson School who is recognized as a quiet force in the Philadelphia Princeton Club; and John W. Kern III of Washington, D.C., an associate judge on the District of Columbia Court of Appeals and an officer of the Princeton Club of Washington.

A professor emeritus of geology at Princeton, Mr. Dorf has spent a lifetime teaching Princetonians about the history of the earth. After almost half a century on the Princeton faculty, he retired in 1974, but he has continued to work with undergraduate and graduate students in the Geology Department's summer field program. At 77, he is still teaching and doing research in the rugged Bear-tooth Mountains of southwestern Montana and northwestern Wyoming.

He has taught a course on geology in the Princeton Adult School since 1964 and has been twice honored by the National Association of Geology Teachers for his outstanding and stimulating teaching in the field of geology. He received B.S. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Chicago, but is an honorary member of the Princeton University Class of 1933.

Prof. Dorf was cited by the Alumni Council for his "selfless efforts to explain historical geology to Princetonians of all ages, and especially for his work preventing fossil formation in the Princeton alumni body." In 1977, the citation continues, Prof. Dorf decided "to investigate a whole new stratum of Princetonians: the alumni. Taking over the directorship of the then fledgling alumni college at Red Lodge, Montana, he developed that program into one of the most popular off-campus alumni institutions on record."

Honorary Degrees

The retired professor, Gregory Vlastos, taught philosophy at Princeton. Now living in Berkeley, California, Professor Vlastos was cited as a man who has "elevated his department and this university, refashioned the study of ancient Greek philosophy, and...altered the very course of humanistic scholarship in this nation." Professor Vlastos also is an ordained minister with a degree from the Chicago Theological Seminary.

If William W. Bradley had attended the University of Houston, he might have been inducted into the mythical Phi Slamma Jamma basketball fraternity. Instead the United States Senator from New Jersey received an honorary doctor of laws degree from his alma mater.

"He is, for many, the quintessential Princetonian," the University orator proclaimed. "Powerful of mind and body, compassionate of spirit, he is one to whom others look with confidence and hope for a sense of where we are and of what we might become. A champion of learning, he sees the issues of our time in their larger historical and global contexts..."

Architect Robert Venturi and his Philadelphia-based firm designed the newly constructed Wu Hall on the University campus and also advised the Borough's central business district steering committee. "His gentle buildings enrich our ordinary lives," said the orator.

Trenton native A. Leon Higginbotham Jr. serves as a judge in the United States Court of Appeals. A graduate of Antioch College with a law degree from Yale, he was cited as "an advocate of equal justice for individuals of all races and creeds."

Other honorary degrees were awarded to Wolfgang K.H. Panofsky, a Princeton graduate who now directs the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center, and to Kathleen Coburn, emeritus professor of English at Victoria College in Canada.

The fire was extinguished before firemen arrived, however, and police report no damage to the oven. Police were called at 2 Saturday afternoon.

STATE IS SOUGHT
For Institute Preservation. The conservationists hoping to preserve the unspoiled woodland and farmland on which the Institute for Advanced Study would like to construct a housing development for Township. The Federal government will receive some help this week from the Association (FEMA) in Democratic candidate for conjunction with the New mayor of Princeton Borough, Jersey Department of Barbara Sigmund.

Mrs. Sigmund will lead a group of concerned citizens back to her old stomping grounds, the Mercer County Board of Freeholders, on Thursday at noon. The Princeton group will attempt to convince the owners to purchase increasing freeholders to form an agricultural retention board which could serve as a conduit for state funds raised through a referendum passed by the voters in 1981.

The bond issue raised a total of $50 million and Mrs. Sigmund and her group, which will include Lawrence Norris Kerr, Jim Sayen, Bill Potter, Howard Myers, and a representative of the Mercer-Somerset-Middlesex Regional Study Council, hope that some of those funds can be used to help acquire the land from the Institute and preserve it.

Mrs. Sigmund conceded that her interest in the land was not unrelated to her campaign in the Borough. "It's part of our common treasury," she said. "We all have an interest in it-Township and Borough alike. And I'm going to argue that all of Mercer County has an interest in it."

Interested residents are invited to review the flood maps which are available for review and inspection in the Township Engineer's office next week between the hours of 9 and 5.

On Monday, June 20, at 8 a public hearing will be held in the Township Meeting Room, Valley Road Building, concerning the study. Representatives from FEMA and DEP and the study consultant will be present to explain the study and to receive public input. Interested parties are invited.

For those who are affected by the study and may have specific concerns, the representatives from FEMA, DEP and the Study Consultant will be available to answer questions at the Valley Road Meeting Room on Monday, June 20, between 3:30 and 5. For information, call the Township Engineer's office at 921-7078.

Sewers

steps that the municipalities must take to resolve the sewer problem. "We expect that the entire problem can be resolved at this meeting," Mr. Sander said. But no date has been set for such a meeting.

The state official said that the ban on new sewer extensions was necessary because of the continuing problem of overflowing sewage along the Harry's Brook line, a problem that has generated vociferous protests from residents of that area, especially along Hamden Road.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley and other Princeton officials maintain, however, that the state had already agreed to allow an increase in sewer capacity that corresponded to repairs in the present system.

Though Borough officials were not stating so publicly, some were known to feel that the state's action was essentially a public relations gesture to demonstrate their concern for the Random Road residents. The officials felt that once the state had made its concern felt, then it would resume working with the Borough and the Township along the lines of the sewer agreement that lifted the sewer moratorium in 1981.

No one was taking chances, however. Officials were said to be meeting to consider action if the state, in effect, withdrew from that agreement. One recourse being considered—taking the DEP to court.

Princeton's biggest developer, Collins, was still busy preparing for what it hoped would be its final meeting before the Planning Board next Thursday, June 16. That meeting, at which Collins seeks final site plan approval for its Palmer Square development, is unrelated to the sewer problem. If Collins gains its Planning Board approval and the sewer question continues to be unresolved, then the development company could be held up by the Borough engineer and the Sewer Operating Committee when it applies for a building permit.

PCH UNAFFECTED
By Possible Sewer Ban. One project not affected by the state's threatened ban on new sewer hook-ups is the Princeton Community Housing project for the elderly on Elm Road.

"As soon as I heard about the sewer ban I called Mayor Cawley," said Harriet Bryan of PCH. "He assured me that we are not affected. We have had a sewer reservation since we first began planning for the project in the late 1960s." Mrs. Bryan and other supporters of the long delayed housing project for senior citizens have reason to be pleased with the progress they have made. PCH has obtained necessary site plan approvals in the Borough and the Township. The PCH opponents, moreover, have been rebuffed in their efforts to date to overturn those approvals.

The opponents still have time to make one further appeal but, as Mrs. Bryan pointed out, "it would go to the same judge who dismissed their suit in March."

William J. Barr, 127 Westerville Road, the leader of the opposition group, said this week that his group was still waiting to get answers about a separate issue it has raised concerning the PCH site. "Since this was a dump and a sewer field since 1980 no one really knows what's buried there," said Mr. Barr. "PCH has said it will remove five to seven feet of material where the buildings will sit. We want to know what's in that five to seven feet."

Toxic Waste Dump? "Twenty or thirty years ago people could have been dumping almost anything in there," said Mr. Barr. "If you spray leaves with DDT and then dump leaves in there over a period of 20 years in one spot then you essentially concentrate that toxic material."

William S. Greenberg of Hunt Drive has written to the state DEP, asking the agency to investigate the site and determine whether or not it is a toxic time bomb. "Toxic waste dumping isn't just an inconvenience—that's a major concern," said Mr. Barr.

Given the glaring publicity over the possible dangers of toxic waste dumps, one might wonder why Mr. Barr and all other residents of the Western section haven't piled their families into the station wagons and headed off for the Vineyard, or somewhere, until the question can be resolved.

"There's the possibility," responded Mr. Barr, "that if you don't disturb the dump then it might be all right, but that, if you start disturbing it, then it might be worse."

A Smoke Screen? Supporters of the housing believe that Mr. Barr's concern about toxic wastes is just a smoke screen designed to create one more obstacle for the project.

"The site hasn't been used as a sewage field since 1932," said Mrs. Bryan, "and most recently it's been used to dump leaves and branches and some asphalt for road repair. To the best of our knowledge that poses no danger. The soil borings showed nothing."

She cited a letter from Gary Boyer of the engineering firm of Van Note-Harvey, in which he stated that "there is no evidence of any dumping of toxic wastes. Recent maps and soil boring reports indicate leaves and construction debris have been dumped there but these are not toxic wastes."

Mr. Barr complained that he had been unable to obtain a copy of the environmental impact study prepared for the PCH project. Mrs. Bryan responded that the study has been part of the public record for months and that a preliminary report on the exploration of the subsurface is also on file at the Borough engineer's office. She said the reports would not answer Mr. Barr's questions about possible chemicals at the site

Maybe We All Lose.

To the Editor of Town Topics: I'm not at all sure Township residents should express opinions on the Palmer Square project, but I think Mr. Collins is getting a bum rap.

Some thoughts: Palmer Square is privately owned; two-sides make up an ugly, litter-ridden, black, broken asphalt parking lot; taxes received from the proposed project should aid in all kinds of human needs programs for the Borough; many will be put to work in construction jobs now and later in new shops.

Smaller residential units are planned which could accommodate residents who have supported our churches, the hospital, the United Way for years and years and who prefer to give up larger home without moving far away.

What's so bad about all of this? The "bridge"? We think they are picturesque in Europe. The kiosk? Many really like it and many already use it every day. And local merchants have said that good new shops will help all the stores in Princeton.

All Mr. Collins has proposed can only improve Princeton.

There have already been 11 public hearings, two site plan reviews, countless elevations, plans, maps and models, consideration of air rights, open space and sewers, store signs, security and traffic. Isn't it time for cooperation? And then get on with it.

There have already been 11 public hearings, two site plan reviews, countless elevations, plans, maps and models, consideration of air rights, open space and sewers, store signs, security and traffic. Isn't it time for cooperation? And then get on with it.

There will be another Planning Board session on June 16. However, one attorney has already reserved time for his "very lengthy testimony" and a mayoral candidate has indicated possible legal action (with your money, folks). The strategy is well thought out and very well planned. The 11 p.m. curfew always necessitates another meeting and Mr. Collins loses again.

Or, just maybe we all lose.

Come March with Us.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As parents and teachers, we urge families to participate in the June 12 March of the Generations against Nuclear Weapons, a parade and picnic in Princeton, sponsored by many regional organizations.

We need to show our children that we are not powerless, and that we can affect decisions made on our behalf by government leaders.

Such action can also help to combat the widespread feelings of anxiety and helplessness found among today's children and young people. Dr. Robert J. Lifton of Yale University, a leader in the study of the psychic effects of the arms race, tells of a doctor working very hard for Physicians for Social Responsibility.

The teacher of his nine year old son asked her class one day if they thought there would be a nuclear war. Ten of the eleven children said yes, and in their lifetime. The eleventh was the doctor's son who felt nuclear war would not occur because his Dad was out working every night to prevent it.

1400 of us went from the Princeton area to New York

City last year on this date.

Let's bring our children to the

LET'S TALK ABOUT

LANDSCAPING YOUR HOME FOR ENERGY CONSERVATION

with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates

With the increasing costs of energy, the use of plants in the home landscape to conserve energy is coming to the forefront as a major consideration in planning a home site.

In a forest, the ground temperature can be as much as 25 degrees cooler than the temperature above the trees. You can create this same cooling effect by planting a well planned forest around your home thereby reducing heating and cooling costs. Some guidelines you might consider following would be the planting of deciduous trees along the south, southwest and west sides of your home. They will block out the hot summer sun reducing your air conditioning costs. In winter these trees lose their leaves and let in the sun to help reduce heating costs. Plant the deciduous trees that will grow to considerable size when mature (50 to 75 ft.). Plant them at least 25 to 30 feet from the house and 15 to 20 feet apart. Plant trees that have strong wood and good structural characteristics. These trees will require pruning as they grow to ensure a high canopy to prevent damage to the house roof.

Consider planting trees that are small (less than 25 feet when mature) on the south, southwest or west side of the air conditioner condenser so that the unit doesn't have to work as hard and can save up to 3 percent on air conditioning costs. For example, Japanese magnolia, holly and crepe myrtle.

Plant evergreen trees (two or more rows) on the north and northwest side of the house to block winter winds. They are most effective if planted four to six times their mature height from the house. If done properly, energy consumption for heat can be reduced up to 30 percent. Some suggestions are varieties of pine and eastern red cedar.

Regular tree maintenance and tree fertilization will significantly improve a tree's health and growth and are strongly recommended.

If we can be of service please call WOODWINDS (924-3500) for any and all of your tree care needs.

because "the history of the place indicates none would be expected."

Mrs. Bryan said that she expected the DEP to follow up the charges with the PCH engineers. "We're not particularly concerned," she said, "except that it's another thing that could cause delay." Meanwhile, though, the project was still waiting on the final approval of its plans from the Newark office of HUD and Mrs. Bryan was still hoping that workers could be on the job by the fall. "In general, things are going well."

119 HAVE GRADUATED
From The Hun School, Dr. Theodore J. Ziolkowski, Dean of the Princeton University Graduate School, addressed 119 seniors their families and friends at the 69th commencement exercises at the Hun School last Sunday. Headmaster G. Gerald Donaldson Jr. presided.

Two area residents were among seven graduating seniors who received special recognition for outstanding achievement. The Faculty Prize, awarded to the senior who had shown the most development in character, reliability, sportsmanship and leadership, went to Anashua Sinha of Monmouth Junction. Monica Pica of Lawrenceville received the John L. Kuschke Memorial Award for outstanding accomplishments in non-athletic extracurricular activities.

Princeton residents who received diplomas were John Alford II, Douglas Allen, Jesper Glynsing-Jensen, Elizabeth Gregory, Scott Horigan, Christopher Hunnigake, Brian Kelly, Wesley Loftgren, Andrew Marlatt, Robert Rosenthal and Meghan Wood.

Area residents included Ira Goldline of Princeton Junction; Barbara Short of Kingston; John Tambascia Jr., Jonathan Tesser and Laura Zahn, all of Belle Mead; Dean Forman of Rocky Hill; Frederick Stiff IV of Skillman; Lisa Marin and David Vesely of Titusville.

Also, Michael Coffee, Diane Guarino, Kevin Kohn, Monica Pica, Keith Reinhart and John Whitehead, all of Lawrenceville.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Marlatt of Princeton, parents of a graduating senior, were honored for their participation in the activities of the Hun School parent associations.

204 ARE GRADUATES
Of Lawrenceville School. Area students were among the 204 members of the graduating class at the 173rd commencement at The Lawrenceville School on June 4.

From Princeton they are Peter Y. Ackerman, David F.A. Allen, Sigurd H. Berven (academic distinction), Paul M. Geller, Andrew T. Goodyear, Jr., Kenneth R. Hallows (academic distinction), Reid A. Horovitz, Ronald J. Kane, Jr., Phillip Lam, Thomas R. Murray III, John T. O'Neil (academic distinction), Eric A. Postel (academic distinction), Christopher F. Randall (academic distinction), David E. Skriloff, and Guan-Tyng Yeh.

From Princeton Junction, Shannon M. Malloy, from Rocky Hill, David F. Booboo and David J. Hoysepian; from Pennington, S. Francis Lee and Martin P. Los; from Belle Mead, Richard Meyer; from Hopewell, Michael J. McLaughlin (academic distinction) and Adam B. Nathan.

Prizes were awarded to seniors. Sigurd H. Berven won the Ross A. Harrison Mathematics Prize for superior achievement and remarkable improvement in math. Andrew T. Goodyear, Jr. won the Kathleen Wallace Award, a cash stipend given to a one-year senior who has been an exemplar of commitment and growth. John T. O'Neil won the Bausch and Lomb Honorary Science Award for having the highest average grade in Junior and Senior year science and math. He also won the Howard Hill Math Award for the outstanding achievement in mathematics. Christopher Randall received the History Department Prize for European History.

Shannon M. Malloy won the Department of Foreign Languages' Prize for the best year's work in advanced Greek. Francis Lee won the Mathematics Department Award as captain of the School's math team. Adrian Randolph won the Drama Prize for his contributions to the dramatic program. Bruce Williamson was chosen the valedictorian of the class of 1983 and delivered the valedictory address.

FINAL COMMENCEMENT
For Dr. McCord, Princeton Theological Seminary conferred 258 postgraduate degrees at its 171st Commencement, held last week in the Chapel of Princeton University. One hundred sixty-six students received the Master of Divinity degree, the basic degree in preparation for the professional ministry. The Rev. Dr. Bryant M. Kirkland, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York City and mentor and former president of the Seminary's Board of Trustees, gave the commencement address, "Ministry as Presence and Process."

John M. Templeton, president of the Seminary's board of trustees, delivered the invocation. After the conferring of degrees, Seminary President James I. McCord bid the graduates farewell and concluded with the benediction. The Commencement was the last of Dr. McCord's presidency.

POETRY READING SET
At Coffeehouse, Virginia Lockwood and Jamie McKenzie will present an evening of poetry and song on Tuesday at 8 at the Cafe au Lait, 66 Witherspoon Street. This evening will conclude the spring and summer series of Coffeehouse Readings sponsored by the Princeton Writers' Center.

Mrs. Lockwood is a native of Maine whose work reflects her love of the seashore and outdoor life. She is a Wellesley graduate who has been a resident of Princeton since 1940 and been writing poetry for 20 years. She taught for many years at Miss Fine's and Princeton Day School and traveled widely with her late husband, William W. Lockwood, professor of politics and public and international Affairs at Princeton University.

Mrs. Lockwood is the mother of two sons and a daughter; William W. Lockwood, Jr., program director at Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts and McCarter Theatre, Stephen C. Lockwood, an architect and urban planner currently working in Kuala Lumpur, and Dr. Julia D. Lockwood, a pediatrician in Maine who specializes in genetic counseling. Mrs. Lockwood has been writing poetry for twenty years.

Mr. McKenzie is a poet, songwriter and folksinger whose work deals with changing relationships, the street people of New York and other social issues. He lives in Flemington with his two daughters, with whom he sings at folk festivals.

Mr. McKenzie is Assistant Superintendent of the

VOLUNTEERS HONORED
By Library. Janice Stonaker, president of the Princeton Public Library board of trustees, has presented Certificates of Appreciation to 67 volunteers who have helped in the library in 1982 and 1983. Through the efforts of volunteers, the library is able to maintain programs which would otherwise not be possible.

The Adult Basic Reading program is staffed with 14 volunteers. They are Verda Anderson, Julia Bernheim, Ruth Bonner, Frances Day, Pei Hsiang, Anne Klein, Judy Livingston, Cary Peebles, Esther Pollack, Bennett Povlow, Betty Rimalover, Ellen Tabell, Oscar Weber, and Vouletti Williams.

Eight other volunteers make the Home Reader Delivery service possible: Hazel Benjamin, Fern Cloak, Betty Cooper, Grace Easton, Lois Fulmer, Connie Henderson, Pat Sullivan, and Patricia Taylor. In the Children's Department, John Ryan and Kim Tyler have been assisting Dudley Carlson with film programs. The Readings Over Coffee program has been assisted by Jane Alexander, Audrey Colby, Vivian Engelbrecht, Anna Fambro, Charlotte Healey, Mary Mason, Bea Smith and Mary Turnbull.

The Friends Bookstore is kept going by Leah Lemnick and Maxine Melnick. Mary Applegate and Helen Fairbanks have been diligently indexing the local newspapers for several years. Mary Bonotto, Dave Kentler and Suzi Wozniak have helped with the Friends newsletter which is sent to members three times per year.

The Friends of the Library Council was also honored. The Council includes Samuel T. Arnold, John F. Bales, James W. Clapp, Irene Farley, A. Eugene Frank, Jennifer Griffin, Susan Hillier, Pauline Huntington, Seth Klevans, David M. Ludlum, A.G. Lummis, Edith Martin, Elisabeth Morgan, Barbara Redfield, Joan Robinson, Ann Scotten, Kay Strong, James S. Thornton, Grace Wille, and Ariana Witke.

Other volunteers are Mrs. Hadasa Kale, Sarah Brown, Margot McGregor, Robert Saxon, Elizabeth Shanfield (ESOL) and Conrad Snowden (Long Range Planning Committee). Completing the list are William Volk and Jean Whitall who provided tax assistance to 123 people in the library.

CRAFT OFFERING
At YWCA. Among the varied offerings of the summer session at the YWCA are hands-on craft sessions. Betty Boonin will offer tips on "How to Compete with Your Local Florist" on June 28, during which each participant will complete her own flower arrangement. Liz Adams will teach a Miniature Making Workshop on July 28. Ms. Adams, award winning miniaturist whose work has been featured in national magazines, will enable participants to complete a number of dollhouse-scale accessories, and go home with ideas for more. Scheryl LoMonico will demonstrate the art of Cake Decorating for Beginners on June 29.

Incorporating gardening, cooking and craft use of herbs will be Marjorie Meriam's June 30 "Herb Workshop-Luncheon," where participants will learn what to plant for potpourri, when to harvest, how to dry herbs and how to use them in cooking. For further information on these classes and many others in the Adult Department, call the Princeton YWCA at 924-5571.

JAZZ BENEFIT PLANNED
By Child Development Institute. An afternoon of jazz and family festivities has been planned for Sunday, June 19, by The Princeton Child Development Institute to celebrate its 13th anniversary. The event will take place at Princeton Day School between 3 and 7 p.m. and will feature such jazz greats as Ed Polcer and The Eddie Condon All Stars and Maxine Sullivan. Guests can also take a ride on Malcolm Forbes's tethered hot air balloon. There will also be a postal balloon lift off and raffles for a 10-speed bike, an Atari 400, a week in Hopetown, Bahamas, a fall weekend in Vermont and other hand-crafted items.

Food and beverages will be sold and picnickers are welcome. Tickets are $10 for adults, $5 for students, and children under 12 will go free if accompanied by an adult. Contributions are tax deductible, and may be sent to the Institute at P.O. Box 2013. For further information call Jersey and one of the first in 924-6280.

the country. Today, under the directorship of Dr. Lynn McClannahan and Dr. Patricia Krantz, the Institute has 20 children in its school plus another five boys in a half-way house called "Family Focus."

Modelled after Father Flanagan's Home For Boys, this home integrates difficult children into a family setting and provides them with the structure and training they need to reenter family and community life. The Institute keeps detailed records for reference and research, and through extensive critical evaluation of these records, the directors have set up a system of standards which are used by other schools around the country.

The Jazz Benefit Committee is chaired by Mrs. Frederic E. Fox, Mrs. Roland Machold and Mrs. Thomas Hooker Paine. Other Committee members planning the benefit include Mrs. J.R. MacNeille, Mrs. A. Henry Mosle, Mrs. Tod Peyton, Mrs. Robert Pulley, Mrs. Robert Stahler and Mrs. Sheldon Sturges.

TALKS BREAK DOWN
Arbitration. Sought. Hopewell Township police officers, who have been working without a contract since last December, have reported that their talks with Township officials have broken down and that they are requesting that the dispute be settled by binding state arbitration.

The policemen, represented by the Hopewell Township Police Association and the Superior Officers Association of the Hopewell Township Police Association, charged that the Township's initial proposal called for an increase in pay of approximately 3.5 percent and a discontinuation of all college education incentives.

The policemen had requested an increase of about eight percent.

An arbitration date for the Superior Officers was set for next Wednesday, June 15. No date was announced for the other group.

The police organizations charged that Hopewell Township policemen currently are the second lowest paid police in the county, and that starting dispatchers earn so little that they can qualify for state aid. The police added that Township officers now patrol Hopewell Borough, as a result of an agreement by which the Township receives an additional $85,000 a year.

COMPUTER-KIDS

"Camp" at MCCC. Running a lemonade stand, or delivering a daily paper: it's a "small business" with an entrepreneur eight years old, perhaps. Learn how to run it according to business principles in one of the courses to be offered this summer in the "Camp College" program for ages 8-17 at Mercer County Community College, West Windsor campus.

Two three-week sessions will be offered in July and August, Monday-Thursday from 8:30 to 4:30. Session One is July 11-29, and Session Two, August 1-19. The fee is $225, which includes all material except special sports equipment like tennis racquets. The schedule is designed to allow long week-ends for family vacations.

Although computer programming is not required, it is expected to be the most popular of the two-hour academic courses. These include programming, mathematics-algebra, creative writing, typing, reading, and conversational French or Spanish. Languages are taught through games, songs and dialogue between teacher and student.

One-hour courses — including the one called "Entrepreneurship" — that shows how to run a lemonade stand — will be given in self-defense, tennis, dance, art, speed writing, "library survival" skills, keyboard skills resources in their family situation.

Linda Perlin MSW, returns with a special evening "After Tootsie — what?" an opportunity to discuss the issues raised by the film, including power, assertiveness and the role expectations women and men bring to their dealings with the opposite sex. "Money Madness," a single evening workshop led on July 21 by Ginny Moore, deals with the emotions centering on money in your life — how it signifies power, love, freedom, and how to deal with those values.

On June 28 Anna Willingham MA, MSW will teach "Resume Writing, Interview Skills and Job Search Techniques." A longtime career counselor, she will focus on all aspects of the skills of seeking job opportunities.

Princeton Area Residents Awarded Degrees and Diplomas

Princeton area residents continue to be awarded baccalaureate, graduate and honorary degrees at college and university commencement exercises across the country.

Catherine A. Tomlinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.B. Tomlinson of Terhune Road, was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in Special Education at the 107th commencement of Boston College.

Miss Tomlinson is a 1979 graduate of Princeton High School. Her undergraduate activities included varsity women's lacrosse and field hockey. She earned letters in both, and was on two consecutive lacrosse teams which gained entrance to the national playoff tournaments. After a European tour she will pursue a career teaching in special education.

Kieran Esposito, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Esposito, 196 John Street, was among the 189 members of this year's graduating class who received diplomas at the 138th commencement exercises of Muskingum College at New Concord, Ohio. He received a bachelor of arts degree in history.

Margaret W. Southerland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Southerland Jr. of Western Way, was one of 420 seniors to graduate at commencement exercises at Hobart and William Smith Colleges in Geneva, N.Y. She received the bachelor of arts degree with honors in an individual major.

Dr. Warren B. Martin, scholar in residence at the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, was awarded an honorary doctoral diploma by Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., where he was the commencement speaker.

Virginia A. Sheeran, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Archibald Sheeran of 177 Parkside Drive, and Katharine S. Dyckman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Dyckman Jr. of Province Line Road, have graduated from St. Lawrence University in Canton, N.Y.

Miss Sheeran earned a B.S. degree with a sport and leisure studies major. She was a Dean's List student and a member of the varsity swim team.

Miss Dyckman earned a B.A. degree as a French major and participated in a program abroad in France. She was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Kimberly D. Hulme, daughter of Robert D. Hulme of 319 Nassau Street, and Nancy Kenyon Hulme of Riverton, graduated from Hood College with honors in English literature. She received the Hood B.A.

Donald F. Karol, son of Frederick J. and Ruth H. Karol of Belle Mead, has been commissioned a Coast Guard ensign and received a bachelor of science degree upon graduation from the Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn.

Carol M. Gons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Richard Gons, RD 4, 6 Monroe Court, graduated cum laude from Westminster College. An alumna of Monmouth Junction High School, she earned the bachelor of arts degree with a major in elementary education and a minor in social studies. She has been a Dean's List and Honors Student and participated in student teaching and the Westminster field experience/internship program.

David Mantell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mantell, Fairway Drive, has graduated cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania with a bachelor of arts degree in political science.

Jasmine C. Meray, daughter of Lorand Meray and Ruth Farnham of 63 Riverside Drive, received the bachelor of fine arts degree cum laude from the Maryland Institute, College of Art in Baltimore during the recent commencement exercises. A graduate of Westtown School in Pennsylvania, she majored in interior design at the Maryland Institute.

Five area students were among 1,432 graduates who received degrees at Carnegie-Mellon University's 86th commencement.

Three of the degrees were earned at the Mellon College of Sciences. The recipients are Robert L. Reid of 430 Ewing Street, B.S. in biological sciences; Jana L. Caras, 104 Leabrook Lane, B.S. in chemistry; Henry H. Zenzle of 28 Audubon Lane, B.S. in physics.

In addition, Howard M. Frazier Jr., 148 Fisher Place, earned the B.S. in electrical engineering from the Carnegie Institute of Technology, from which Lauren F. Calaby, 102 Drummond Drive, Pennington, received a B.S. in metallurgical engineering and materials science.

Virginia M. Hackenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hackenberg of White Pine Lane, has received the M.D. degree from Emory University.

David F. Buhler of 44 Scott Lane was among the 240 candidates for bachelor of arts degrees at Whitman College commencement exercises in Walla Walla, Wash.

PEOPLE In The News

Milton Babbitt, William Shubael Conant Professor of Music, was awarded the George Peabody Medal "for outstanding contributions to Music in America" at the commencement ceremonies of the Peabody Institute of the Johns Hopkins University.

Mr. Babbitt also gave the commencement address.

Navy Midshipman Stuart J. Borsch, son of Frederick H. and Barbara S. Borsch of 17 Ivy Lane, was selected for both the Superintendent's and Dean's List at the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.

The Dean's List recognizes midshipmen who have excelled in academic studies, while the Superintendent's List recognizes both academic achievement and the professional training required.

Airman Donald B. Harms, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy A. Harms of Route 518, Hopewell, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force course for missile facilities specialist at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

Airman Harms will now serve at Ellsworth Air Force Base, S.D., with the 44th Organizational Missile Maintenance Squadron. He is a 1982 graduate of Hopewell Valley High School.

George A. Berman, 118 Cedar Lane, addressed the spring meeting of the Columbia Law School Association of New Jersey at the Nassau Inn. Professor of law at Columbia University School of Law, he spoke on "Recent Developments in the Liability of Public Officials."

"The Land and People of Indonesia" by Datus C. Smith Jr. has been published by Lipincott Junior Books.

A resident of Princeton, Mr. Smith is known in Asia, Africa and the Middle East as an ambassador of books. For 15 years he was president of Franklin Book Programs, a nonprofit organization through which millions of American books have been translated into various languages. Mr. Smith is a trustee of The Asia Society and has been president of the U.S. Board on Books for Young People.

Illustrated with black and white photos and a full map, the revised edition of "The Land and People of Indonesia" describes this "archipelago country," a vast cluster of more than 13,500 islands of which more than 6,000 are inhabited. Along with a survey of Indonesia's rich cultural background and history, the book discusses the nation's present government and economy and its outlook for the future.

L. Scott Bailey, president and publisher of the Princeton Publishing Co. and a Princeton resident, has cooperated with the family of the late Professor W.E. Smith of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, in establishing a professorship in American economic life in the professor's name at the University. Mr. Bailey was a former student of Dr. Smith's and a 1947 graduate of Miami University.

Carl Reimers, son of Carl Reimers of Princeton and Jane Irwin of New York, has been selected to receive an award at an honors convocation at Macalester College, Saint Paul, Minn.

Alfred Vuocolo of Rocky Hill has been appointed chief executive officer of the New Jersey Forensic Psychiatric Facility. He will be responsible for administering programs for some 125 forensic patients in the institution and for supervising the development of the new forensic unit.

The N.J. Forensic Psychiatric Hospital was formerly a section of Trenton Psychiatric Hospital until legislation enacted in 1982 made it a separate entity. The new hospital was formerly known as the forensic section of the Vroom Building.

Dr. Vuocolo most recently served as superintendent of the Skillman Training School for Boys and had been in that post since 1966. Prior to that he held several positions in the Department of Institutions and Agencies, beginning in 1950 when he worked at what was known as the Menlo Park Diagnostic Center.

He holds a master of social work degree in psychiatric casework from Fordham University and a doctorate in agency management and institutional administration from the New York University Graduate School of Public Administration in New York City.

Samantha Phillips, daughter of Jeanne and Ralph Phillips of Monroe Lane, was awarded a varsity letter as a member of the Haverford College women's lacrosse team. She is a graduate of Princeton High School where she was a National Merit Scholarship Semi-finalist.

Also at Haverford, Rebecca Popenoe, daughter of David and Katherine Popenoe of Moore Street, was awarded the Most Improved Player for the second consecutive season on the women's tennis team. She had a 4-2 record as Haverford's number five singles player. A sophomore and a graduate of Princeton High School, she lived in Indonesia for a year before enrolling at Haverford.

Three Princeton residents have been named to the Dean's List at Bates College as a result of their scholastic standing during the second semesters of the 1982-83 college year.

They are Brenna L. Flaucher '83, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald L. Flaucher of 434 Mt. Lucas Road; Rachel A. Rabinowitz '84, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Irving Rabinowitz of 5 Glenview Drive; and Elena A. Williams '84, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Williams of Wheat-sheaf Lane.

Dana L. Donati has been selected as a candidate for the doctoral degree offered by Rutgers University's Department of Counseling and Psychology.

Mrs. Donati received her B.A. from Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N.Y., and spent one year as a guest student at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass. She holds a master's degree in psychology from Temple University, and is a certified school psychologist in both Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Currently, she is employed as a psychologist at Princeton High School, where she is a member of the Child Study Team.

She is also a member of The American Psychological Association and New Jersey Association of School Psychologists. Mrs. Donati and her husband, an attorney, live on Hawthorne Avenue.

Johanna R. Froehlich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karlfried Froehlich of Moore Street and a junior classical languages major at Carleton College in Northfield, Minn., has been named to the Dean's List. The top ten percent of the student body was recognized at an Honors Convocation in May.

Alan Y. Medvin of 165 Bertrand Drive, a partner in the Newark law firm of Medvin & Elberg, was a member of the medical malpractice panel of the May 1983 Case Evaluation Clinic sponsored by ATLA-NJ, the New Jersey Affiliate of the Association of Trial Lawyers of America.

Mr. Medvin is first vice president of ATLA-NJ and has chaired three of the Association's educational programs on the practice of trial law.

Robert G. Schwartz of Princeton has been named a Distinguished Alumni of Penn State for 1983.

The Distinguished Alumni Award was established in 1951 and is the highest recognition bestowed on an individual by the University. It equals the honorary doctorate given by many institutions.

Mr. Schwartz is chairman of the board of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Prof. English Showalter, Jr., of Camden College, Rutgers University, has been appointed Executive Director of the Modern Language Association of America effective September 1. He lives at 119 Snowden Lane.

Prof. Showalter, 48, is professor and chair of the French Department at Camden College. He was born in Roanoke, Va., and took his undergraduate and graduate degrees at Yale University. A member of the faculty at Rutgers since 1974, he has taught at Yale and Haverford Colleges as well as at the University of California at Davis and Princeton University.

His specialty is eighteenth-century French literature. He has published "The Evolution of the French Novel, 1641-1782" and other works on the 18th century, and he has a book forthcoming on Camus, Mich. The team returned with a first-place trophy and other awards.

Pete placed in the top fifth in the top third of 81 contestants in an in-the-air navigation event with another team member, and placed in the top half of contestants in a power-off landing event, which, because of gusting winds, was never completed.

Vicky Adler, age 13, of 9 Veblen Circle received third place in the Cricket League international poetry competition and honorable mention in the drawing competition sponsored by Cricket magazine. Her poem appears in the June issue of the magazine.

Chris Ragoonath, son of Bob and Dulcie Ragoonath of 98 Leigh Avenue, has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of airman first class.

Airman Ragoonath is an air traffic control specialist at Dover Air Force Base, Del., with the 201st Communications Squadron. He is a 1981 graduate of Princeton High School.

BUSINESS In Princeton

70, COUNT 'EM, 70
New Chamber Members. During May, which was "Chamber Month," the Chamber of Commerce of the Princeton Area garnered 70 new members, with Rosalee Alexander, of Fox & Lazo Realtors, winning the prize for signing up 17.

She beat the 14-member record of Membership Chairman Martin P. Lombardo, who presented her with a scholarship to his Tom Hopkins' Training Center course, "How to Master the Art of Selling." Her first prize was a week-end for two at Scanticon.

Three Chamber members came in second with four newcomers. The three are C. Ellen Hodges, the Chamber's executive director; Gail Eagle, of Community Pride Publications and Harry Cooke, RCA. Paul Chesebro of William Sword & Company and Lee Hill, Princeton University, each brought in three. Four signed up two new members. The four are June Mahon, administrative assistant, and Teri Veltre, secretary — their affiliations are not known — Mickie Mason, Selective Personnel and William Portrude of Express Press.

Those who signed two or more new members received gift certificates redeemable at any of 24 participating stores.

FOR OLDER WOMEN

In Second Career. Scholarships for mature second-career women are available from the Rider College School for Continuing Studies through a grant from the Charlotte W. Newcombe Foundation.

Women applying must be at least 25 years old, matriculated in a baccalaureate program and at least half way through work toward the degree. Scholarships are awarded on the basis of how clear a woman's career goals are, her academic record and the extent of her need.

Last year, 33 scholarships were awarded. Some recipients were studying full time, others part time. They were homemakers preparing for jobs, or employed and looking for a new direction.

Details may be obtained from the School for Continuing Studies office, 896-5033.

City Federal Savings and Loan Association, has entered into a letter of intent to purchase Horizon Creditcorp, a wholly-owned subsidiary of a $1.6 billion Horizon Bancorp.

Under the terms of the proposed transaction, City Federal will obtain all outstanding stock of Horizon Creditcorp for $5.5 million in cash, subject to adjustment. Based in Cedar Knolls, N.J., Horizon Creditcorp currently operates seven loan origination centers in New Jersey, Florida, Maryland, Rhode Island and Texas and specializes in originating yacht and marine related financing. Its total assets as of May 31, 1983 are approximately $140 million.

City Federal Savings is the 14th largest savings and loan company nationwide, and its consumer lending subsidiary, City Consumer Services, currently operates 65 offices in 14 states. Horizon Bancorp, a financial services company, has 76 bank offices in New Jersey, including Princeton Bank.

INSPECTION SERVICE SET
For Home Buyers. The Princeton area has a new inspection service to determine a house's condition for an expectant buyer, or for the owner.

Scientific Home Inspection, Inc., is offering its services to the home owner who wants guidance on repairs, and to the interested buyer who needs an objective evaluation of condition.

The new company introduces scientific methods into this field, recognizing that many problems stem from indirect or subtle causes. All too often, a "wet basement" is not due to a high groundwater

The window to remodel around.

Andersen® Perma-Shield® Angle Bay window.

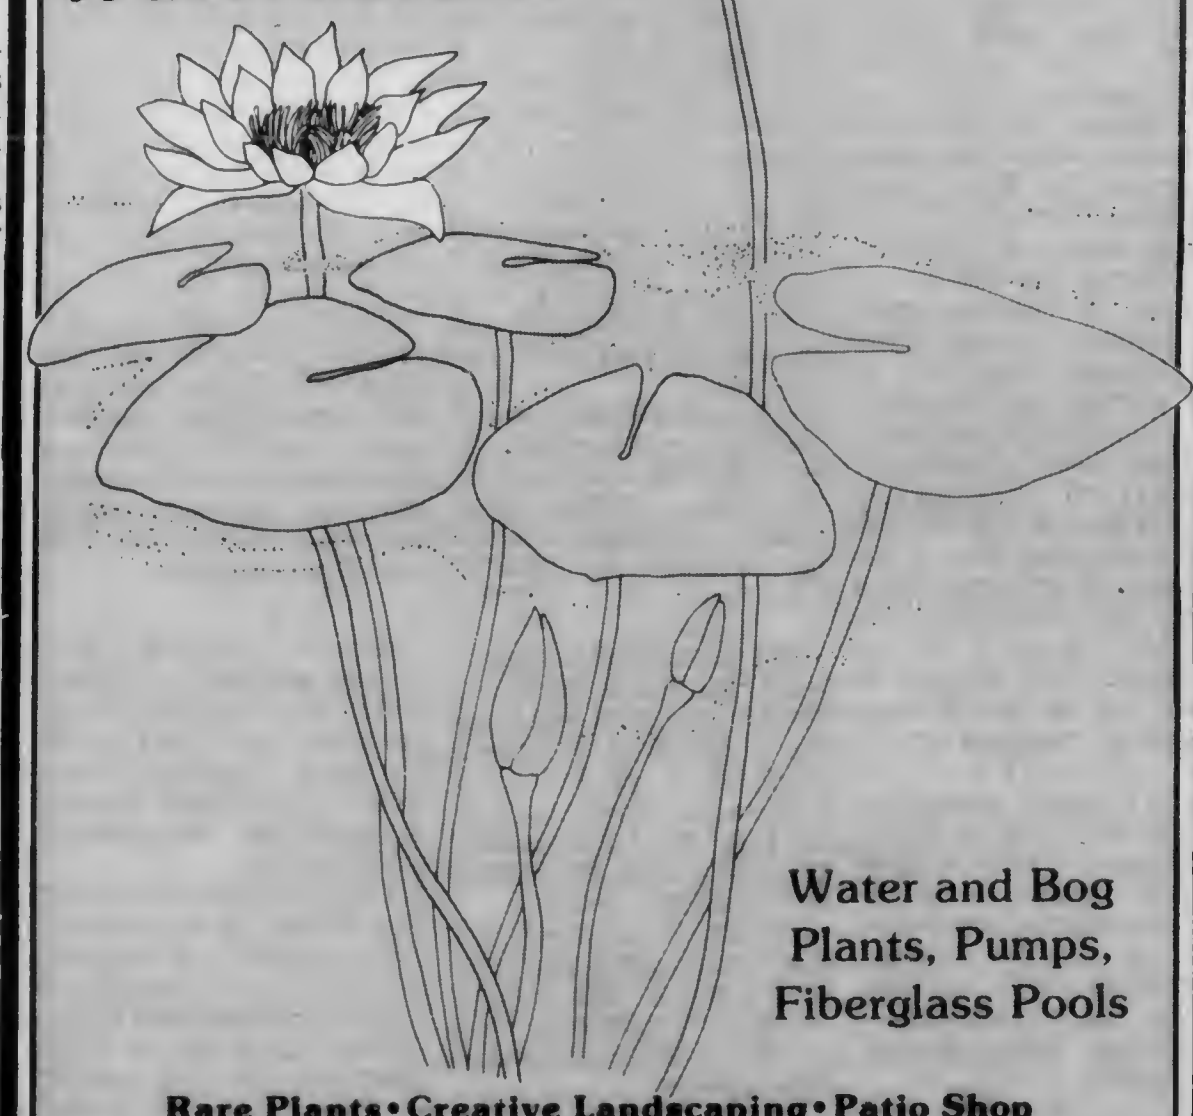

Every room starts with a beautiful idea, like Andersen® Perma-Shield® angle bay or bow windows. They can make more of a beautiful view. And make less of your energy bill and maintenance chores.

Just look at all these Andersen features:

- Snug-fitting design. Two times more weather-tight than windows which only meet minimum industry air-infiltration standards.
- Energy-saving double-pane insulating glass. Almost two times more efficient than old-fashioned single-pane glass without storms.
- Optional triple glazing system. A third pane of extra insulation and comfort.
- Insulating wood core.
- Low-maintenance rigid vinyl exterior.

OBITUARIES

Leland H. Ross, 75, of Elm Road, died May 31 at Princeton Medical Center.

Mr. Ross was born in Newark and lived most of his life in New Vernon before moving to Princeton recently. He was a retired self-employed stockbroker.

He was a graduate of Phillips Exeter Academy in Exeter, N.H., and Princeton University, Class of 1930. He was a lieutenant commander in the U.S. Navy during World War II and a member of the Morris County Golf Club and the Morristown Men's Club.

Survivors include his wife, Eleanor Gillespie Ross; two sons, Hamilton Ross of Princeton and John G. Ross of Bernardsville; a brother, Edmund B. Ross of Basking Ridge; a sister, Parthenia Gibson of Greenwood, Va.; and seven grandchildren.

A graveside service was held in New Vernon Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad.

The Rev. Msgr. William A. Margerum, S.T.D., 78, died June 6 in the Skilled Nursing Unit of Morris Hall. Born in Princeton, he was a 1920 graduate of St. Charles College, Catonsville, Md., and a 1924 graduate of Seminary Collegio Americano del Nord, Rome Italy. He was ordained in 1929 at the Church of San Giovanni in Laterano, Rome, by Basilio Cardinal Pompili.

In 1930 he was associate pastor of St. Rose of Lima Church, Freehold, and from there was made associate pastor at St. Mary's Church in Perth Amboy. In 1933 he received a special assignment to Rome and Trenton for further studies to obtain his doctorate in sacred theology. He served successively as pastor of St. Paul's in Burlington, Our Lady of Lourdes in Milltown, and St. Magdalene Church in Flemington.

In 1941 he was appointed Censor Librorum of the diocese and in 1950 was moderator of the diocesan clergy conferences. Msgr. Margerum retired in 1969 to Princeton before going to Morris Hall.

Son of the late Stephen W. and Alice C. Van Marter Margerum, he is survived by four brothers, Stephen C. of Princeton, Edward J. of Trenton, Eugene H. of Lawrenceville, and Walter T. of El Cajon, Calif.; and two sisters, Alice C. and Theresa M. both of Lawrenceville.

Friends may call this Wednesday from 7 to 9 at the Mather-Hodge Funeral Home, 46 Vandewater Avenue. Contributions may be made to the Morris Hall Home for the Aged, Box 82, 2381 Lawrenceville Road, Lawrenceville, 08648, or to St. Magdalene Church, Flemington, 0882.

Grace N. Fowler, 89, formerly of Parkway Avenue, Plainsboro, died June 2 at the Lawrenceville Nursing Home. Mrs. Fowler was born in Quebec, Canada, and had lived in Plainsboro since 1931. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Plainsboro.

Wife of the late Oscar W. Fowler, she is survived by a son, Glenn O. Fowler of Princeton Junction; a daughter, Mrs. Elsie F. Probasco of Cream Ridge; 10 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The service was held at a Cranbury funeral home, the Rev. Robert L. Slusher, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Plainsboro, officiating. Burial was in Cream Ridge Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the Plainsboro Rescue Squad, Plainsboro 08536, or to the American Cancer Society, 88 Lakewood Drive, Trenton, 08648.

Wilford Crutchfield Jr., 56, of James Street, Lawrenceville, died May 29 in the Merwick Unit of Princeton Medical Center.

Mr. Crutchfield was born in Lawrenceville and was a lifelong area resident. He was an employee of the Lawrenceville Fuel Co. and a member of the Union Baptist Church, Trenton, the senior usher board and the trustee board of the church.

Surviving are a son, James Crutchfield of Houston, Texas, and several cousins.

The service was held at the Union Baptist Church, Trenton, the Rev. L. Earl Tolbert, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Ewing Cemetery.

Margot C. Henschel, 87, of Pennington, died June 3 in Hunterdon Medical Center. Born in Bromberg, Germany, she had lived in Daytona Beach, Fla., and Colch Plains before moving to Pennington seven years ago. She was a member of the First United Methodist Church of Pennington and the Martha Circle of the church.

Wife of the late Oscar J. Henschel, she is survived by a son, Frank O. Henschel of Pennington; two granddaughters, Linda Paulin of Norristown, Pa., and Holly Golinza, Pa., and had lived in Turner of Hancock, N.H.; two grandsons, David Henschel of Camp Hill, Pa., and Dr. Douglas Henschel of Shellington, Pa., and six great-grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held on Friday at 7 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church, 60 South Main Street, son, Donald P. Cloak of Pennington, with the Rev. James H. Biggs, pastor, officiating. Contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society, 88 Lakewood Drive, Trenton, or the Memorial Fund for the Old Princeton United Methodist Cemetery, c/o the First Church, Corson Memorial United Methodist Church, Pennington.

Frank H. Cappy, 72, of the Princeton Lawrenceville, died June 3 in United Methodist Church.

GOSPEL CONCERT SET

All Saints' Church, All Saints' Road, will hold a service of Confirmation with Holy Eucharist on Sunday at 10. The retired Bishop of Cuba, the Rt. Rev. Jose Augustin Gonzalez, will preside. He led the Episcopal Church in Cuba for many years in trying circumstances, and is now assisting Diocesan Bishop Mellick Belshaw with the visiting schedule.

Nine adults and 11 children are to be confirmed by Bishop Gonzalez, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Smith. Tickets are $18 and may be reserved by writing Dorothy Alexander, P.O. Box 216, Princeton.

In 1965 he experienced a dramatic turn-around in his life, and ever since he has been sharing with audiences the triumph he feels Christ made in his life. All ages and denominations are welcome to the concert Sunday, which will be held at Nassau Christian Center, Nassau and Chamber Streets, at 6:30 Sunday if it rains.

For more information call the Rev. Jesse Owens at 921-0981 or 452-2828.

DINNER PLANNED

To Honor Pastor. In celebration of the 20 years of ministry of the Rev. Edward Smith as pastor of First Baptist Church, a dinner has been planned for Saturday, June 25, at Princeton Theological Seminary. Congressman William Grey of Philadelphia will be the speaker.

The Rev. Mr. Smith began his ministry in his native Virginia and combined pastoring churches with teaching and serving as principal at local black elementary, junior high and high schools. He was called to First Baptist in 1963 and has served during a period of expansion of the church building and change in the neighborhood it serves.

The public is invited to the Mercer Medical Center. Born in New York City, he had lived in Lawrenceville for 21 years. He retired in 1975 as the advertising manager for the American Cyanamid Company.

He is survived by his wife, Helen Wagner Cappy; a son, Frank M. of Boston, Mass.; and a brother, Raymond F. of Bellerose, Long Island, N.Y. Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated in St. Ann's Roman Catholic Church, Lawrence Township. Burial was in St. John's Cemetery, Middle Village, N.Y.

Mary L. Cloak, 92, of Marion Road East, died June 6 in the Merwick Unit of Princeton Medical Center. Mrs. Cloak was born in Norristown, Pa., and had lived in Princeton in 1954. She was a former resident of Newcastle, Pa., where she was a charter member of the Women's Club and of the Newcastle United Methodist Church.

Wife of the late Clarence P. Cloak, she is survived by a son, Donald P. Cloak of Pennington, Fla.; a daughter, Fern Cloak of Princeton; and a granddaughter, Nancy Cloak.

A memorial service will be held Thursday at 3 at the Memorial Fund for the Old Princeton United Methodist Cemetery, c/o the First Church, Corson Memorial United Methodist Church, Pennington.

Frank H. Cappy, 72, of the Princeton Lawrenceville, died June 3 in United Methodist Church.

ON YOUR GUARD!

ATTEMPTS HAVE BEEN MADE TO ALTER GOD'S HOLY WORD!

After much concern and prayer, Dr. David Otis Fuller has been invited to speak on the subject "Which Bible?"

Confusion engendered by a multiplicity of Bible versions narrows down to the question: "Which version is nearest to the original manuscripts?"

If the reader believes the Holy Bible to be the verbally, plenary, inspired word of God in the original manuscripts, then of necessity he must believe that God has providentially preserved it through the ages down to the present hour.

"The grass withereth, the flower fadeth: but the word of our God shall stand forever." (Isaiah 40:8)
"The words of the Lord are pure words: as silver tried in a furnace of earth, purified seven times." (Psalm 12:6)

There is solid substantial proof that the authorized King James Version - 1611 is tried, true, faithful - God's Holy Word.

Hear Dr. Fuller, Author "Which Bible?" (Now in 9th edition)
Friday, June 10th - 7:30 P.M.
Nassau Inn, The Palmer Room - Lobby Floor, Palmer Square, Princeton

Come praying, looking to God for understanding - expecting a blessing! Time will be provided for question and answer. There will be no charge, nor offering.

Cordially, Friends of Dr. Fuller

New Publication Outlines a 'Grotesque' Tour Of Princeton University's Campus Gargoyles

Gargoyles abound on the triumphant. One theory suggests that they represent demons fleeing the church and frozen in stone as examples to mankind. Others say they kept evil spirits away, or that they represent the fears and superstitions of medieval men. They are the creative adornments by architects and stone carvers to buildings erected between 1879 and 1947.

As a companion piece to last year's arboreal tour of the "Trees of Princeton University," the University's Office of Communications and Publications has published "The Gargoyles of Princeton University: a grotesque tour of the campus." Available at the Princeton University Store for $1, the booklet gives portraits and anecdotal histories of—and suppositions about—14 of these architectural ornaments.

FOOTBALL PLAYER, eternally sprinting to the goal line, may be seen over the west doorway of McCosh A. He wears the football uniform of another era. The drawing is one of the illustrations in "The Gargoyles of Princeton University."

Designed as a self-guiding tour which encourages looking up (with binoculars) for a different perspective of the campus, the text was written by Laurel Cantor, a publications editor for the university, who spent hours "stalking the gargoyles" with Hugh DeN Wynne, Princeton Class of 1939, an enthusiastic gargoyle fancier. The booklet is illustrated with drawings of each of the 14 sculptural figures by Heather Lovett, a free-lance artist from Hopewell.

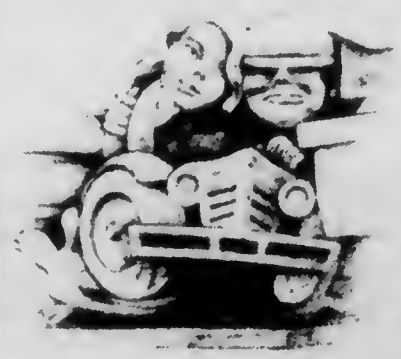

Medieval Art Form. "The word for throat in old French is 'gargouille,'" the tour book notes, "closely related to the words gurgle and gargle, both descriptive of a gargoyle's vocation." True gargoyles are rainpipes that spit rainwater away from a building's foundation. Many of Princeton's sculptures are "grotesques" and "chimeras," purely decorative stone ornaments that preserve some medieval themes—fierce animals, solemn scholars, rambunctious students, musical angels, ugly goblins and hungry devils. Some art historians believe that gargoyles were meant to depict evil spirits over which the Christian church has

"The Gargoyles of Princeton University" provides a map and detailed directions to a representative sampling of these second and third story personalities. It begins with the "Unseeing Reader," a blindfolded figure holding a book over the east arch of East Pyne, facing Firestone. Notes Ms. Cantor, whose text is every bit as whimsical as the sculptures she is describing, the figure "evokes sympathy from anyone who has ever picked up a book and not understood a word of it."

Another example is a bald-pated Benjamin Franklin clutching a key and a bolt of lightning in the northeast gable of Palmer Physics Laboratory. Palmer was built in 1908, with commemorative figures under each gable. Franklin is there to commemorate the discovery of electricity.

Dinosaurs and Monkeys. Guyot Hall, the tour guide points out, is "a veritable barnyard for gargoyles." Appropriately, the biology wing on the east end features living species, while the geology wing at the west end is decorated with carvings of extinct animals. In addition to a dinosaur lunging from one roof corner and a wild boar at another, the educational sculptures include a horseshoe crab, rhinoceros, pelican, frog, sea horse, pterodactyl, and eagle.

Monkeys were popular with the architects and stone carvers who built the Princeton University campus. On Patton Hall, there are monkey clowns wearing pointed hats, ruffs, coats with huge buttons and huge pan-talons. One has clasped his hand to face as if he is hooting in laughter. Small monkeys climb all over a grand tiger on
